THE GUERRILLERO: A STORY OF THE CARLIST WAR.

It is not the Carlist War of 1874, but that which raged in Spain from 1833 to 1839. The irregular bands, formed and led by volunteer captains, practised the sort of desultory warfare known as guerrilla. The first of our coloured pictures is that of a guerrillero. Let the reader of this story now look well at him. He is a young peasant of sturdy and active frame, dressed in black velvet jacket and breeches; a broad "faja" or sash of scarlet cloth, triply folded to serve as pocket and cartridge-belt; a slouched cap of thick felt, the red cap, or "boina," which is the badge of his partisan service; long gaiters of leather, and sandals made of the "esparto" grass or rush, with soles of hemp. A large red woollen scarf, the "manta," with an ornamental fringe of tassels, may be used for protection from rain or cold wind, or to cover him when sleeping in the open air at night. It is now loosely thrown over his shoulder. His hand grasps a musket or rifle, with his thumb upon its cock, ready for instant use. Such is the guerrillero, or petty warrior, here posted as sentinel of a mountain pass.

This hero's name was Pedro Becerro, of Altoviejo. His life had not been confined to his native village. Two years before this he had been hired as groom, or horse-boy, to attend a travelling English gentleman going to the eastern coast. The journey of Captain Barclay was rather hurried, as he was eager to meet his daughter, who had been passing the winter, with her uncle and aunt, in the mild climate of that Mediterranean shore. After a brief visit to Alicante, where Mr. James Barclay resided in business as a merchant, the Captain took Miss Anna with him by sea to Gibraltar, on their return to England. He discharged Pedro Becerro with a handsome gratuity above the stipulated wages of three weeks' service. Pedro soon wasted his money in the unwonted pleasures of a town. He next became serving-man to a Spanish nobleman going up to Madrid; but, after many months, felt a natural wish to revisit the home of his youth, and to see a maiden he knew there, one Teresita Manantes. He set out on his way through the northern provinces. At a "venta," or roadside inn, he met and drank with a boastful corporal in the Christiano service. Wine, flattery, and false promises beguiled him to enlist.

He had been standing sentry here, quite alone, nearly three hours, or pacing up and down the length of a hundred yards allotted for his beat. At the end of this walk, chancing to pause a minute, his ear caught the faint sound of a voice, uttering what seemed a cry for help, from the stony bottom of a gorge sixty or seventy feet below. Clambering a little down, beyond the protruding crags, he saw a man prostrate among the blocks of stone that filled the dry bed of a mountain torrent. Becerro called to the man, who in reply waved his arms with a gesture as of helpless distress, and implored him: "por amor de Dios, bueno amigo mio," to come down and relieve him. The kind fellow, though bound not to leave his post, did not hesitate. He quickly descended, and there found a young man in the uniform of a Carlist officer, who was badly hurt by a fall, and had his leg wedged in a crevice of the rocks. "Ay de mi, que dolor y traspaso!" groaned the stranger; "what pain, what agony I suffer! Veogo molido, hecho pedazos; I am knocked all to pieces!" Becerro tenderly released his limb from captivity and supported the tottering steps of his other foot, which was unhurt, till he could recline on a grassy bank at the roadside. "Now, my good, kind friend, whoever and whatever you are," said the Carlist, "you must take this from me"—and he thrust into Pedro's hand two gold doubloons—"but you must do one thing more for me. A mile down the road you will find my servant, with two horses in waiting; run down there, send him up quickly to fetch me away. I shall be safe and well cared for at Aranza, three hours' ride from here."

Becerro was suddenly reminded by this simple request that he ought not to quit the place where his military duty had stationed him. "I am on guard, Señor Caballero," he answered with regret, and offered to return the money. "I may not go farther. But my comrade is to relieve me here at sunset, and then—ah! I had forgotten, I must report this to our sergeant when I go back to quarters. They will send for you. I am sure that Usted (Vuestra Merced) will be taken good care of by our officers; they will see it is a gentleman in distress."

"Your officers, my good fellow?" said the other, smiling. "Don't you see, Caramba, that they would make me their prisoner? I have the honour to be a soldier of his Majesty Don Carlos. My duty is to return where I can do his Majesty's business. Why, a brave majo like you should be one of us, helping to fight for our grand old Spain, for our gallant King and Holy Church! But have I not seen you before—at Alicante, with a Caballero Ingles, el Señor Barclay?"

It was even so. The stranger found in this awkward plight was Lieutenant Hernando de Seguro, a young man of good family in Valencia, who was acquainted with the Barclays of Alicante. He had met Captain and Miss Barclay at their house, and remembered the face of the Captain's servant, Pedro. This was not all. During the six months of Anna Barclay's stay with her aunt and uncle, Hernando was accustomed to come and read "Don Quixote" and the Spanish poets, several evenings a week, to the family circle of his English friends. He readily passed from this to assisting the young lady in her studies and exercises in the noble language of his country. We know not if her relatives saw any signs of a growing attachment between these young persons.

In the lively talk which now arose between Pedro Becerro and Lieutenant Seguro upon their reminiscences of the amiable English family, Pedro's scruples of military duty were insensibly softened. This was perceived by Seguro, who did not lose the advantage it gave him. The sentinel, after a sip of brandy from the Carlist officer's flask, agreed to run and send up the Lieutenant's man and horses, before any other soldiers of the Christiano army should appear.

Pedro Becerro started down the hill upon this errand, leaving Lieutenant Seguro, with a cigarito between his lips, trying to guess how many days he would be disabled from active service by the injury to his right knee and ankle. The horses and the attendant with them were soon met, and were ordered to go up and convey their master to Aranza.

But it was fated that Pedro Becerro should never return to his ordinary duty in the fourth company, second battalion, of the Villareale Cacalores. He had not got half way back when he was stopped by a martial challenge, followed by a bullet whizzing across the road. A scouting party of the Carlists instantly surrounded him. He could make no resistance, having left his rifle hidden in a bush, where his friend Don Hernando was sitting. Becerro was conducted to the Carlist headquarters, and was there detained. Before many days the Carlists won a brilliant victory. The unlucky soldier of the baby Queen Christina was now ripe for conversion. He enlisted in the Carlist army.

We know how the British Legion was formed, under Sir De Lacy Evans, to aid the partisans of constitutional freedom in Spain. One of the half-pay Peninsular officers who joined this force was Captain Barclay. But his was to be an unlucky experience of the Carlist war. In the action of March 16, 1837, at Hernani, Sir De Lacy Evans attempted to storm the Carlist lines on the hill of Santa Barbara, commanding the passage of the river Urumea. He relied on the support of the Royal Marines and of Sarsfield's Spanish troops. They did not come up. The Carlists sallied forth, and, inflicted upon Sir De Lacy a severe defeat. One English officer, Captain Barclay, was left on the ground badly wounded.

An hour after this disastrous skirmish he recovered from a faintness caused by loss of blood. He was lying in the rank grass of the river's bank. A Carlist soldier came down the hill, saw, and pitied his condition. It was Pedro Becerro. He did not at first recognise his former master. But natural feelings of humanity and the charity of a good Christian inclined him, as once before, to help a suffering fellow-creature. He raised the head of his fallen enemy, and pillowed it with a bundle of grass, then brought him water to drink and to lave his fevered face. Upon a nearer sight of this face he joyfully discovered the Caballero Ingles, Captain Barclay, and presently made himself known to the Captain.

A party of new-comers rudely interrupted their talk. These were half a dozen ruffians of the Carlist camp, intent on plunder of the dead and wounded. They seized upon the wounded Englishman, despite the angry remonstrances of Becerro. Captain Barclay's gold watch and purse, and a miniature portrait of Anna's deceased mother, set in jewels, were seized by the lawless blackguards. After satisfying their greed they proposed to indulge their ferocious temper, and to save the trouble of carrying him within the lines, by stabbing him where he lay. The brave Pedro was roused by this emergency. With his musket levelled at the foremost of the party, he declared that he would shoot any one who dared hurt the English Caballero. He would himself be killed by them, were it ten times over, before they should kill his friend. A shot was fired at Pedro by one; another rushed at him with a bayonet; and his life would soon have been ended but for the timely arrival of a Carlist officer. This was a Major of the regiment to which those murderers belonged. At his unlooked for presence and stern rebuke, accompanied by a threat of severe punishment, they skulked back to quarters, leaving him with Becerro and Captain Barclay. The latter, suffering and weak as he lay, was yet able to see and know his second deliverer.

"Is it possible? Dear Don Hernando, can it be you? Don't you remember me at Alicant—Captain Barclay from England—visiting my brother there—reading your Cervantes with my daughter—why, are you along with those Carlist fellows? Nearly finished me they had this time—if it hadn't been for this good fellow—you may remember my man Pedro, who came with my horses? I'm your prisoner of war now, I suppose, Major de Seguro. But you'll not let me lie here to be butchered!"

"Ave Maria purissima!" exclaimed the good-hearted Pedro. "Gallant Caballero, Senor Don Hernando de Seguro! I have not seen Usted (your honour) since that day you fell over the rocks. I salute you, Major of our army! Long live his Majesty Don Carlos! Gracias a todos los Angeles! What joy to see Usted here, at this blessed moment, to save us both alive, the noble Captain Ingles and poor Pedro, from those cursed thieves!"

"I am very happy to have come in time to serve my friends," the Major replied with hearty goodwill. He then beckoned to an orderly, and sent for a file of soldiers with a litter, to carry the wounded Englishman to a farmhouse near. A surgeon was fetched; and during the next few weeks, by the Major's friendly attentions, with the use of his authority and influence, Captain Barclay was very well cared for. His wound began to heal.

In their conversations at this time, Hernando de Seguro once ventured, in a tone of respectful tenderness, to inquire for Miss Anna. He was told that she was now living at Bath, with her uncle and aunt, Mr. James Barclay having retired from his commercial business at Alicant, and returned to England with a competent income. An exchange of prisoners was obtained by the influence of Major de Seguro. Captain Barclay was now enabled to go on board H.M.S. Falcon, of the blockading squadron, for the benefit of the sea air to his broken health.

Pedro Becerro did not much longer remain in the Carlist military ranks. The corps in which he served met with some losses and disgraces, which occasioned its disbandment. Many of the men, tired of the hardships of campaigning, refused to join another regiment. Becerro was one of these; he chose rather to become a domestic servant, as before. He was now hired by another English gentleman, an Oporto wine-merchant, who went there by sea from St. Sebastian.

The young Spaniard, as might be expected, did not always get on very well with his Portuguese fellow-servants, and others of that nation in his own class. There was, and perhaps still is, a deal of jealousy and mutual enmity between the lower orders of the two adjacent kingdoms. But in the city of Oporto, as before in the cities of Spain, there were strong attractions for Pedro Becerro in the variety of popular entertainments. A grand bull-fight was announced to take place in the Praça on a festival day. Its programme excited his curiosity; but he was told that the rules and practice of public bull-fights, as conducted in Portugal, were not like those sanguinary displays common in the towns of his own country.

"The bull is not killed at all," explained his informant. "They stick the farpa, the little dart, into his fleshy neck, as often as they can. It only hurts him, and puts him into a rage. He goes at man and horse, and tosses or gores them if he can, but his horns are sheathed in wadded leather. But they use no spear or sword to give the beast a mortal wound. The best fun is the pega, when several men get hold of the bull's tail and legs. They push and heave and throw him down, while one lies between his horns and hangs on there, to weigh down his head. You must go to the Praça and see it, Pedro the Espanol! It is a better game than your butcherly Spanish trick, making a slaughterhouse of the grand show."

Pedro, however, naturally thought the "Quitas de Espana" superior to all other things in the world. He retorted that, in his opinion, the Portuguese mode of bull-fighting was only fit for milkops and poltroons.

We may observe that the performers in a Portuguese bullring are not hired gladiators, as in Spain. They are all noble amateurs, the Count of This, the Marquis of That, and other gentlemen of high rank. The exhibition commonly takes place under the combined patronage of the Court, the Church, and the aristocracy. Its profits are given to some hospital, orphan asylum, or religious mission.

The appointed day brought a large assembly of all classes, with Pedro Becerro and his Oporto comrade, to behold this curious spectacle of Portuguese diversions. They were closely wedged together in the dense crowd surrounding the arena. The preliminary ceremonies had begun. The "netto," or herald of the lists, had entered with blindfold eyes, and had done homage to the presiding grandee. The "azemola," or sumpter mule, gaily caparisoned, had come in laden with bundles of small darts, having little flags of coloured paper affixed to their shafts. A whisper now passed round, that the famous amateur "torero," Senor Dom Jorge de Murelho, whose appearance had been eagerly desired by the Oporto "fancy," was detained at home by sickness. His place would be supplied by a stranger, whose name was not yet publicly announced. It was a Spanish caballero, who had offered his services to the managing committee at the eleventh hour.

The formal entry of this leading performer was arranged for his presentation, with due solemnity, to the Duke of Madeira, who occupied a gilt chair of state in the Royal balcony. It was expected with pleasing impatience. A flourish of trumpets was heard, a curtain of purple silk was lifted, and the hero of the Praça for that day pranced in upon a beautiful steed of pure Arab race. Our honest friend Pedro Becerro, ex-guerrillero of both the Christiano and Carlist armies in Spain, could again scarcely believe his own eyes. For here, in Oporto, did he now, or did he not, see Don Hernando de Seguro, the Caballero of Valencia, the Carlist Major and aide-de-camp to General Cabrera, in the guise of a complete Torero? The name proclaimed, though Spanish, was a fictitious one.

The Torero now dismounted and stood before the Duke. His costume was a short jacket and breeches of black velvet, fantastically shaped, very richly embroidered, and turned up with orange facing; a vest also decorated with lace, and a shirt of fine cambric; long stockings of white silk and large silver shoe-buckles. His thick black hair was tied behind with a bow of blue ribbon. The silk cloak upon his left arm was edged with a band of gold.

The Duke of Madeira was on the point of making the signal of authority for the commencement of the sports. But a mysterious interruption now occurred to delay the regular course of proceeding. The chief magistrate of the city, with the chief manager of the entertainment, came up to his Excellency's seat. They began a very earnest conference, in which they were soon joined by the Chief Director of Police. Very significant glances, at some moment of the conversation, were cast upon the torero who stood below. Not a word, however, could be overheard by the wondering listeners.

An unseen hand from one of the upper balconies threw into the bull-ring a folded scrap of paper, which the torero picked up. He read a few words, and his compressed lips showed a powerful resolve. But what he instantly did was most unexpected. With a silent bow of polite reverence to the Duke, who chanced not to be looking, he coolly turned round, sprang upon his horse, and rode out of the amphitheatre before anyone could think of stopping him.

"Hold! Stop that man!" cried the Police Director, but an instant too late. "A spy!" "A traitor!" "A Spanish Carlist!" were the exclamations of others near the Duke. The whole assembly was in an uproar, and the barrier of the ring was overleaped by hundreds. They ran out into the streets, following the hot pursuit, in which armed police constables and soldiers of the guard joined all the servants of the Praça.

Among the multitude who rushed out, some hastily mounted to overtake the flying horseman, others running wildly on foot up and down the streets, was Pedro Becerro. He soon lost his way in that foreign city. He wandered about in bewilderment till he found himself on the quays of the port. In a retired alley, which opened upon the quay, was a sort of wooden hut, cabin, or booth, which Becerro remembered having seen and visited before. It was occupied by Domingo Salles, a shifty fisherman, or fish-dealer. This man sometimes hawked a basket-full of what his partner had caught; but he sometimes went out with his boat and nets.

Pedro was familiar with the old fisherman. They began to talk. Pedro told him of the extraordinary scene of confusion he had witnessed in the Praça; but did not, of course, tell him that he knew the fugitive Torero. After loitering here a quarter of an hour, Domingo Salles closed the door of his cabin and went to his boat at the quay steps. There Becerro accompanied him, in a listless mood, for mere companionship.

It was now growing dusk in the evening. This part of the quay seemed almost deserted. A person wrapped in a long Spanish cloak, which concealed his under-dress, paced slowly along the margin of the quay. This man, as he passed close to Becerro, jostled his shoulder. Uncertain whether this was done awkwardly or intentionally, the young Spaniard looked up in anger. But his eye met that of the muffled walker, who at that moment partly uncovered his face. It was, once again, his friend Don Hernando! It was the hunted fugitive of that day's hue and cry all over the city! Burning with anxiety and curiosity, Pedro kept silence as the man in the cloak stalked silently on. The next minute Pedro made an excuse to leave the fisherman. He quietly followed the other, turned a corner after him, and then, gaining his side, entered into a stealthy and hurried talk.

Hernando briefly told him all. He had crossed the frontier from Spain on business connected with the contraband supply of arms to the Carlists. But he had since then been persuaded by some private friends to withdraw from a hopeless cause. He had sent a letter to resign his commission in the Carlist army. He had thought himself free to go to England or France, though it would not be safe for him to return to his native province in Spain. It had never occurred to him that he was liable to arrest in Portugal under the provisions of the Quadruple Alliance. His sojourn in Oporto had been heretofore unmolested. He had not feared, therefore, to indulge a personal whim by offering to appear in the bull-fight, though under an assumed name. But now, in consequence, as he believed, of false and malignant accusations from private enemies in Spain, he had been denounced to the Portuguese Government as a spy. If he were seized now, and were sent into Spain as a prisoner, his life would there be in some danger on account of previous transactions. Hence came his desperate flight from the public amphitheatre.

His immediate endeavour, at first, was to gallop out of the city, even such a figure as he was, in the gaudy dress of the Torero. But a minute's thought, despite of the pursuing mob, showed him that this was absurd and hopeless. While still a hundred yards before them, and concealed for a moment by an angle of the street, he leaped from his horse's back over a garden wall. He dived into a house, and there hid himself a few minutes till he heard the chase go by. No inmates of the house perceived his entry. An open wardrobe contained, with other clothing, the large cloak he had borrowed, or rather stolen, to cover what remained of his fantastic theatrical attire. He had left the hiding-place in the afternoon, and found his way to the quay-side, hoping that some boatman would carry him to a foreign vessel in the harbour.

"It is a boatman you want? I have got one for you, Don Hernando!" said Pedro with great enthusiasm. "I know that old fisherman you saw just now. I'm sure he will not suspect me. I shall only tell him that you are a friend of my master, the English merchant, Senor Robinson, and that you must go on board an English ship."

"There is an English war-sloop, they say, now lying in the roads outside," replied Don Hernando. "If I can but reach her deck, my life and liberty will be safe. The English have fought against my King; I have faced their Legion and their Sir Evans in the field of battle. But they are a brave people, they will never betray a hunted refugee to the death."

Pedro conducted him at once to the boat, which Domingo was about to unloose. A few words, as Pedro had expected, were sufficient to make him take both of them as passengers to the British vessel. With feelings of intense relief, of inexpressible joy and gratitude, during the next hour, but in profound silence, and in the gathering darkness of evening, Hernando de Seguro felt himself borne away from the city towards the open sea. He was presently, with Pedro Becerro, taken on board the sloop of war. She was no other than H.M.S. Falcon. And in her, to his infinite gratification, he again met Captain Barclay, still an invalid, but very much better for the cruise. Is it needful to say how gladly and kindly Hernando was received?

Is it needful to finish the story? Hernando accompanied Captain Barclay to England. He soon inherited, despite his political proscription, a modest fortune invested in English securities. He married Anna Barclay, to whom also her uncle James bequeathed his property. None of them ever cared again to live in Spain. As for Pedro, the brave guerrillero, he got a round sum of money from the grateful friends whom he had served. He went home to Alcoviejo and became the husband of Teresita. He is a thriving farmer, and a man of peace.

FEDDING THE BIRDS.

Little Willy, nearly seven,
Sister Mary, not yet nine,
Standing at the open window,
Call the Birds to come and dine.
White the snow in field and garden,
Like the sheets in Willy's bed;
Yet the sun above is shining;
And the bully-fruit is red;
And the leaves of Winter's holly
Glisten with as glad a green
As the verdure of the Summer
In the year a child has seen;
And although, perhaps, to-morrow
Frost will pinch his hands and feet,
Or the storm, that beats his dwelling,
Pelt the window glass with sleet,
While the trees, that roar with terror,
Toss their branches in alarm,
Willy does not fear the winter;
God, he knows, will do no harm;
And he knows, by God in wisdom
Earth and sky are ordered so;
Warmth and cold of changing weather,
Sun to shine, and wind to blow;
Rain to fill with kindly moisture
Fertile furrows of the field;
Frost and snow its clods to soften,
That the soil its richness yield;
Light of days, to work or play in,
Dark of nights, for deep repose;
Changing scenes for health to live in,
Good alike, as Willy knows:
Good for men and good for cattle,
And for birds, that fly the air,
And for tiny creeping insects,
Equally the Maker's care;
So he looks, and Sister Mary,
On the Birds with heart of love;
Funny little feathered people,
Some below, and some above;
Some that scrape the pathway gravel,
Some that perch on bough or twig;
Little fellows, partly strutting
As in fancy they were big;
Strutting, flying, hopping, chirping,
Gaping for the crumbs he gives,
Come, you Birds of Willy's garden,
Willy loves whatever lives;
He has learnt the wisest lesson
Child or Man shall ever win;
"All who joy would gain must share it Happiness is born a Twin."

A LANDING PARTY.

They landed—I made fast our boat—
Sweet Rose and Cousin Will.
She tied her scarf about his throat
To save him from a chill.
He kissed her hand that was so kind;
The swan alone was near
To hear that couple speak their mind,
How each to each was dear!

RETURNING SWALLOWS.

They fled our winter clime
To sunny lands of Spain
They flew to us again
Ere bloomed our summer time.
Then in his cottage home
The aged Briton smiled,
And laughed his daughter's child
To see the swallows come.

"NINA."—FROM A PICTURE BY A. BONIFAZI.—FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

Facility is given to the Post Office in the discharge of its daily duties, and greater security afforded to the public, by careful attention to the following:—

To post all letters, &c., as early as practicable, especially when sent in large numbers, as is frequently the case with newspapers and circulars.

To make the address legible and complete, giving the name of the post town, and if there be more than one town in the kingdom of that name, or if the post town be not well known, adding the name of the county. Letters posted in one part of the United Kingdom and intended for another part (as, for example, letters posted in England and intended for Scotland) should have the name of the country to which they are sent added to the other part of the address. The number of the house, too, if in a street, is a great assistance.

To see that every letter, newspaper, or other packet sent by post is securely folded and fastened. Sealing-wax will not easily adhere to the gummed portion of an envelope. When postage stamps are remitted they should be inclosed in paper sufficiently thick to prevent them being seen or felt through the cover. It should be remembered that every packet has to be several times handled, and that even when in the mail-bag it is exposed to pressure and friction. Unless, therefore, the article be light and pliant it should be inclosed in strong paper, linen, parchment, or some other material which will not readily tear or break. The observance of this precaution is especially necessary whenever any fragile articles of value are forwarded by post. These should always be inclosed in a wooden or tin box. Owing to neglect of these precautions many postal packets burst open, causing much trouble to the department and risk to the owners, it being sometimes impossible to determine to what packet a particular article belongs.

All inland letters and packets which, from the way they are folded or packed, obviously contain jewellery or watches, and which have not been duly tendered for registration, must be compulsorily registered and charged a double registration fee of 8d., in the same manner as letters containing coin. Letters, however, must not be registered on the mere suspicion that they contain any of these articles, nor must there be any prying into them for the purpose of ascertaining their contents; and it is only when, as in the case of letters containing coin, there is no doubt that some of the articles enumerated are inclosed that they are to be subjected to this regulation. Letters are often found in post-offices under some of the following conditions:—1, posted in such thin covers that their contents are clearly visible; 2, posted with some of the contents protruding from the covers; 3, posted without being sealed or in any way closed against inspection; 4, accidentally come open in transit. Under any of these circumstances there will be no difficulty in determining whether the contents are such as to bring the letter within the rule.

When complaint is made of letters or newspapers lost, miscarried or delayed, furnish information as precise as possible regarding all the facts of the case, and inclose whatever documents may throw light upon it. The day and hour at which the letter or newspaper was posted, as well as the office at which and the person by whom this was done, should always be stated; and, when possible, the cover or wrapper in an entire state should be sent.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follow, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz.	1d
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz.	1½d
" 2 oz., and less than 4 oz.	2½d
" 4 oz., and less than 6 oz.	3½d
" 6 oz., and less than 8 oz.	4½d
" 8 oz., and less than 10 oz.	5½d
" 10 oz., and less than 12 oz.	6½d

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage, and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

The following are the latest times for posting letters, &c., in London for the evening mails. Book packets must be posted the same time as newspapers:—

	Chief Office	Branch Office, Lombard-st.	District Offices	Residing Houses.
Letters	Papers	Letters	Papers	Letters
For inland and foreign evening mails	6.0	5.30	6.0	5.30
For ditto, if prepaid by stamps, and bearing extra 1d. stamp	6.45	...	6.45	...
By bearing an extra 2d. stamp	7.30	...	7.15	...
Newspapers, &c., by paying 1d. extra	...	6.45	...	...
Do. by paying 1d. extra	...	7.15	...	...
" " " "	...	7.30	...	...

The above times refer to the E.C. and W.C. districts only. In other districts the hours are earlier. Letters, &c., can also be posted at the following railway stations by affixing 2d. extra in stamps to each:—Great Western (Paddington), for day mail, 7 to 9 a.m.; night mail, 6 to 8.50 p.m. North Western (Euston), for day mail to Ireland, 6.45 to 7.5 a.m.; night mail, 6 to 8.15 p.m.; or for either day or night mails to North of England and Scotland, 15 minutes later. South-Eastern (Cannon-street), for night mail, 6 to 8.50 p.m. South-Western (Waterloo), for night mail, 6 to 8.50 p.m.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—For the night mails the latest time for registering inland and foreign letters at the chief office, St. Martin's-le-Grand, and at the head district and branch offices in London, on payment of the ordinary fee of 4d., is 5.30 p.m.; or on payment of a late fee of 4d. in addition to the registration-fee, the latest time is 6 p.m. At the town receiving-houses the latest time for registering letters for the night mails is 5 p.m. Registered letters are not forwarded by the midnight despatches. For the day mails to the provinces, Ireland, Scotland, France, and the Continent generally, and for the colonial and foreign mails via Southampton, letters can be registered at the chief office, and at the head district and branch offices, at the ordinary fee between 6 and 7.30 p.m., and at the town receiving-houses between 5.30 and 7.30 p.m. the previous evening.

OVERCHARGED LETTERS.—Overcharges are returned between the hours of 10 and 4, on presenting the overcharged letters at the office for the sale of stamps, &c., at the General Post Office. Or the letter may be sent to the office by the letter-carrier of the district, and the overcharge will be returned with the letter in two days.

POSTAGE STAMPS, &c.—Postage stamps and stamped envelopes are sold at the chief office and at Lombard-street between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.; at the Western district office between 7 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.; at the other district offices and the Charing-cross branch office between 8 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.; and at the receiving-houses between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m., Sundays excepted.

LETTERS "TO BE CALLED FOR."

The Poste Restante being intended solely for the accommodation of strangers and travellers who have no permanent abode in London, letters for residents in London must not be addressed "Post Office till called for." Letters addressed to "Initials" or "Fictitious Names" at the Poste Restante, or any district or branch office, are returned to the writers. Letters may not be redirected from a private address to the Poste Restante.

All persons applying for letters at the Poste Restante must be prepared to give the necessary particulars to the clerk on duty, in order to prevent mistakes and to ensure the delivery of the letters to the persons to whom they properly belong.

Letters for passengers on board the Cunard and Inman packets for America touching at Queenstown, or on board the Mediterranean packets about to sail from Southampton with the mails for India, Australia, China, &c., may be posted in any part of the United Kingdom up to the time at which ordinary registered letters to go by the same packets are received. They must be registered, and the postage and registration fee must be fully prepaid, and they must be addressed to the care of the commander of the packet.

Letters for passengers on board the Canadian packets touching at Londonderry may, under similar conditions, be posted up to the same time as ordinary registered letters for Canada. These must be addressed "To the care of the officer in charge of the mails."

The letters should be addressed thus:—"Mr. —, on board the — packet for —, at Queenstown (Londonderry or Southampton) (To the care of the officer in charge of the mails)," or "To the care of the commander of the packet;" as the case may be.

Letters directed to the care of the packet agent at Suez, and dispatched by the mail via Brindisi, will probably reach passengers for India, &c., who have sailed in the packet which left Southampton the previous week.

THE NEWSPAPER HALFPENNY POSTAGE

applies to any publication consisting wholly or in great part of political or other news, or of articles relating thereto, or to other current topics, with or without advertisements, and published at intervals of not more than seven days; and for each newspaper, whether posted singly or in a packet, the prepaid postage is one halfpenny. Every newspaper must be so folded as to admit of the title being read. No packet of newspapers must exceed 14 lb. weight nor 2 ft. in length.

In order that no failure may occur in the delivery of newspapers through the covers becoming detached, it is recommended that the address be written on exposed parts of the newspaper, themselves as well as on the covers.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN.—Under the powers given to the Postmaster-General by the Post Office Act, 1874, the regulations relating to the transmission of publications for transmission abroad as Newspapers have been revised. The definition laid down in the Act, in regard to newspapers which may be registered for transmission through the post in the United Kingdom, is alike applicable to those which may be registered for transmission abroad, except that for foreign transmission a newspaper must be published at intervals of thirty-one days, and that it (but not its supplements) may be put on sheets stitched together. Newspapers generally are also subject to the following regulations:—"Press Currents" and "Market Reports," but not private price-lists or trade catalogues, are admitted on the same privileges as newspapers for foreign transmission. Publications registered for transmission abroad must be posted within 210 days from the date of publication, including the day of publication, otherwise they will be rejected. It is forbidden to introduce into Russia, through the post, political newspapers of any kind, and therefore they must be obtained through the agency of some established bookseller. Limited procurrences, in covers open at both ends, are not forbidden.

THE POSTAGE OF THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS, with Ordinary Supplement, for the United Kingdom and the Channel Islands must be prepaid by affixing a halfpenny stamp. Copies for the Colonies and Foreign Countries—printed on two papers (the ordinary Edition being charged double)—must have stamps affixed to them at the following rates, and must be posted within eight days of the date of publication:—

Africa, West Coast of	1d	Germany	2d
Alexandria (via Southampton)	1d	Gibraltar (via Southampton)	1d
" (via Brindisi)	2d	" (via France)	3d

Newspapers for India and the adjacent countries, via Southampton, 1d.; via Brindisi, 3d., not exceeding 4 oz.; a further rate of 1d. being chargeable for every additional 4 oz. or fraction of 4 oz. Payment in advance of the one condition required under the new rates, in default of which no newspaper will be forwarded.

PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

INLAND.—Pattern and Sample Post is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise. The colonial and foreign sample post is variable both in limit of weight and also in rates of postage. See British Postal Guide, published quarterly. Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be), or any articles sent by one private individual to another which are not actually patterns or samples, are not admissible. There must be no writing or printing upon any packet except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender, a trade-mark or number, and the price of the articles; nor may there be any writing or printing or other thing enclosed, except such address, mark, number, and price, and a written or printed description of the articles; and these particulars may be on labels attached to the samples. If this rule be infringed, the packet will be treated as a letter.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1875.

Post-Cards.—Post-cards, which bear a halfpenny impressed stamp, are available for transmission between places in the United Kingdom only. The front (or stamped) side is intended for the address only. (On the reverse side, any communication, whether of the nature of a letter or otherwise, may be written or printed; but such communication must not extend to the front side. Private cards may be stamped on application to the office of Inland Revenue, Somerset House. Postage-cards can only be purchased in packets of one dozen and upwards.

Book Post.—A Book-Packet may contain not only books, paper, or other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing, whether plain or written or printed upon (to the exclusion of any written letter or communication of the nature of a letter); photographs, when not on glass or in frames containing glass or any like substance, and anything usually appertaining to such articles in the way of binding and mounting, or necessary for their safe transmission by post, but also circulars, when these are wholly or in great part printed, engraved, or lithographed. The postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz., or fraction of that weight. A packet posted wholly unsealed will be charged with double the book-postage; and, if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency. Every book-packet must be posted either without a cover or in a cover open at both ends, and in each of them it is to admit of the contents being easily withdrawn for examination, when it will be treated as a letter. No book-packet may contain anything sealed or otherwise closed against inspection; nor must there be any letter, nor any communication of the nature of a letter, whether separate or otherwise, unless the whole of such letter or communication be printed. It must not exceed 5 lb. in weight and 18 in. in length.

POST OFFICE TELEGRAPHS.

The charge for telegrams throughout the United Kingdom, including the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, but excepting the Scilly, Orkney, and Shetland Islands, is 1s. for the first twenty words, and 8d. for every additional five words—i.e., for every additional group of not more than five words, the names and addresses of the sender and receiver not being counted.

If the addressee resides at a greater distance than three miles from the telegraph office, postage is charged for delivery by mounted messengers at the rate of 1s. per double mile, except in the case of telegrams for Ireland, where the charge is only 6d. per double mile.

If the sender requires his telegram to be forwarded by post or by train to the terminal telegraph office, he must write the words "by post" or "by train" in the space provided for that purpose at the foot of the message.

Telegrams written on the proper forms and properly prepaid may be handed to rural messengers who are proceeding to post telegraph-offices for transmission therefrom.

Telegrams written in any European language are charged for according to the number of words they contain; but all unintelligible words not forming part of any European language are charged for as if each syllable were one word. Should the word not be composed of syllables, then five letters are considered as equal to one word.

Telegrams may be repeated at the request of the sender, if he desires to add to this extra security against risk of error, by being retransmitted from an office at which they are received to the office from which they are forwarded. The charge for repetition is one half the ordinary tariff; fractions of this charge being reckoned as twopenny.

The cost of a reply to a telegram may be prepaid; and prepaid reply pass will then be delivered to the addressee, who will be at liberty to send his reply, from any postal telegraph station, at any time within two months after the date of the original telegram.

The following exceptional compound words are charged for as one word: Midday, midnight, noonday, sunnights, cannot, to-day, to-night, to-morrow, yesterday, yesterday, halfpenny, twopenny, and peace up to despatch. Also all denominations of trades, such as linen-draper, silversmith, shuttler, &c. Abbreviations of auxiliary verbs designated by apostrophes, such as can't, won't, don't, I'll, you'll, couldn't, shouldn't, &c. are charged for as one word. By writing words in this way, however, there is a greater risk of error.

Numbers expressed in figures in an inland telegram are counted as so many words, according to the number of figures employed. For example—"12" counts as one word, "12" as two words, "345" as three words.

The department is not liable for losses incurred through the incorrect transmission, delay, or non-delivery of telegrams.

Telegraph offices are, as a rule, open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on week days, and from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Sunday. There are, however, offices in several of the larger towns which are open for longer periods, and at certain offices in London and in the country there is attendance continuously during the day and night, both on week days and Sundays.

TOWN DELIVERIES.

The portion of each district within about three miles of the General Post Office is designated the town delivery, and the remainder the suburban delivery.

SUBURBAN DELIVERIES.

There are seven despatches daily to the suburban districts. The first is at 6.30 a.m. to all places within the London district limits; and includes the correspondence by the night mails from the provinces, and by any colonial or foreign mails arriving in sufficient time. This delivery is generally completed in the nearer suburbs by 9 a.m., and at the more distant places between 9 and 10 a.m. The second despatch is at 9.30 a.m. to the nearer suburban districts. The third is at 11.30 a.m., and comprises, with a few exceptions, every part of the London district. The fourth despatch, at 2.30 p.m., is to most of the suburban districts, isolated localities excepted. The fifth despatch, at 4.30 p.m., extends to the whole of the suburban districts, and, except in the more rural places, the letters are delivered the same evening. The sixth despatch, at 6 p.m. is also to the nearer suburbs. The seventh despatch is at 7 p.m. Letters for this despatch, posted at the town receiving houses and pillar boxes by 6 p.m., or at the chief office of the district to which they are addressed by 7.30 p.m., are delivered the same evening at all the principal places within about six miles of the General Post Office. At the more distant places the letters are delivered early the following morning.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN MAILS.

Australia.—Mails to these colonies are dispatched twice a month.

India.—Mails to India are now dispatched every Friday via Brindisi, and every Thursday morning via Southampton. The postage of letters to India and Ceylon per half ounce is 9d. when sent via Southampton, and 1s. when sent via Brindisi. The same advances by half ounces instead of by ounces.

United States of America.—Letters, 6 cents per single rate of 15 grammes (one half-ounce) in the United States, and 8d. (6 cents) in the United Kingdom, prepayment optional. A fine will, however, be levied and collected in addition to the deficient postage on such unpaid, or insufficiently prepaid, letter received by one country from the other. Newspapers, 2 cents each in the United States, and 1d. each in the United Kingdom, if not exceeding 4 oz. in weight. Book-packets, including printed papers of all kinds, &c., and patterns and samples of merchandise, including seeds and grain, when not exceeding 1 oz. in weight, 2 cents in the United States, and 1d. in the United Kingdom.

Letters for such places in Turkey and Asia Minor as have no Austrian post office should be addressed to the care of an agent residing in the nearest part at which an Austrian post office has been established. It is recommended also that any letters for Erzeroum and other parts of the interior of Armenia, or for Persia, be addressed to the care of some agent at Samoun or Trebizond, to be forwarded to their destination.

Letters for Russia should have the name of the town added in either English, French, or German; and if for the smaller towns in Russia they should bear as a part of their address the name of the province or government in which they are situated.

When the time for making up a colonial or foreign mail is marked "Morning," the latest time for posting letters by it at the chief office is 8.55 a.m.; at the Lombard-street branch office, 8.30 a.m.; at the Charing-cross branch office, 4 a.m.; and at the district offices, 6 a.m. In the case of the French mail, letters must be posted at the E.C. and W.C. pillar-boxes at 3.45 a.m. and at the several branch offices and pillar-boxes in the town districts not later than 4 a.m.; in certain suburban boxes not later than 3 a.m.; and at the chief office not later than 6.30 a.m. When marked "Evening," the latest time is the same as for the inland night mails.

MONEY ORDERS.

are issued at the chief district offices and at the branch offices, Lombard-street and Charing-cross, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; on Saturdays between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.; at other branch offices and receiving-houses in the town districts between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; at branch offices in the suburban districts between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.; and at receiving-houses in the suburban districts between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. On Saturdays savings bank deposits are received at all receiving-offices until 8 p.m. The commission on inland money orders is:—For sums under 10s., 1d. of 10s. and under £1, 2d.; and for every additional pound or fraction of a pound, 1d. No order is allowed to contain a fractional part of a penny, and the printed forms only should be used which are supplied gratuitously.

INTERNATIONAL MONEY ORDERS BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.—Orders have been selected in all the States and territories. No single order will be issued for more than 50 dol., but persons desiring to remit larger sums can obtain additional money orders. The rates of commission on these money orders will range from 0.25 on orders not exceeding 10 dol., to 1 dol. 25c. for over 40 dol. and not exceeding 50 dol.

For sums not exceeding	£2	£5	£7	£10
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
If payable in Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Egypt, or at Malta, Gibraltar, or Constantinople	0	9	1	6

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

Deposits of One Shilling, or of any number of shillings, or of pounds and shillings, may be made by any person at the Post-Office Savings Banks, provided that such depositor shall not make deposits amounting to more than £20 in any year ending Dec. 31, or make any further deposit when the amount standing in his name exceeds £150, exclusive of interest. When any depositor's principal and interest amount together to £200, all interest will cease so long as the balance of the account continues to amount to the said sum of £200.

Interest calculated yearly at the rate of £2 10s. per cent per annum will be allowed on every complete pound deposited, reckoned from the first day of the calendar month next following the day on which a complete pound shall have been deposited or completed, up to the first day of the calendar month in which the moneys are withdrawn.

INCREMENT OF POPULATION.

The following table represents accurately the increase in the commerce and population of the Christian world during the last seventeen years. It is of great interest on account of its bearing upon the question whether the population multiplies too fast for the good of the race, and whether the general comfort of the individual is being increased or decreased:

	1855.	1872.	1855.	1872.
Great Britain	£268,400,000	£609,000,000	27,020,000	32,060,000
France	150,300,000	283,800,000	35,700,000	36,100,000
United States	107,310,000	232,800,000	25,000,000	41,000,000
Belgium	60,000,000	109,800,000	4,300,000	5,100,000
Germany, imp'ts only	53,200,000	100,000,000	53,700,000	34,000,000
Austria	26,000,000	80,400,000	36,500,000	55,000,000
Russia in Europe	15,400,000	103,000,000	65,000,000	73,000,000
Italy	32,200,000	103,600,000	18,850,000	27,000,000
Spain	32,500,000	27,800,000	15,600,000	16,700,000
Netherlands	54,000,000	88,000,000	3,435,000	3,670,000
Sweden	5,000,000	11,600,000	5,600,000	6,000,000
Total	£848,340,000	£1,855,200,000	271,435,000	311,600,000
Increase in seventeen years (commerce)				118 per cent
Increase in seventeen years (population)				14 per cent
Foreign commerce in 1855 per head of population				£3 13
Foreign commerce in 1872 per head of population				£5 25
Increase per cent				50

The most striking deduction to be made from this table is not the great increase of commerce, but the fact that in a seventeen years the amount for each individual has nearly doubled. There has been a slow growth in the number of the people, but a very rapid growth in the commerce. Commerce is an index of wealth and increase of wealth means, in the highest degree, augmentation of physical comforts and well-being.

THE POPULATION OF FRANCE.—France contained in 1872 35,362,253 citizens and 740,608 foreigners. The former consisted of 30,676,913 natives of the departments in which they resided, 4,413,641 persons who had removed from one department to another, 13,243 Alsacians and Lorrainers who had elected to continue French subjects, and 15,983 naturalised foreigners. The foreigners comprised 317,558 Belgians, 112,500 Italians, 64,808 Austrians and Lorrainers who had accepted German nationality, 32,954 Spaniards, 52,950 Russians, 42,834 Poles, 12,850 Swiss, 23,361 Germans, 26,083 English, 57,950 Dutch, 7,928 Scandinavians, 6,559 Americans, 1,116 Austrians and Hungarians, 8813 Asiatics, 1173 Turks, Greeks, &c., and 1,926 persons from other countries.

BRITISH SHIPPING.—The number of registered vessels on the registry of the British Empire at the close of the year 1873 was 30,825, with an aggregate tonnage of 7,214,230 tons, and manned by 330,949 men. The numbers were constituted as follows:—United Kingdom, 24,873 vessels of 5,730,308 tons; Channel Islands, 688 vessels of 68,794 tons; British Plantations, 11,264 vessels of 1,480,968 tons. The number of ships is eleven fewer than in the preceding year; but the tonnage shows an increase of 80,401 tons, and there are 1444 more men.

THE EAST AFRICAN SLAVE TRADE: DESTRUCTION OF A SHIP.—FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1875.

a.m., being respectively 34m., 50m., 1h. 5m., and 1h. 28m. before sunrise on these days. He is due south on the 15th at 10h. 5m. a.m., on the last day at 9h. 8m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 5th.

APRIL.

The Moon will be near Saturn on the morning of the 2nd, near Venus on the morning of the 3rd, to the right of Mercury on the 4th, near Jupiter on the 20th (the day of full moon), near Mars on the morning of the 26th, and near Saturn on the morning of the last day. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 6th	at 36 minutes	after 6h.	in the morning.
First Quarter	" 12th	" 33	" "	" afternoon.
Full Moon	" 20th	" 30	" "	" afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 28th	" 17	" "	" afternoon.

She is nearest to the Earth on the morning of the 7th, and most distant on the afternoon of the 22nd.

MERCURY rises at 4h. 58m. a.m., or 31m. before the Sun, on the 5th; at 4h. 52m. a.m., or 26m. before the Sun, on the 10th, at 4h. 44m. a.m., or 23m. before the Sun, on the 15th; at 4h. 37m. a.m., or 21m. before the Sun, on the 20th; at 4h. 31m. a.m., or 16m. before the Sun, on the 25th, and at 4h. 25m. a.m., or 12m. before the Sun, on the last day. He is near the Moon on the 4th.

VENUS rises on the 1st at 4h. 25m. a.m., on the 11th at 4h. 11m. a.m., on the 21st at 3h. 55m. a.m., on the last day at 3h. 38m. a.m.; or being 1h. 18m., 1h. 4m., 1h. 0m., and 59m. before sunrise on these days. She is near the Moon on the 2nd.

MARS is still a morning star, rising on the 1st at 1h. 0m. a.m., or 4h. 38m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 0h. 39m. a.m., or 4h. 36m. before sunrise; on the 21st at 0h. 17m. a.m., or 4h. 38m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 15th at 4h. 22m. a.m.; on the last day at 3h. 40m. a.m. He is in his descending node on the 7th, and nearest the Moon on the 25th at 8h. p.m.

JUPITER rises on the 1st at 7h. 59m. p.m., or 1h. 28m. after sunset; on the 11th at 7h. 12m. p.m., or 26m. after sunset. On the 15th the planet rises at the same time as the Sun sets, and from this day to Nov 7 the planet rises in daylight. He sets at about the time of sunrise on the 23rd, and after this a few minutes before the Sun till the end of the month. He is due south on the 15th at 0h. 12m. a.m.; on the last day at 1h. 1m. p.m. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 17th; near the Moon on the 20th.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 4h. 19m. a.m., or 1h. 19m. before the Sun; on the 11th at 3h. 42m. a.m., or 1h. 33m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 3h. 5m. a.m., or 1h. 62m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 2h. 30m. a.m., or 2h. 7m. before the Sun. He is due south on the 15th at 8h. 14m. a.m., on the last day at 7h. 19m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, and again on the 30th.

MAY.

The Moon will be near Venus during the morning hours of the 3rd, near Mercury on the 5th (the day of new moon), near Jupiter during the night common to the 15th and 16th, near Mars on the 23rd, and near Saturn on the morning of the 27th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 5th	at 4 minutes	after 3h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 12th	" 37	" "	" morning.
Full Moon	" 20th	" 50	" "	" morning.
Last Quarter	" 28th	" 30	" "	" morning.

She is nearest to the Earth on the afternoon of the 5th, and most distant on the afternoon of the 19th.

MERCURY rises on the 6th at 4h. 21m. a.m., or 7m. before sunrise, the interval gradually decreasing to the 9th, when the planet and Sun rise together; and from this day to July 11 the planet rises in daylight. On the 30th he sets nearly at the same time as the Sun; on the 15th at 8h. 30m. p.m., or 48m. after sunset, rapidly increasing to 1h. 45m. by the 25th; and to 2h. by the end of the month. He is near the Moon on the 5th, in his ascending node on the 9th, and in superior conjunction with the Sun on the same day, and in perihelion on the 16th.

VENUS is still a morning star, rising on the 1st at 3h. 36m. a.m., or 59m. before sunrise, on the 11th at 3h. 18m. a.m., or 59m. before sunrise, on the 21st at 3h. 1m. a.m., or 1h. 2m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 2h. 45m. a.m., or 1h. 7m. before sunrise. She is at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 2nd, and near the Moon on the 3rd.

MARS rises on the 1st at 1h. 50m. p.m., or 1h. 29m. after sunset; on the 11th at 1h. 22m. p.m., or 3h. 46m. after sunset; on the 21st at 1h. 18m. p.m., or 2h. 58m. after sunset; on the last day at 10h. 9m. p.m., or 2h. 6m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 37m. a.m., on the 15th at 2h. 59m. a.m., on the last day at 1h. 44m. a.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 19th, and near the Moon on the 23rd.

JUPITER sets on the 1st at 4h. 19m. a.m., or 16m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 3h. 30m. a.m., or 41m. before sunrise; on the 21st at 2h. 56m. a.m., or 1h. 7m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 2h. 15m. a.m., or 1h. 57m. before sunrise, and is visible throughout the night till these times. He is due south on the 15th at 9h. 56m. p.m.; on the last day at 8h. 19m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 17th.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h. 26m. a.m., or 2h. 9m. before sunrise, which interval gradually increases to 2h. 30m. by the 11th, to 2h. 52m. by the 21st, and to 3h. 21m. by the last day (the planet rising on these days at 1h. 47m. a.m., 1h. 11m. a.m., and 0h. 31m. a.m. respectively). He is due south on the 15th at 6h. 23m. a.m.; on the last day at 5h. 22m. a.m. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 17th, and near the Moon on the 27th.

JUNE.

The Moon will be to the right of Venus on the 1st, and to the left of her on the morning of the 2nd; near Mercury on the 5th; near Jupiter on the 13th; near Mars on the morning of the 19th; and near Saturn on the evening of the 23rd and morning of the 24th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 3rd	at 21 minutes	after 10h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 10th	" 55	" "	" afternoon.
Full Moon	" 18th	" 59	" "	" afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 26th	" 39	" "	" afternoon.

She is nearest to the Earth on the morning of the 3rd, and most distant at midnight on the 15th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 4th at 10h. 9m. p.m., or 2h. 2m. after sunset; on the 9th at 10h. 6m., or 1h. 55m. after sunset; on the 14th at 9h. 53m. p.m., or 1h. 57m. after sunset; on the 19th at 9h. 35m., or 1h. 18m. after sunset; on the 24th at 9h. 8m. p.m., or 19m. after sunset, and on the last day at 8h. 31m. p.m., or 1m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 5th, at his greatest eastern elongation (24 deg. 9 min.) on the 10th, in his descending node on the 16th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 23rd, and in aphelion on the 26th.

VENUS rises at 2h. 15m. a.m., on the 1st, before the Sun, on the 1st, which interval increases very slowly to 1h. 14m. by the 10th, to 1h. 22m. by the 20th, and to 1h. 27m. by the last day (the planet rising on these days at 2h. 32m. a.m., 2h. 22m. a.m., and 2h. 20m. a.m.). She is near the Moon on the 1st.

MARS rises on the 10th at 9h. 27m. p.m., or 1h. 15m. after sunset, on the 20th at 8h. 40m. p.m., or 22m. after sunset. On the 24th he rises at the same time as the Sun sets, and he rises in daylight from this day to the end of the year. He sets at the same time as the Sun rises on the 17th, and at 2h. 23m. a.m. on the last day. He is due south on the 15th at 0h. 29m. a.m., on the last day at 1h. 1m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 19th, and in opposition to the Sun on the 20th.

JUPITER rises in daylight and sets on the 1st at 2h. 11m. a.m., on the 10th at 1h. 31m. a.m., on the 20th at 0h. 51m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 13m. a.m. He is due south on the 15th at 7h. 48m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 13th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 19th.

SATURN rises on the 10th at 1h. 51m. p.m., or 3h. 39m. after sunset; on the 20th at 1h. 12m. p.m., or 2h. 54m. after sunset, and on the last day at 10h. 32m. p.m., or 2h. 14m. after sunset. He is due south on the 15th at 1h. 23m. a.m.; on the last day at 3h. 22m. a.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 6th, and near the Moon on the 23rd.

JULY.

The Moon will be situated to the right of Venus on the 1st, near Mercury on the evening of the 3rd, Jupiter on the 10th, Mars on the 15th, Saturn on the evening of the 20th and morning of the 21st, and near Mercury and Venus on the morning of the last day. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 3rd	at 25 minutes	after 5h.	in the morning.
First Quarter	" 10th	" 40	" "	" morning.
Full Moon	" 18th	" 27	" "	" afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 25th	" 39	" "	" afternoon.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1875.

She is nearest to the Earth on the afternoon of the 1st, and again on the morning of the 29th, and most distant on the afternoon of the 15th.

MERCURY on the 2nd sets at the same time as the Sun, and from this day to Aug. 23 he sets in daylight. He is a morning star from the 11th, rising at 3h. 54m. a.m., or 4m. before sunrise; on the 14th at 3h. 35m. a.m., or 2m. before sunrise, increasing to 1h. 21m. by the 24th, and to 1h. 37m. by the last day. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 17th, near Venus on the 20th, at his greatest western elongation (19 deg. 36 min.) on the 27th, and near the Moon on the last day.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 10th at 2h. 25m. a.m., or 1h. 32m. before sunrise; on the 20th at 2h. 39m. a.m., or 1h. 29m. before sunrise; on the last day at 3h. 2m. a.m., or 1h. 22m. before sunrise. She is near the Moon on the 1st, in her ascending node at midnight on the 20th, and again near the Moon on the last day.

MARS is an evening star, and is visible till he sets, on the 10th, at 1h. 32m. a.m., on the 20th at 0h. 47m. a.m., on the 30th at 0h. 9m. a.m. He is due south on the 15th at 9h. 51m. p.m., on the last day at 8h. 46m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 15th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 25th.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 10th at 11h. 30m. p.m., or 3h. 23m. after sunset; on the 20th at 10h. 59m. p.m., or 2h. 54m. after sunset; on the 30th at 10h. 21m. p.m., or 2h. 32m. after sunset. He is due south on the 15th, at 5h. 54m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 10th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 15th.

SATURN rises on the 10th at 9h. 52m. p.m., or 1h. 39m. after sunset; on the 20th at 9h. 13m. p.m., or 1h. 9m. after sunset; on the 30th at 8h. 32m. p.m., or 4m. after sunset. He is due south on the 15th at 2h. 21m. a.m.; on the last day at 1h. 14m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 20th.

AUGUST.

The Moon will be to the left of Jupiter on the evening of the 7th, near Mars on the evening of the 12th, near Saturn on the evening of the 16th and morning of the 17th, near Venus on the 30th, and near Mercury on the last day. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the	1st at 28 minutes after	1h. in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 9th "	" 80 "	" 3 " morning.

She is nearest to the Earth on the afternoon of the 12th, and most distant on the afternoon of the 25th.

MERCURY rises 1h. 10m. before sunrise on the 1st, 5m. on the 6th, 40m. on the 11th, 28m. on the 16th, and 4m. on the 21st; the planet rising on these days at 6h. 27m. a.m., 6h. 55m. a.m., 7h. 18m. a.m., 7h. 40m. a.m., and 8h. 2m. a.m. On the 22nd the planet and Sun rise together, and the planet rises in daylight to the end of the year after this time. He is in his descending node on the 9th, in aphelion on the 19th, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 30th, and near the Moon on the 27th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 7th at 4h. 53m. p.m., or 1h. 9m. after the Sun; which interval increases to 1h. 31m. by the 17th, to 1h. 51m. by the 27th, and to 2h. 0m. by the last day, the planet setting at 5h. 20m. p.m., 5h. 45m. p.m., and 5h. 68m. p.m. respectively on these evenings. She is at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 13th, and near the Moon on the 29th.

MARS is still an evening star, setting on the 7th at 10h. 11m. p.m., or 6h. 21m. after the Sun; on the 17th at 10h. 11m. p.m., or 6h. 23m. after the Sun; on the 27th at 10h. 16m. p.m., or 6h. 21m. after the Sun; on the last day at 10h. 17m. p.m., or 6h. 19m. after the Sun. He is due south on the 15th at 5h. 0m. p.m.; on the last day at 4h. 40m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 5h. 29m. a.m., or 2h. 14m. before the Sun; on the 17th at 5h. 1m. a.m., or 3h. 3m. before the Sun; on the 27th at 4h. 32m. a.m., or 3h. 57m. before the Sun; and on the last day at 4h. 21m. a.m., or 3h. 45m. before the Sun. He is due south on the 15th at 4h. 50m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 24th.

SATURN is an evening star, setting on the 7th at 9h. 12m. p.m., on the 17th at 8h. 37m. p.m., on the 27th at 8h. 3m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 50m. p.m. He is due south on the 15th at 4h. 2m. p.m.; on the last day at 3h. 5m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and again on the last day.

ECLIPSES IN 1875.

THE first is a Total Eclipse of the Sun, on April 6, invisible from Europe. It begins on the Earth generally at about 8h. 58m. in the morning of the 6th, Greenwich mean time, in longitude 35½ deg. east of Greenwich and in latitude 33 deg. 4 min. south, not far from the southernmost part of Africa in the Indian Ocean, and near Natal. The central line passes across the Indian Ocean, somewhat south of Madagascar, north of Sumatra, and near to Formosa. The eclipse ends in longitude 131½ deg. east of Greenwich and north latitude 23½ deg. nearly, at 4 minutes after 9h. a.m.

The Central Eclipse begins at about 4h. 54m., a.m. (Greenwich mean time), and ends about 8h. 20m. a.m. It will be seen as a partial eclipse from the southern part of Africa, from China, and from the several islands between Australia and China.

When the centres of the Sun and Moon are in the same straight line with the eye of the observer, and the apparent diameter of the Moon is greater than that of the Sun, the eclipse of the Sun will be total, as in the preceding case, but when her apparent diameter be less than that of the Sun the eclipse will be annular; and such will be the case in the second eclipse of this year, which takes place on Sept. 29, 1875, and visible as a partial eclipse from Greenland, Iceland, England, Spain, and the greater part of Africa.

It begins on the Earth generally at 10h. 3m. a.m. Greenwich mean time, in longitude 90 deg. 56 min. west of Greenwich, and latitude 34 deg. 10 min. north, in the North Atlantic Ocean, at a point south of Nova Scotia and east of Philadelphia; passes nearly over the Cape de Verd Islands, north of Sierra Leone, over the Gulf of Guinea, across Africa, to a point whose longitude is 29 deg. 55 min. east of Greenwich and latitude 20½ deg.

The central eclipse begins at 1h. 7m., and ends at 2h. 49m. (Greenwich mean time).

At London a partial eclipse is visible, amounting only to a little more than one tenth of the Sun's diameter at its greatest phase. The eclipse begins at 11h. 25m. a.m., its greatest phase takes place 6h. 7m., and it ends at 4h. 47m.

At Dublin the eclipse begins at 10h. 44m. a.m., its greatest phase is at 11h. 32m. a.m., and it ends at 6h. 20m. mean time at Dublin. At Edinburgh the eclipse begins at 11h. 10m. a.m., its greatest phase is at 11h. 48m., and it ends at 6h. 24m. mean time at Edinburgh.

SLACKS' SILVER ELECTRO-PLATE

HAS BEEN IN USE THIRTY YEARS.

SLACKS' NICKEL SILVER being a metal amalgamated on chemical and scientific principles almost to the purity and whiteness of Silver, with all its durability in wear, renders it, as a basis of Electro-Silvering, the best article that can be produced; and when plated by Messrs. ELKINGTON'S patent process is equal in appearance and durability to Sterling Silver, and cannot by any possible means be distinguished from such except by the Hall Mark.

FRY'S CARACAS COCOA.

In  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. and  $\frac{1}{4}$  lb. Packets. 1s. 4d. per lb.

This Cocoa owes its DELICIOUS FLAVOUR to the use of the celebrated Caracas Nut, combined with other choice descriptions, specially selected for their peculiar excellence and invigorating qualities.

"CARACAS COCOA has ever been considered the best of all that is produced upon the American soil."—R. T. O. MIDDLETON, Consul-General, Caracas.—Journal of Applied Science.

"No more delicious, refreshing, nourishing, and wholesome beverage has ever been manufactured."—Morning Post.

"A packet can easily be obtained, and its delicate flavour and fine aroma ensure its adoption as beverage for breakfast or supper."—Standard.

FRY'S CARACAS CHOCOLATE

In  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. and  $\frac{1}{4}$  lb. Cakes. Yellow Wrappers. 1s. 8d. per lb.

This really excellent and delicious Chocolate is also prepared with Caracas and other Choice Cocos, long adopted in the manufacture of the finest Chocolates of Europe. Competition is challenged for it with any other Chocolate, whether of English or Foreign Manufacture, at a similar price.

"FRY'S CARACAS COCOA AND CHOCOLATE fulfil every possible requirement for convenience, its flavour, and for purity."—Court Circular.

FRY'S EXTRACT OF COCOA.

In 6d. Packets; 1s. and 2s. Tins.

A perfectly pure and delicious beverage, prepared exclusively from choice Cocoa Nibs.

"The 'EXTRACT OF COCOA,' which really consists of Cocoa Nibs deprived of superfluous oil, than which, if properly prepared there is no nicer or more wholesome preparation of Cocoa."—"Food Water, and Air."—Dr. Hassall.

FRY'S COCOA & MILK.

Prepared with PURE CONDENSED MILK, and requires only to be mixed with boiling water to produce a delicious cup of Cocoa.

FRY'S CHOCOLATE CREAMS
ARE DELICIOUS SWEETMEATS.

"In all kinds of Fancy Chocolate, Messrs. FRY are pre-eminent."—Court Circular.

"The boxes in which their (FRY'S) Chocolate Creams are packed are marvels of beauty and cheapness."—Grocer.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES,

for the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH, or any irritation or soreness of the Throat, are now imported and sold in this Country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box, put up in the form of a "lozenge." It is the most convenient, pleasant, safe, and sure remedy for clearing and strengthening the voice known in the world. The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says:—"I have often recommended them to friends who were public speakers, and in many cases they have proved extremely serviceable." The genuine have the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" on the Government Stamp around each Box. Sold by all Medicine Venders throughout the world. London Dépôt, 493, Oxford-street.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.

If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Certificate from Dr. Versmann on every bottle, with full particulars. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON.

Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. Price 3s. 6d.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

should always be used when children are cutting teeth; it relieves the little sufferers at once, it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world, at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle; and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue.

Manufactory, 493, Oxford-street, London.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalculæ," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke: being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the toothbrush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly each morning if only left to their own choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the toothbrush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. FLORILINE is prepared only by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London, and sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world, at 2s. 6d. per bottle. "Floriline" Powder put up in large glass jars, price 1s.

MOURING FOR LADIES.

MESSRS. JAY,

anxious to remove the impression which they find has gained undue circulation, that none but the richest materials in COSTUMES, MANTLES, and MILLINERY, are sold at their Establishment, deem it a duty to themselves and the Public to assure all families who have not yet dealt at JAYS' MOURNING WAREHOUSE, that good wearing materials are out from the piece, and at more than an equivalent for the price, which is from 1s. per yard upwards, and Gape from 1s. 9d. per yard.

Messrs. JAY have always at command experienced Dressmakers and Milliners, who act as travellers, so that, in the event of immediate Mourning being required, or any other sudden emergency for dress, one can be dispatched to any part of the kingdom on receipt of a letter or telegram, without any expense whatever to the purchaser. All articles are marked in plain figures, and charges are the same as if the goods were bought for ready money at the Warehouse.

CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE

is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered. is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague, acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. effectually cures short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms. is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, Dec. 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manila, to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the ONLY remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—"Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to."—See "Times," July 18, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1d., 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine without the words, "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

NATURAL MINERAL WATER OF PULLNA, NEAR BRUX, IN BOHEMIA.

Extract from the "Medical Times and Gazette," March 27, 1869:

"Pullna Water is the fashionable purgative of people in high life. It is not very agreeable to the taste, and would hardly have earned its popularity unless it possessed some practically good qualities. These we believe to be that it is a sure and efficient purgative, and that it neither nauseates nor gripes. It contains notable quantities of the sulphates of soda and magnesia, with the mélange of other salts of soda, magnesium, lime, &c., which figure in most analyses of mineral water. Many persons prefer a mineral water to a dose compounded in the apothecary's shop, and for any such person who may need an unmistakable purge the Practitioner may safely recommend Pullna Water. The sample before us has been duly tested and found to answer."

Doses to be taken in small quantity and before breakfast, and also warmed. For improving taste, add some wine, milk, coffee, or tea.

Depots in all the most important Cities of Europe and in Transatlantic Countries, where our latest notices may be had gratis.

REMEMBER LAMPLOUGH'S

PYRETIC SALINE.

AND HAVE IT IN YOUR HOUSES.

It is most invigorating, vitalising, and refreshing. Gives instant relief in Headaches, Sea or Bilious Sickness, and quickly cures the worst form of Eruptive or Skin Complaints. The various diseases arising from Climatic causes, Constipation, the Liver, or Blood Impurities, Inoculation, the Results of Breathing Air Infected with Fever, Measles, or SMALLPOX, are frequently prevented and these diseases cured by its use.

Any person who has already Smallpox should take it, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent its leaving any trace on the features.

The numerous statements and letters relating to its marvellous effect, as a positive cure in TYPHUS, SCARLET FEVER, SMALLPOX, and other BLOOD POISONS, are most remarkable, and are painfully suggestive of great neglect, whenever the PYRETIC SALINE is not employed in these diseases.

"It furnishes the Blood with its lost Saline constituents."—DR. MORGAN, M.D., &c.

The late DR. TURLEY states in his letters and lectures:—"I found it act as a specific in the worst form of Scarlet Fever, NO OTHER Medicine being given."

DO NOTICE MY TRADE MARK AND NAME.

Worthless imitations are now being offered to the public, the only merit of which is a label and wrapper with a transposition of the sentence and words of mine—a colourable imitation—in fact, a fraud on myself and the public.

Sold by all Chemists throughout England and the Colonies, and the Maker, 113, Holborn-hill, London.

THIS Journal, the FIRST ILLUSTRATED NEWSPAPER ever published, has now been in existence over a quarter of a century. As might have been expected, its appearance called into existence imitators in this country, on the Continent, in America, and in Australia. Many of these had but a brief existence, and others flourished in exact proportion as they followed more or less closely their prototype. Not one of them, however, achieved anything like the circulation of the original. Certainly, in respect of its wide extension, which, it is fair to assume, is attributable to its excellence, the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS stands unique.

The Engravings.

Neither cost nor trouble has been spared to illustrate, from Original Sketches—many of them by Special Artists sent to great distances—events of public interest in every quarter of the globe. This course has been undeviatingly pursued from the commencement of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS to the present time. It is, doubtless, owing to the fidelity of these Illustrations and to the jealous care with which objectionable subjects are excluded, that it has continued to rise in public favour, and finds a welcome in every home.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The extensive circulation of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS throughout the United Kingdom, in the colonies, and indeed in all parts of the world, renders it an excellent vehicle for Advertisements.

As an advertising medium it has no equal; and, considering the area of its circulation, the charges are moderate.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

BY a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—On Diet, in the "Civil Service Gazette."

"A VISIT TO EPPS'S COCOA MANUFACTORY.—Through the kindness of Messrs. Epps, I recently had an opportunity of seeing the many complicated and varied processes the Cacao bean passes through ere it is sold for public use, and, being both interested and highly pleased with what I saw during my visit to the manufactory, I thought a brief account of the Cacao, and the way it is manufactured by Messrs. Epps to fit it for a wholesome and nutritious beverage, might be of interest to the readers of 'Land and Water.'—See Article in "Land and Water."

"MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston-road, London."—See Article in "Cassell's Household Guide."

WHAT IT IS.—"If I am to take Cocoa," said I, "I must know what it is made of; I must examine the process; I must dive into the mystery of its manufacture; I must see and judge myself what are the ingredients of which it is composed; for in more senses than one, as Longfellow writes,

'The soul is dead that slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.'

With this view I made my way to the Cocoa Manufactory of James Epps and Co., in the Euston-road."—See Article in "The Christian World."

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING A WILL.

A will cannot be made in language too simple or concise: it must be written with ink, on paper or parchment; and, if contained on one sheet, must be signed at the end by the testator in the presence of two or more witnesses; and, if written on more than one sheet, the testator and the witnesses had better sign each sheet.
The witnesses must rigidly comply with every particular required by the attestation clause, at the end of which clause they must sign their names.
A codicil to a will is to be made with the same regulations as the will itself, and may be written thus:—This is a codicil to my last will and testament, bearing date the .. day of .. 18 .., and which I direct to be taken as part thereof. I give, devise, and bequeath, &c. As witness my hand this .. day of ..
Obiterations or alterations are dangerous, and when of necessity made, ought to be signed by the testator and witnesses.
Marriage after making a will renders the will void.
It is not indispensable for a witness to know the contents of a will, which may be so folded as to prevent any other portion than the signature and attestation clauses being read.

* This represents the receipts under this head for five quarters of the year.

In thirty years the annual expenditure of the country has increased by £15,000,000. In 1842 a penny in the pound of income tax produced £750,000, in 1875 it produced £2,000,000; but everything has proportionally risen in price. A man-of-war costs nearly five times as much as an old ship of the line, and the cost of guns and the price of smallarms have risen in nearly equal proportions. Among other items of increase pensions stand high, and from last year's Parliamentary paper on the subject, which occupies eighty-four folio pages, it appears that the actual amount paid at the close of last year reached the large total of £1,080,715. In each of four departments—the War Office, the Customs, the Inland Revenue, and the Post Office—the figures exceeded £100,000, while in the Admiralty they amounted to £38,339. Several very liberal pensions ceased in 1874, owing to the death of their recipients. Among the largest of these was a pension of £1300 to the late Hon G. Jerningham, Minister at Stockholm; one of £1400 to the late Mr. Maclean, Secretary to the Customs; one of £1541 to Sir Denis Le Marchant, Clerk to the House of Commons; one of £1800 to the late Mr. Abraham, Commissioner of Bankruptcy; one of £2500 to the late Sir A. G. Speer, a Controller of the National Debt; and last, but not least, one of £7500 to that levithian pensioner, the late Rev. T. Thurlow, Patron of Bankrupts. The common belief in the curious longevity of pensioners will, perhaps, receive fresh support from the fact that we are still paying £700 a year in pensions to the household of Princess Charlotte, who died no less than thirty-eight years ago. The large receipts of the Court of Chancery (£212,613) are insufficient to meet the costs of maintaining it by £50,145. The Lord Chancellor receives £8000 a year out of Chancery fees, and the Parliamentary return shows a number of extraordinary items of expenditure.

FINANCES OF INDIA.—The revenue of India for the financial year 1874-5 was estimated at £50,710,410, or £472,157 more than the revenue of the preceding year. The ordinary expenditure was £50,564,889, or £144,489 more than the income, and the extraordinary expenditure at £4,032,163, making a total expenditure of £54,597,052, or £4,526,593 more than the income; the total expenditure, however, being less by £362,226 than in the preceding year. All the greatest items of revenue show an increase over the preceding year:—Land revenue £21,083,300; opium, £4,520,000; salt, £6,184,000; stamps, £2,779,000; Customs, £2,642,000; Excise on spirits and drugs, £2,335,000. The items of expenditure begin with £9,546,418 for charges of collection and direct claims on the revenue under treaties and engagements, and including also £2,349,961 cost of opium, and £478,932 cost of salt. The charge for the Army is £15,491,403; but there is a credit on the other side of £935,337 under this head. The charge for the debt is £5,066,047, with £282,000 for interest on service funds, &c. Then come charges for administration, £1,600,261; law and justice, £2,282,723; superannuations, £1,790,863; loss by exchange, £269,090; famine relief, £2,440,136; allotments for provincial services, £5,123,000; public works, ordinary, £2,331,294; guaranteed interest on railways, less net traffic receipts, £1,132,355; State railways, £201,000, against which there is on the other side the receipt of £121,000.

OUR COTTON SUPPLY.—The Board of Trade "Statistical Abstract" gives the following account of our import of raw cotton in 1874. The import from the United States advanced to 874,925,843 lb., an increase of 42,353,248 lb. over the preceding year. The import from British India, which amounted to 412,025,040 lb., shows the still larger increase of 41,375,236 lb. But the import from Egypt, amounting to 172,317,498 lb., shows a decrease of 32,659,648 lb.; and the import from other Mediterranean ports—viz., 2,195,342 lb., a decrease of 6,475,504 lb. The import of cotton from Brazil in 1874 recovered to 79,501,408 lb., an increase of 7,020,608 lb.; and the import from New Granada and Venezuela was 6,391,562 lb., an increase of 2,118,844 lb. The import from the British West India Islands and British Guiana fell to 502,708 lb., a decrease of 567,392 lb.; the import from Mexico to 16,461 lb., a decrease of 11,984 lb.; from China to 398,432 lb., a decrease of 618,016 lb. The imports from all other countries declined to 18,588,304 lb., a decrease of 10,567,264 lb. Thus the total import of cotton in 1874 reached the very large, though not actually unprecedented, amount of 1,566,864,432 lb., being an increase of 39,268,208 lb. over 1873. But the export of cotton from the United Kingdom reached 268,067,632 lb., an increase of 38,967,376 lb.; so that the excess of our imports over our exports—namely, 1,307,896,800 lb.—was but 300,832 lb. more than in 1873.

●HARDLY EARNED. BY MISS L. STARR.
FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

OUR COLOURED ILLUSTRATIONS.
THE CHILDREN'S YEAR.

"The whole year! Every season for the children, say I!" and she who spoke was a poor old cripple, in a faded charity gown of blue printed calico, with a shawl of dull red serge, for that was the garb of twelve aged widows inhabiting the row of almshouses founded by Dame Alice Bernard, in the village of Bullockstile. "Let the children play and enjoy themselves all times of the year," repeated this kind old soul, our friend and former household servant, dear old Margy Wilsey, who nursed our own children fifteen or twenty years ago. We, of course, agreed with good old Margy, for we had always found her in the right where matters of the heart and of common good feeling were concerned.

"I'm such a useless old woman now," she continued; "there's nothing for me to do all the year round (which I've run through seventy-four years of my own) but to look on at the dear children enjoying of themselves, when so be it's fine weather and God Almighty's blessed sun be pleased to shine down upon them, in spring, summer, autumn, and winter, as is sure to come round in their righteous turn—Amen."

"I goes to the meadow stile—you know where it be—well-nigh so far as I can hobble there upon my crutch and stick; and there it looks all fresh and beautiful in the month of May, when all the golden-cups and the gold and silver daisies be coming up to see the sun, and keep company with the sweet green grass. And there I see that dear little Rosy, that was two years born into this world in the Christmas week before, and her mother had six of 'em in eight married years; and her two sisters, Mary and Jane, they were busy making that dear child a crown of golden flowers."

"That was a fine spell of bright sunshine weather for the hay that we got in the first week of July, when Farmer Sowton cut his ten-acre piece on the Monday; and he sent in most all the spare hands of the parish—men, wives, boys, maids, and children—to help in the spreading and tedding, and then to cart and carry. But this poor old woman, my you see here, that can't hardly stand, was bid to be there to look on, and to keep an eye on the little young ones, while their mothers and big sisters was busy in the work. And there I see that dear little Totty, and with her was Polly Madder, that had brought her father's dinner in the basket; and both rolling and tossing themselves in the sweet new-mown grass, that cometh up and withereth as the life of man; and they was so full of their fun that Polly laughed and Totty crowed, till Jacky Madder he run up, and he buried 'em both for dead in mountains and heaps of hay, but they got up more alive than ever."

"I mind, too, once in October, I was a sitting by myself in the Nether Wood-lane, waiting for George's donkey-cart to give my poor old body a lift to the village. And there I see young Charley and Tom Soper, they had got both their cups full of things out of the hedge and the copse, acorns and hazelnuts, and hips and haws, and berries of the wild braunble that grows of its own free will. And I says to 'em, 'What's all that for?' And they says to me, 'It's collection for Mr. Parker at the school.' And I laughed right out; but then Charley he says, Mr. Parker's going to speechity to folk, with a lecture on Bottomy, and wants these to show folk how the plants keep their seeds in the fruits, and spring up and increase an hundredfold, Amen. So I was glad to think how the lads would get their learning, and hope they labour truly to earn their own living, and do their duty in that station, Amen. That's what I see the children do in last autumn season; but Mr. Parker drew some beautiful pictures of them things in the Illustrious London Almanack, and he called it 'Fruit and Leaf Pieces,' as I've heard tell."

"In the winter season, too, there was grand fine play for many of the boys and girls who didn't mind the cold, bless your heart; and with sliding and snow-halling, and all their fun, if you wasn't a very old body to be sure, it would make you warm to see. But then, being old myself, it was too cold for me to stop long out of door. Only then I could look out of window as I sat by my fire, in the snug little parlour they've granted me wherein to dwell by the gentlemen trustees' gracious bounty, Amen! And there I see Miss Addy and her little sister, that is our parson's two youngest daughters, and dear kind little young ladies; they had come out in the pelting snow to feed the blessed dicker-birds with a piece of bread off their own breakfasts, like the Children of Mercy in the picture-book. And the little one she stops and calls out 'Dog, dog!' when she sees Mr. Miller's Topsy, that was stauding and hankering like for their piece of bread. So Topsy goes over to the children, wagging her tail and licking her lips; and Miss Addy says, 'Yes, we've a bit for you, Topsy!' And I see both the little girls break off their morsels for Topsy; but I think it was too dry for Topsy, for she only smelt the bread, and then licked their dear little hands, wagging her tail to say 'No, thank you,' and so went back in at Mr. Miller's street door."

"That was some of the dear children's games and pleasures, that I stop to see all through the blessed long year, so to call it, that is Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter; a long year to them who are young, but short is the year to me, though long have I been spared, and soon will it be my last on this here natural earth; but may the Lord grant we all be as little children in Heaven, Amen!"

FRUIT AND LEAF PIECES.

Three of our Colour-Printed Illustrations consist of natural-looking pictures of some familiar botanical objects, which may as well be taken together in whatever is worth saying about them. Acorns, and the bramble and other common berries, with that called the strawberry, which is properly not a berry, as they say; and the drupes or stone-fruit of a species of palm, dropped by chance amidst the foliage of the Lamium purpureum, or red dead nettle—these are the simple themes of our present brief remarks. But Nature has a way of putting a great deal of wonderful and beautiful contrivance into very ordinary things of life. All that belongs to the vegetable reproductive processes and their organic instruments, the flower, the fruit, and the seed of plants, is a perpetual miracle, far transcending the stupendous display of merely physical forces in the solar system and the stellar universe to our farthest ken. There are mysteries here quite beyond the reach of science.

The mighty British oak, as must have been discerned by a superficial observer, has a variety of forms in this country. But they may be resolved into the two principal kinds—wavy-leaved and flat-leaved; the former being a massive tree of wayward and irregular growth, with very tortuous branches, and with its leaves all lying in different planes. The flat-leaved oak has a more compact and symmetrical form, with branches nearly horizontal, and the leaves disposed in parallel directions. Now, one feature of botanical distinction between them is found in the sessile or stalkless position, in the flat-leaved oak, of its little yellowish tufted catkins, which must pass for flowers. The oak-nut, or acorn, in this case has to do without peduncles, but is shorter and thicker than the acorn of Quercus robur. This may not at first sight appear such a stupendous fact as to demand that we should wonder at it; but if we compare the acorns of the two different species, cutting them open and dissecting the embryo itself, will any microscope reveal to us the source of their essential variation? So likewise in the reproduction of the animal races, and the races, nations, and families of mankind, and even the offspring of individual human parents, it is a marvellous secret of nature by what means the special characteristics of each variety are maintained through successive generations.

Instead of these acorns, let us fancy a few clusters of hazel-nuts, thrown upon the ground along with those sprigs of bramble, loaded with such ripe and luscious blackberries, above which a belated butterfly is tempted to pause in his last lingering flight. They are more likely to be seen lying under the same hedge-row, and the school-boy's appetite for rustic dainties will have associated these nut and berries in many a pleasant remembrance of the plucking and eating thereof. From a botanical point of view, however, the acorn and the hazel-nut may equally be regarded as examples of one form or mode of structure for the protection of seed—namely, that by which it is encased in a hard outer shell. The fruit, or seed-covering and seed-nourishing egg, so to speak, of a vegetable, which belongs to the different rosaceous plants, shows many varieties of structure—as in the hips and haws of roses and briars, the cherry, the apple, the plum, the strawberry, the raspberry, and others of the same order, to which we are indebted for so much that delights the palate and every sense. In the arrangement of the embryonic parts, with relation to the store of albuminous substance by which their life and growth must be sustained, there is scope for great apparent differences of method; but the principle is alike in every kind of fruit. It is the case and the food of the seeds that we most readily distinguish. Sometimes, as in the pod of a pea or bean, the seed-vessel is made to open by its own valve-action, so as to drop the bare seed; from their placental attachment to the sides of its womb. In other cases, as in all proper berries, such as the currant, the grape, and the gooseberry, a mass of pulp or sweet liquor, in a globe of soft membranes, surrounds the seeds of the plant, just as the yolk of an egg floats in its closed cup of nutritious liquid. Neither of these forms occurs in that great family of plants to which the bramble is referred. The blackberry, the raspberry, and the strawberry are not true berries, any more than the peach or the pear. Here, indeed, in the stone-fruit of the one and in the pome of the other last mentioned, we find two distinct modes of accommodating the seed, which is their kernel, imbedded centrally within the solid flesh. The kernel of a peach-stone has the same germinating function as the pups of an apple; but it is not exactly equivalent to the kernel of a nut, for that contains not only the seed, but also the feeding substance provided to maintain the embryonic growth. The stony case must decay—for it refuses to open—before ever the seed of a peach-tree or a cherry is allowed to strike into the earth and to raise its plumules into the air, exerting itself for its own livelihood. How unlike the position of leguminous seeds or the grains of an ear of corn, which are scattered with a shake or burst, and thrown loose upon the world to take care of themselves! The fleshy pulp or juice of succulent fruits, when left to rot upon the ground, mingles with the soil in which their seed has to grow; and the future plant is thus richly nourished with the best possible manure.

The bramble, with its fruit and flower, so common in our English rural scenery, is a plant that we should ill exchange for the exotic wonders of a tropical clime, represented in the hot-houses at Kew. Indeed, by its extensive family connection, including some of the choicest beauties and treasures of our native flora, this homely creeper deserves no small regard. As for its fruit, when gathered perfectly ripe, if it be combined with slices of apple in a tart, the result is highly agreeable. There is but one thing better—the mixture of raspberries and red currants, in tart or pie, which affords to the healthy palate of childhood a rapture of surpassing joy. It would indeed be ungrateful to refrain from mentioning these particular gifts and graces of the honest British bramble and unsophisticated blackberry, to which, as Dick Swiveller would say, “the minions of fashionable luxury are strangers.” No such plea is needed for giving a place of honour to the strawberry, which is everybody’s favourite eating in summer—how soon it is gone from among us!—and the loaf of which has been chosen by heraldic invention for the symbolic ornament of a lofty rank in the aristocracy of this realm. It has also a pretty blossom, which nobody will, indeed, be so foolish as to gather, in preference to waiting for the promised fruit. Once more reverting to the points of botanical analogy, it is worthy of remark that the seeds of the strawberry are placed on the outside of the succulent receptacle which supports them, the enlarged growing point of the flower. This is a different constitution from any of those before noticed.

The nettle tribe are by no means so popular, and children often pursue this weed with vengeful execrations, for the stings it has inflicted upon their tender skins; but it is a herb of some beneficent properties. The medicinal virtues of its juice and seeds in the case of disagreeable swellings and tumours have been attested by physicians of repute; and many an old woman has a word of praise for nettle-tea, or nettle-broth. The stalk-fibres make good cord—indeed, hemp is a kind of nettle. The poison which stings in the nasty nettle is contained in tiny bags at the roots of the hairs, or bristles, which grow upon every leaf. This is the Urtica, or true nettle; but the plant shown in our Coloured Illustration is a Labiata, one of several different species of a stinging plant, which has foliage singular in appearance to that of the stinging nettle. They are called dead-nettles, because they do not sting. The red dead-nettle has flowers of a reddish purple hue, and its leaves are dull green, but slightly tinged with purple. There is a nettle-tree in Australia which grows 150 ft. high, and your hand is paralysed if you only pluck a leaf. Yet the same botanical family includes such agreeable plants as the fig, the mulberry, and the breadfruit-tree. Some of the most beautiful of our summer butterflies are constant visitors to the nettle, which supplies their chief food.

OLD MODES OF LOCOMOTION.

ANCIENT BRITONS IN THEIR CORACLES.

From the accounts given us by the Romans we learn that the Britons excelled in basketwork. They constructed canoes of osier, covered with skins of animals, and in these they paddled about the rivers, creeks, and fens of their country. Such vessels are still used by Welsh fishermen. The currugl is probably identical with the portable boats used by the Picts and Scots in crossing the rivers to invade England.

COACH OF THE TIME OF ELIZABETH.

During the whole of the early times of English history, through the Middle Ages till the end of the reign of the Tudors, and even to the beginning of the eighteenth century, riding on horseback was the only mode of land travelling generally available for long distances. Chaucer describes the Canterbury Pilgrims, of both sexes, as performing the journey in the saddle. Stow tells us in his “Chronicle” that coaches were first introduced into England in 1564. They were merely covered waggons, and upon the axles without springs, and, even at a funeral pace, must have jolted most abominably. The Elizabethan coach could only with great difficulty traverse the streets of London, considering that these were described in a Paving Act of the period as “very foul and full of pits and sloughs, very perilous and noxious.” Whenever these clumsy machines ventured into the open country, except in the driest weather, they almost invariably came to grief.

RIDING ON A PILLION.

Whilst stage-coach conveyance was only available along a very limited number of roads, and during that still earlier period when such roads as really existed were impassable for wheeled carriages, women were accustomed to ride behind one of the ruder sex on what was called a pillion (from pillow). This is defined by Johnson as a soft saddle set behind a horseman for a woman to sit on. Even Queens, on long journeys, preferred a seat on a pillion behind one of their officers to any other mode of conveyance. When Katharine of Spain came over, in 1501, to marry Arthur, son of Henry VII., she rode on a horse from the Tower to St. Paul’s “with the pillion behind a lord named by the King.” A similar method of riding is not obsolete even in the present day in remote country districts, if we may trust to certain representations of weddings in North Wales, where the bride and bridegroom are depicted as galloping furiously from a church, the former keeping her seat in a manner that we should conceive impossible to any but a professional circus-rider.

THE SEDAN-CHAIR.

Sedan-chairs were first seen in England when Charles, son of James I., on his return from Spain, brought with him three specimens of a peculiar character, somewhat resembling the Indian palankeen in the manner in which they were carried. The favourite, Buckingham, being in the habit of travelling about London in one of these, was abused by the populace for turning men into “slaves and beasts of burden.” In spite, however, of popular clamour and the furious opposition of coach-drivers, this new and handy method of travelling steadily grew into favour. The frontispiece of a tract published in 1636, and entitled “Coach and Sedan Pleasantly Disputing for Place and Precedence,” represents the form of the sedan and its bearers touting for custom. The mode of carrying was the same as that adopted in the later sedans. In the eighteenth century we find that the sedan, though considerably altered in form from the original type, had become a universal mode of conveyance for the higher and middle classes of society. The state of the pavement in the metropolis and the chief cities of Great Britain caused the sedan to be preferred, both for comfort and safety, to every description of coach. As there were no footpaths, and only a line of posts in the principal streets to protect pedestrians, none would even walk any distance who could afford to hire a sedan. The London chairmen were a numerous and influential body. Those who were in the service of the aristocracy had their gorgeous liveries, epaulettes, and cocked-hats. The hackney chairmen pervaded the neighbourhood of tavern doors, where they waited to be hired. They were chiefly Irishmen, and were distinguished by their muscular development, especially in the calves of their legs. That they were popularly believed to be somewhat given to insolence may be gathered from an incident in one of Smollett’s novels, where, in retaliation for the hero having been insulted by two chairmen, the man who acts as his servant and trusty benchman conceals a number of heavy weights about his person, and hurls the delinquents to carry him a certain distance. Staggering under the unusual load, each chairman suspects his comrade of not taking his fair share of the burden, and begins to abuse him accordingly. The strife waxing hotter, the two belligerents ultimately set down both box and passenger, in order to settle the dispute with their fists; whilst the real author of the quarrel quietly slips away, having deposited his weights in the chair for the subsequent enlightenment and consolation of the mutually-battered disputants.

THE OLD STAGE-COACH.

The stage-coach of the eighteenth century had very little in common with the mail-coach of the nineteenth. In Hogarth’s Country Inn Yard we have a representation of these vehicles, which explains the fact that no one with the smallest power of bestriding a horse would ever have thought of making use of them. From the “Tales of an Antiquary,” published in 1828, we obtain a description of the stage-coach of Hogarth’s time. “The roofs of the coaches, in most cases, rose into a swelling curve, which was sometimes surrounded by a high iron guard. The coachman and the guard, who always held his carbine ready cocked upon his knee, then sat together; not, as at present, upon a close, compact, varnished seat, but over a very long and narrow box, which passed under a large spreading hammer-cloth. Behind the coach was the immense basket, stretching far and wide beyond the body, to which it was attached by long iron bars or supports passing beneath it. The wheels of these old carriages were large, massive, ill-formed, and usually of a red colour; and the three horses which were affixed to the whole machine—the foremost of which was helped onward by carrying a huge, long-legged elf of a postilion, dressed in a cocked-hat, with a large green and gold riding-coat—were all so far parted from it by the great length of their traces that it was with no little difficulty that the poor animals dragged their unwieldy burden along the road. It groaned and creaked at every fresh tug which they gave it, as a ship rocking or beating up through a heavy sea strains all her timbers, with a low moaning sound, as she drives over the contending waves.” To this very cheerful picture of the delights of the road at this epoch we may add that the unfortunate passengers might expect the monotony of their journey to be broken at any moment by the appearance upon the scene of the regulation highwayman of the period, the supposed valour of the guard, with his formidable-looking blunderbuss, turning out to be a snare and a delusion, and vanishing at once before the threatening pistol of the Claude Duval or Dick Turpin of the hour, when a compulsory handing out of purses would immediately ensue.

THE PACK-HORSE TRAIN

In McCulloch’s account of the British Empire we read that “It was not till after the Peace of Paris, in 1763, that turnpike roads began to be extended to all parts of the kingdom.” It is not surprising, therefore, that the old method of transporting goods on the backs of horses should have been practised up to a comparatively recent period. Passengers also frequently availed themselves of this primitive mode of travelling. Smollett’s Roderick Random is described as riding from Scotland to Newcastle-on-Tyne, sitting upon a pack-saddle between two baskets, one of which contained his goods in a knapsack. The pack-horses travelled, in gangs of thirty or forty, walking in a single file. The leading and most experienced horse carried a number of bells as a guide for those

THE ORPHANS. BY J. A. RAEMACKERS.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1876.

which followed him and also as a warning to travellers coming in an opposite direction, who were expected to step off the narrow causeway until the whole train had passed. When two strings of pack-horses met in this way a quarrel between the drivers of the respective gangs must have been all but inevitable, and, as these worthies had a much greater acquaintance with the fortiter in re than with the suaviter in modo, a free fight was the ordinary wind up of the controversy.

THE OLD LONDON WATERMAN.

Formerly the Thames was the great highway for metropolitan locomotion; its banks were lined with the mansions of the great, the nobles kept their own barges, and the old London waterman and his wherry were the general and universal medium of conveyance: what the cabman is to the Londoner of the present day, the waterman was to the general public of his own time. But with the advent of coaches, the improvement of the streets (whereby the use of them became more of a possibility), the extensive employment of sedan-chairs, the increase of bridges, and, above all, the introduction of steam-boats, a slow but steady decline of the waterman's trade commenced, and continued in an ever-accelerating pace; they themselves gradually dwindling away in numbers and importance. Dibdin's "jolly young waterman," who was "always first oars with the fine City ladies," belongs to the past; practically, both he and his "trim-built wherry" have disappeared from the "silent highway;" and the champion sculler of England is now most frequently a brawny Tyneside ironworker, or some other landman from north or south, who at first took to rowing as an amusement—anyone, in short, but a Thames waterman.

GENTLEMAN'S CARRIAGE OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY.

This was a cumbersome and gaudy piece of architecture, somewhat resembling the Lord Mayor's coach of modern times. Glass windows were first added to coaches at the beginning of the seventeenth century, and springs about forty years later; so that in the time of Anne and the first two Georges the gentleman's carriage, though still a heavy barbaric concern, was an improvement on the jolting waggons dignified by the name of coaches in the days of Queen Bess. Under the seat of the coachman was carried a box (hence the name of coach-box) for containing the hammer and other tools that might be wanted to repair damages. This was concealed by the hammer-cloth, which name is still retained in carriages of the present day, though no modern Jehu is expected to be an accomplished carpenter and wheelwright as well as an experienced charioteer. Nor was this all unnecessary. The travellers in coaches had many perils to encounter from collisions with reckless carmen by day and from dimly-lighted holes and pits in the road by night, to which the modern Londoner is a stranger.

THE PASSENGER HOY.

Before the appearance of the now familiar steam-boats, the passenger traffic down the River Thames was carried on not only by means of the watermen's wherries, but also in barges and what were called tilt boats—that is, undecked vessels provided with an awning. These were superseded by the hoys, which were a larger species of craft with a deck, vessels of the sloop order. The name hoy is derived from the old French word houe, which possibly has some connection with the word houari in the same language, signifying a pleasure boat, of which our word wherry is an evident corruption. These hoys continued to ply without any competition until the appearance of the first Gravesend steamer in 1816. This latter was a vessel of about 70 tons burden and 14-horse power. As the number of steamers increased, the sailing passage-boats gradually declined, and entirely died out in 1831. The old Margate hoy continued to sail long after Margate had risen to the position of a fashionable watering place. She often took two days for the voyage and although, in fine weather and with a favourable wind, this method of reaching the Isle of Thanet might be agreeable enough to all who were proof against sea-sickness, yet, under the influence of contrary winds or a dead calm, such a mode of spending one's time would be anything but cheerful.

BELL'S STEAMER, THE COMET.

Our illustration, taken from "Woodcroft's Rise and Progress of Steam Navigation," represents the first practical steam-boat that was employed in Great Britain for the conveyance of passengers. In 1812 this vessel, projected by Henry Bell, a tavern-keeper, began regularly to ply on the Clyde between Glasgow and Greenock. This vessel was quickly followed by others of greater power, and in less than five years' time the new idea had been put into practical operation on the Thames also.

STEPHENSON'S LOCOMOTIVE, THE "ROCKET."

George and his son Robert Stephenson were the founders of modern railway travelling. Their locomotive called the "Rocket" won a £500 prize offered by the directors of the Liverpool and Manchester Railway in 1825, and it was the first that ran upon the new line. Compared to a modern locomotive the Rocket was but an infant. It only cost about £550; weighed, with its tender, between seven and eight tons; and its greatest speed was about twenty-four miles an hour. Some modern engines cost £2000 or more; weigh, with their tenders, forty-five tons; and have the power of attaining a speed of more than sixty miles an hour.

THE RULE.—Multiply the Sum by the number of Days and the Product by the Rate of Interest, then separate the two last Figures to the Right hand, and the rest you will find in the Table.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.—The return of the railway accidents in the United Kingdom in 1874 shows 87 passengers killed and 1622 injured from causes beyond their own control, and 126 passengers killed and 988 injured through their own misconduct or want of caution. All four numbers are, we believe, larger than in any previous year. The totals are 212 passengers killed and 1990 injured. There were 80 passengers killed in accidents occurring to trains, 9 by falling out of railway carriages while travelling, 22 by falls while getting into or out of trains, 49 by falling between carriages and platforms, 68 while crossing the line at stations, 2 by falling down stairs at stations, and 17 by other accidents. Including servants of the companies and of contractors, and also trespassers, suicides, people passing over level crossings, &c., there were in all 1425 persons killed and 5050 injured by railway accidents in 1874.

STATISTICS OF HUMAN LIFE.—The total number of human beings on the earth is now upwards of 1,000,000,000. They speak 3064 tongues, in which upwards of 1100 religions are preached. The average duration of life is 33½ years. One fourth of those born die before the seventh and one half before the seventeenth year. Out of 100 persons only 6 reach the age of 60 and upwards, while only 1 in 1000 arrives at 100. Out of 500 only 1 attains 80 years. Of the 1,000,000,000 living persons 883,000,000 die annually, 91,000 daily, 8780 every hour, 60 every minute, consequently 1 every second. The loss is, however, balanced by the gain in new births. Marriages are in proportion to single life (bachelors and spinsters) as 100 to 75. Both births and deaths are more frequent in the night than in the day. One fourth of men are capable of bearing arms, but not 1 in 1000 is by nature inclined for the profession.

amounted in all to £52,439 13s., making £487,331 6s. 8d. The expenditure of the last half year was £87,167 6s. above the corresponding half of the previous year. The outstanding liabilities of the board at the end of the half year were stated at £1,533,938 17s. 8d., while at the end of the corresponding half of the previous year they were £1,061,158 9s. 8d., showing an increase of £472,780 8s. The schools agreed to be provided numbered 197, and provided for the accommodation of 152,984 children.

POPULATION OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

Previous to 1801 there existed no official return of the population of either England or Scotland; nor was it till 1813 that statesmen had anything more than surmise to guide them respecting Ireland, and the Census then taken of that country was far from correct. The estimate formed of the English population at various periods, calculated from the numbers of baptisms, burials, and marriages, was in the years—

† Decrease in Ireland.

As a brief result, the Census of 1871 shows an increase of 2,646,042 persons, and 519,612 inhabited houses, in England and Wales; in Scotland, increases of 297,724 and 18,965; in the Channel Islands and Man, increases of 1191 and 944; but in Ireland, a decrease of 387,551 persons (or 54,501 families) and 33,927 houses; giving, after these deductions, an increase of 2,285,091 persons and 505,620 inhabited houses.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH PROGRESS.—In the financial year ending March 31, 1871, the number of messages sent by the Post-Office telegraphs was 9,850,177; in the next year, 1871-2, the number rose to 12,473,796; in 1872-3 it was 15,535,780; in 1873-4, 17,215,530; and in 1874-5, 19,253,120. There are now 5600 telegraph offices where there were formerly only 2000; 24,000 miles of line and 108,000 miles of wire where there were formerly only 6600 miles of line and about 50,000 miles of wire, and 12,000 instruments where there were 1900. New inventions, such as the Wheatstone instrument and Stearn's patent for duplex telegraphy, have been adopted. A better educated class of clerks and a higher class of messengers have been brought into the service, greatly to its improvement. The following table is appended, showing the receipts and expenditure of each financial year since the transfer of the telegraphs to the State:—

Year.	Income.			Expenditure.
	£	s.	d.	£	s.	d.
1870-1	...	...	697,033 16 8	...	...	391,477 3 3
1871-2	...	...	731,610 10 0	...	...	501,775 18 0
1872-3	...	...	978,008 0 5	...	...	874,946 17 8
1873-4	...	...	1,057,823 15 2	...	...	967,790 8 2
1874-5	...	...	1,120,000 0 0	...	...	1,083,275 0 0

The margin between income and expenditure is becoming gradually smaller every year. The proportion of working expenses to income has been as follows:—In 1871-2, nearly 78 per cent; in 1872-3, nearly 80 per cent; in 1873-4, nearly 91 per cent, in 1874-5, more than 96 per cent.

A GOOD CATHOLIC.

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

When complaint is made of letters or newspapers lost, miscarried or delayed, furnish information as precise as possible regarding all the facts of the case, and inclose whatever documents may throw light upon it. The day and hour at which the letter or newspaper was posted, as well as the office at which and the person by whom this was done, should always be stated; and, when possible, the cover or wrapper in an entire state should be sent.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follow, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz. ...	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz. ...	1½d.
" 2 oz., and less than 4 oz. ...	2d.
" 4 oz., and less than 6 oz. ...	2½d.
" 6 oz., and less than 8 oz. ...	3d.
" 8 oz., and less than 10 oz. ...	3½d.
" 10 oz., and less than 12 oz. ...	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

The following are the latest times for posting letters, &c., in London for the evening mails. Book packets must be posted the same time as newspapers:—

	Chief Office.		Branch Office, Lombard-st.		District Offices.		Receiving Houses.
	Letters.	Papers.	Letters.	Papers.	Letters.	Papers.	Letters.	Papers.
For inland and foreign evening mails ...	6.0	5.30	6.0	5.30	6.0	5.30	5.30	4.45
For ditto, if prepaid by stamps, and bearing extra 1d. stamp ...	6.45	...	3.45	...	6.15	...	6.0	...
By bearing an extra 2d. stamp ...	7.30	...	7.15	...	...	...	...	...
Newspapers, &c., by paying 1d. extra ...	...	6.45	...	...	...	...	...	...
Do. by paying 1d. extra ...	...	7.15	...	...	...	...	...	...
" 1d. " ...	...	7.30	...	...	...	...	...	...

The above times refer to the E.C. and W.C. districts only. In other districts the hours are earlier. Letters, &c., can also be posted at the following railway stations by affixing 2d. extra in stamps to each:—(Great Western (Paddington), for day mail, 7 to 9 a.m.; night mail, 6 to 8.50 p.m. North Western (Euston), for day mail to Ireland, 6.45 to 7.5 a.m.; night mail, 6 to 8.15 p.m.; or for either day or night mails to North of England and Scotland, 15 minutes later. South-Eastern (Cannon-street), for night mail, 6 to 8.50 p.m. South-Western (Waterloo), for night mail, 6 to 8.50 p.m.

REGISTERED LETTERS.—For the night mails the latest time for registering inland and foreign letters at the chief office, St. Martin's-le-Grand, and at the head district and branch offices in London, on payment of the ordinary fee of 4d., is 5.30 p.m.; or on payment of a late fee of 4d. in addition to the registration fee, the latest time is 6 p.m. At the town receiving-houses the latest time for registering letters for the night mails is 5 p.m. Registered letters are not forwarded by the midnight despatches. For the day mails to the provinces, Ireland, Scotland, France, and the Continent generally, and for the colonial and foreign mails via Southampton, letters can be registered at the chief office, and at the head district and branch offices, at the ordinary fee between 6 and 7.30 p.m., and at the town receiving-houses between 5.30 and 7.30 p.m. the previous evening.

OVERCHARGED LETTERS.—Overcharges are returned between the hours of 10 and 4, on presenting the overcharged letters at the office for the sale of stamps, &c., at the General Post Office. Or the letter may be sent to the office by the letter-carrier of the district, and the overcharge will be returned with the letter in two days.

POSTAGE STAMPS, &c.—Postage stamps and stamped envelopes are sold at the chief office and at Lombard-street between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.; at the Western district office between 7 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.; at the other district offices and the Charing-cross branch office between 8 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.; and at the receiving-houses between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m., Sundays excepted.

LETTERS "TO BE CALLED FOR."

The Poste Restante being intended solely for the accommodation of strangers and travellers who have no permanent abode in London, letters for residents in London must not be addressed "Post Office till called for." Letters addressed to "Initials" or "Fictitious Names" at the Poste Restante, or any district or branch office, are returned to the writers. Letters may not be redirected from a private address to the Poste Restante.

All persons applying for letters at the Poste Restante must be prepared to give the necessary particulars to the clerk on duty, in order to prevent mistakes and to ensure the delivery of the letters to the persons to whom they properly belong.

Letters for passengers on board the Cunard and Inman packets for America touching at Queenstown, or on board the Mediterranean packets about to sail from Southampton with the mails for India, Australia, China, &c., may be posted in any part of the United Kingdom up to the time at which ordinary registered letters to go by the same packets are received. They must be registered, and the postage and registration fee must be fully prepaid, and they must be addressed to the care of the commander of the packet.

Letters for passengers on board the Canadian packets touching at Londonderry may, under similar conditions, be posted up to the same time as ordinary registered letters for Canada. These must be addressed to the care of the officer in charge of the mails.

The letters should be addressed thus:—"Mr. —, on board the mail packet for —, at Queenstown (Londonderry or Southampton). Care of the officer in charge of the mails," or "care of the commander of the packet," as the case may be.

Letters directed to the care of the packet agent at Suez, and dispatched by the mail via Brindisi, will probably reach passengers for India, &c., who have sailed in the packet which left Southampton the previous week.

TOWN DELIVERIES.

The portion of each district within about three miles of the General Post Office is designated the town delivery, and the remainder the suburban delivery.

SUBURBAN DELIVERIES.

There are seven despatches daily to the suburban districts. The first is at 6.30 a.m. to all places within the London district limits; and includes the correspondence by the night made from the provinces, and by any colonial or foreign mails arriving in sufficient time. This delivery is generally completed in the nearer suburbs by 9 a.m., and at the more distant places between 9 and 10 a.m. The second despatch is at 9.30 a.m. to the nearer suburban districts. The third is at 11.30 a.m., and comprises, with a few exceptions, every part of the London district. The fourth despatch, at 2.30 p.m., is to most of the suburban districts, isolated localities excepted. The fifth despatch, at 4.30 p.m., extends to the whole of the suburban districts, and, except in the remoter rural places, the letters are delivered the same evening. The sixth despatch, at 6 p.m. is also to the nearer suburbs. The seventh despatch is at 7 p.m. Letters for this despatch posted at the town receiving houses and pillar boxes by 6 p.m., or at the chief office of the district to which they are addressed by 7.30 p.m., are delivered the same evening at all the principal places within about six miles of the General Post Office. At the more distant places the letters are delivered early the following morning.

THE NEWSPAPER HALFPENNY POSTAGE

applies to any publication consisting wholly or in great part of political or other news, or of articles relating thereto, or to other current topics, with or without advertisements, and published at intervals of not more than seven days; and for each newspaper, whether posted singly or in a packet, the prepaid postage is one halfpenny. Every newspaper must be so folded as to admit of the title being read. No packet of newspapers must exceed 14lb. weight nor 2 ft. in length.

In order that no failure may occur in the delivery of newspapers through the covers becoming detached, it is recommended that the addressee be written on exposed parts of the newspapers themselves as well as on the covers.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN.—Under the powers given to the Postmaster-General by the Post Office Act, 1870, the regulations relating to the registration of publications for transmission abroad as Newspapers have been revised. The definition laid down in the Act, in regard to newspapers which may be registered for transmission through the post in the United Kingdom, is alike applicable to those which may be registered for transmission abroad, except that for foreign transmission a newspaper may be published at intervals of thirty-one days, and that it (but not its supplement) may be printed on sheet-stitched together. Newspapers going abroad are also subject to the following regulations:—"Price Current" and "Market Reports," but not private price-lists or trade catalogues, are admitted to the same privileges as newspapers for foreign transmission. Publications registered for transmission abroad must be posted within eight days from the date of publication, including the day of publication, otherwise they will be rejected. It is forbidden to introduce into Russia, through the post, political newspapers of any kind, and therefore they must be obtained through the agency of some established bookseller. Printed price-currents, in covers open at both ends, are not forbidden.

BOOK POST.—A Book-Packet may contain not only books, paper, or other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing, whether plain or written or printed upon (to the exclusion of any written letter or communication of the nature of a letter); photographs, when not on glass or in frames containing glass or any like substance, and anything usually appertaining to such articles in the way of binding and mounting, or necessary for their safe transmission by post, but also Circulars, when these are wholly or in great part printed, engraved, or lithographed. The postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz., or fraction of that weight. A packet posted wholly unpaid will be charged with double the book-postage; and, if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency. Every book-packet must be posted either without a cover or in a cover open at both ends, and in such a manner as to admit of the contents being easily withdrawn for examination, otherwise it will be treated as a letter. No book-packet may contain anything sealed or otherwise closed against inspection; nor must there be any letter, nor any communication of the nature of a letter, whether separate or otherwise, unless the whole of such letter or communication be printed. It must not exceed 5 lb. in weight and 18 in. in length.

With regard to the newspaper post, it is necessary to draw attention to the rules of the inland newspaper post, which appear to be imperfectly understood. First, packets containing two or more newspapers, and exceeding 2 oz. in weight, are frequently posted with only a halfpenny stamp affixed to them; secondly, newspapers are frequently found to have inclosures, other than supplements, in them, these inclosures being sometimes actual letters. The rules upon these points are clearly laid down in the "British Postal Guide." In regard to the first point, it is distinctly stated that the postage on inland newspapers is a halfpenny for each newspaper, whether posted singly or in a packet, unless the newspapers contained in a packet are so light that the entire packet can be more cheaply transmitted at the book-rate of a halfpenny for every 2 oz., in which case book-postage only, according to weight, is chargeable. In regard to the second point, it is laid down that a newspaper, or a packet of newspapers, sent as such, and not as a book-packet, must not have any inclosure whatever, except supplements—letters or communications of the nature of a letter being expressly prohibited. Some of the other rules of the inland newspaper post are also not unfrequently disregarded. It is the duty of postmasters to use all possible vigilance in this matter, and the instructions to them have now been renewed. 2. "There is reason to think that newspapers and packets of newspapers which have been posted unpaid or insufficiently paid are often not correctly charged according to the rule applicable to such cases, and that the revenue sustains loss from this cause. The attention of postmasters is therefore called to the fifth clause of the newspaper regulations, on p. 7 of the 'British Postal Guide,' under which a newspaper or a packet of newspapers posted unpaid or insufficiently paid is chargeable with postage at the same rate as an unpaid or insufficiently-paid book packet of the same weight. For instance, a newspaper or a packet of newspapers posted unpaid is liable to a charge of 1d. if its weight be not above 2 oz.; if it weighs between 4 oz. and 2 oz. the charge should be 2d.; if between 4 oz. and 6 oz., 3d.; and so on. A packet of newspapers posted insufficiently paid, if it weighs between 4 oz. and 6 oz., and is prepaid with a halfpenny stamp only, should be surcharged 2d.; if it bear a penny stamp, the surcharge should be 1d.; and so on, according to the value of the stamp or stamps affixed and the weight of the packet. It is requested that particular attention may be given to this matter, so that the revenue may be protected from loss."

POST OFFICE TELEGRAPHS.

The charge for telegrams throughout the United Kingdom, including the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, but excepting the Scilly, Orkney, and Shetland Islands, is 1s. for the first twenty words, and 8d. for every additional five words—i.e., for every additional group of not more than five words; the names and addresses of the sender and receiver not being counted.

If the addressee resides at a greater distance than three miles from the terminal telegraph office, postage is charged for delivery by mounted messengers at the rate of 1s. per double mile, except in the case of telegrams for Ireland, where the charge is only 8d. per double mile.

If the sender requires his telegram to be forwarded by post or by train from the terminal telegraph office he must write the words "by post" or "by train" in the space provided for that purpose at the foot of the message.

Telegrams written on the proper forms and properly prepaid may be handed to rural messengers who are proceeding to post telegraph-offices for transmission therefrom.

Telegrams written in any European language are charged for according to the number of words they contain; but all unintelligible words not forming part of any European language are charged for as if each syllable were one word. Should the word not be composed of syllables, then five letters are considered as equal to one word.

Telegrams may be repeated at the request of the sender, if he desires to adopt this extra security against risk of error, by being retransmitted from each office at which they are received to the office from which they are forwarded. The charge for repetition is one half the ordinary tariff; fractions of three pence being reckoned as twopence.

The cost of a reply to a telegram may be prepaid; and prepaid reply pass will then be delivered to the addressee, who will be at liberty to send his reply, from any postal telegraph station, at any time within two months after the date of the original telegram.

Numbers expressed in figures in an inland telegram are counted as so many words, according to the number of figures employed. For example—"12" counts as one word, "12" as two words, "385" as three words.

The department is not liable for losses incurred through the incorrect transmission, delay, or non-delivery of telegrams.

Telegraph offices are, as a rule, open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on week days, and from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Sunday. There are, however, offices in several of the larger towns which are open for longer periods; and at certain offices in London and in the country there is attendance continuously during the day and night, both on week days and Sundays.

MONEY ORDERS

are issued at the chief district offices and at the branch offices Lombard-street and Charing-cross, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; on Saturdays between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.; at other branch offices and receiving-houses in the town districts between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; at branch offices in the suburban districts between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.; and at receiving-houses in the suburban districts between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. On Saturdays savings bank deposits are received at all receiving-offices until 8 p.m. The commission on inland money orders is:—For sums under 10s., 1d.; of 10s. and under £1, 2d.; and for every additional pound or fraction of a pound, 1d. No order is allowed to contain a fractional part of a penny, and the printed forms only should be used which are supplied gratuitously.

INTERNATIONAL MONEY ORDERS BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.—Offices have been selected in all the States and territories. No single order will be issued for more than 50 dols., but persons desiring to remit larger sums can obtain additional money orders. The rates of commission on these money orders will range from 0'25 on orders not exceeding 10 dols., to 1 dol. 25c. for over 40 dols. and not exceeding 50 dols.

For sums not exceeding	£2	£5	£7	£10
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
If payable in Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Egypt, or at Malta, Gibraltar, or Constantinople...	0	9	1	6
If payable in any other place abroad (including most of the colonies) authorised to transact money-order business with this country ...	1	0	2	0

Money Orders are issued in the United Kingdom on the following colonies, British agencies, and foreign countries:—

Alexandria.	Gold Coast.	St. Helena.
Berlice (New Amsterdam).	Holland.	Seychelle Islands.
Belgium.	Honduras.	Shanghai.
British Columbia.	Hong-Kong.	Smyrna.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

Deposits of One Shilling, or of any number of shillings, or of pounds and shillings, may be made by any person at the Post-Office Savings Banks, provided that such depositor shall not make deposits amounting to more than £30 in any year ending Dec. 31, or make any further deposit when the amount standing in his name exceeds £150, exclusive of interest. When any depositor's principal and interest amount together to £200, all interest will cease so long as the balance of the account continues to amount to the said sum of £200.

Interest calculated yearly at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum will be allowed on every complete pound deposited, reckoned from the first day of the calendar month next following the day on which a complete pound shall have been deposited or completed, up to the first day of the calendar month in which the moneys are withdrawn.

GENERAL POSTAL UNION.

In accordance with the provisions of an international treaty concluded at Bern on Oct. 9 last, the whole of the States of Europe, the United States of America, and Egypt formed themselves into a General Postal Union for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence, and agree to adopt low and uniform rates of correspondence dispatched from one State of the Union to another. These provisions, which extend to letters, post cards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns of merchandise, and legal and commercial documents, takes effect at once; but in the case of France no change will be made before Jan. 1, 1876.

The following are the charges to the undermentioned places (otherwise than via France):—Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, Germany, Gibraltar, Greece, Holland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Servia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, United States, Malta, Turkey, Canary Islands.—Letters, per ½ oz., 2½d.; post cards, each, 1½d.; newspapers, per 4 oz., 1d.; printed papers, &c., per 2 oz., 1d. Upon letters posted unpaid double the above rates will be charged on delivery.

REGISTRATION.—Letters, post cards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents addressed to any of the above countries may be registered. The registration fee will be 4d. in all cases, which, in addition to the postage, must be prepaid. The transmission of letters containing gold or silver money, jewels or valuable articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, through the post to any of the countries and places named in the table is prohibited.

FOREIGN POST-CARDS.—The post-cards which have been manufactured for use in this country bear an impressed stamp of the value of 1½d. The additional postage, therefore, required in those cases where they will be forwarded via France must be prepaid by means of adhesive stamps to be affixed to the cards. On the front or stamped side of a post-card nothing must be written or printed except the address.

NEWSPAPERS.—The ordinary charge on a newspaper addressed to any country of the Union is 1d. per 4 oz. But, for the present, the charge on newspapers sent through France, except to Belgium, will be 2½d. per 4 oz. In all cases the postage must be prepaid.

PRINTED PAPERS.—Under the term "Printed Papers" are comprehended stitched or bound books, pamphlets, music, visiting-cards, circulars, catalogues, prospectuses, announcements, and notices of various kinds, whether printed, engraved, or lithographed, as well as photographs. Printed papers must, as a rule, contain no writing, manuscript figure or mark whatever, beyond a simple stroke marking a particular passage of the text to which it is desired to call attention. But proofs of printing or of music may have corrections upon them made with a pen, and may have manuscripts not of the nature of a letter annexed to them, the corrections or manuscripts to relate exclusively to the text or the execution of the work. Circulars, notices, &c., may bear the signature of the sender, with his trade or profession, and may also indicate the place of origin and the date. In the case of books, a manuscript dedication or a complimentary inscription from the author will be allowed. Stock or share-lists, prices current, and market reports, printed or lithographed, may have the prices added in writing or by means of any impression whatever.

LEGAL AND COMMERCIAL DOCUMENTS.—Legal and commercial documents may be forwarded at the same charge as printed papers. Under the term "legal and commercial documents" are comprised Acts or deeds of all kinds drawn up by public functionaries and invoices, copies, or extracts.

PATTERNS OF MERCHANDISE.—Patterns or samples of merchandise may be forwarded at the same charges as printed papers to any part of the countries of the Union under the following conditions:—1. They must be placed in bags, or boxes, or in envelopes the fastenings of which are removable so as to admit of an easy examination. 2. The patterns and samples must not have any saleable value nor bear any MS. writing other than the name or the trade or profession of the sender, the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a trade mark, numbers, and prices.

NEW STAMP OF THE VALUE OF TWOPENCE-HALFPENNY.—For the convenience of persons corresponding with the countries of the Union, a new adhesive postage-stamp of the value of 2½d. has been issued, and may be procured at all post-offices.

Consequent on the conclusion of the postal union treaty and the general reduction of postage which that treaty authorises, the postage of correspondence addressed to the undermentioned countries, and which is almost exclusively forwarded through a State of the Union, is reduced as follows:—Hawaiian Islands—letters, 4d. per ½ oz.; newspapers, 2d. per 4 oz.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. per 2 oz. Tunis, via Belgium and Italy—letters, 3½d.; newspapers, 1d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 1d.; via France and Italy—letters, 6d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Montenegro—letters, 3d.; newspapers, 1½d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 1½d. Morocco, via Southampton and Gibraltar—letters, 2½d.; newspapers, 1d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 1d.; via France and Gibraltar—letters, 6d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Further, all letters, &c., for the following countries and places, when specially addressed, to be forwarded via the United States, or via Russia, will be liable to the reduced rates of postage here specified in each case:—Via the United States. Colon—letters, 5d. per ½ oz.; newspapers, 2d. per 4 oz.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. per 2 oz. ## ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES IN THE YEAR 1876.

JANUARY

THE MOON during the evening of the 2nd is very near Mars; the nearest approach is at 6h. p.m. She is near Jupiter on the morning of the 20th. She is near and to the right of both Mercury and Saturn on the evening of the 27th, and also near but to the left of these planets on the evening of the 28th. She is near and to the right of Venus on the evening of the 28th, and to her left on the evening of the 29th, and a second time this month near Mars on the evening of the 31st. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 4th	at 23 minutes	after 3h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	" 11th	" 23	" 6h.	" morning.
Last Quarter	" 18th	" 40	" 8h.	" morning.
New Moon	" 25th	" 41	" 1h.	" afternoon.

She is nearest the earth on the morning of the 10th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 22nd.

MERCURY sets after the Sun during the whole of the month, by 4 min. on the 1st day; on the 11th he sets at 4h. 51m. p.m., or 43 min. after the Sun; on the 21st he sets 1h. 27m. after sunset, the interval increasing to 1h. 45m. on the last day. He is due south at 20 min. after noon on the 1st, at 4 min. after 1h. on the 15th, and at 26 min. after 1h. on the 28th. He is in his ascending node on the 27th, at his greatest eastern elongation 18 deg. 21 min., and near Saturn on the same day.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 6h. 1m. p.m. or 2h. 1m. after sunset; on the 11th at 6h. 31m. p.m., or 2h. 23m. after the Sun; on the 21st at 7h. 6m. p.m., or 2h. 39m. after the Sun; and on the last day at 7h. 38m. p.m., or 2h. 53m. after sunset. She is very near Saturn on the evenings of the 16th and 17th, and near the Moon on the evenings of the 28th and 29th. She is due south on the 1st at 1h. 50m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 4m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 16m. p.m.

PATH OF MERCURY FROM 1875, DEC. 15, TO 1876, APRIL 29.

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 10h. 16m. p.m., on the 11th at 10h. 19m. p.m., on the 21st at 10h. 22m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 24m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, and again on the 31st. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 38m. p.m., and on the last day at 3h. 59m. p.m.

JUPITER is a morning star. He rises on the 1st at 4h. 17m. a.m., or 3h. 51m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 3h. 48m. a.m.; on the 21st at 3h. 17m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 46m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 47m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 8m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 20th.

SATURN is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 7h. 47m. p.m., or 3h. 47m. after sunset; on the 11th at 7h. 13m. p.m., or 3h. 2m. after the Sun; on the 21st at 6h. 40m. p.m., or 2h. 13m. after sunset; and on the last day at 6h. 7m. p.m., or 1h. 22m. after the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 28th, and near Mercury on the same day. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 2m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 16m. p.m.

FEBRUARY

THE MOON is near and to the right of Jupiter on the morning of the 17th, and a little more distant and to the left of the planet on the morning of the 18th. She is near Mercury on the 23rd; Saturn on the 24th. She is near Venus on the evening of the 27th, being to the right of the planet; and on the following evening she is still near but situated to the left hand of Venus. She is near Mars during the evenings of the 28th and 29th, being situated to the right of the planet on the former and to the left on the latter evening. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 3rd	at 53 minutes	after 1h.	in the morning.
Full Moon	" 9th	" 47	" 5	" afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 17th	" 56	" 4	" morning.
New Moon	" 25th	" 20	" 6	" morning.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1876.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 7th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 19th.

MERCURY, on the 1st of the month, will set at 6h. 31m. p.m., or 1h. 45m. after sunset. This interval will decrease to 1h. 27m. by the 5th day, to 45m. by the 10th, and on the 14th day he will set very nearly at the same time as the Sun; and from this day till April 22 he will set before the Sun, or in daylight. On the 15th he will rise 36m. before the Sun; this interval increases gradually to 59m. on the 28th, and is the same on the 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 20m. after 1h. p.m., on the 14th a little before noon, and on the 29th at 37m. after 10h. a.m. He is in perihelion, or at his least distance from the Earth, on the 1st; stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 3rd, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 13th, near the Moon on the 23rd, and (a second time this month) stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 25th.

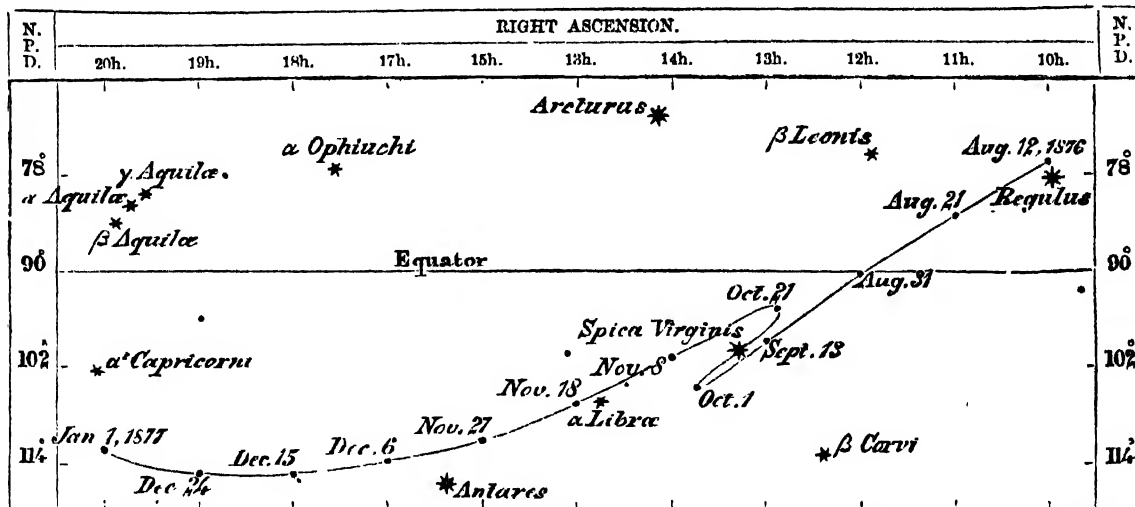

VENUS is an evening star, setting 2h. 56m. after sunset on the 1st, 3h. 7m.

after sunset on the 10th, 3h. 20m. on the 20th, and 3h. 30m. on the last day; the planet setting on these days at 7h. 42m. p.m., 5h. 10m. p.m., 5h. 41m. p.m., and 5h. 1m. p.m. respectively. She is near the Moon on the evenings of the 27th and 28th. She is due south on the 1st at 2h. 17m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 24m. p.m., and on the 29th at 2h. 30m. p.m.

MARS is an evening star, and sets on the 1st at 10h. 23m. p.m., on the 10th at 10h. 25m. p.m., on the 20th at 10h. 27m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 28m. p.m. He is in his ascending node on the morning of the 6th, and near the Moon on the evenings of the 28th and 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 57m. p.m., and on the 29th at 3h. 41m. p.m.

JUPITER is a morning star. He rises on the 10th at 2h. 12m. a.m., and on the 20th at 1h. 34m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 17th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 20th. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 4m. a.m., and on the 29th at 5h. 25m. a.m.

SATURN sets on the 10th at 5h. 35m. p.m.; on the 16th this planet and

The Sun set nearly together, and from this time till Aug. 28 he sets in daylight. He rises nearly at the same time as the Sun on the 23rd, and a few minutes before sunrise at the end of the month. He is in conjunction with the Sun on the 17th, and near the Moon on the 24th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 18m. p.m., and on the 29th at 11h. 36m. a.m.

MARCH.

THE MOON is near Jupiter on the morning of the 16th, near Mercury and Saturn on the 23rd, on the evening of the 28th she will be a little to the right of both Venus and Mars, and on the following evening to the left of those planets at a somewhat greater distance. Her phases or time of change are:—

First Quarter on the	3rd	at 48 minutes after 9h.	in the morning.
Full Moon	10th	„ 12	„ „ morning.
Last Quarter	18th	„ 24	„ „ morning.
New Moon	25th	„ 12	„ „ afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 5th, and again on the morning of the 30th, and furthest from it at midnight on the 17th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h. 50m. a.m., or 59m. before sunrise. This interval decreases slowly to 45m. on the 11th, to 30m. on the 21st, and to 16m. on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 34m. a.m., on the 15th at 10h. 30m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 54m. a.m. He is in his descending node on the 6th, at his greatest western elongation 27 deg. 30 min. on the 10th, in aphelion or at his greatest distance from the Earth on the 16th, near Saturn on the 18th, and near the Moon on the 23rd.

VENUS. The following are the times of the setting of this planet on every ten days:—viz: 1st, 9h. 11m. p.m.; 11th, 9h. 42m. p.m.; 21st, 10h. 12m. p.m.; and the last day, 10h. 43m. p.m.; being 3h. 32m., 3h. 46m., 3h. 58m., and 4h. 13m. respectively after sunset. She is in her ascending node on the 1st, near the Moon on the 29th, and near Mars on the same day. She is due south on the 1st at 2h. 30m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 37m. p.m., and on the 31st at 2h. 46m. p.m.

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 10h. 28m. p.m., on the 11th at 10h. 29m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 30m. p.m. He is near the

A SOLO. BY C. A. SMITH.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1876.

Moon on the evenings of the 28th and 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 18m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 43m. p.m.

JUPITER is a morning star, and rises on the 1st day at 1h. 2m. a.m.; on the 11th at 0h. 24m. a.m.; on the 17th he rises twice on the same day—viz., at 0h. 1m. a.m., and again at 11h. 57m. p.m.; on the 30th day he rises at 11h. 5m. p.m.; and he is visible after these times till daylight. He is near the Moon on the 16th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 21m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 24m. a.m.

SATURN rises on the 1st at 6h. 34m. a.m., or 14m. before the Sun; on the 11th at 5h. 37m. a.m., or 28m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 5h. 21m. a.m., or 40m. before the Sun; and on the last day at 4h. 43m. a.m., or 54m. before sunrise. He is near Mercury on the 18th, and near the Moon on the 23rd. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 32m. a.m., and on the 31st at 9h. 47m. a.m.

APRIL.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the morning of the 12th, near Saturn on the morning of the 20th, near Mercury on the 24th, near Mars during the evening of the 26th, and Venus on the 27th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter on the	1st	at 12 minutes after	4h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	8th	39	7h.	afternoon.
Last Quarter	16th	37	8h.	afternoon.
New Moon	24th	3	7h.	morning.
First Quarter	30th	27	10h.	afternoon.

She is furthest from the Earth on the afternoon of the 14th, and nearest on the afternoon of the 26th.

MERCURY rises about 16m. before the Sun on the 1st day; this interval decreases gradually till on the 20th, when the Sun and planet rise nearly at the same time; and from the 21st day till June 21 the planet rises after the Sun, or in daylight. On April 22 the Sun and this planet set nearly at the same time; on the 25th he sets 21m. after sunset, and this interval increases to 57m. by the end of the month. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 56m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 33m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 33m. p.m. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 22nd, near the Moon on the 24th, in his ascending node on the same day, and in perihelion on the 29th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h. 9m. p.m., or 4h. 22m. after the Sun; on the 20th at 11h. 32m. p.m., or 4h. 23m. after the Sun sets; on the last day of the month at 11h. 47m. p.m., or 4h. 27m. after sunset. She is in perihelion at midnight on the 3rd, and near the Moon on the afternoon of the 27th. She is due south on the 1st at 2h. 47m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 57m. p.m., and on the last day at 3h. 6m. p.m.

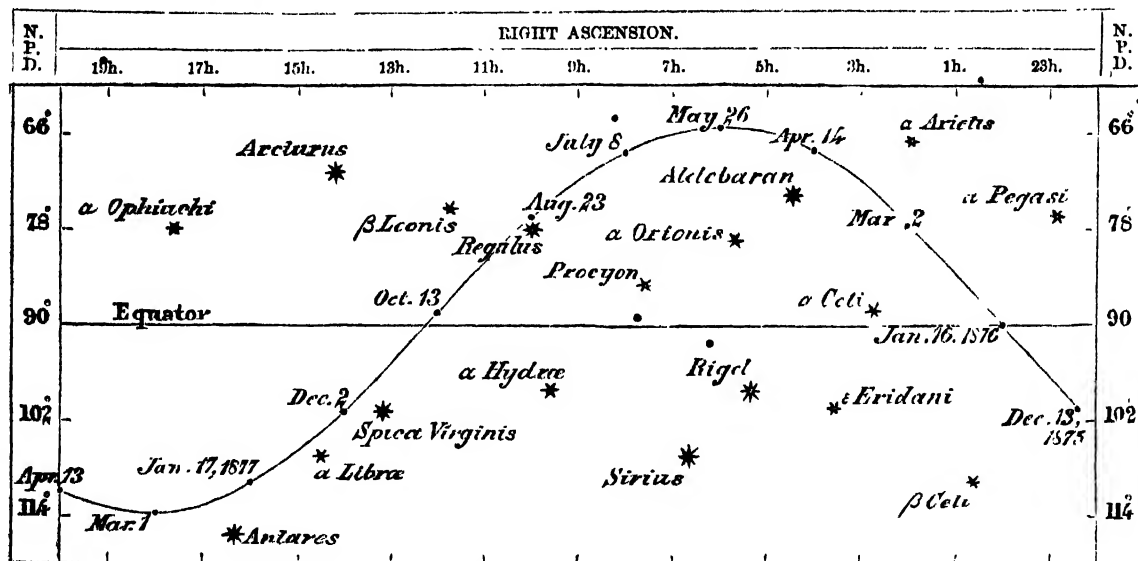

MARS is an evening star, and sets on the 1st at 10h. 30m. p.m., on the 10th at 10h. 31m. p.m., on the 20th at 10h. 28m. p.m., and on the 30th at 10h. 24m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the evening of the 26th. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 42m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 10m. p.m.

JUPITER rises on the 9th at 10h. 22m. p.m., on the 19th at 9h. 30m. p.m., and on the 29th at 8h. 54m. p.m., and is visible throughout the night after these times. He is near the Moon on the 12th. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 20m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 10m. a.m.

SATURN is a morning star, and rises on the 10th at 4h. 6m. a.m., on the 20th at 3h. 28m. a.m., and on the 30th at 2h. 51m. a.m.; being 1h. 12m., 1h. 27m., and 1h. 44m. respectively before sunrise on these days. He is near the Moon on the 20th. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 44m. a.m., and on the 30th at 8h. 0m. a.m.

MAY.

THE MOON is near Jupiter on the morning of the 9th; she is near Saturn on the morning of the 17th; near Mercury on the 25th; she is near Mars on the evenings of the 24th and 25th, being to the west of the planet on the former and to the east on the latter day; and she is near Venus during the evening of the 26th. Her phases or times of change are:—

PATH OF MARS FROM 1875, DEC. 13, TO 1877, APRIL 13.

Full Moon on the	8th	at 53 minutes after	9h.	in the morning.
Last Quarter	16th	at 27	1h.	afternoon.
Full Moon	23rd	at 26	3h.	afternoon.
First Quarter	30th	at 48	5h.	morning.

She is furthest from the Earth about noon on the 12th, and nearest on the afternoon of the 24th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting at 8h. 59m. p.m. on the 5th, or 1h. 32m. after sunset, which interval gradually increases as the month advances, and by the 15th is 2h. 11m., the planet setting on this day at 9h. 54m. p.m. On the 19th and 20th he sets 2h. 11m. after the Sun. From this day the interval decreases, and by the 30th is 1h. 49m., the planet setting at 9h. 45m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 37m. p.m.; on the 15th, 1h. 25m. p.m.; and on the last day at 1h. 20m. p.m. He is at his greatest eastern elongation, 22 deg. 29 min., on the 21st; and near the Moon on the 25th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting at 4h. 16m. after sunset on the 10th, 8h. 53m. on the 20th, and 8h. 28m. on the 30th, the planet setting on these days at 11h. 51m. p.m., 11h. 43m. p.m., and 11h. 25m. p.m. respectively. She is near the Moon on the evening of the 26th. She is due south on the 1st at 3h. 7m. p.m., on the 15th at 3h. 10m. p.m., and on the last day at 3h. 1m. p.m.

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 10h. 23m. p.m., on the 10th at 10h. 20m. p.m., on the 20th at 10h. 12m. p.m., on the 30th at 10h. 8m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the evenings of both the 24th and 25th. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 5m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 37m. p.m.

JUPITER rises at 8h. 8m. p.m. on the 9th, or 25 minutes after sunset. On the 15th he rises at about the time of sunset, and from this time to Dec 4 the planet rises in daylight, and during this month is visible nearly all night, he setting on the last day 26 minutes before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 9th, and in opposition to the Sun on the 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 12m. a.m., and on the 31st at 10h. 54m. p.m.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 10th at 2h. 12m. a.m., on the 20th at 1h. 34m. a.m., on the 30th at 0h. 56m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 17th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 56m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 4m. a.m.

JUNE.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the morning of the 5th; she is near Saturn during the morning of the 14th; near Mercury on the 21st; near Mars on the evening of the 22nd, and Venus on the 23rd. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the	7th	at 37 minutes after	0h.	in the morning.
Last Quarter	15th	15	3	morning.
New Moon	21st	17	10	afternoon.
First Quarter	28th	14	3	afternoon.

She is furthest from the Earth on the evening of the 8th, and nearest on the morning of the 22nd.

MERCURY is an evening star till the 13th, setting on the 4th day at 9h. 17m. p.m., or 1h. 10m. after sunset, this interval rapidly decreasing to 88m. by the 9th, and on the 13th the planet and sun set nearly together, and from the 14th day to the 1st of August he sets in daylight. On the 21st he rises at about the same time as the Sun; on the 24th he rises 18 minutes before sunrise, and rises at 8h. 3m. a.m. on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 17m. p.m.; on the 15th at 0h. 5m. p.m.; and on the last day at 10h. 48m. a.m. He is in his descending node on the 2nd; stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 3rd; in aphelion on the 12th; in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 16th; near the Moon on the 21st; and a second time this month stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 27th.

VENUS is still an evening star, setting on the 9th at 10h. 55m. p.m., or 2h. 44m. after the Sun; on the 19th at 10h. 14m. p.m., or 1h. 57m. after the Sun; on the 29th at 9h. 16m. p.m., or 59m. after the Sun. She shines with great brilliancy on the 7th; she is in her descending node on the 21st, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 21st, and near the Moon on the 23rd. She is due south on the 1st at 3h. 0m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 30m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 28m. p.m.

MARS is still an evening star, setting on the 9th at 0h. 40m. p.m., or

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1876.

1h. 38m. after sunset; on the 19th at 9h. 34m. p.m., or 1h. 17m. after sunset; on the 29th at 9h. 15m. p.m., or 58m. after sunset. He is near the Moon during the evening of the 22nd. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 36m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 3m. p.m.

JUPITER sets on the 10th at 2h. 44m. a.m., or 1h. 2m. before sunrise; on the 20th at 2h. 1m. a.m., or 1h. 44m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 1h. 20m. a.m., or 2h. 19m. before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 5th. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 50m. p.m., and on the 30th at 8h. 45m. p.m.

SATURN rises on the 9th at 0h. 17m. a.m., on the 18th at 11h. 39m. p.m., on the 28th at 10h. 59m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 14th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 19th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 0m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 7m. a.m.

JULY.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the evenings of the 1st and 2nd, being to the right of the planet on the 1st, and to the left on the latter evening. She is near Saturn during the morning hours of the 11th, she is near Mercury on the morning of the 19th, she is near Venus on the 20th, near Mars on the evening of the 21st, and a second time this month near Jupiter during the evening of the 29th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 6th	at 38 minutes after 3h.	in the afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 14th	" 56	" 1 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 21st	" 53	" 4 " morning.
First Quarter	" 28th	" 19	" 3 " morning.

She is furthest from the Earth at about midnight on the 5th, and nearest on the afternoon of the 20th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 4th at 2h. 49m. a.m., or 1h. 3m. before sunrise; on the 9th at 2h. 37m. a.m., or 1h. 20m. before the Sun; on the 14th and 15th he rises 1h. 27m. before sunrise; from this day the interval decreases to 1h. 23m. by the 19th, to 1h. 9m. by the 24th, and to 47m. by the 29th, when the planet rises at 3h. 31m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 45m. a.m., on the 15th at 10h. 42m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 47m. a.m. He is at his greatest western elongation (20 deg. 40 min.) on the 9th, near the Moon on the 19th, in his ascending node on the 21st, near Venus on the 23rd, and in perihelion on the 26th.

VENUS sets on the 8th nearly at the same time as the Sun, and from this day to the end of the year she sets in daylight. She rises on the 18th with the Sun, and 1h. 17m. before him on the 29th, the planet rising at 8h. 4m. a.m. She is near Mars on the 5th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 14th, near the Moon on the 20th, near Mercury on the 23rd, and in aphelion on the 25th. She is due south on the 1st at 1h. 23m. p.m., on the 15th at 11h. 55m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 22m. a.m.

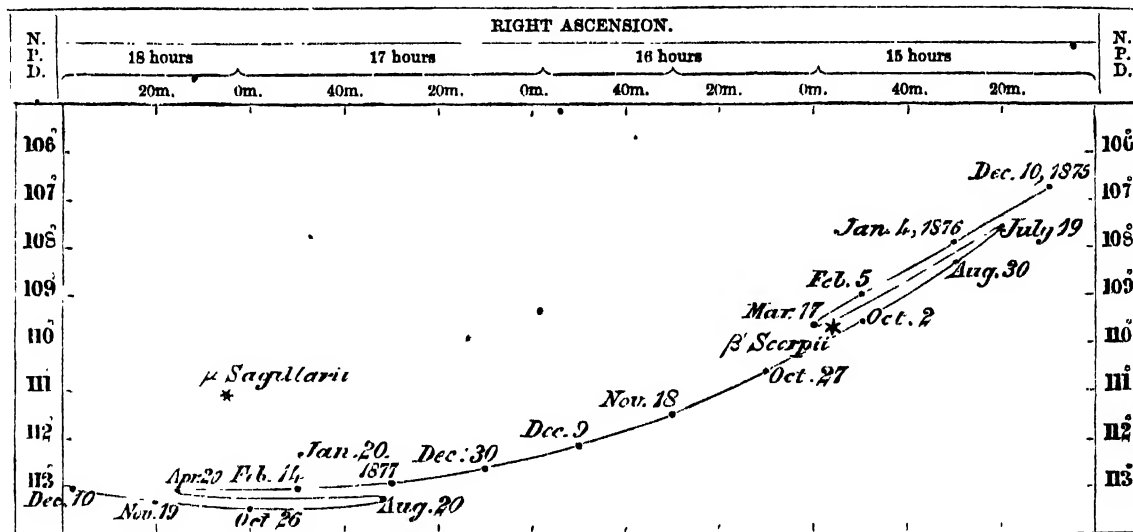

MARS is an evening star, and sets on the 9th at 8h. 55m. p.m., or 43m. after the Sun; on the 19th at 8h. 34m. p.m., or 29m. after the Sun; on the 29th at 8h. 9m. p.m., or 19m. after the Sun. He is near the Moon on the afternoon of the 21st. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 2m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 24m. p.m.

JUPITER sets on the 10th at 0h. 39m. a.m., or 3h. 19m. before sunrise; on the 19th he sets twice on the same day—viz., at 0h. 3m. a.m., and 11h. 56m. p.m.; he sets on the 29th at 11h. 20m. p.m., or three hours and a half after sunset. He is near the Moon during the evenings of the 1st, 2nd, and the 29th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 18th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 41m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 42m. p.m.

SATURN rises on the 8th at 10h. 20m. p.m., on the 18th at 9h. 40m. p.m., on the 28th at 9h. 0m. p.m.; being 2h. 7m., 1h. 34m., 1h. 9m. respectively after sunset on these days. He is near the Moon on the 11th. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 3m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 0m. a.m.

AUGUST.

THE MOON is near Saturn on the morning of the 7th, and near Venus on the morning of the 17th. She is near Mars on the 19th, near to Mercury on the evening of the 20th, and near to Jupiter during the evening of the 25th. Her phases or times of change are:—

PATH OF JUPITER FROM 1875, DEC. 10, TO 1877, DEC. 10.

Full Moon	on the 5th	at 38 minutes after 6h.	in the morning.
Last Quarter	" 12th	" 58	" 9h. " afternoon.
New Moon	" 19th	" 26	" 0h. " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 26th	" 17	" 6h. " afternoon.

She is furthest from the Earth on the morning of the 2nd, and again on the evening of the 20th, and nearest on the evening of the 17th.

MERCURY rises 17m. before the Sun on the 3rd; on the 6th he rises nearly at the same time as the Sun, and from this day to Oct. 13 he rises in daylight. On the 1st he and the Sun set nearly together; on the 8th he sets 17m. after sunset, which interval gradually increases to 35m. by the 23rd, and remains at this point till the 24th, the planet setting on this day at 7h. 29m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 51m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 46m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 19m. p.m. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, near Mars on the 6th, near the Moon on the 20th, and in his descending node on the 20th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 8th at 2h. 20m. a.m., or 2h. 16m. before sunrise; on the 18th at 1h. 51m. a.m., and on the 28th at 1h. 33m. a.m. She is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 4th; near the Moon on the 17th; she shines brilliantly on the 20th. She is due south on the 1st, at 10h. 17m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 29m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 4m. a.m.

MARS is an evening star till the 28th; he sets on the 8th at 7h. 45m. p.m.; on the 18th at 7h. 19m. p.m., or 7m. only after sunset. On the 28th the planet and the Sun set nearly together, and from this day to the end of the year he sets in daylight. He rises on the 11th nearly with the Sun; on the 18th, 14m. before sunrise; and on the 28th at 4h. 34m. a.m., or 34m. before sunrise. He is in conjunction with the Sun on the 13th, and near the Moon on the 19th. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 22m. p.m.; and on the last day at 11h. 30m. a.m.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 8th at 10h. 42m. p.m., on the 18th at 10h. 4m. p.m., and on the 28th at 9h. 27m. p.m. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 15th, and near the Moon on the 25th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 38m. p.m., and on the last day at 4h. 50m. p.m.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 6h. 20m. p.m., or 43m. after sunset; on the 17th at 7h. 40m. p.m., or 24m. after sunset. On the 29th the planet rises nearly at the same time as the Sun sets, and from this day to the end of 1h. year he rises in daylight. He sets at about the same time as the Sun rises on the 28th, and a few minutes before sunrise on the last day. He is near the Moon on the 7th; and in opposition to the Sun on the 27th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 56m. a.m., and on the 31st at 11h. 46m. p.m.

SEPTEMBER.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 2nd and morning hours of the 3rd; near Venus on the morning of the 13th, near Mars on the evening of the 16th, near Mercury on the 19th, near Jupiter on the evening of the 22nd, and Saturn a second time this month on the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 3rd	at 13 minutes after 9h.	in the afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 11th	" 21	" 4h. " morning.
New Moon	" 17th	" 54	" 0h. " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 25th	" 3	" 0h. " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 14th, and furthest from it on the afternoon of the 26th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 2nd at 7h. 16m. p.m., or 34m. after the Sun. This interval decreases to 30m. by the 12th, on which day the planet sets at 6h. 51m. p.m., to 22m. by the 22nd, the planet setting at 6h. 20m. p.m., and to 10m. by the 27th; the planet sets on this day at 6h. 3m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 29m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 28m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 5m. p.m. He is in aphelion on the 8th, at his greatest eastern elongation, 26 deg. 20 min., on the 17th, and near the Moon on the 19th.

VENUS is a morning star, and rises on the 7th at 1h. 27m. a.m., on the 17th, at 1h. 23m. a.m., and on the 27th at 1h. 39m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 13th, and at the greatest western elongation (46 deg. 6 min.) on the 23rd. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 3m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 56m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 57m. a.m.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 4h. 32m. a.m., or 51m. before the Sun; on the 17th at 4h. 30m. a.m., or 1h. 6m. before the Sun; on the 27th at 4h. 27m. a.m., or one hour and a half before sunrise. He is in aphelion on the 12th, and near the Moon during the evening hours of the 16th. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 37m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 52m. a.m.

STATUE OF RICHARD BAXTER, THE PURITAN DIVINE, AT KIDDERMINSTER.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1876.

JUPITER is an evening star, and sets on the 7th at 8h. 51m. p.m., or 2h. 15m. after sunset; on the 17th at 8h. 15m. p.m., or 2h. 6m. after sunset; and on the 27th at 7h. 40m. p.m., or 1h. 53m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 22nd. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 46m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 10m. p.m.

SATURN sets on the 8th at 4h. 18m. a.m., on the 18th at 8h. 33m. a.m., and on the 28th at 2h. 53m. a.m., and is visible throughout the night till these times. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, and again on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 42m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 40m. p.m.

OCTOBER.

THE MOON is near Venus on the morning of the 14th; she is near Mars on the mornings of the 15th and 16th, being situated to the right of the planet on the 15th, and to the left on the 16th; she is near Mercury on the evening of the 16th, being a little to the right of him, she is near Jupiter on the evening of the 20th, and to Saturn during the evening hours of the 27th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 3rd at 56 minutes after 10h. in the morning.
Last Quarter " 10th " 19 " 10 " morning.
New Moon " 17th " 57 " 9 " morning.
First Quarter " 25th " 55 " 7 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 10th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 24th.

MERCURY sets on the 2nd at 5h. 44m. p.m., or 10m. after sunset; on the 7th he and the Sun set nearly together, and from the 8th of this month to the 9th of December he sets before the Sun or in daylight. He rises on the 13th nearly at the same time as the Sun; on the 17th at 5h. 41m. a.m., or 48m. before sunrise; on the 22nd at 5h. 5m. a.m., or 1h. 33m. before the sun; and on the 27th at 4h. 58m. a.m., or 1h. 49m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 1m. p.m., on the 15th at 11h. 26m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 38m. a.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 1st, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 13th, near the Moon on the 16th, in his ascending node on the 17th, again stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 21st, in perihelion on the 22nd, and at his greatest western elongation, 18 deg. 31 min., on the 28th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 1h. 55m. a.m., on the 17th at 2h. 16m. a.m., on the 27th at 2h. 37m. a.m. She is in her ascending node on the morning of the 12th, and near the Moon on the morning of the 14th. She is due south on the 1st at 8h. 57m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 0m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 6m. a.m.

MARS is a morning star, and rises on the 7th at 4h. 23m. a.m., or 1h. 50m. before sunrise; on the 17th at 4h. 21m. a.m., or 2h. 8m. before the Sun; on the 27th at 4h. 18m. a.m., or nearly 2h. 30m. before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the mornings of the 14th and 15th. He is due south on the 1st day at 10h. 50m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 3m. a.m.

JUPITER is still an evening star, setting on the 7th at 7h. 6m. p.m., or 1h. 44m. after the Sun; on the 17th at 6h. 31m. p.m., or 1h. 31m. after the Sun; and on the 27th at 5h. 58m. p.m., or 1h. 18m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 20th. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 7m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 33m. p.m.

SATURN sets on the 8th at 2h. 10m. a.m., on the 18th at 1h. 29m. a.m., and on the 28th at 0h. 48m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the evening of the 27th. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 36m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 35m. p.m.

NOVEMBER.

THE MOON is near Venus on the morning of the 12th, being situated to the right of this planet. She is also near Venus and Mars on the morning of the 13th, being nearer to Mars than to Venus. She is near Mercury on the morning of the 15th, Jupiter on the 17th, and to Saturn on the morning of the 24th. Her phases or times of changes are:—

PATH OF SATURN FROM 1876, FEB. 18, TO 1877, MARCH 9.

Full Moon on the 1st at 31 minutes after 11h. in the afternoon.
Last Quarter " 8th " 17 " 5h. " afternoon.
New Moon " 16th " 48 " 0h. " morning.
First Quarter " 24th " 27 " 4h. " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 5th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 21st.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h. 5m. a.m., or 1h. 51m. before sunrise, which interval gradually decreases to 1h. 38m. on the 6th, to 1h. 20m. on the 11th, to 1h. 1m. on the 16th, to 42m. on the 21st, and to 23m. on the 26th; the planet rising on these days respectively at 5h. 28m. a.m., 5h. 59m. a.m., 6h. 21m. a.m., 6h. 49m. a.m., and 7h. 16m. a.m. On the last day of the month he rises at 7h. 37m. a.m., or 7m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 38m. a.m.; on the 15th at 11h. 3m. a.m.; and on the last day at 11h. 39m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 15th, and in his descending node on the 25th.

VENUS is still a morning star, and rises on the 8th at 3h. 2m. a.m., on the 16th at 3h. 30m. a.m., on the 26th at 3h. 56m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 12th, in perihelion on the 14th, and near Mars on the 28th. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 6m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 12m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 21m. a.m.

MARS is a morning star. He rises on the 6th at 4h. 15m. a.m., or 2h. 51m. before sunrise; on the 16th at 4h. 13m.; and on the 26th at 4h. 10m., or 3h. 29m. before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the morning of the 13th. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 1m. a.m., and on the 30th at 9h. 17m. a.m.

JUPITER sets on the 6th at 5h. 25m. p.m., or 1h. 3m. after the Sun; on the 16th at 4h. 52m. p.m., or 45m. after sunset; and on the 26th at 4h. 20m. p.m., or 24m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 30m. p.m., and on the 30th at 0h. 3m. p.m.

SATURN sets on the 7th at 0h. 5m. a.m., on the 16th at 11h. 30m. p.m., and on the 26th at 10h. 53m. p.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 4th, in quadrature with the Sun on the 23rd, and near the Moon on the 24th. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 31m. p.m., and on the 30th at 5h. 39m. p.m.

DECEMBER.

THE MOON is near Mars and Venus on the morning of the 12th, and near Venus on the morning of the 13th. She is near Jupiter on the morning of the 16th, near Mercury on the 16th, and to Saturn on the 21st. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 1st at 4 minutes after 11h. in the morning.
Last Quarter " 8th " 23 " 2h. " morning.
New Moon " 15th " 14 " 6h. " afternoon.
First Quarter " 23rd " 42 " 11h. " afternoon.
Full Moon " 30th " 59 " 9h. " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 3rd, and again on the afternoon of the 31st, and furthest from it on the evening of the 18th.

MERCURY rises nearly at the same time as the Sun on the 1st, and from this day till the end of the year he rises in daylight. He sets with the Sun on the 9th; at 4h. 5m. p.m. on the 16th, or 14m. after sunset; on the 21st at 4h. 21m. p.m., or 29m. after the Sun; on the 26th at 4h. 41m. p.m., or 45m. after sunset; and on the last day of the year at 5h. 7m. p.m., or 1h. 8m. after the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 42m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 23m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 1h. 11m. p.m. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 4th, near Jupiter on the same day, in aphelion on the 5th, and near the Moon on the 16th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 6th at 4h. 27m. a.m., or 3h. 26m. before sunrise; on the 16th at 4h. 50m. a.m., or 3h. 6m. before the Sun; on the 26th at 5h. 23m. a.m., or 2h. 42m. before the Sun; and on the last day of the year at 5h. 39m. a.m., or nearly 2h. 29m. before sunrise. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 22m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 33m. a.m., and on the last day of the year at 9h. 51m. a.m. She is near Mars and the Moon on the morning of the 12th.

MARS is still a morning star, rising on the 6th day at 4h. 8m. a.m., on the 16th at 4h. 6m. a.m.; on the 26th at 4h. 3m. a.m.; and on the last day of the year at 4h. 1m. a.m. He is near Venus and the Moon on the morning of the 12th. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 15m. a.m., and on the last day of the year at 8h. 33m. a.m.

JUPITER sets nearly at the same time as the Sun on the 5th, and from this day he sets in daylight. He rises on the 4th at about the same time as the Sun. He rises 47m. before sunrise on the 16th, and 1h. 36m. before sunrise on the last day of the year, the planet rising on this day at 6h. 32m. a.m. He is in conjunction with the Sun on the 4th, and near the Moon on the 16th. He is due south on the 1st at noon, and on the last day of the year at 10h. 31m. a.m.

SATURN is an evening star, setting on the 6th at 10h. 16m. p.m., on the 16th at 9h. 41m. p.m., on the 26th at 9h. 5m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 8h. 48m. p.m., or 4h. 49m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 21st. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 35m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 3h. 45m. p.m.

ECLIPSES, 1876.

In the year 1876 there will be two Eclipses of the Sun and two of the Moon. The first is a Partial Eclipse of the Moon, on March 10. The beginning of the eclipse will be at 5h. 21m. in the morning, (Greenwich mean time; its middle will be at 6h. 21m., and the Moon will set 12m. after this time, or at 6h. 33m. a.m. Part only of this eclipse will therefore be visible from England. The eclipse will end at 7h. 21m. At the time of the beginning of the eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 77 deg. 46min. west of (Greenwich, and in 5 deg. north latitude; at the middle she will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 92 deg. 20 min. west and in latitude 4 deg. 40 min. north; and at the end she will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 106 deg. 50 min. west, and in 4 deg. 25 min. north latitude. At the time of the greatest phase nearly one third part of the diameter will be obscured.

The second will be an annular eclipse of the Sun on March 25, invisible from Europe. The central eclipse begins generally at 6h. 39m. p.m., Greenwich mean time, in longitude 171 deg. 25 min. east, and latitude 9 deg. north; and the central eclipse ends generally at 9h. 31m. p.m., in longitude 46 deg. 5 min. west, and latitude 67 deg. north. This eclipse will be visible from North America and the North Pacific Ocean.

The third eclipse is a partial eclipse of the Moon on Sept. 3. It begins at 8h. 16m. p.m., and is visible, as the Moon on this day rises at 4h. 41m. p.m., or 1h. 34m. before the eclipse begins; the middle of the eclipse will be at 8h. 22m. p.m., when somewhat more than one-third of the diameter will be obscured. The eclipse ends at 10h. 26m. p.m. At the time of the middle of the eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 39½ deg. east, and latitude 7 deg. 55 min. south.

The fourth and last eclipse of this year will be a total eclipse of the Sun on Sept. 17-18. It will not be visible from Europe. It will begin on the Earth generally at 7h. 12m. p.m. on the 17th, mean time at Greenwich, in longitude 160 deg. 12 min. east, and latitude 10 deg. nearly north. The central eclipse begins at 8h. 16m. p.m. and ends at 11h. 22m. p.m., in longitude 85 deg. west and latitude 59 deg. 36 min. south. The eclipse ends on the Earth generally at 10h. 26m. a.m., on Sept. 18, in longitude 100 deg. west, and latitude 48 deg. 20 min. south. It will be visible from Australia and the South Pacific Ocean.

THE EXPENDITURE OF THE METROPOLITAN BOARD OF WORKS.

The expenditure of the Metropolitan Board is estimated to amount during the year 1875 to £287,194. A year since it was placed at £730,790; while two years previously it had been estimated at £617,130. The expenditure of the board is growing with regularity at the rate of £70,000 a year. The rental of the metropolis is rather less than £21,000,000 a year. A penny rate on a rental of £21,000,000 produces £21,000 a year, so that the annual addition to the expenditure of the Metropolitan Board is very nearly equivalent to the addition of a penny to the rates of the metropolis. And this addition to the rates has practically been made. In 1872 the rate demanded was equivalent to a rate of 2 68d., in 1874, or two years afterwards, it amounted to 4 4d.; while in the present year it reaches 5 27d. Next year we may look forward to a sixpenny rate, and, in all probability, this sum will be gradually raised in future years to a very much higher impost.

The most important item in the expenditure of the board is the charge of its debt. The charge of the debt amounted:—

	1872.	1874.	1875.
Interest .....	£359,852	£412,800	£453,273
Management .....	1,224	1,411	2,164
Sinking Fund .....	109,754	143,040	181,014
	£470,830	£557,251	£636,451

The three other important items are increasing much more slowly:—

	1872.	1874.	1875.
Maintenance of sewage works, parks, &c.	£51,066	£77,203	£78,099
Fire Brigade working expenses .....	69,709	72,508	74,108
Establishment charges .....	17,690	21,051	21,449
	£138,465	£170,762	£173,656

The revenue of the board may be divided into four great branches:—1. Coal and wine duties; 2. contributions to the expense of fire brigade; 3. interest and rents; 4. rate. The rate has, of course, to make good the deficiency in the other three. Happily, however, for the ratepayers, these three are steadily increasing. Still selecting the same years as our guide, the receipts stood as follow:—

	1872.	1874.	1875.
Coal and wine duties .....	£215,000	£225,000	£233,000
Fire Brigade, contributions to .....	26,120	27,087	28,093
Rents, interest, &c. ....	51,884	66,580	803,108

The ordinary revenue of the board, exclusive of the rates, may be said to be increasing at the rate of about £25,000 a year.

The rapidity with which the board is incurring debt is very remarkable. On Dec. 31, 1871, £3,527,978 of Metropolitan Consolidated Stock had been issued. No addition was made to the amount in 1872, but the Consolidated Stock increased in 1873 to £5,411,011, and in 1874 to £8,011,011. £4,500,000 of Consolidated Stock was, in other words, raised in two years. This debt was, however, due to the conversion of some of the earlier loans of the board into Metropolitan Stock. In 1872 the earlier loans of the board cost the ratepayers £236,000 a year. In the present year their charge has been reduced to £172,000. The difference mainly arises from the conversion of the other securities of the board into Three-and-a-Half per Cent Stock. But, when the fullest deduction is made on this account, the debt of the board must be admitted to be increasing with very great rapidity. Last year the board estimated that they would require £1,583,000 for various improvements. They actually spent upwards of £2,045,000 on works of this character. This year they are contemplating an expenditure of only £395,000, but the experience of last year justifies an apprehension that the estimate will be largely exceeded by the reality.

Solicitors, Messrs. Freshfield.

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

All Stocks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Private Transfers may be effected at other times, providing the books are not closed, by paying 2s. 6d. for each Transfer. Tickets for preparing the Transfer of Stock must be given in at the Bank of England before one o'clock. Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 9s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, £1 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable.

Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of decease must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 5 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervene, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 2; for accepting, 9 to 3; for payment of dividends, 9 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom.

Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co.," and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

Under the provisions of an Act passed in 1871, the following are the dividend days and periods of redemption of the various Stocks:—

CASSELL'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND, WITH UPWARDS OF

2,000 ILLUSTRATIONS.

FIFTY THOUSAND IMPRESSIONS of the Beautiful Portrait of HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN, issued with Part I., were disposed of on the DAY OF PUBLICATION. The Publishers were, in consequence, obliged to issue the following Notice:—

"The overwhelming demand for Part I. of the New Edition of CASSELL'S ILLUSTRATED HISTORY OF ENGLAND, with which the magnificent Portrait of Her Majesty is given as a Presentation Plate, having quite exhausted the whole of the very large first supply, the Publishers are compelled to ask the forbearance of the Trade until a further supply shall have been produced to enable them to execute the numerous orders still on hand. Orders for Part I., price 8½d., including LARGE PRESENTATION PORTRAIT OF THE QUEEN, will be executed with as little delay as possible after they reach the Publishers."

A FOURTH EDITION of PART I. (including the PRESENTATION PLATE) having been prepared, Subscribers who have been hitherto disappointed in procuring the Part and Plate, should now be able to obtain them at any Bookseller's in Town and Country.

FRENCH CORSETS.

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

"There is now to be had at Mrs. Addley Bourne's the well-known Swanbill Corset, especially designed for wearing under the cuirass bodices, and well suited for stout figures. It has a busk longer than that of the ordinary corset; the shape is indicated by the name. It is most effective in reducing the figure and keeping the form flat, so as to enable ladies to wear the fashionable vêtements of the day."—Myra's Journal (June).

Send size of waist with P.O. order for 14s. 6d.

MAINTENON CORSET (Registered).

"Mrs. Bourne has introduced a new corset, called the 'Maintenon Corset.' This corset is made with the unbreakable busk, most important for ladies travelling or living in the country; for few accidents are more trying than the breakage of a stay-busk when en voyage. The prices of the Maintenon Corset are 14s. 6d. and 18s. 6d. Mrs. Addley Bourne is so convinced that the Maintenon Corset has an unbreakable bust that she offers to replace one broken in wear without charge. The shape is elegant; the form, gently clasped by the Maintenon Corset, will improve in outline and maintenance."—The Silkworm.

SPoons AND FORKS

SLACKS' NICKEL being a metal amalgamated on chemical and scientific principles almost to the purity and whiteness of Silver, with all its durability in wear, renders it, as a basis for Electro-Silvering, the best article that can be produced; and when plated by MESSRS. ELKINGTON'S patent process is equal in appearance and durability to Sterling Silver, and cannot by any possible means be distinguished from such except by the Hall Mark.

MANUFACTURED SOLELY BY RICHARD AND JOHN SLACK, 336, STRAND, LONDON.

SLACKS'

ELECTRO-PLATE,
by Elkington's Patent Process,

Is a coating of Pure Silver
Over Slack's Nickel Silver.
For Silver-like appearance,
For constant wear,
For excellence in workmanship,
Is equal to Sterling Silver.

NINE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION PRIZE MEDALS.

Many persons inquire what is the best Chocolate or Cocoa to use. Some, perhaps, may not have been in the habit of drinking these articles; others may have tried various preparations without meeting with anything exactly to suit their tastes or requirements.

J. S. FRY and SONS, whose CHOCOLATE and COCOA have attained a wide celebrity, and who have the advantage of long experience (the establishment of their business dating from 1728), specially recommend the following articles for daily family consumption for breakfast, luncheon, or supper.

FRY'S CARACAS COCOA.

In Half-pound and Quarter-pound Packets. 1s. 4d. per lb.

Prepared with Caracas and other choice growths of Cocoa, selected for their excellent qualities, and aromatic flavour, producing a really delicious and refreshing beverage.

Purchasers should ask specially for "Fry's Caracas Cocoa," to distinguish it from other Cocos manufactured by the firm.

"A most delicious and valuable article."—"Standard."

FRY'S CARACAS CHOCOLATE.

In Half-pound and Quarter-pound Cakes. Yellow Wrapper.

Is a really delicious and excellent Chocolate, highly flavoured with Vanilla, and offered at a moderate price, so as to adapt it for general family consumption.

"Fulfil every possible requirement, for convenience, for flavour, and for purity."—"Court Circular."

FRY'S EXTRACT OF COCOA.

In Packets, 6d. each; and Tins, 1s. and 2s. each.

The pure Cocoa Nib deprived of the superfluous oil. "Than which, if properly prepared, there is no nicer or more wholesome preparation of Cocoa."—"Food, Water, and Air," Edited by Dr. Hassall.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalcules," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke: being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the toothbrush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly each morning if only left to their own choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the toothbrush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. FLORILINE is prepared only by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street London, and sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world, at 2s. 6d. per bottle "Floriline" Powder put up in large glass jars, price 1s.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES,

for the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH, or any irritation or soreness of the Throat, are now imported and sold in this Country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box, put up in the form of a "lozenge." It is the most convenient, pleasant, safe, and sure remedy for clearing and strengthening the voice known in the world. The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says:—"I have often recommended them to friends who were public speakers, and in many cases they have proved extremely serviceable." The genuine have the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" on the Government Stamp around each Box. Sold by all Medicine Venders throughout the world. London Depot, 493, Oxford-street.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.

If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON.

Sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere. Price 3s. 6d.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

should always be used when children are cutting teeth; it relieves the little sufferers at once, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world, at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle; and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue.

MOURNING FOR LADIES.*MESSRS. JAY,

anxious to remove the impression which they find has gained undue circulation, that none but the richest materials in COSTUMES, MANTLES, and MILLINERY, are sold at their Establishment, deem it a duty to themselves and the Public to assure all families who have not yet dealt at JAYS' MOURNING WAREHOUSE, that good wearing materials are cut from the piece, and at more than an equivalent for the price, which is from 1s. per yard upwards, and Crape from 1s. 9d. per yard.

Messrs. JAY have always at command experienced Dressmakers and Milliners, who act as travellers, so that, in the event of immediate Mourning being required, or any other sudden emergency for dress, one can be dispatched to any part of the kingdom on receipt of a letter or telegram, without any expense whatever to the purchaser. All articles are marked in plain figures, and charges are the same as if the goods were bought for ready money at the Warehouse.

CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE

is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered. is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague, acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms. is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, Dec. 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manila to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the only remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—"Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which he regretted to say, had been sworn to."—See "Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1d., 2s. 9d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine without the words, "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

NATURAL MINERAL WATER OF PULLNA, NEAR BRUX, IN BOHEMIA.

Extract from the "Medical Times and Gazette," March 27, 1869:

"Pullna Water is the fashionable purgative of people in high life. It is not very agreeable to the taste, and would hardly have earned its popularity unless it possessed some practically good qualities. These we believe to be that it is a sure and efficient purgative, and that it neither nauseates nor gripes. It contains notable quantities of the sulphates of soda and magnesia, with the mélange of other salts of soda, magnesium, lime, &c., which figure in most analyses of mineral water. Many persons prefer a mineral water to a dose compounded in the apothecary's shop, and for any such person who may need an unmistakable purge the Practitioner may safely recommend Pullna Water. The sample before us has been duly tested and found to answer."

Doses to be taken in small quantity and before breakfast, and also warmed. For improving taste, add some wine, milk, coffee, or tea.

Depots in all the most important Cities of Europe and in Transatlantic Countries, where our latest notices may be had gratis.

ARTIFICIAL EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS. GROSSMITH'S

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the patient to walk, sit, or ride with ease and comfort, wherever amputated. They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety. They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Juries to be “excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others.”

The PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

REMEMBER LAMPLOUGH'S

PYRETIC SALINE.

AND HAVE IT IN YOUR HOUSES.

It is most invigorating, vitalising, and refreshing. Gives instant relief in Headaches, Sea or Bilious Sickness, and quickly cures the worst form of Eruptive or Skin Complaints. The various diseases arising from Climatic causes, Constipation, the Liver, or Blood Impurities, Inoculation, the Result of Breathing Air infected with Fever, Measles, or SMALLPOX, are frequently prevented and these diseases cured by its use.

Any person who has already Smallpox should take it, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent its leaving any trace on the features.

The numerous statements and letters relating to its marvellous effect, as a positive cure in TYPHUS, SCARLET FEVER, SMALLPOX, and other BLOOD POISONS, are most remarkable, and are painfully suggestive of great neglect, whenever the PYRETIC SALINE is not employed in these diseases.

"It furnishes the Blood with its lost Saline constituents."—DR. MORGAN, M.D., &c.

The late DR. TURLEY states in his letters and lectures:—"I found it act as a specific in the worst form of Scarlet Fever, NO OTHER Medicine being given."

DO NOTICE MY TRADE MARK AND NAME, AS ABOVE, ON A BUFF-COLOURED WRAPPER.

WORTHLESS IMITATIONS are now being offered to the public, the only merit of which is a label and wrapper with a transposition of the sentence and words of mine—a colourable imitation—in fact, a fraud on myself and the public.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS

THIS JOURNAL,

THE

FIRST ILLUSTRATED NEWSPAPER EVER PUBLISHED,

HAS NOW BEEN IN EXISTENCE OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY.

As might have been expected, its appearance called into existence imitators in this country, on the Continent, in America, and in Australia. Many of these had but a brief existence, and others flourished in exact proportion as they followed more or less closely their prototype. Not one of them, however, has achieved anything like the circulation of the original. Certainly, in respect of its wide extension, which, it is fair to assume, is attributable to its excellence, the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS stands unique.

The Engravings.

Neither cost nor trouble has been spared to illustrate, from Original Sketches—many of them by Special Artists, sent to foreign lands—events of public interest in every quarter of the globe. This course has been undeviatingly pursued from the commencement of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS to the present time. It is, doubtless, owing to the fidelity of these Illustrations and to the jealous care with which objectionable subjects are excluded, that it has continued to rise in public favour, and finds a welcome in every home.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The extensive circulation of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS throughout the United Kingdom, in the colonies, and indeed in all parts of the world, renders it an excellent vehicle for Advertisements.

As an advertising medium it has no equal; and, considering the area of its circulation, the charges are moderate.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—The Civil Service Gazette.

"MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston Road, London."—See Article in Cassell's Household Guide.

ECLIPSES IN 1877.

THERE will be three Eclipses of the Sun and two of the Moon. The first is a Total Eclipse of the Moon, on Feb. 27, and partly visible from England. The eclipse begins at 5h. 30m. p.m., about 1m. after the Moon has risen; the beginning of the total eclipse will be at 6h. 27m., the middle of the eclipse will be at 7h. 15m.; the end of the total eclipse will be at 8h. 3m., and the eclipse will end at 9h. 1m. p.m. At the time of the middle of the eclipse, 7h. 15m., the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude east of Greenwich is 74 deg. 20 min., and whose north latitude is 8 deg. 15 min.

The second eclipse is a Partial Eclipse of the Sun, not visible from Europe. Its greatest phase is about one third of the Sun's diameter. It begins on March 15, at 1h. 15m. a.m., Greenwich mean time, in longitude 75 deg. 25 min. east of Greenwich, and latitude 34 deg. north. At the time of greatest phase—viz., 2h. 38m., Greenwich time—in latitude 61 deg. 11 min. north, and longitude 66 deg. 35 min. east of Greenwich; and the eclipse ends at 4h. 1m. a.m., in north latitude 87 deg. 19 min. and longitude 82 deg. 16 min. east of Greenwich. The third is also a Partial Eclipse of the Sun, and visible from Europe. It begins on Aug. 9, at 4h. 12m. a.m., Greenwich mean time, in north latitude 72 deg. 50 min. and west longitude 37 deg. 50 min. At the greatest phase of the eclipse, when nearly two thirds of the Sun's diameter will be obscured—viz., at 6h. 30m. a.m., Greenwich time, in north latitude 62 deg. 31 min., and west longitude 138 deg. 20 min. The eclipse ends at 6h. 48m. a.m., Greenwich time, in north latitude 35 deg. 48 min., and west longitude 17 deg.

The fourth is a Total Eclipse of the Moon, and visible from England, taking place on Aug. 23, in the early night hours. The Moon rises on Aug. 23 at 7h. 1m. p.m., the eclipse begins at 9h. 1m. p.m., the beginning of the total eclipse will be at 10h. 19m., the middle of the eclipse will be at 11h. 11m. p.m., the end of the total eclipse will be at 5m. after midnight, and the Moon will be due south at 2m. after midnight, and the end of the eclipse will be in the morning of the 24th, at 9m. after 1h. a.m. At the time of the middle of the eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose south latitude is 11 deg. 19 min., and whose longitude is 12 deg. 15 min. east of Greenwich.

The fifth, and last, is a Partial Eclipse of the Sun on Sept. 7. It begins on the Earth generally at 11h. 10m. a.m., in longitude 75 deg. 30 min. west, and latitude 23 deg. 15 min. south. At the time of the greatest eclipse a little more than three fifths of the Sun's diameter will be obscured—viz., at 0h. 49m. p.m., in west longitude 91 deg. 48 min., and south latitude 61 deg. 22 min.; and the eclipse will end at 2h. 27m. p.m., in east longitude 23 deg. 7 min., and south latitude 75 deg. 14 min. This eclipse will be seen from Cape Horn and parts of South America.

In eighteen years there are usually about twenty eclipses—twenty-nine of the Moon and forty-one of the Sun, or nearly two to three. Seven is the greatest number of eclipses that can occur in a year, and two the least. If there are seven, five must be of the Sun and two of the Moon. If only two, then both must be of the Sun, for in every year there are two solar eclipses.

THE YARMOUTH AQUARIUM AND WINTER GARDEN. FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

THE COLOURED ILLUSTRATIONS.—I.

SPRING, SUMMER, AUTUMN, WINTER.

The Four Seasons are symbolically represented by four groups of loving couples of fairy-like children, whose various occupations, and the surrounding objects, befit each successive phase of Nature at that time of the year. In the first instance, the genial breath of awakening Spring has inspired fresh throbs of vital emotion in every living frame of organised vegetable or animal existence. The fond pair of innocent playmates are found sitting under blossoming hawthorn sprays, with a pet lamb beside them; and the little boy is pretending to catch a butterfly, while the little sister admires his attempt, as she hugs a basket of flowers. We look on this charming scene, and we begin to repeat after James Thomson:—

Come, gentle Spring, ethereal Mildness, come!
And from the bosom of yon dropping cloud,
While Music wakes around, veiled in a shower
Of shadowing roses, on our plains descend!

It is not easy to refrain from the language of poetry in speaking of that delightful and seeming magical change, "when Nature all is blooming and benevolent," when the expansive atmosphere, no longer cramped with cold, lifts and spreads in the heavenly dome a shifting array of light, fleecy clouds; while the fostering winds of a warmer clime, the softening drops of tepid rain, and rays of a stronger sun, now daily rising higher in the sky, and piercing deeper through the soil, unbind the powers of birth and growth in all seeds and roots and stems of plants; and so we presently see how

From the moist meadow to the withered hill,
Led by the breeze, the vivid verdure runs,
And swells, and deepens, to the cherished eye.

The stately trees and humbler bushes now put forth their buds, unfolding by degrees, till the whole leafy mass of each greenwood forest, or thicket, or hedge, displays its full luxuriance to the rejoicing day. The garden begins to fill its cultivated spaces with innumerable varieties of colour, shape, and fragrance, while yet concealing in a close-wrapped embryo the promise of future fruit. Multitudinous beyond conception, diversified almost beyond comparison, the vast world of tiny winged insects, flitting in mazy whirls through the air of evening, emits a soft humming sound, which, close to the ear, has the effect of remote immensity, like the faint noise of breaking surf on a distant sea-beach. But most distinct, articulate, and expressive, almost personally characteristic like human voices, are the songs of the happy feathered race.

Up springs the Lark,

Shall-voiced and loud, the first-singer of morn;
The violet shadows fly, as mounted song,
Amid the dawning clouds, and from their haunts
Calls up the tuneful strains. Every copse,
Deep-faceted, tree-mirrored, and bush
Bending with dewy moisture, o'er the head
Of the ear, cherishes a throat that warbles
Are prodigal of harmony. The Thrush
And Wood-lark, o'er the kind contending throng
Superior heard, run through the sweetest leath
Of notes, while listening Philomela deems
To let them joy, or purposes, in thought
Plots, to make her night exceed their day.
The Blackbird whistles from the thorny brake;
The mellow Bullfinch answers from the grove;
Nor are the Larks, o'er the flowering furze
Poured out profusely, silent. Joined to these,
Innumerable songsters, in the freshening shade
Of new-sprung leaves, their modulations mix
Mellifluous. The jay, the rook, the crow,
And each harsh pipe, discordant heard alone,
And the full concert; while the stock-dove breathes
A melancholy murmur through the whole.

Such is the joyous stir of animated nature and of unconscious plant-life in the tender youth of the fresh-begun year, in its fourth or fifth month, in the grateful concert of thanksgiving that bursts from the roused heart of all creation in the teeming breast of Earth.

Next comes into view, as it has occurred to the Artist's playful fancy, a pleasant scene of idle pastime in the long hot days of Summer. The two young persons, whom we saw not very seriously employed one day in the past Spring, have learnt the trick of luring small fishes to their death. It is contrived by means of a treacherous bait and cruel hook, suspended with rod and line in the still or rippled stream. This is their little game just now; and here they spend the hours. Meanwhile the impetuous dragonfly darts with startling flight, from the clump of green flags or rushes, and shoots across the fast-anchored flotilla of broad leaves and white flowers belonging to the water-lily. Here it is, on the grassy bank of a quiet river in the meadows of a midland country abounding in peace, that we see the boy and girl amusing themselves with the sport of angling, in their continued Midsummer holiday, which no summons from a School Board is likely to spoil. She has caught a perch, and is in the act of taking it from the hook. This is not exactly the thing we should like to set our youngest daughter to do. Isn't it rather a nasty business, after all, this deceitful method of taking the fish by a gross practical falsehood, hypocritically pretending to offer it a morsel of food, and deluding the finny simpleton to expire in needless torment? It would seem less objectionable, in the estimation of a delicate moral sensibility, to capture the silly tribes by the use of a net. We do not mean, however, to uphold this observation against the practice of fly-fishing by masculine adults. Only, one has to consider how far one would be inclined to approve of it, and to explain or defend its propriety, in directing the pursuits and pleasures of an innocent child, more especially of a little girl. Should we encourage our tender-hearted Lucy to ensnare in this manner ever so many of those harmless creatures swimming in their native river?

Then fix, with gentle twitch, the barbed hook
Some lightly tossing to the grassy bank,
And to the shelving shore slow-dragging some,
With various hand proportioned to their force.

Or should we not rather agree with the poet of Rydal Mount, in his touching admonition of natural piety and the humane resolve

Never to blend our pleasure or our pride
With sorrow of the meanest thing that feels?

Let this problem of ethical taste or sentiment remain for the deliberate meditation of refined minds. The graceful designs of our colleague, Mr. H. Arnold, assume no such responsibility as that which a moralist of set purpose would undertake in settling the question, one way or another. But he now leads our fancy quite away from the summer scene of madison aquatic slaughter and his pretty idealisation of good old Isaac Walton's equivocal craft.

The scene is transformed to Autumn, in a bower of riches and of dignified repose. Here are the two young persons, who might be a Prince and Princess of some wonderful romantic legend; but the Prince is yet in disguise, having come to serve his lady-love and to watch his chances at her father's Royal Court. She sits in state, with a fan of peacock's feathers, to rest and cool herself after an hour of play, while he performs a delightful office in bringing a dish of the finest apples for her noonday repast. That young lady, we fear, is in a way to get her disposition rather spoiled by so much indulgence and obsequious flattery. It would do her more good to be out nutting or gathering blackberries, with a merry, active, rousing, singing, chattering party of her own age and sex. She is not at all like our wise Master Wordsworth's favourite, the lovely child whom Nature took in hand to make a lady of her, with none of this aristocratic coddling and petting:—

Myself will to my darling be Both law and impulse, and with me,
The girl, in rock or plain,
In earth and heaven, in glade or bowyer,
Shall feel an over-empower
To kindly or restrain.
She shall be sportive as the fawn,
That wild with joy, across the lawn
Or up the mountain springs,
And hers shall be the laughing balm,
And hers the silence and the calm
Of mute inanimate things.
The floating clouds their state shall lend
To her; for her the willow bend,
Nor shall she fail to see
E'en in the motions of the storm,
Grace, that shall mould the rauden's form
By silent sympathy.
The stars of midnight shall be dear
To her; and she shall lean her ear
By many a secret place,
Where rivulets dance their wayward round,
And Beauty, born of murmuring sound,
Shall pass into her face,
And vital feelings of delight
Shall rear her form to stately height,
Her virgin bosom swell.

Or, secondly, that other brave little maiden of the moorland cottage, who is "ruddy, fleet, and strong," and does not mind walking alone, in the storm of wind and rain, far over the bleak hillside. But all that is in Wordsworth's Cumberland; the indolent young Princess and the nursery-tale Prince of our Coloured Pictures belong to an unreal Fairyland; and we must not expect from such dolls of idle fantasy an exhibition of the more active and hardy virtues.

They are still very pretty in Winter, and not at all inclined to brave the cold air out of doors in a snowballing frolic or a sliding party on the crystal crust of the pond. The dainty little dandies prefer to be lolling upon a couch, warmly spread with furry spoils of foreign beasts, and to beguile her languid mood with the music of a flageolet, played by her accomplished companion; to be sure, they have had a game of battledore and shuttlecock, which is very good exercise for children. The circle of the year is thus completed, with the smallest possible experience of its ruder and wholesomer seasonable visitations, as well as of its rural tasks and toils. For why should this pair of charming Innocents be placed in bare contact with Nature, whose sun is apt to scorch the wax-like face, her showers to make the garments wet, or vex the footsteps with mud, and her frosts to pinch the fingers, or even to begot the sorry plague of chilblains? They have neither to dig, nor to sow and reap, for their delicious share of the kindly fruits of the earth; nor do they perform the gentle pastoral service of tending flocks and herds. But our readers will gladly accept them, if not as fit personifications of infantine joy in the Four Seasons, yet as pleasing little figures of graceful decorative art.

COLOURED ILLUSTRATIONS.—II.

ON THE WATER: MORNING.

The life of water-fowl seems to us, more especially in sultry weather, about the most enjoyable that is given to the irresponsible animal creation. They find themselves at home in both elements, at least on if not exactly in the water and the land, returning at their free choice from the one to the other; some of them can also rise and take flight in the air. Among the various tenants of our Zoological Society's Gardens, none that we ever see look so contented, so easy, healthy, and happy. The duck, with her brood of ducklings, serenely navigating the placid shallows of a sequestered mere, in the first of two companion drawings by Mr. H. Arnold, has her lot cast in very pleasant places. Here grow the sedges, the tall reeds and rushes, the broad-bladed water-aloes, the floating water-lily, each harbouring a world of insects, to supply the birds, as well as the fishes, with abundance of food. Woe to the doomed tadpole, or swimming larva of some underdeveloped fly, which chances to drift within reach of their greedy beaks at the hungry breakfast hour! Well it is for the swift dragonfly and the butterfly, that they, possessing the means of aerial locomotion, can escape the dangers which beset the surface of river and pool! There is peril here, as in the haunts of meadow insects, of worms, grubs, and caterpillars, and the leaves of plants or burrowing in the soil of the field. All brute creatures, or nearly all, seem to live in a state of war upon each other; yet we doubt not that the sum total of animal pleasure is thereby augmented. Perhaps, after all, it is not such a terrible lot to be eaten. The worm, in any case, will have its revenge upon the bodies of the most highly organised races after death, without excepting imperial Man.

OVER THE WATER: EVENING.

Gallant sport for the kingfisher, darting with rapid strokes of his strong wings over the water this summer evening, and snatching his unwary prey, a minnow or gudgeon, as it rises to the dimpling surface, ignorant of the impending foe! This peaceful hour of closing day is exceedingly propitious to the capture of small aquatic game; and the kingfisher has as good a right to his supper as anybody else. His wife and children, or perhaps only his wife and her eggs, remain at home in a nest which he has made of fish-bones, in the forsaken hole of some dead-and-gone rat, about thirty yards up the river's bank. Good luck to him and his, for he is a fine, brave fellow! Indeed, we always like to catch a glimpse of him in our evening stroll beside the Avon, the Axe, or the Exe.

Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 9s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, 21 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable.

Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of decease must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 5 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervene, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 2; for accepting, 3 to 3; for payment of dividends, 3 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom.

Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co.," and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follow, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz. ....	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz. ....	1½d.
2 oz., and less than 4 oz. ....	2d.
4 oz., and less than 6 oz. ....	2½d.
6 oz., and less than 8 oz. ....	3d.
8 oz., and less than 10 oz. ....	3½d.
10 oz., and less than 12 oz. ....	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

SUBURBAN DELIVERIES.

There are seven despatches daily to the suburban districts. The first is at 8.30 a.m. to all places within the London district limits; and includes the correspondence by the night mails from the provinces, and by any colonial or foreign mails arriving in sufficient time. This delivery is generally completed in the nearer suburbs by 9 a.m., and at the more distant places between 9 and 10 a.m. The second despatch is at 9.30 a.m. to the nearer suburban districts. The third is at 11.30 a.m., and comprises, with a few exceptions, every part of the London district. The fourth despatch, at 2.30 p.m., is to most of the suburban districts, isolated localities excepted. The fifth despatch, at 4.30 p.m., extends to the whole of the suburban districts, and, except in the remoter rural places, the letters are delivered the same evening. The sixth despatch, at 6 p.m. is also to the nearer suburbs. The seventh despatch is at 7 p.m. Letters for this despatch posted at the town receiving houses and pillar boxes by 6 p.m., or at the chief office of the district to which they are addressed by 7.30 p.m., are delivered the same evening at all the principal places within about six miles of the General Post Office. At the more distant places the letters are delivered early the following morning.

THE NEWSPAPER HALF-PENNY POSTAGE

applies to any publication consisting wholly or in great part of political or other news, or of articles relating thereto, or to other current topics, with or without advertisements, and published at intervals of not more than seven days; and for each newspaper, whether posted singly or in a packet, the prepaid postage is one halfpenny. Every newspaper must be so folded as to admit of the title being read. No packet of newspapers must exceed 14 lb. weight nor 2 ft. in length.

Book Post.—A Book-Packet may contain not only books, paper, or other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing, whether plain or written or printed upon (to the exclusion of any written letter or communication of the nature of a letter); photographs, when not on glass or in frames containing glass or any like substance, and anything usually appertaining to such articles in the way of binding and mounting, or necessary for their safe transmission by post, but also Circulars, when these are wholly or in great part printed, engraved, or lithographed. The postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz., or fraction of that weight. A packet posted wholly unpaid will be charged with double the book-postage; and, if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency. Every book-packet must be posted either without a cover or in a cover open at both ends, and in such a manner as to admit of the contents being easily withdrawn for examination; otherwise it will be treated as a letter. No book-packet may contain anything sealed or otherwise closed against inspection; nor must there be any letter, nor any communication of the nature of a letter, whether separate or otherwise, unless the whole of such letter or communication be printed. It must not exceed 5 lb. in weight and 18 in. in length.

POST OFFICE TELEGRAPHS.

The charge for telegrams throughout the United Kingdom, including the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, but excluding the Scilly, Orkney, and Shetland Islands, is 1s. for the first twenty words, and 8d. for every additional five words—i.e., for every additional group of not more than five words; the names and addresses of the sender and receiver not being counted.

MONEY ORDERS

are issued at the chief district offices and at the branch office, Lombard-street and Charing-cross, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; on Saturdays between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.; at other branch offices and receiving-houses in the town districts between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.; at branch offices in the suburban districts between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.; and at receiving-houses in the suburban districts between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. On Saturdays savings bank deposits are received at all receiving-offices until 8 p.m. The commission on inland money orders is:—For sums under 10s., 1d.; of 10s. and under £1, 2d.; and for every additional pound or fraction of a pound, 1d. No order is allowed to contain a fractional part of a penny, and the printed forms only should be used which are supplied gratuitously.

INTERNATIONAL MONEY ORDERS BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.—Offices have been selected in all the States and territories. No single order will be issued for more than 50 dols., but persons desiring to remit larger sums can obtain additional money orders. The rates of commission on these money orders will range from 0.25 on orders not exceeding 10 dols., to 1 dol. 25c. for over 40 dols. and not exceeding 50 dols.

For sums not exceeding	£2	£5	£7	£10
	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.	s. d.
If payable in Switzerland, Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Egypt, or at Malta, Gibraltar, or Constantinople ...	0	9	1	6
If payable in any other place abroad (including most of the colonies) authorised to transact money-order business with this country ...	1	0	2	0

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS.

Deposits of One Shilling, or of any number of shillings, or of pounds and shillings, may be made by any person at the Post-Office Savings Banks, provided that such depositor shall not make deposits amounting to more than £30 in any year ending Dec. 31, or make any further deposit when the amount standing in his name exceeds £150, exclusive of interest. When any depositor's principal and interest amount together to £300, all interest will cease.

GENERAL POSTAL UNION.

In accordance with the provisions of an international treaty concluded at Bern on Oct. 9 last, the whole of the States of Europe, the United States of America, and Egypt formed themselves into a General Postal Union for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence, and agree to adopt low and uniform rates of correspondence dispatched from one State of the Union to another. These provisions extend to letters, post cards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns of merchandise, and legal and commercial documents.

The following are the charges to the undermentioned places (otherwise than via France):—Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Egypt, Germany, Gibraltar, Greece, Heligoland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Roumania, Russia, Servia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, United States, Malta, Turkey, Canary Islands.—Letters, per ½ oz., 2½d.; post-cards, each, 1½d.; newspapers, per 4 oz., 1d.; printed papers, &c., per 2 oz., 1d. Upon letters posted unpaid double the above rates will be charged on delivery.

REGISTRATION.—Letters, post cards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents addressed to any of the above countries may be registered. The registration fee will be 4d. in all cases, which, in addition to the postage, must be prepaid. The transmission of letters containing gold or silver money, jewels or valuable articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, through the post to any of the countries and places named in the table is prohibited.

FOREIGN POST-CARDS.—The post-cards which have been manufactured for use in this country bear an impressed stamp of the value of 1½d. The additional postage, therefore, required in those cases where they will be forwarded via France must be prepaid by means of adhesive stamps to be affixed to the cards. On the front or stamped side of a post-card nothing must be written or printed except the address.

NEWSPAPERS.—The ordinary charge on a newspaper addressed to any country of the Union is 1d. per 4 oz. But, for the present, the charge on newspapers sent through France, except to Belgium, will be 2d. per 4 oz. In all cases the postage must be prepaid.

PRINTED PAPERS.—Under the term "Printed Papers" are comprehended stitched or bound books, pamphlets, music, visiting-cards, circulars, catalogues, prospectuses, announcements, and notices of various kinds, whether printed, engraved, or lithographed, as well as photographs. Printed papers must, as a rule, contain no writing, manuscript figure or mark whatever, beyond a simple stroke marking a particular passage of the text to which it is desired to call attention. But proofs of printing or of music may have corrections upon them made with a pen, and may have manuscripts not of the nature of a letter annexed to them, the corrections or manuscripts to relate exclusively to the text or the execution of the work. (Circulars, notices, &c., may bear the signature of the sender, with his trade or profession, and may also indicate the place of origin and the date. In the case of books, a manuscript dedication or a complimentary inscription from the author will be allowed. Stock or share-lists, prices current, and market reports, printed or lithographed, may have the prices added in writing or by means of any impression whatever.)

LEGAL AND COMMERCIAL DOCUMENTS.—Legal and commercial documents may be forwarded at the same charge as printed papers. Under the term "legal and commercial documents" are comprised Acts or deeds of all kinds drawn up by public functionaries and invoices, copies, or extracts.

PATTERNS OF MERCHANDISE.—Patterns or samples of merchandise may be forwarded at the same charges as printed papers to any part of the countries of the Union under the following conditions:—1. They must be placed in bags, or boxes, or in envelopes the fastenings of which are removable so as to admit of an easy examination. 2. The patterns and samples must not have any saleable value nor bear any MS. writing other than the name or the trade or profession of the sender, the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a trade mark, numbers, and prices.

NEW STAMP OF THE VALUE OF TWO-PENCE-HALF-PENNY.—For the convenience of persons corresponding with the countries of the Union, a new adhesive postage-stamp of the value of 2½d. has been issued, and may be procured at all post-offices.

Consequent on the conclusion of the postal union treaty and the general reduction of postage which that treaty authorises, the postage of correspondence addressed to the undermentioned countries, and which is almost exclusively forwarded through a State of the Union, is reduced as follows:—Hawann Islands—letters, 4d. per ½ oz.; newspapers, 2d. per 4 oz.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. per 2 oz. Tunis, via Belgium and Italy—letters, 3½d.; newspapers, 1d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 1d.; via France and Italy—letters, 5d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Montenegro—letters, 3d.; newspapers, 1½d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 1½d. Morocco, via Southampton and Gibraltar—letters, 2½d.; newspapers, 1d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 1d.; via France and Gibraltar—letters, 6d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Further, all letters, &c., for the following countries and places, when specially addressed, to be forwarded via the United States, or via Russia, will be liable to the reduced rates of postage here specified in each case:—Via the United States. Colon—letters, 5d. per ½ oz.; newspapers, 2d. per 4 oz.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. per 2 oz. Panama—letters, 5d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Costa Rica—letters, 5d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Nicaragua—letters, 5d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Cuba—letters, 3½d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Guatemala—letters, 7½d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Mexico—letters, 6d.; newspapers, 1½d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 1½d. Japan—letters, 10d.; newspapers, 3d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 3d. China—letters, 6d.; newspapers, 2d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Via Russia.—China (Kalgau, Peking, and Tien-Tan)—letters, 1s. 2½d.; newspapers, 4d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2½d. (Patterns cannot be sent to China via Russia.) China (Urga)—letters, 8½d.; newspapers, 2½d.; printed papers, patterns, and legal and commercial documents, 2d. Letters or other packets for Tunis, Montenegro, Colon, Panama, or Japan may be registered. On registered letters for Japan a fee of 8d. must be prepaid; on those for Colon or Panama a fee of 8d.; and on those for the other places mentioned a fee of 4d., in addition to the postage.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1877.

THE GREATER COUNTY LANDHOLDERS OF ENGLAND AND WALES.

"The Domesday Book," lately compiled and presented to Parliament, shows that there are nearly a million of freeholders in England; that there are 43,000 holding more than a hundred acres; and less than 280 owning 4,425,764 acres, or little less than one-sixth of the whole inclosed soil of England and Wales, which is calculated, excluding the metropolis, all roads, rivers, spaces like Stonehenge, and Crown lands, at 33,013,000 acres.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1877.

RENTAL PER ACRE OF OWNERS IN ENGLAND AND WALES.

The following table gives a summary of the average rental per acre each class of owners in England and Wales, exclusive of the metropolis:—

	Number.	Extent of Lands.	Gross Estimated Rental.	Average Rental per Acre of each Class.	Proportion p.c. of Land held by each Class.
Total No. of Owners of less than 1 acre	703 289	Acres. 151,171	£ 29,137,679	£ s. 192 14	5

50,000	100,000	8	194,930	188,747	0 19	5 6
100,000 and upwards	1	181,617	181,874	0 18	6
Areas not returned	6,445	—	2,831,452	—	—	—
Rentals not returned	113	1,424	—	—	—	—
Total	972,836	83,013,514	99,362,301	8 0	100

From these figures it will be seen that the holders of 100 and under 500 acres form the class which holds the largest proportion of the land; this class holds 6,827,347 acres, or about one fifth of the whole of England and Wales, exclusive of the metropolis, and a like proportion prevails more or less in thirty-six out of the fifty-four counties.

In looking at the details of each county, in respect of the distribution of land, it will be observed that the major part of the land is in the hands of a few owners; and, without going through the whole of the counties, we take the first three on the list, which, perhaps, may be considered an index to the others. In Bedfordshire 46 owners out of 7684 appear to hold 161,168 acres, which is more than one half of the area of the county; 77 owners out of 7240 in Berkshire hold 244,744 acres out of the 490,848 acres, the total of the county; and in Buckinghamshire 87 out of 9708 hold 245,408 acres, which is more than one half of the county.

There are considerable difficulties as regards the average rental per acre of the several classes in the same county, as well as the averages of the counties themselves, which will be seen by the following statement for the counties. The averages of a few of the counties are somewhat enhanced owing to the fact of some owners having been returned without the extent of their land, such, for instance, as Lancaster, Warwick, Stafford, Durham, &c.:

Counties.	Average Rental.	Counties.	Average Rental.

Mr. Henry Watts, F.R.S., £100, in consideration of his distinguished services in the cause of science.

The Rev. John George Wood, £100, in consideration of his services to literature.

THE NATIONAL DEBT.—From a Parliamentary return issued during the Session 1876, we learn that since the year 1857-8 the total reduction effected in the National Debt, taking into account the diminished capital value of the terminable annuities, has been £91,905,223. Of this reduction, slightly more than one half has been by means of terminable annuities. But during the same nineteen years new debt has been created to the amount of £28,656,441. The net reduction in the debt has, therefore, been £63,248,782. At the beginning of the period under review—that is, in 1857-8—the total amount of the National Debt was £839,519,328. The amount given for 1876 is £776,270,544. Of the new debt created, £20,119,302 is in stock or terminable annuities, and £8,537,139 is unfunded. The greater part of the new debt has been incurred for reproductive purposes. The unproductive debt for fortifications and army localisation is represented by £9,916,250 in stock or the equivalent of stock, and £2,037,183 unfunded, making together £11,953,433. The reproductive debt consists of the purchase money of the telegraphs and of the Suez Canal, and the loans advanced to local authorities. The telegraph stock amounts to £10,203,052; and the Exchequer Bonds issued last year for the purchase of the Suez Canal amounted to £2,900,000. These two items together make up £13,503,052, which, added to the unproductive debt, gives a total of £25,456,441. This leaves barely £38,000,000 as the debt incurred for advances to local authorities.

UNUSUAL SALMON SEASON.—July produce of the last six years:—Taking five weeks to each month, counting from Saturday to Saturday as the returns are given, the produce was, so far as the London markets indicate it is:—July, 1871, 14,180 boxes; 1872, 10,457; 1873, 16,257; 1874, 12,581; 1875, 9573; 1876, 15,251.

before sunrise; this interval gradually gets smaller and smaller each successive morning until the 10th, when it is 50m.; on the 20th it has decreased to 37m.; and by the last day to 27m., the planet rising on this day at 6h. 23m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 11th. She is due south on the 1st at 10h. 36m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 9m. a.m.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 3h. 50m. a.m., on the 10th at 3h. 45m. a.m., on the 20th at 3h. 36m. a.m., or 3h. 26m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 3h. 30m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 7th, and in his descending node on the 22nd. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 54m. a.m., on the 14th at 7h. 39m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 23m. a.m.

JUPITER is a morning star, and rises on the 1st at 4h. 58m. a.m., on the 10th at 4h. 29m. a.m., on the 20th at 3h. 57m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 34m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 8th and 9th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 53m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 9m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 26m. a.m.

SATURN is an evening star till the end of the month, setting on the 1st at 7h. 2m. p.m., or 2h. 15m. after sunset; this interval rapidly decreases to 1h. 30m. by the 10th, and to 39m. by the 20th, the planet setting at 6h. 0m.

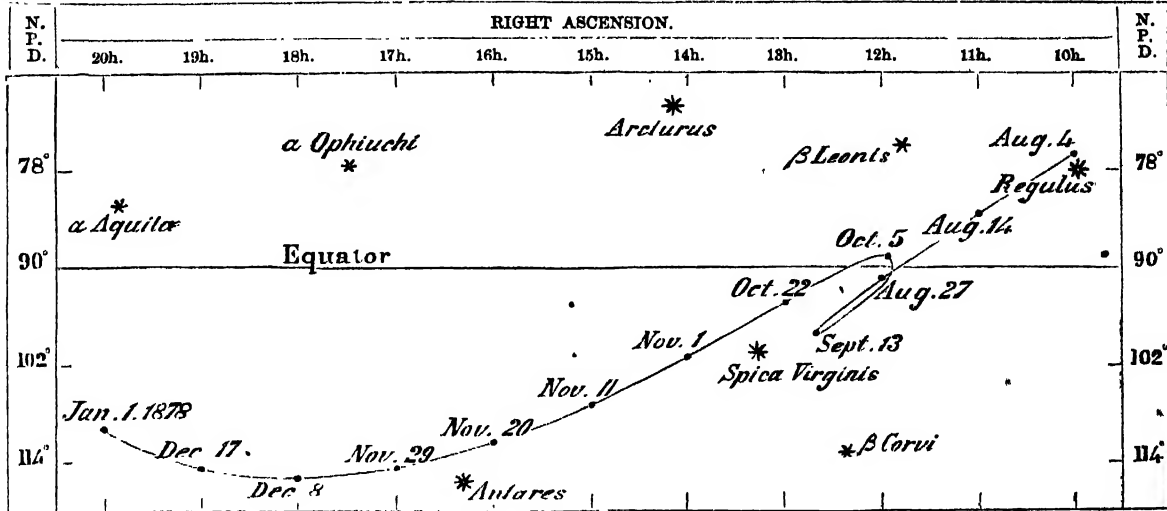

p.m.; on the last day of the month he sets at nearly the time of sunset; and from March 1 to Sept. 9 he sets in daylight. He is near the Moon on the 14th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 51m. p.m., on the 14th at 1h. 6m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 17m. p.m.

MARCH.

THE MOON, on the morning of the 8th, will be very near both to Jupiter and Mars, she being a little south of those planets, to the left of Jupiter and to the right of Mars till a little after six o'clock, when the Moon and Mars will be at their nearest approach. She is near Mercury and Venus on the morning of the 18th, and near Saturn on the morning of the 14th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter on the	8th	at 1 minute after 10h.	in the afternoon.
New Moon	"	15th	" 54 " 2h. " morning.
First Quarter	"	22nd	" 9 " 1h. " afternoon.
Full Moon	"	29th	" 49 " 5h. " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 26th, and furthest from it on the afternoon of the 10th.

PATH OF MERCURY FROM 1877, AUGUST 4, TO 1878, JANUARY 1.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 6h. 4m. a.m., or 42m. before sunrise; on the 7th at 6h. 3m. a.m., or 33m. before sunrise; this interval gradually decreases to 25m. by the 12th, to 10m. by the 17th, to 10m. by the 22nd, and to 7m. by the 27th, the planet rising on this day at 5h. 43m. a.m. He is in aphelion on the 3rd, near the Moon on the 13th, near Saturn on the 19th, and near Venus on the 26th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 6h. 21m. a.m.; on the 12th at 6h. 6m. a.m., on the 22nd at 5h. 49m. a.m.; and on the last day at 5h. 32m. a.m., being 25m., 18m., and 9m. respectively before sunrise on each of these mornings. She is in aphelion on the 7th, near the Moon on the 13th, and near Saturn on the 16th. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 10m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 32m. a.m.

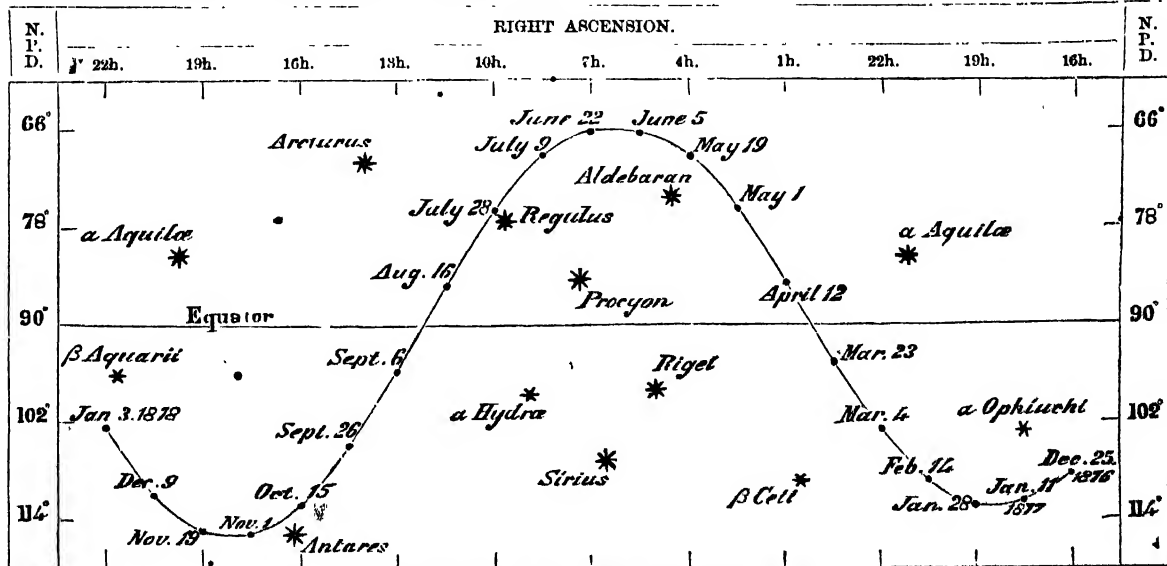

MARS is a morning star. The following are the times of the rising of this planet at ten-day intervals throughout the month:—On the 2nd at 3h. 29m. a.m., on the 12th at 3h. 18m. a.m., on the 22nd at 3h. 5m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 52m. a.m. He is near Jupiter on the 1st and near the Moon on the 8th. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 22m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 7m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 49m. a.m.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 3h. 24m. a.m., or 3h. 22m. before sunrise; on the 12th at 2h. 50m. a.m., or 3h. 34m. before the Sun; on the 22nd at 2h. 15m. a.m., or 3h. 46m. before sunrise; and on the last day he rises at 1h. 43m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 8th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 22nd. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 24m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 36m. a.m., and on the 31st at 5h. 38m. a.m.

SATURN rises on the 1st at the same time as the Sun; on the 12th at 6h. 17m. a.m., or 7m. before sunrise; on the 22nd at 5h. 8m. a.m., or 22m. before sunrise; and on the last day of the month at 5h. 6m. a.m., or 35m. before the Sun. He is near the Sun on the 1st, and near the Moon on the 14th. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 14m. p.m., on the 15th at 11h. 25m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 29m. a.m.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1877.

APRIL.

THE MOON is near Jupiter on the morning of the 4th and 5th. She is close to Mars on the morning of the 6th, is near Saturn on the mornings of the 10th and 11th, near Venus on the morning of the 13th, and Mercury on the morning of the 14th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter	on the 5th	at 80 minutes after 4h.	in the afternoon.
New Moon	" 13th	" 50 "	" 5h. " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 20th	" 87 "	" 7h. " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 27th	" 39 "	" 4h. " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 22nd, and furthest from it at noon on the 7th.

MERCURY rises nearly at the same time as the Sun on the 1st, and from this day to May 31 he rises in daylight. He sets at about the same time as the Sun on the 6th, 33m. after sunset on the 11th, 1h. 8m. after sunset on the 16th, 1h. 34m. after sunset on the 21st, and at 6h. 14m. p.m., or 2h. 1m. after sunset on the 26th, and this planet is favourably situated for observation. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, in his ascending node on the 11th, near the Moon on the 14th, and in perihelion on the 16th.

VENUS is still a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h. 30m. a.m., or 8m. before the Sun; on the 11th at 5h. 10m. a.m., or 5m. before sunrise; on the 21st at 4h. 52m. a.m., or 3m. only before the Sun; on the last day the planet and Sun rise nearly together; from this day to the end of the year she rises in daylight. She is near the Moon on the 13th. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 32m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 52m. a.m.

MARS is still a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h. 50m. a.m., or 2h. 48m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 2h. 32m. a.m., or 2h. 43m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 2h. 13m. a.m., or 2h. 42m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 1h. 53m. a.m., or 2h. 44m. before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 6th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 24th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 48m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 31m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 11m. a.m.

JUPITER is a morning star. He rises on the 1st at 1h. 39m. a.m., or 4h. before the Sun; on the 11th at 1h. 1m. a.m., on the 21st at 0h. 22m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 42m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 20th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 36m. a.m., on the 15th at 4h. 42m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 42m. a.m.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h. 2m. a.m., or 38m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 4h. 25m. a.m., or 50m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 3h. 47m. a.m., or 1h. 8m. before the Sun; and on the last day at 3h. 14m. a.m., or 1h. 23m. before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 10th. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 26m. a.m., in the middle of the month at 9h. 36m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 43m. a.m.

MAY.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 2nd, near Mars on the morning hours of the 5th, near Saturn on the morning of the 8th; she is near Venus during the evening hours of the 13th, near Mercury on the 14th, and near Jupiter again during the early morning hours of the 29th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter	on the 5th	at 19 minutes after 11h.	in the morning.
New Moon	" 13th	" 29 "	" 5 " morning.
First Quarter	" 20th	" 56 "	" 0 " morning.
Full Moon	" 27th	" 5 "	" 4 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 17th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 5th.

MERCURY at the beginning of this month is the most favourably situated for observation during the year. He sets on the 1st at 9h. 33m. p.m., on the 2nd at 9h. 35m. p.m., on the 3rd at 9h. 36m. p.m., on the 4th at 9h. 38m. p.m., and on the 5th at 9h. 39m. p.m., or 2h. 12m. after sunset on each of these days; on the 6th at 9h. 38m. p.m., or 2h. 9m. after sunset. This interval gradually decreases to 1h. 54m. by the 11th, to 1h. 21m. by the 16th, to 41m. by the 21st; the planet setting on these days at 9h. 30m. p.m., 9h. 5m. p.m.,

PATH OF MARS FROM 1876, NOVEMBER 7, TO 1878, JULY 12.

and 8h. 32m. p.m. On the 25th the planet and Sun set nearly together; from May 26 to July 18 he sets in daylight. He rises at the same time as the Sun on the last day. He is at his greatest eastern elongation (20 deg. 56 min.) on the 3rd, near the Moon on the 14th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 15th, in his descending node on the 20th, near Venus on the 23rd, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 26th, and in aphelion on the 30th.

VENUS sets on the 9th at nearly the same time as the Sun; on the 21st at 8h. 12m. p.m., or 21m. after sunset, and on the last day at 8h. 39m. p.m., or 36m. after sunset. She is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 7th, near the Moon on the 13th, and in her ascending node on the 25th. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 52m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 26m. p.m.

MARS is a morning star, and rises on the 1st at 5h. 50m. a.m., on the 11th at 1h. 28m. a.m., on the 21st at 1h. 3m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 30m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 48m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 49m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 23m. a.m.

JUPITER rises on the 1st at 1h. 38m. p.m., on the 10th at 1h. 1m. p.m., on the 20th at 10h. 16m. p.m., on the 30th at 9h. 36m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, and again on the 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 38m. a.m., on the 15th at 2h. 40m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 31m. a.m.

SATURN is a morning star, and rises on the 1st at 5h. 10m. a.m., or 1h. 44m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 2h. 32m. a.m., or 1h. 45m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 1h. 53m. a.m., or 2h. 36m. before sunrise; and on the last day of the month at 1h. 16m. a.m., or 2h. 36m. before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 6th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 39m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 45m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 49m. a.m.

JUNE.

THE MOON will be situated a little to the east of Mars during the morning hours of the 3rd, near Saturn on the morning of the 5th, near Mercury on the morning of the 10th, near Venus during the morning and evening hours of the 12th, and near Jupiter during the night common to the 24th and 25th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter	on the 4th	at 11 minutes after 5h.	in the morning.
New Moon	" 11th	" 32 "	" 2 " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 18th	" 24 "	" 6 " morning.
Full Moon	" 25th	" 53 "	" 4 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth at about midnight on the 13th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 2nd; and again on the afternoon of the 29th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 5th at 3h. 33m. a.m., or 16m. before the Sun; on the 10th at 3h. 15m. a.m., or 31m. before sunrise; on the 15th at 3h. 0m. a.m., or 44m. before sunrise; on the 20th at 2h. 46m. a.m., or 59m. before the Sun; on the 25th at 2h. 34m. a.m., or 1h. 8m. before the Sun; and on the last day at 2h. 36m. a.m., or 1h. 18m. before sunrise. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 7th; near the Moon on the 10th; and at his greatest western elongation (22 deg. 20 min.) on the 21st.

VENUS is an evening star. The following are the times of setting of this planet at intervals of ten days throughout the month:—1st at 8h. 42m. p.m., 10th at 9h. 2m. p.m., 20th at 9h. 15m. p.m., and the last day at 9h. 18m. p.m., or 1h. after the Sun has set. She is near the Moon on the 12th, and in perihelion on the 27th. She is due south on the 1st at 0h. 27m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 8m. p.m.

MARS rises on the 1st at 0h. 36m. a.m., on the 10th at 0h. 13m. a.m., on the 14th at midnight, on the 19th at 1h. 45m. p.m., and on the 29th at 1h. 17m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 21m. a.m., on the 15th at 4h. 55m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 22m. a.m.

JUPITER rises on the 1st at 9h. 27m. p.m.; on the 9th at 8h. 51m. p.m., or 39m. after sunset. On the 17th the planet rises at nearly the same time as the Sun sets, and from the 18th of June till the end of the year he rises in daylight. He sets at nearly the time of sunrise on the 22nd, and at about 30m. before sunrise at the end of the month. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 19th (at midnight), and near the Moon on the 24th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 26m. a.m.; on the 15th at 0h. 24m. a.m.; and on the last day at 11h. 12m. p.m.

SATURN. The following are the times of rising of this planet on every ten days throughout the month:—1st at 1h. 12m. a.m., 10th at 0h. 88m. a.m., 19th at 1h. 59m. p.m., and 29th at 1h. 20m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 10th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 46m. a.m.; on the 15th at 6h. 52m. a.m.; and on the last day at 4h. 54m. a.m.

JULY.

THE MOON is near Mars on the mornings of the 1st and 2nd, being west of the planet on the 1st and east of him on the 2nd; she is near Saturn also on the morning of the 2nd, the nearest approach being at 6h. a.m.; near Mercury on the 10th, near Venus on the evening of the 12th, and near Jupiter during the night common to the 20th and 21st. During the night hours of the 28th and morning hours of the 29th the Moon is situated to the right of both the planets Saturn and Mars, the distance decreasing as the night advances; and during the night hours of the 29th and morning hours of the 30th she is situated to the left of both these planets, the distance increasing as the night advances; the planet Saturn is the higher of the two planets. Her phases or times of change are:—

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1877.

Last Quarter on the 3rd at 2 minutes after 9h. in the afternoon.
New Moon " 10th " 6 " 10 " afternoon.
First Quarter " 17th " 13 " 1 " afternoon.
Full Moon " 25th " 20 " 7 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 12th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 27th.

MERCURY rises on the 5th at 2h. 43m. a.m., or 1h. 9m. before sunrise, which interval slowly decreases to 57m. on the 10th, to 36m. on the 15th, and to 6m. on the 20th, the planet rising on this day at 4h. 2m. a.m. On the 21st the planet and Sun rise together, and from July 22 to Sept. 27 he rises in daylight. He sets with the Sun on the 17th, at 8h. 16m. p.m. on the 20th, at 8h. 25m. p.m. on the 25th, and at 8h. 26m. p.m., or 87m. after sunset, on the 30th. He is in his ascending node on the 8th, near the Moon on the 10th, in perihelion on the 18th, and in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 20th.

VENUS is an evening star, and sets on the 1st at 9h. 18m. p.m., on the 10th at 9h. 14m. p.m., on the 20th at 9h. 4m. p.m., and on the 30th at 8h. 49m. p.m., being one hour after sunset on each of these evenings throughout the month. She is near the Moon on the 12th. She is due south on the 1st at 1h. 9m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 39m. p.m.

MARS rises on the 9th at 10h. 46m. p.m., or 2h. 32m. after sunset; on the 19th at 10h. 15m. p.m., or 2h. 10m. after sunset; and on the 29th at 9h. 43m. p.m., or 1h. 53m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 1st, near Saturn on the 27th, and again near the Moon on the 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 20m. a.m., on the 15th at 3h. 43m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 52m. a.m.

JUPITER sets on the 1st at 3h. 7m. a.m., or 43m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 2h. 23m. a.m., or 1h. 35m. before sunrise; on the 21st at 1h. 59m. a.m., or 2h. 30m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 0h. 56m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 8m. p.m., on the 15th at 10h. 8m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 57m. p.m.

SATURN rises on the 9th at 10h. 42m. p.m., or 2h. 28m. after sunset; on the 19th at 10h. 2m. p.m., or 1h. 58m. after sunset; on the 29th at 9h. 22m. p.m., or 1h. 38m. after sunset; and he rises on the last day of the month at 9h. 14m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 2nd, and again near the Moon on the 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 50m. a.m., on the 15th at 3h. 55m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 50m. a.m.

AUGUST.

THE MOON is near Mercury and Venus on the evening of the 10th, near Jupiter during the evenings of the 17th and 18th, and near Saturn and Mars during the night of the 23th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter on the 2nd at 21 minutes after 10h. in the morning.
New Moon " 9th " 17 " 5 " morning.
First Quarter " 15th " 28 " 10 " afternoon.
Full Moon " 23rd " 11 " 11 " afternoon.
Last Quarter " 31st " 15 " 9 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 9th, and furthest from it on the morning of the 23rd.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 4th at 8h. 23m. p.m., on the 9th at 8h. 16m. p.m., on the 14th at 8h. 7m. p.m., on the 19th at 7h. 54m. p.m., on the 24th at 7h. 40m. p.m., and on the 29th at 7h. 25m. p.m.; being 42m., 44m., 44m., 41m., 37m., and 32m. respectively after sunset on these evenings. He is near the Moon on the 10th, in his descending node on the 16th, in aphelion on the 26th, and at his greatest eastern elongation 27 deg. 5 min. on the last day.

PATH OF JUPITER FROM 1876, DECEMBER 30, TO 1877, DECEMBER 29.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 9th at 8h. 30m. p.m., or 58m. after sunset, on the 19th at 8h. 10m. p.m., or 57m. after sunset; and on the 29th at 7h. 48m. p.m., or 55m. after sunset. She is near the Moon on the 10th. She is due south on the 1st at 1h. 40m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 55m. p.m.

MARS rises on the 8th at 9h. 5m. p.m., or 1h. 31m. after sunset, which interval decreases to 1h. 11m. by the 18th, and to 50m. by the 28th, the planet rising on these last two named days at 8h. 20m. p.m. and 7h. 45m. p.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 7th, in perihelion on the 21st, near the Moon on the 25th, and near Saturn on the 26th. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 46m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 57m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 38m. a.m.

JUPITER is an evening star from the 11th. He sets on the 1st at 0h. 52m. a.m., on the 10th at 0h. 15m. a.m., on the 19th at 11h. 35m. p.m., and on the 29th at 10h. 56m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 20th. He is due south at 8h. 53m. p.m. on the 1st, at 7h. 56m. p.m. on the 15th, and at 6h. 54m. p.m. on the last day.

SATURN rises on the 8th at 8h. 42m. p.m., or 1h. 10m. after sunset; on the 18th at 8h. 2m. p.m., or 49m. after sunset, on the 28th at 7h. 21m. p.m., or 28m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 25th. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 46m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 48m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 41m. a.m.

SEPTEMBER.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 9th, near Venus on the evening of the 9th, and near Jupiter on the nights of the 14th and 15th. She is near Mars during the night hours of the 20th and morning hours of the 21st, and near Saturn during the night hours of the 21st and morning hours of the 22nd. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the 7th at 0 minutes after 1h. in the afternoon.
First Quarter " 14th " 8 " 11 " morning.
Full Moon " 22nd " 35 " 3 " afternoon.
Last Quarter " 30th " 20 " 6 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the evening of the 6th, and furthest from it on the afternoon of the 19th.

MERCURY sets on the 3rd at 7h. 8m. p.m., or 26m. after sunset; on the 8th at 6h. 49m. p.m., or 20m. after the Sun; on the 18th at 6h. 29m. p.m., or 11m. after sunset; on the 18th the planet and Sun set nearly together, and from Sept. 19 to Nov. 20 he sets in daylight. He rises nearly at the same time as the Sun on the 27th, and a few minutes before sunrise at the end of the month. He is near the Moon on the 9th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 18th, and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 26th.

VENUS is an evening star, and sets on the 8th at 7h. 20m. p.m., or 57m. after sunset, this interval increases very slowly as the month advances, on the 18th it is 59m., and on the 28th 1h. 3m., the planet setting on this day at 6h. 48m. p.m. She is near the Moon on the 8th, and in her descending node on the 18th. She is due south on the 1st at 1h. 50m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 12m. p.m.

MARS rises at 6h. 53m. p.m., or 24m. after sunset, on the 8th; and the planet rises at the same time as the Sun sets on the 18th; from the 19th till the end of the year he rises in daylight. He sets at nearly the same time as the Sun rises on the 6th, at 4h. 59m. a.m. on the 9th, at 4h. 1m. a.m. on the 19th, and at 3h. 16m. a.m., or 2h. 42m. before sunrise, on the 29th. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 5th (at midnight), and near the Moon on the 21st. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 33m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 18m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 9m. p.m.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting at 10h. 49m. p.m. on the 1st, at 10h. 18m. p.m. on the 8th, at 9h. 42m. p.m. on the 18th, and at 9h. 7m. p.m. on the 28th. He is near the Moon on the 14th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 50m. p.m., on the 15th at 5h. 58m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 6m. p.m.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 8h. 40m. p.m., or 11m. after sunset; on the 18th he rises at the time of sunset, and from the 14th till the end of the year he rises in daylight. He sets at about the time of sunrise on the 9th, at 4h. 46m. a.m. on the 19th, and at 4h. 2m. a.m. on the 29th. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 9th, and near the Moon on the 21st. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 37m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 34m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 31m. p.m.

OCTOBER.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 5th, and near Venus on the 9th. She is near and to the west of Jupiter during the evening hours of the 11th, and to the east of the planet during the evening hours of the 12th. She is near Mars during the night hours of the 17th and 18th, and near Saturn during the evening and night hours of the 18th; the nearest approach will be at 7h. p.m. Her phases or times of change are:—

AN ASKENAZIM. BY CARL HAAG.
FROM "THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS."

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1877.

New Moon	on the 6th	at 58 minutes after 9h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 14th	" 42	" 3 " morning.
Full Moon	" 22nd	" 81	" 7 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 29th	" 21	" 2 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 5th, and furthest from it on morning of the 17th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 3rd at 4h. 58m. a.m. on the 8th at 4h. 34m. a.m., on the 13th at 4h. 35m. a.m., on the 18th at 4h. 53m. a.m., on the 23rd at 5h. 19m. a.m., and on the 28th at 5h. 46m. a.m.; or being 1h. 7m., 1h. 40m., 1h. 47m., 1h. 37m., 1h. 18m., and 1h. 2m. respectively before sunrise on these mornings. He is in his ascending node on the 4th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 6th, and near the Moon on the same day; in perihelion on the 9th, and at his greatest western elongation (18 deg. 2 min.) on the 12th.

VENUS is still an evening star, setting on the 8th at 6h. 32m. p.m., or 1h. 10m. after the Sun; on the 18th at 6h. 23m. p.m., or 1h. 23m. after sunset; and on the 28th at 6h. 19m. p.m., or 1h. 40m. after sunset. She is near the Moon on the 9th, and in apheleon on the 18th. She is due south on the 1st at 2h. 18m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 25m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 43m. p.m.

Mars sets on the 9th at 2h. 36m. a.m., on the 19th at 2h. 8m. a.m., on the 29th at 1h. 44m. a.m. He crosses the meridian or is due south on the 1st at 10h. 5m. p.m., on the 15th at 9h. 10m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 13m. p.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 5th, and near the Moon on the 18th.

JUPITER is an evening star, and sets on the 1st at 8h 57m p.m., on the 8th at 8h. 33m. p.m., on the 18th at 7h 59m p.m., and on the 28th at 7h. 27m. p.m., or 2h. 48m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 11th, and in his descending node on the 24th. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 2m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 24m. p.m.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 8h. 54m. a.m., on the 9th at 8h. 20m. a.m., on the 19th at 4h. 38m. a.m., on the 29th at 1h. 56m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 44m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 26m. p.m., on the 15th at 9h. 28m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 28m. p.m.

NOVEMBER.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 6th, Venus on the 8th, and near Jupiter on the evening of the 9th. She is near Saturn on the evening and night hours of the 14th, being situated to the west of the planet; and also on the night hours of the 15th, being situated to the east of Saturn. She is near Mars on the nights of the 14th and 15th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the	5th	at 48 minutes after	8h.	in the morning.
First Quarter	12th	" 44	11	" afternoon.
Full Moon	" 20th	" 19	10	" afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 27th	" 5	10	" afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 2nd, and again on the evening of the 27th, and furthest from it on the evening of the 13th.

MERCURY rises on the 2nd at 6h. 15m. a.m., or 41m. before the Sun; on the 7th at 6h. 44m. a.m., or 22m. before sunrise. On the 13th the planet and Sun rise nearly together; from the 14th to the end of the year he rises in daylight. He sets with the Sun on the 20th; at 4h. 10m. p.m., or 14m. after sunset, on the 27th; and at 4h. 13m. p.m., or 10m. after the Sun, on the last day. He is near the Moon on the 6th; in his descending node on the 12th; in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 18th; and in aphelion on the 22nd.

JESUS is an evening star, setting on the 7th at 6h 35m. p.m., or 2h. 2m.

PATH OF SATURN FROM 1877, FEBRUARY 26, TO 1878, MARCH 13.

after sunset, which interval gradually increases night by night till on the 17th, when 2h. 25m. is reached, and further to 3h. 3m. by the 27th, the planet setting on this day at 6h. 59m. p.m. She is near the Moon on the 8th, and near Jupiter on the 10th. She is due south on the 1st at 2h. 44m. p.m., and on the last day at 3h. 14m. p.m.

Dr. Farrar's Life of Christ.

Now Ready, Part I., Price Sevenpence.

(TO BE COMPLETED IN 24 PARTS.)

The following is an Extract from the Review of Dr. FARRAR'S LIFE OF CHRIST, which appeared in the "TIMES" of June 22, 1874 :—

"The scenes amidst which Christ's life was passed are described with great vividness of illustration, and we are enabled to follow Him, as it were, from day to day in the laborious work of His ministry. Dr. Farrar assumes the usual Christian interpretation, and his book is the most brilliant and learned exposition of it which is accessible to the modern English reader. It is full of passages not merely of beauty, but of nobility of sentiment; and an author must command attention who can describe the influence of the Cross in such a passage as the following :—

The effects, then, of the work of Christ are even to the unbeliever indisputable and historical. It expelled cruelty; it curbed passion; it branded suicide; it punished and repressed an execrable infanticide, it drove the shameless impurities of heathendom into a congenial darkness. There was hardly a class whose wrongs it did not remedy. It rescued the gladiator; it freed the slave; it protected the captive; it nursed the sick; it sheltered the orphan; it elevated the woman; it shrouded as with a halo of sacred innocence the tender years of the child. In every region of life its ameliorating influence was felt. It changed pity from a vice into a virtue. It elevated poverty from a curse into a beatitude. It ennobled labour from a vulgarity into a dignity and a duty. It sanctified marriage from little more than a burdensome convention into little less than a blessed sacrament. It revealed for the first time the angelic beauty of a Purity of which men had despaired, and of a Meekness at which they had utterly scoffed. It created the very conception of charity, and broadened the limits of its obligations from the narrow circle of a neighbourhood to the widest horizons of the race. And without thus evolved the idea of Humanity as a common brotherhood, even where its tidings were not believed—all over the world, wherever its tidings were believed, it cleansed the life and elevated the soul of each individual man.

"There is a great demand in the present day for books which will furnish serious and at the same time interesting matter, and orthodox writers can render few better services to their faith than by presenting its familiar facts and truths in forms which will attract the perusal of all thoughtful or cultivated minds. Dr. Farrar's work is an eminent example of an effort of this character. Few who commence it will fail to be carried on by the interest of the narrative; and we commend it to the best attention of our readers."

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

14 bis, B.—A full deep Corset, especially for ladies inclined to embonpoint. The Swanbill is most effective in reducing the figure and keeping the form flat, so as to enable ladies to wear the fashionable vêtements of the day; busk, 13½ in. long. Price 14s. 6d. Finest Quality, 21s. Scarlet, 18s. 6d.

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

20 bis, B.—A shorter Corset than the former, with busk of similar shape, but intended for ladies who do not require so deep a Corset; busk, 11 in. long. Price 14s. 6d.

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

70 bis, A.—“For a summer corset none will be found better for India. The Swanbill regulates and controls the figure without pressure. By its invaluable aid the form is reduced and kept flat, and the cuirass corsege can be worn over this corset without a wrinkle.”—Myra's Journal. Busk, 13 in. long. Price 21s.

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

51 bis.—Hand made. Perfect in shape, and producing even in indifferent figures—that graceful contour which is the distinguishing feature of the present style of dress; busk, 13 in. long. Price 14s. 6d.

FRENCH CORSET (18 bis, M), “THE MAINTENON” (Registered).

unbreakable busks; fine texture, superbly made, firmly boned, and well suited for ladies of ordinary figure; length of busk, 13 in. Price 14s. 6d.

FRENCH CORSET (20 bis, M), Registered.—“THE MAINTENON” (Registered).

unbreakable busks, admirably made, deeper than the preceding one; finest texture manufactured, richly embroidered, firmly boned, perfectly adapted to develop and preserve a graceful figure; length of busk, 12½ in. 18s. 6d. With Swanbill busk, 21s.

Send size of waist with P.O. Order to prevent delay and inconvenience.

SOUS LA DIRECTION D'UNE SUPERINTENDANTE PARISIENNE.

CAUTION.—“I must caution Ladies against accepting any other Corsets as ‘Swanbill’ than those supplied from 37, Piccadilly, as the imitations are as numerous as they are inferior to the real Swanbill.”—The Silkworm.

IMPORTANT TO ALL.

As a means of keeping the system clear, and thus taking away the groundwork of Malarious Diseases and all Liver Complaints, is particularly valuable. No Traveller should leave home without a supply; for by its use the most dangerous forms of Fever, Gouty, Rheumatic, and other Blood Poisons, very frequently causing Apoplexy, Heart Disease, and sudden death, &c., are prevented and cured. It is, in truth, a FAMILY MEDICINE CHIEF in the simplest yet most potent form.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

The FRUIT SALT acts as simply yet just as powerfully on the animal system as sunshine does on the vegetable world; it has a natural action on the organs of digestion, absorption, circulation, respiration, secretion, and excretion, and removes all impurities, thus preserving and restoring health.

Also as a Refreshing, Cooling, and Invigorating Beverage, use

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

PREPARED ONLY BY

J. C. ENO, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

May be had through any Chemist, as all Wholesale Houses keep it in Stock.

A gentleman states:—In cases of bilious headaches, followed by severe attacks of fever, ENO'S FRUIT SALT has acted like a charm when all other treatments have failed. The day is not far distant when the neglect of its use in all fevers and diseases resulting from poisoned blood will be considered as criminal. See "Stomach and its Trials," 10th Edition, post-free for 14 stamps.

Messrs. Gibson and Son, Chemists, of Hexham, writing for a further supply of the Fruit Salt, say:—"Since we introduced your Fruit Salt in Hexham, a few months ago, we have sold above one thousand bottles, and it gives general satisfaction, as customers who get it almost always recommend it to their friends. We have had numerous instances of its efficacy in the cure of Bilious Headaches and Stomach Complaints. It has had a greater sale than any other proprietary medicine that we know of."

"Your Fruit Salt is beyond all praise. I wish you would sell it here. It would make its own way by its own merit."

"20, Old State House, Boston, U.S.A. Nov. 6, 1875."

"T. A. SOMERBY, Councillor-at-Law."

"After suffering for nearly two and a half years from severe headache and disordered stomach, and trying almost everything, and spending a vast amount of money to no purpose, as I found nothing doing me any good, I was recommended by a friend to try your Fruit Salt. I did so, and before I finished one bottle I found it doing me a great deal of good, and now am restored to my usual health. Others that have tried it through my recommendation inform me that they have not enjoyed such good health for years as they have done since using it."

"Post Office, Barrasford."

With each Bottle of ENO'S FRUIT SALT is wrapped a large Illustrated Sheet, showing how to prevent or stamp-out TYPHOID, SCARLET FEVER, and many other Diseases. The information is invaluable.

FRY'S COCOA.

FRY'S CARACAS COCOA.

In Half-pound and Quarter-pound Packets. 1s. 4d. per lb.

Prepared with Caracas and other choice growths of Cocoa, selected for their excellent qualities and aromatic flavour, producing a really delicious and refreshing beverage.

Purchasers should ask specially for "Fry's Caracas Cocoa," to distinguish it from other Cocoas manufactured by the firm.

"A most delicious and valuable article."—"Standard."

FRY'S EXTRACT OF COCOA.

In Packets, 6d. each and Tins, 1s. and 2s. each.

The pure Cocoa Nib deprived of the superfluous oil. "Than which, if properly prepared, there is no nicer or more wholesome preparation of Cocoa."—"Food, Water, and Air," Edited by Dr. Hassall.

FRY'S HOMŒOPATHIC COCOA.

In Half-pound and Quarter-pound Packets, and One-pound Tins.

This Cocoa is highly approved and strongly recommended by many eminent members of the Medical Profession, and is an article equally adapted for those under Homœopathic treatment, for invalids, and for general consumers.

FRY'S CHOCOLATE CREAMS

ARE DELICIOUS SWEETMEATS.

J. S. FRY & SONS, BRISTOL AND LONDON.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

should always be used when children are cutting teeth ; it relieves the little sufferers at once, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world, at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle ; and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue.

Manufactory, 493, Oxford-street, London.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world ; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalculæ," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke : being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the toothbrush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly each morning if only left to their own choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the toothbrush too young ; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. FLORILINE is prepared only by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London, and sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world, at 2s. 6d. per bottle. "Floriline" Powder put up in large glass jars, price 1s.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES,

for the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH, or any irritation or soreness of the Throat, are now imported and sold in this Country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box, put up in the form of a "lozenge." It is the most convenient, pleasant, safe, and sure remedy for clearing and strengthening the voice known in the world. The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says :—"I have often recommended them to friends who were public speakers, and in many cases they have proved extremely serviceable." The genuine have the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" on the Government Stamp around each Box. Sold by all Medicine Vendors throughout the world. London Dépôt, 493, Oxford-street.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.

If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON.

Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere. Price 3s. 6d.

KINAHAN and CO. find that, through the recommendation of the Medical Profession, the demand for their CELEBRATED OLD LL WHISKY for purely Medicinal Purposes is very great. They think it will be satisfactory to the Public to read the following EXTRACTS OF THE ANALYSIS of the LL Whisky from the eminent Analyst, Dr. Arthur Hill Hassall:—

"I have very carefully and fully analysed Samples of this well-known and popular Whisky. The samples were soft and mellow to the taste, aromatic and ethereal to the smell. The Whisky must be pronounced to be pure, well-matured, and of very excellent quality. The Medical Profession may feel full confidence in the purity and quality of this Whisky."

UNIVERSAL MAGIC PURIFYING DROPS.

It is almost as great a madness for a captain to proceed to sea without a compass as to sail without a good supply of this matchless medicine. The unrivalled position it has obtained in public estimation, also in the Army and Navy, stamps this panacea as one of the wonders of the nineteenth century. At this season of the year the necessity of a healthy state of the blood cannot be too deeply impressed on the mind. Prices, 4s. 6d., 11s., and 38s. per case. Prepared only at Messrs. ## PECTORINE.

The Marvellous Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, and all Chest, Throat, and Lung Affections.

From the Rev. J. Stonehouse, St. Saviour's Vicarage, Nottingham.
August, 1874.

DEAR SIR,—I can strongly recommend your PECTORINE as an invaluable Cough Remedy. I have given it a fair trial in my own family, and have also supplied it to persons suffering from Cough in my parish, and in every instance it has given immediate relief. In some cases, after passing sleepless nights, one or two doses of the PECTORINE have had such a good effect that persons have got a good night's rest, and the Cough has speedily disappeared.
St. Saviour's Vicarage, Nottingham. I am, dear Sir, yours truly, J. STONEHOUSE.

Sold by all Chemists, in Bottles, at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each.
Sent by the Proprietors upon receipt of Stamps.

Prepared only by SMITH and CLARKE,
Manufacturing Chemists, Park-street, Lincoln.

* * Vice-Chancellor Sir G. Hall granted a perpetual injunction, with costs, against F. Mason, Chemist, Rotherham, for using the word "Pectorine."

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE

is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered. is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma. effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague. acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms. is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, Dec. 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manila to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the only remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—"Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to."—See "Times," July 12, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1d., 2s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine without the words, "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

REMEMBER LAMPLOUGH'S

PYRETIC SALINE.

AND HAVE IT IN YOUR HOUSES.

It is most invigorating, Vitalising, and Refreshing. Gives Instant Relief in HEADACHES, SEA or BILIOUS SICKNESS, and Quickly Cures the Worst Form of ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS. The various diseases arising from Climatic causes, Constipation, the Liver, or blood impurities, Inoculation, the Results of Breathing Air Infected with Fever, Measles, or SMALLPOX, are frequently prevented and these diseases cured by its use.

ANY PERSON WHO HAS ALREADY SMALLPOX should take it, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent its leaving any trace on the features.

The numerous statements and letters relating to its marvellous effect, as a positive cure in TYPHUS, SCARLET FEVER, SMALLPOX, and other BLOOD POISONS, are most remarkable, and are painfully suggestive of great neglect, whenever the PYRETIC SALINE is not employed in these diseases.

"It furnishes the Blood with its lost Saline constituents."—DR. MORGAN, M.D., &c.

The late DR. TURLEY states in his letters and lectures:—"I found it act as a specific in the worst form of Scarlet Fever, NO OTHER Medicine being given."

NOTICE MY TRADE MARK AND NAME, AS ABOVE, ON A BUFF-COLOURED WRAPPER, ON WHICH ALONE DEPENDENCE CAN BE PLACED.

BROWN & POLSON'S CORN FLOUR

AFFORDS ALL THE ESSENTIALS OF A PERFECT DIET.

Complaints are occasionally made that families ordering BROWN & POLSON'S Corn Flour are supplied with some other kind, either without remark, or with some evasive explanation. The only reason for such substitution is that an extra profit attaches to the sale of others. BROWN & POLSON therefore trust that those who have proved the value of their Corn Flour will not allow themselves to be imposed upon by the unscrupulousness of their tradesmen. [146]

THE COAL-TAR SOAP.

WRIGHT'S.

("SAPO CARBONIS DETERGENS.")

This Soap is purifying, disinfecting, and antiseptic. It cleanses, purifies, and sweetens the skin, imparting to it rare brilliancy, fragrance, and smoothness. It destroys all itching and disagreeable odour from the person, and renders the whole body sweet and wholesome. It is an elegant toilet soap, sweetly scented, a great preserver of health, and preserves its hardness in water.

Mothers should use it in the daily baths of their infants and children, on account of its purifying and cleansing qualities, and as a preventive for the many forms of skin diseases to which infants and children are so liable. It purifies and disinfects the body after an attack of scarlatina, smallpox, and other kindred diseases.

"In our hands it has been a most effective agent in the case of various skin diseases."—The Lancet.

"It is the only true antiseptic soap with which we are acquainted."—The British Medical Journal.

"Anonymous letters often reach us praying for a remedy for foul breath or perspiration. Here is one."—The Medical Times and Gazette.

EPPS'S COCOA.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—The Civil Service Gazette.

From All the Year Round (Edited by Chas. Dickens).

"Having now disposed of fancy Chocolates, let us stroll to the Euston-road, hard by the Regent's Park, to Epps's Cocoa Manufactory, where may be studied the making of Cocoa on a stupendous scale, giving a just idea of the value of these articles, not as luxuries, but as actual food."—See article.

From the Court Journal.

"One of the first to popularise this now indispensable adjunct to our table, was Mr. James Epps, whose 'Prepared Cocoa' has gained such just repute for its excellent qualities and nutritious character. Prepared originally on homoeopathic principles, in a soluble and convenient form, and easy of digestion, it met a public demand, speedily became popular, until now Messrs. Epps produce four million pounds of their Cocoa a year, and their manufactory is the largest of its kind in this country."—See article.

From Cassell's Household Guide.

"We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their Works in the Euston-road, London."—See article.

From The Christian World.

"'If I am to take Cocoa,' said I, 'I must know what it is made of; I must examine the process; I must dive into the mystery of its manufacture; I must see and judge for myself what are the ingredients of which it is composed;' for, in more senses than one, as Longfellow writes:—

'The soul is dead that slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.'

With this view I made my way to the Cocoa Manufactory of James Epps and Co., in the Euston-road."—See article.

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follow, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz. ... ..	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz. ... ..	1½d.
2 oz., and less than 4 oz. ... ..	2d.
4 oz., and less than 6 oz. ... ..	2½d.
6 oz., and less than 8 oz. ... ..	3d.
8 oz., and less than 10 oz. ... ..	3½d.
10 oz., and less than 12 oz. ... ..	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

GENERAL POSTAL UNION.

In accordance with the provisions of an international treaty concluded at Berne in 1876, the whole of the States of Europe, the United States of America, and Egypt formed themselves into a General Postal Union for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence, and agree to adopt low and uniform rates of correspondence dispatched from one State of the Union to another. These provisions extend to letters, post cards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns of merchandise, and legal and commercial documents.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN LETTERS.

The rates of postage on letters to the colonies and foreign countries will be found in the British Postal Guide.

To some countries prepayment of the postage is compulsory. In other cases the whole of the postage cannot be prepaid.

A letter posted unpaid, or paid only in part, directed to go by a route by which prepayment is compulsory, is sent to the Returned Letter Office, to go back to the writer, unless there is another route by which prepayment is not required, in which case the letter is sent by the latter route. Letters, however, for Australia and New Zealand, if prepaid as much as one rate (even though the prepayment be insufficient), are not detained, but are forwarded charged with the deficient postage and an additional rate.

A letter posted insufficiently prepaid for a place to which prepayment is optional is sent forward charged; the value of the stamps, however, being, as a rule, taken into account.

The same rates are chargeable in this country upon unpaid or insufficiently paid letters received from the above-named places.

No letter for any colony or foreign country may be above two feet in length or one foot in width or depth.

Letters, &c. for Brazil, Montevideo, Peru, Bolivia, and Chili, if specially directed "By Supplementary Mail, via Bordeaux," and posted in time for dispatch from London by the Day Mail of Friday, will in due course overtake, at Bordeaux, the packet dispatched from Liverpool on the previous Wednesday.

Letters for such places in Turkey and Asia Minor as have no Austrian post office should be addressed to the care of an agent residing in the nearest port at which an Austrian post office has been established. Letters for places on the Persian Gulf are forwarded via Bombay, if specially directed by that route and prepaid the rates of postage for Bombay.

Letters for Russia should have the name of the town added in either English, French, or German; and they should bear as a part of their address the name of the province or government in which they are situated. In addressing all letters, &c., for Russia the name of the place of destination, as well as the government in which such place is situated, must be correctly given; and, further, the address must be plainly written. If these conditions be not complied with, the Russian Post Office declines to undertake the delivery of the correspondence.

No letters containing gold or silver money, jewels, or precious articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, can be sent, even if registered, to any country of the General Postal Union.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 2oz. or part of that weight.

A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

A book packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, photographs (when not on glass or in cases containing glass or any like substance), drawings, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, or any other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing upon; and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written, engraved, lithographed, or plain, or any mixture of these. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, &c., or of a portion thereof, is allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books, pens, or pencils, in the case of pocket-books, &c.; and, in short, whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of such articles, or usually appertains thereto, but the binding, rollers, &c., must not be sent as a separate packet.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth.

Whatever is allowed to be sent in an inland book-packet may be sent in a book-packet to places abroad, except that water-colour drawings are not allowed to be sent in a book-packet to France or Algeria.

No writing or manuscript mark, however, beyond the name and address of the person to whom it is sent is admissible in or upon a packet forwarded via France to the Argentine Confederation, Bolivia, Chili, Ecuador, Hayti, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, St. Thomas, Uruguay, United States of Colombia, or Venezuela.

INLAND CARD POST.

A single post-card, or any number of post-cards—whether "stout" or "thin"—may be purchased. The prices respectively are as follows:—Stout cards: one, 1d.; two, 1½d.; three, 2d.; four, 2½d.; five, 3d.; six, 4d. Thin cards: one, ½d.; two, 1d.; three, 1½d.; four, 2d.; five, 3d.; six, 3½d.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

Foreign post-cards may be sent to Canada and to all the countries comprised in the General Postal Union, with the exception of British India. The postage of a card is in every case one half the rate for a single letter. Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 1½d. each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to the majority of the countries of the Union without extra charge.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

1. Persons wishing to send parcels to any part of British India can do so through the Indian Parcel Post Agency—established under authority of the Director-General of the Post Office of India—at 122, Leadenhall-street, E.C.; and (Branch Office) at 25, Cookspur-street, S.W.

2. The charge for parcels is 1s. per lb. or fraction of a lb. (prepayment optional), covering transit from London to destination in India. Insurance may be effected, if desired, at the rate (to be prepaid) of 1s. up to £3 value, 2s. 6d. up to £10 value, and 5s. up to £30 value. Indian Customs duty (if chargeable) will be realised from the addressee.

N.B.—Parcels containing books, or articles treated as books under the British Inland Book Post Rules, will be charged at half rates—viz., 6d. per lb.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

There is a Pattern and Sample Post to certain colonies and foreign countries, but it is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise.

Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be), or any articles sent by one private individual to another which are not actually patterns or samples, are not admissible. The rates of postage are the same as for Book Packets.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS AND INSURANCE.

There is a Post Office Savings Bank in every town and in most villages, and at most savings banks there is an Insurance and Annuity Office. A list of them is kept at all post offices.

LETTERS "TO BE CALLED FOR."

There is a Poste Restante both at the General Post Office, St. Martin's-le-Grand, and at the Charing-cross Post Office, where letters "to be called for" can be obtained between the hours of nine a.m. and five p.m. There is also a Poste Restante at Woolwich, available during the ordinary hours of business. No letters (except communications from the Savings Bank Department) are taken in "to be called for" at the other district or branch offices, and any so directed are sent to the Returned Letter Office to be returned to the writers.

The Poste Restante being intended solely for the accommodation of strangers and travellers who have no permanent abode in London, letters for residents must not be addressed to the Post Office "to be called for;" and any letters for a resident so addressed, although delivered at the Post Office for one week, are, after that time, sent out by the letter carriers. Even strangers are not, as a rule, allowed to use the Poste Restante for more than two months; and the end of which time they are expected to have their letters sent to a private address.

Letters addressed to initials or to fictitious names at the Poste Restante are not taken in, but are at once sent back to the writers.

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY POST.

It is forbidden to forward by post any indecent or obscene print, painting, photograph, lithograph, engraving, book or card, or other article, or any letter, newspaper, publication, packet, or card having thereon any words, marks, or designs of an indecent, obscene, libellous, or grossly offensive character. Anything posted contrary to this prohibition will be stopped and sent up to the Returned Letter Office, London.

Postmasters are instructed not to receive any letter which there is good reason to believe contains anything likely to injure the contents of the mail bag, or to do bodily harm to any officer of the Post Office. If such a packet be posted without the Postmaster's knowledge, or if at any time before its dispatch he should discover any such packet, he is directed not to forward it, but to report the case, with the address of the packet, to the Secretary. The following are examples of the articles referred to:—

A glass bottle, or glass in any form; leeches, game, fish, meat, fruit, or vegetables; bladders or other vessels containing liquids; gunpowder, lucifer matches, or anything which is explosive or liable to sudden combustion; razors, scissors, needles, forks, or other sharp instruments.

MODES OF PREPAYMENT.

Inland letters, newspapers, and book-packets cannot be prepaid in money, but must be prepaid by means of stamps, either adhesive or embossed or impressed. This rule applies also to registered letters.

Exceptions.—At the Chief and District Post Offices, and at the Charing-cross and Lombard-street Post Offices in London, as well as at the Head Offices in Edinburgh and Dublin, letters and book-packets may, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., be prepaid in money, provided the amount be never less than 1s., and that the letters and book-packets be tied in bundles representing a postage of 6s. each, with the addresses arranged in the same direction.

Letters to places abroad must be prepaid wholly in stamps. Newspapers, book-packets, and sample-packets for places abroad can also be prepaid only by means of stamps; and in their case prepayment is always compulsory.

British postage-stamps, though available for all letters, &c., going out of this country, are not, as a general rule, available for letters, &c., coming into it; the principal exception being in the case of letters posted by naval officers, marines, and seamen serving abroad, which, if posted in the ship's bag, must be prepaid by means of British postage-stamps.

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN.)

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is fourpence.

The fee chargeable for registration to places abroad will be found in the British Postal Guide.

Every letter to be registered should be presented at the counter, and a receipt obtained for it, and should on no account be dropped into the letter-box. If, contrary to this rule, a letter marked "Registered" be dropped into the letter-box, it will, if delivered to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies, be liable to a registration fee of 6d., instead of the ordinary fee of 4d.

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

All Stocks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Private Transfers may be effected at other times, providing the books are not closed, by paying 2s. 6d. for each Transfer. Tickets for preparing the Transfer of Stock must be given in at the Bank of England before one o'clock. Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 9s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, £1 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable.

Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of decease must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 5 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervene, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 3; for accepting, 9 to 3; for payment of dividends, 9 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom.

Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co.," and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

Under the provisions of an Act passed in 1871, the following are the dividend days and periods of redemption of the various Stocks:—

Denomination.	Half-Yearly Dividend.	Period of Redemption.
Consolidated Three per Cent Annuities	January 5 July 5	Any time after passing of Act, agreeably to the regulation therein.
Reduced Three per Cent Annuities	April 5 October 5
New Five per Cent Annuities	January 5 July 5	Any time after Jan. 5, 1873.
New Three per Cent Annuities	April 5 October 5	Any time after Oct. 10, 1874.
New Three-and-a-Half per Cent Annuities	January 5 July 5	Any time after Jan. 5, 1894.
Two-and-a-Half per Cent Annuities	January 5 July 5	Any time after Jan. 5, 1894.

The Bankers' Clearing-House, near the Post Office, Lombard-street, is the medium through which bankers obtain the amount of cheques and bills in their hands for collection from other bankers. Every bank in London and the country is represented by clearing bankers; and, as their agents send through the clearing-house draughts payable in the City and in the country, the amount passing through this channel is enormous.

THE COLOURED ILLUSTRATIONS.

CHILDREN AT ALL SEASONS.

THE rolling year of twelve varying months, commonly grouped into four reputed seasons, which are supposed in this country never to interfere with each other, brings a wonderful multitude of different experiences to the sensitive mind of youth. Childhood, fresh to the observation of the new sights and sounds, of the new scents and flavours, and the new exercise of its own bodily and mental powers, among the things of earth, advances considerably in knowledge of life during this annual revolution of surrounding nature. We can all remember, though many of us have endured the dulling and drying-up effects of half a century's life-wear, that in the changeable moods of infancy, the boyhood or girlhood that seems to us so far back, we used to meet every particular impression of the outer world, not with a passive tolerance, as we do in later age, but actively, eagerly, vehemently throwing our little souls into every incidental circumstance of the passing terrestrial show. As the marvellous procession swept by us, in sunshine or in shade of cloud or of night, in clear daylight or in the softer moonlight and starlight, all spoke to the childish mind. The trees which put on their ample robes of greenery to stand in the magnificent pageant of Summer, and the diversified loveliness of a hundred kinds of flowers—all the different birds and insects we recognised, the thrush and the skylark, delightful songsters of the grove and of the sky—the bee, the ant, the butterfly, the worms and beetles, whose notions and habits we loved to watch—all the friendly inhabitants, animals or plants, of the field, the garden, the wood, the pond or river, and the great open sea, beside which no small part of our childhood was spent—these had a message for us. It will, perhaps, divert us a little, in these uncomfortable times of strife, anxiety, and disappointment at home and abroad, to look at the young people enjoying themselves, in several different scenes and employments, in the pretty Coloured Pictures that adorn our Almanack. Let us first thank the artists, Messrs. H. R. Robertson, J. Morgan, A. Hunt, and F. Tayler, as well as Messrs. Leighton Brothers, the tasteful and skilful colour-printers, for their joint contributions to the pleasure of our readers in this publication. These gentlemen, of course, are fond of children, and understand the way in which those frank little hearts are disposed to make acquaintance with life by promptly acting up to its opportunities of innocent frolic.

The year, like the course of a life, has its tender infancy and season of fresh early growth, which we call Spring; and what can be more fitting, as represented in the picture called "Spring Garlands," than the association of a pair of happy little children, twining pretty wreaths of the flowers of the field, with the blessed advent of "ethereal mildness" that so gently, but irresistibly, summons all the genial forces of Nature from their long winter slumbers? Wake up now! says the sweet motherly voice of Spring, at first in a soft low whisper beside the cradle of her multitudinous and various offspring, which includes all forms of vegetable and animal life; wake up, all you dear children, every blade of grass, every root and seed, every bud of leaf or blossom, every germ of organised being, the beginning and the renewing powers of vitality that work in different stages of its development, from the egg and the grub to the perfect winged insect, the favourite of summer sunshine; let all that has any capacity of living awake and arise, for I am here, the kindly nurse of your innumerable lives, to keep with all of you the festival of our common gladness! And these young human creatures, too, are called by the voice of Spring in their happy little hearts, throbbing with pure blood from every vein through unwearied limbs in continual healthy play, to exult in all that is around them. Their gambols and merry shouts of laughter, with which just now they ran about the field, have yielded, with a slight sense of fatigue, to the temptations of a quieter pastime. Gathering some of the flowers of Spring, not only buttercups, cowslips, and daisies from amidst the greensward, but the wood anemone, the vetch, the lesser celandine, out of the copse or hedgerow, they twine pretty garlands to hang about their necks or to adorn their straw hats, an artless token of their simple joy. To be a witness of their joy is sweet indeed, though we know but too well that it cannot remain long with them, and even now, in these days of childhood, they too often suffer the pangs of passionate sorrow. One is often reminded at such times, beholding their precocious fits of grief and despair, when dark clouds of naughty temper beset the infant mind, of Herrick's loving remonstrance with these "whimpering younglings" of nature, the primroses that seemed to weep from the drops of morning dew upon them. "Why do ye weep?" he asks these first-born darlings of the season:—

Alas! ye have not known that shower
That mares a flower;
Nor felt the unkind
Breath of a blasting wind
Nor are ye worn with years,
Or warped as we,
Who think it strange to see
Such pretty flowers, like to orphans young,
Speaking by tears before ye have a tongue.

Let us hope that there will be no childish pet or quarrel, or any cause for shedding tears, in the holiday hours of these children.

One of the most characteristic features of rural life and business in spring-time is the shepherd's care to superintend the lambing of his flocks; and his assistant, the wonderfully clever, the admirably diligent and faithful dog, is worthy of our particular regard. A couple of these valuable helpers of mankind, sociably reposing on the moorland turf, and guarding their master's cap and staff in his absence, are figured in the illustration we next refer to. The children would be delighted to come upon these strong playfellows, which they know to be gentle, and which are sure to greet them with a friendly wagging of tails, licking of hands, and frisking round them, preparing for a headlong scamper to the end of the meadow. We like to see a shepherd's dog, the strictest and most punctilious of servants in his appointed office, now and then relax his mind by indulging a little harmless fun.

The "broads" of Norfolk, and the "meres" of Cheshire, and similar pieces of still fresh water in different parts of England, are sometimes made the scene of an interesting local employment. It is customary, when the yearly growth of aquatic plants has reached a desirable stage, for the "Rush-gatherers" to put forth in a crazy old boat, two or three women or girls not unfrequently forming its crew, each armed with a sickle for cutting the tall clumps of rushes that crowd the shallows of the lake. These long, smooth, tough and pliant stems of the plant, which preserve their string-like quality when dried, become the materials of a branch of industry not to be despised, the handicraft that supplies good durable seats, but soft withal, to the cheaper and lighter kind of chairs. It may also be applied to the fabrication of homely baskets or reticules, such as would do for carrying fruit home from the village market.

But one has seldom occasion to go there and buy fruit, if one happens to be the fortunate possessor of an orchard, with a garden of summer esculents, a grove productive in autumn of Pomona's wholesome bounty. The boy and girl whom we find engaged in the pleasant task of "Apple-Gathering," with a solemn-looking dog in attendance, have a fine time of it this bright August day. Tom has been invited to prove his agility in climbing the tree, which he has performed as much to his own self-complacency as to Emma's sisterly admiration. She has been sent out with him on purpose to obtain the needful quantity for a pudding or a pie, which her mother is preparing to concoct in their thrifty household kitchen. It is not forbidden to either of these youngsters, in payment for their exertions, to eat one, two, or three of the plump ripe fruit that Tom shakes down from the boughs above his airy perch; and they will have none the less appetite for dinner.

But a good little daughter, in her parents' cottage home, finds many other ways of making herself useful; and the "Little Woman," sitting there alone with steady resolution to get through her little job of peeling potatoes, is a praiseworthy example of domestic virtue in her own small way. We cannot say as much for Puss, who looks on in shameless idleness, with uplifted tail and foot, quite ready for a sportive rush and scurry after the dropped scraps of paring, with which the tiled floor will soon be littered.

Our last Coloured Illustration is that of "A Cold Christmas Eve," and thereby hangs a tale:—

THE FRIGHT IN FOXDALE.

The Four Seasons had gone their annual round, one after another, with some jostling, and elbowing, and treading on each other's heels, or stepping back on each other's toes, as in the untimely frosts and snows that befel on several days of April, the cold blasts of wind chilling the fair bosom of May, and latterly, by way of compensation, the bright warm sunshine which led stern old November to forget himself, missing his accustomed fogs, and to mistake his chrysanthemums for the garden blossoms of June. Spring, and Summer, and Autumn, despite these accidental cross-purposes and mutual encroachments, had enjoyed their respective turns in the familiar procession of the year; and now came the turn of Winter.

Sullen and sad, with all his rising train,
Vapours, and clouds, and storms.

Yet this blustering and frowning countenance of Winter is not usually prolonged through many days. There is a delightful serenity, an air of calm serenity, in the fine weather about Christmas-time, which is often felt to be mild and soothing, as well as invigorating; and the soft low sunlight at noon sheds a touching grace upon the bare outline of leafless trees, with their fine tracery of boughs and twigs displayed against the clear sky; but when the snow has fallen, sheeting the ground with silver, and transmuting all exposed forms into the likeness of that fair metal, then old Winter puts on an aspect of exquisite beauty:—

Fast falls a fleecy shower; the downy flakes
Descending, and with never-ceasing lapse,
Assimilate all objects. Earth receives
Gladly the thickening mantle; and the green
And tender blade, that feared the chilling blast, Escapes unharmed beneath so warm a veil.

It was four miles over Brendon-hill and down Foxdale, past the Wagon and Horses at the cross-roads, that Mary and Jenny had to carry little Alce, on the afternoon of December 24, accompanied, only by Skye. These names require a personal introduction, but that is neither more nor less than to point to the Coloured Picture, and to mention that the silder girl is Mary, the donkey is TURKISH IRREGULAR CAVALRY FOLLOWING UP THE RUSSIANS AFTER THE RETREAT FROM SEVIN.

Jenny, the little child is Alice, and the Skye terrier must of course be "Skye."

"Why, Ally," said Mary, "don't fall asleep, or you'll fall off Jenny."

This made Ally begin to cry, for the thought it would hurt her very much to fall on the white snow-covered ground; and she couldn't keep awake. Presently she stopped crying, and looked more sleepy than ever, perhaps from the benumbing cold.

"I must hold you up, poor little Ally," said the elder girl again, putting her arm round the child's waist so that its little body could rest upon her right shoulder, and the weary little head was propped up by Mary's own head, one large shawl overspreading both. Mary held a large basket in her right hand, which she contrived to rest upon the donkey's side, and by which Ally was kept from a possible tumble over that way. If you look at the picture you will see how all this was arranged. Both the girls were equally pleased; and the little one being four years of age, and the big one fourteen, there was room between them for sentiments of maternal protection on the one hand and infantine trust and gratitude on the other. Skye, for his part, expressed a sentiment of approval by giving two short barks and darting twice across the road before them. Jenny said nothing, but was apparently satisfied, as a conscientious donkey, that her responsibility for the safe carriage of little Alice was to be shared with somebody wiser than her irrational self.

They paced on slowly down the hill by Foxdale Woods, as the brief winter day closed in gathering gloom, the sun having dropped behind a western hill; but the remaining light, reflected from the snow was quite sufficient for the guidance of their feet.

Mary began to think of a serious conversation she had overheard that day behind old Betsey, who lived next door, and Gubbins, the roadside hedge-trimmer, who had just walked over from Foxdale. It was all about highway robbers.

"There was a traveller last Tuesday week," said Gubbins, "about half-past four in the afternoon, when he came past the new clearing up at the north end of the wood, heard a queer sort of noise, and it gave him a sort of a start like, and he thought as how he just got sight of a something that jumped out of the wood, and he yelled out 'Thieves and Murder!' and galloped down as fast as his mare could carry him, but he heard the rogues galloping down after him, and he heard their shouts, and so he never stopped till he got safe to the Waggon and Horses; and I was in the tap-room, as it might happen, just when he come in; and he ordered a glass of hot brandy and water for himself, for he was all in a cold sweat; but me and Joe Diggins, the gentleman stood us a quart of beer, and I paid for a screw of backy."

Mary could not prevent her mind from running upon this terrible adventure while passing the very spot where the merciless robbers, who were sure to be murderers as well, chased that gentleman, for his money or his life, all the way down the hill. "They was seen again," old Gubbins had further said, "last Friday as ever was, two mile on the road, walking as bold as brass in the middle of it, a little after dark should come on, and one was a tall man in black velvet, all black hair over his face, with a billycock hat and a big stick; and the other was a shortish man in a smock frock, with a blue cap on his head and reddish whiskers, and he carried a sort of a pike, one of them there lances what the Cossacks has; and there was the barrels of two pistols sticking out of the black man's velvet coat-pocket. And I've heard say that his name is Hampshire Jack, and that he is Dick Turpin's neevy or grandson."

"Hah! Oh My Gracious! Whatever is That?" suddenly exclaimed our poor Mary, as she heard a fierce panting or blowing sound on the other side of a low fence close to her at the edge of the road next the wood; and it was instantly followed by a great scrambling of feet, and something large and dark, like a monstrous giant's back, started up above the top of the fence, which seemed to heave and lift as though it would be torn away, and let loose the dreadful enemy on the open road.

The terrified girl, in the panic of a bewildered imagination, fancied that a gang of malefactors, lying there in ambush, were about to spring forth and work the direst deeds of slaughter and rapine upon herself and her precious charge. She had but twopence halfpenny, and would have to pay threehalfpence at the turnpike gate for Jenny to pass. But she knew they would demand her money or her life, and when they had taken her money, they would kill little Ally; the red man, of course, would stick the baby on the point of his lance; and the black man would drag Mary into the wood, and there cut off her head.

It was in a single moment that all these frightful experiences, as certain and strong as any in her past life, were mentally impressed on the unhappy maid's excited consciousness, and shriek after shriek of agonised terror broke from her lips, as she tore at the donkey's reins, and kicked at its legs, and beat its hind-quarters with her basket, till it was frightened as much as Mary herself, and dashed off in a mad donkey's gallop down the hill, while the crying of little Ally, and the yelping of Skye, increased this dreadful hubbub that went through Foxdale at the rate of seven or eight miles an hour. Little Ally was thrown off in another moment, but fell with the big woollen shawl around her into a great soft heap of snow, from which Mary picked her up, letting go the donkey, and clasped the child in her own arms, still running as fast as she could. Behind them came the noise of pursuing feet, and the loud voices of their foes, in speech unknown, either threatening or commanding them to stop.

Near the bottom of the hill, at the corner of Sir William Palliser's park wall, there is a bend of the road, with a ditch and pool at the opposite side, and a bit of grass upon which stand three or four ash-trees and some hazel-bushes. The Waggon and Horses public-house lies about two hundred yards farther down the road, with the brick wall of the park all the way, quite in a straight line down, so you can see the public-house and the turnpike-gate from the corner above.

When Jenny, the foremost of the flying party, came abreast of the park wall, it occurred to her asinine intelligence that probably there was no reason for her to gallop any further. She therefore stopped, and turned quietly aside to the grassy plot beside the water under the shivering naked trees; while Mary, with Alice in her arms, almost sinking from faintness, but striving not to relax her speed, ran staggering along the road. The poor girl was quite exhausted, and could no longer cry aloud.

Turning round the park wall corner, Mary felt herself near the friendly houses in the valley below; but there was no sign of any person on the road which lay between her and them. If she were caught there by the enemy, overtaken while out of sight and hearing from the houses, the long high wall forbade any possible escape or attempt to hide herself. She saw where Jenny had left the road, amongst the bushes and brambles that formed a thick undergrowth around the trees; and she perceived a gap in the hedge of the adjoining field. There would be the place to hide, before her merciless hunters could see her movements beyond the corner, and when they had passed she would creep with little Ally down to the inn, having meantime recovered her breath and strength. With this intention, Mary hurried across to the farthest clump of brambles and popped herself into the ditch behind its shelter; there was no water, or even ice, but a soft bed of snow. The dog missed her for a moment, but presently tracked her footsteps and came to lie quietly by her side.

She listened for the approach of her enemies, but neither footsteps nor voices could be heard. There was a profound silence, as the shades of night drew closer over that lonely scene, and the stars appeared in the sky. At length she perceived, after an anxious period of suspense, that somebody was coming the other way, up the hill from the Waggon and Horses. Footsteps and a voice were audible enough, and they were not those of a desperate highway robber, but of a harmless drunkard, who came up singing to himself,

It's my delight, of a shiny night, in the season of the year!

Mary had never before found her own delight in that foolish poacher's song, but now it came to her as a signal of relief from deadly terror. At the nearer approach of Joe Diggins—for he it was—carrying inside his moleskin waistcoat three quarts of fourpenny ale, she ventured to emerge from her covert and appeal to his manly protection.

"What, lass!" bawled the tipsy honest fellow. "Whoy, whose lass be yow? Whattidn thar? Awbuddy bin harting yow? What be'ee feered of?" By all which he meant to inquire her name and parentage and abode; to ask her motive for taking refuge in that place of concealment; and to assure her of his championship if she were alarmed by fear of ill-usage.

These were matters that certainly needed explanation, and Mary, trembling and stammering, tried to make him understand that she believed there were some robbers lurking in the wood, and she had heard and seen what made her think herself almost caught by them. Joe Diggins scratched his head, and then responded, endeavouring to flourish his stick, "Robbers! nar moind, lass! Aw 'in a mon for they! Here's a whack toom!" He suited the action to the word, by aiming a tremendous "whack" at the nearest tree, but, missing its trunk, fell heavily against it, knocking his own head.

This was all the help Mary could hope for from Joe Diggins, so she began to reflect that, since he had come safely up the hill in such a beery condition, she might run no great danger in walking steadily down to the public-house. Taking up little Alice once more, and calling to Skye, she bade no farewell to Joe, but asked him to stop there and mind her donkey a few minutes. He assented with a stupid nod, and was lying in the snow fast asleep before Mary had gone a hundred paces.

The ruddy firelight shone cheerfully from the window of the roadside inn, and the open door gave hospitable admittance to Mary when she arrived. The landlady at the bar was just then talking with a customer, whose pot and pipe were on the counter, and by whose voice, though his back was turned to the door, Mary knew him before she entered. It was no other than Gubbins, the hedger and ditcher, the idle repeater of a silly and mischievous story, which had cost her, for half an hour, the sharp pangs of dire distress on that cold Christmas Eve. As for the noises and startling movements, imperfectly perceived in her confusion of mind, they were due to a strayed bullock, which had lain under the sheltering fence, and which was driven into the road by a couple of herd-boys, making a good deal of clamour at the top of Foxdale.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES IN THE YEAR 1878.

JANUARY.

THE MOON is near Jupiter on the 3rd; but, it being the day of New Moon, both are near the Sun. She is near Mercury on the 4th, near Venus during the evening hours of the 7th, Saturn during the evening hours of the 8th. Mars during the evening hours of the 11th, and near both Mercury and Jupiter on the last day, but on the 31st the Moon is visible only a short time before sunrise. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the 3rd at 3 minutes after 2h. in the afternoon.
First Quarter " 11th " 47 " 6 " afternoon.
Full Moon " 19th " 11 " 0 " morning.
Last Quarter " 25th " 49 " 8 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 20th, and most distant from it on the afternoon of the 5th.

MERCURY sets on the 1st at 5h. 29m. p.m., or 1h. 29m. after the Sun; this interval decreases rapidly till on the 12th, when both the planet and Sun set nearly together, and from this day till March 21 the planet sets in daylight. On the 15th he rises nearly one hour before sunrise, on the 29th he rises at 6h. 22m. a.m., or nearly 1h. 30m. before the Sun, and on the last day at 6h. 20m. a.m., or 1h. 23m. before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 4th, at his least distance from the Sun on the 5th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 10th, near Jupiter on the 13th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 22nd, and again near the Moon on the last day.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 5h. 6m. p.m., or 4h. 6m. after sunset; on the 11th at 5h. 14m. p.m., on the 21st at 5h. 8m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 47m. p.m., or 3h. 1m. after sunset. She is due south on the 1st at 3h. 11m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 49m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 58m. p.m. She is in her ascending node on the 4th, near the Moon on the 7th, at her greatest brilliancy on the 16th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 29th.

PATH OF MERCURY FROM NOVEMBER 1, 1877, TO MARCH 20, 1878.

MARS sets on the 1st at 6h. 31m. a.m., on the 12th at 6h. 26m. a.m., on the 22nd at 6h. 21m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 18m. a.m. He crosses the meridian or is due south on the 1st at 6h. 1m. p.m., on the 11th at 5h. 43m. p.m., on the 21st at 5h. 28m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 10m. p.m. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 4th, and near the Moon on the 11th.

JUPITER sets on the 5th at about the time of sunset, and from this day till July 26 he sets in daylight. He rises at sunrise on the 6th, at 7h. 50m. a.m. on the 11th, at 7h. 19m. a.m., or 36 minutes before the Sun, on the 21st; and at 6h. 47m. a.m., or 56 minutes before sunrise, on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 18m. p.m., on the 15th at 11h. 37m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 50m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, and again on the last day, and in conjunction with the Sun on the 5th.

SATURN is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 9h. 49m. p.m., on the 11th at 9h. 14m. p.m., on the 21st at 8h. 41m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 8h. 7m. p.m., or 3h. 21m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 25m. p.m., on the 11th at 3h. 49m. p.m., on the 21st at 3h. 13m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 37m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 8th.

FEBRUARY.

THE MOON is near Venus during the early evening hours of the 4th, and near Saturn during the early evening hours of the 5th. She is near Mars till near midnight on the 8th and 9th, being to the right of the planet on the former and to the left of the planet on the latter evening; and she is near Jupiter on the last day, but the Moon on this day is only visible for about an hour before sunrise. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the 2nd at 17 minutes after 8h. in the morning.
First Quarter " 10th " 17 " 1 " afternoon.
Full Moon " 17th " 17 " 11 " morning.
Last Quarter " 24th " 12 " 8 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the early morning of the 18th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 5th.

MERCURY rises before the Sun throughout the month on the 1st by 1h. 20m., on the 5th by 1h. 11m., on the 10th by 58m.; on the 15th by (Continued on page 40.)

45m., on the 20th by 35m., on the 25th by 24m., and on the last day by about 15m., the planet rising on this day at 6h. 30m. a.m. He is at his greatest western elongation (25 deg. 27 min.) on the 3rd, near Jupiter on the 6th, in his descending node on the 8th, and at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 18th.

Venus sets on the 10th at 7h. 3m. p.m., or 2h. 1m. after sunset; on the 20th at 5h. 58m. p.m., or 37 minutes after the Sun; on the 23rd the planet and Sun set together, and from this day till December 6 Venus sets in daylight. She rises at about sunrise on the 7th, at 7h. 13m. a.m., or 12 minutes before the Sun, on the 10th; at 6h. 14m. a.m., or 53 minutes before sunrise, on the 20th, and at 5h. 38m. a.m. on the last day. She is due south on the 1st at 1h. 53m. p.m., on the 14th at 0h. 44m. p.m., and on the last day at 11h. 17m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 4th, at her least distance from the Sun on the 7th, and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 21st.

Mars sets on the 1st at 0h. 18m. a.m., on the 11th at 0h. 14m. a.m., on the 21st at 0h. 11m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 0h. 9m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 8m. p.m., on the 14th at 4h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day at 4h. 38m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

Jupiter is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 6h. 43m. a.m., or 58 minutes before sunrise; on the 10th at 6h. 15m. a.m., or 1h. 10m. before the Sun; on the 20th at 5h. 41m. a.m., or 1h. 26m. before the Sun; and on the last day at 5h. 16m. a.m., or 1h. 34m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 47m. a.m., on the 14th at 10h. 8m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 25m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the last day.

Saturn is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 6h. 4m. p.m., on the 10th at 7h. 35m. p.m., or 2h. 38m. after sunset; on the 20th at 7h. 1m. p.m., or 1h. 40m. after sunset; and on the last day at 6h. 35m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 33m. p.m., on the 14th at 1h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 59m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 5th.

PATH OF MERCURY FROM JULY 5, 1878, TO NOVEMBER 22, 1878.

MARCH.

The Moon is near both Mercury and Venus on the 2nd. She is near and to the left of Saturn on the evening of the 5th, she is near Mars during the evening hours of the 8th and 10th, being a little to the right of the planet on the 9th, and at a greater distance to the left on the 10th; she is near Jupiter during the mornings of the 27th and 28th, and near Venus on the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon on the 4th at 18 minutes after 3h. in the morning.
First Quarter " 12th " 1 " 4 " morning.
Full Moon " 18th " 7 " 9 " afternoon.
Last Quarter " 26th " 50 " 4 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 18th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 4th, and again on the afternoon of the last day.

Mercury rises on the 2nd at 6h. 30m. a.m., or 16 minutes before sunrise; on the 7th at 6h. 28m. a.m., or 8 minutes before the Sun; on the 12th day the planet and Sun rise together, and from this time till May 6 Mercury rises in daylight. He sets with the Sun on the 21st, and 37 minutes after sunset on the 27th. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, near Saturn on the 17th, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 21st, and in his ascending node on the 29th.

Venus is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 5h. 26m. a.m., or 1h. 20m. before sunrise; on the 12th at 4h. 50m. a.m., or 1h. 38m. before the Sun; on the 22nd at 4h. 24m. a.m., or 1h. 37m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 4h. 6m. a.m. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 12m. a.m., on the 15th at 10h. 8m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 29m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 2nd, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 12th, at her greatest brilliancy on the 29th, and again near the Moon on the 30th.

Mars sets on the 3rd at 0h. 8m. a.m., on the 18th at 0h. 5m. a.m., on the 23rd at 0h. 2m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 57m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 26m. p.m., on the 11th at 4h. 13m. p.m., on the 21st at 2h. 58m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 47m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 10th.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 5h. 9m. a.m., or 1h. 37m. before sunrise; which interval increases to 1h. 48m. by the 12th, to 2 hours by the 22nd, and to 2h. 11m. by the last day, the planet rising on this day at 3h. 38m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 22m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 38m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 46m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 27th.

SATURN sets on the 2nd at 6h. 39m. p.m., or 50 minutes after sunset; on the 12th the planet and Sun set nearly together, and from this day till September 18 Saturn sets in daylight. He rises at about the time of sunrise on the 22nd, and a few minutes before the Sun at the end of the month. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 55m. p.m., on the 15th at 6h. 7m. p.m., and on the last day at 11h. 11m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 5th, and in conjunction with the Sun on the 13th.

APRIL.

THE MOON is near Saturn on the 1st; near Mercury on the 4th. She is near Mars during the evening hours of the 7th, near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 24th, near Venus during the morning hours of the 28th, and near Saturn during the morning hours of the 29th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 2nd	at 14 minutes after 9h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 10th	" 55 "	" 2 " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 17th	" 57 "	" 5 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 24th	" 33 "	" 8 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the night of the 15th, and most distant from it on the early morning of the 28th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 7h. 40m. p.m., or 1h. 9m. after sunset, which interval rapidly increases to 2h. 7m. on the 16th, after which day it turns to decrease to 1h. 32m. by the 26th, and to one hour by the last day, the planet setting on this day at 8h. 19m. p.m. About the middle of this month Mercury is the most favourably situated for observation during the year. He is a second time this year at his least distance from the Sun on the 3rd, near the Moon on the 4th, at his greatest eastern elongation (19 deg. 40 min.) on the 15th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 26th.

VENUS is a morning star. The following are the times of rising of this planet at intervals of ten days:—1st, 4h. 4m. a.m.; 11th, 3h. 45m. a.m.; 21st, 3h. 31m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 15m. a.m., being respectively 1h. 34m., 1h. 27m., 1h. 24m., and 1h. 22m. before sunrise on these days. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 27m. a.m., on the 11th at 9h. 15m. a.m., on the 21st at 9h. 8m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 5m. a.m. She is in her descending node on the 26th, and near the Moon on the 28th.

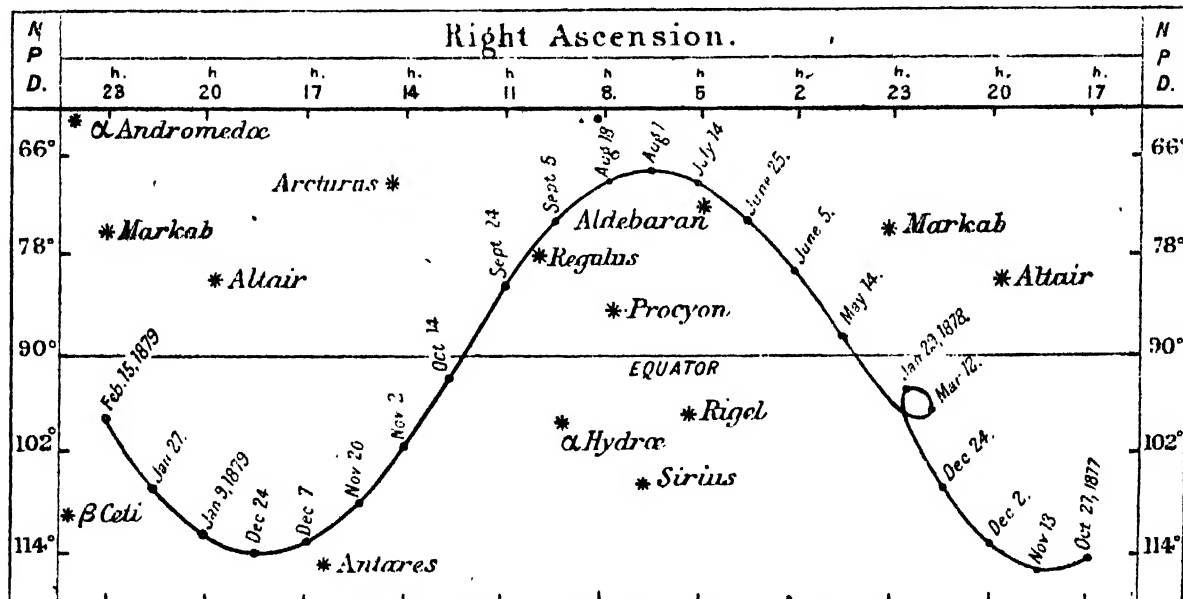

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h. 56m. p.m., on the 11th at 11h. 52m. p.m., on the 21st at 11h. 44m. p.m., and on the last day at 11h. 37m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 45m. p.m., in the middle of the month at 8h. 28m. p.m., and on the last day at 3h. 11m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 7th.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 3h. 26m. a.m., or 2h. 12m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 2h. 50m. a.m., on the 21st at 2h. 14m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 44m. a.m., or 2h. 53m. before the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 43m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 50m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 2m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 24th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 26th.

SATURN is a morning star, and rises on the 1st at 5h. 22m. a.m., or 16 minutes before sunrise; on the 11th at 4h. 44m. a.m., or 31 minutes before the Sun; on the 21st at 4h. 8m. a.m., or 47 minutes before sunrise; and on the last day he rises at 3h. 34m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 7m. a.m.; on the 11th at 10h. 32m. a.m., on the 21st at 9h. 57m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 25m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 29th.

MAY.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 3rd; she is near Mars during the evening hours of the 5th and 6th, being to the right of the planet on the former, and to the left on the latter evening. She is near Jupiter, being a little to the left of the planet, during the morning hours of the 22nd; she is near Saturn during the morning hours of the 26th and 27th; she is near Venus during the morning hours of the 28th, and near Mercury on the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

PATH OF VENUS FROM OCTOBER 27, 1877, TO FEBRUARY 15, 1878.

New Moon	on the 2nd	at 50 minutes after 0h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 9th	" 32 "	" 10 " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 16th	" 31 "	" 2 " afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 24th	" 42 "	" 1 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth at midnight on the 13th, and most distant from it on the evening of the 25th.

MERCURY sets on the 1st 52 minutes after sunset, on the 6th he sets at nearly the same time as the sun, and from this day till July 3 he sets in daylight. On the 6th he rises at about the time of sunrise, and on this day will pass over the Sun's disc, the time of external contact at ingress is 8h. 12m. p.m.; the internal contact at ingress is at 8h. 16m. p.m.; the least distance of centres, 4 min. 47 sec., will be at 7h. 0m. p.m.; the internal contact at egress is at 10h. 45m. p.m.; and the external contact at egress is at 10h. 48m. p.m. Mercury rises on the 16th at 3h. 52m. a.m., or 18 minutes before sunrise; on the 21st at 3h. 37m. a.m., or 26 minutes before the Sun; on the 26th at 3h. 23m. a.m., or 34 minutes before the Sun; and on the last day at 3h. 11m. a.m., or 41 minutes before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, in his descending node on the 7th, a second time this year; at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 17th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 19th, and again near the Moon on the 30th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 8h. 14m. a.m., or 1h. 21m. before sunrise; on the 11th at 2h. 55m. a.m., or 1h. 32m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 2h. 37m. a.m., or 1h. 26m. before sunrise; and on the last day at 2h. 20m. a.m., or 1h. 32m. before the Sun. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 5m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 8m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 4m. a.m. She is at her greatest western elongation (46 deg. 7 min.) on the 2nd, near Saturn on the 6th, near the Moon on the 28th, and at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 30th.

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h. 36m. p.m., on the 11th at 11h. 24m. p.m., on the 21st at 11h. 9m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 53m. p.m., or 2h. 50m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 10m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 53m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 2h. 34m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th.

JUPITER rises on the 1st at 1h. 37m. a.m., on the 11th at 1h. 0m. a.m., on the 21st at 0h. 22m. a.m., and on the 30th at 11h. 43m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 59m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 7m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 5m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 25th.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 8h. 30m. a.m., or 1h. 5m. before the Sun; which interval gradually increases to 1h. 25m. by the 11th, to 1h. 48m. by the 21st, and to 2h. 15m. by the last day, the planet rising on this day at 1h. 38m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 22m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 32m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 34m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 26th.

JUNE.

THE MOON is very near Mars during the evening hours of the 3rd, she is near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 18th, near Saturn during the morning hours of the 23rd, she is near Venus during the morning hours of the 27th, and near Mercury on the last day. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 1st	at 48 minutes after 1h.	in the morning.
First Quarter	" 8th	" 55 "	" 3 " morning.
Full Moon	" 14th	" 51 "	" 11 " afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 22nd	" 16 "	" 7 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 30th	" 31 "	" 0 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the night of the 9th, and most distant from it on the afternoon of the 22nd.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 5th at 3h. 0m. a.m., or 49 minutes before sunrise; on the 10th at 2h. 54m. a.m., or 52 minutes before the Sun; on the 15th at 2h. 49m. a.m., or 55 minutes before the Sun; on the 20th at 2h. 49m. a.m., or 55 minutes before sunrise (the times of rising of the planet alter but very little from the 16th to the 20th); on the 25th at 3h. 1m. a.m., or 45 minutes before sunrise; and on the last day at 3h. 20m. a.m., or 27 minutes before sunrise. He is at his greatest western elongation (24 deg. 2 min.) on the 2nd, in his ascending node on the 25th, near the Moon and (the third time this year) at his least distance from the Sun on the last day.

Venus is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h. 18m. a.m., or 1h. 33m. before sunrise, which interval increases day by day to 1h. 48m. by the 10th, to 1h. 56m. by the 20th, and to 2h. 9m. by the last day, the planet rising on this day at 1h. 38m. a.m. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 5m. a.m., in the middle of the month at 9h. 10m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 19m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 27th.

Mars is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 10h. 51m. p.m., on the 10th at 10h. 33m. p.m., or 2h. 21m. after sunset; on the 20th at 10h. 18m. p.m., or 1h. 55m. after the Sun, and on the last day at 9h. 51m. p.m., or 1h. 33m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 33m. p.m., in the middle of the month at 2h. 15m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 56m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 3rd.

Jupiter rises on the 9th at 11h. 2m. p.m., on the 19th at 10h. 22m. p.m., and on the 29th at 9h. 40m. p.m., or 1h. 23m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 1m. a.m., on the 11th at 8h. 20m. a.m., on the 21st at 2h. 36m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 59m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th.

Saturn rises on the 1st at 1h. 34m. a.m., or 2h. 17m. before sunrise; on the 10th at 0h. 59m. a.m., on the 20th at 0h. 21m. a.m., and on the last day 11h. 38m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 30m. a.m., on the 11th at 6h. 53m. a.m., on the 21st at 6h. 15m. a.m., and on the last day at 5h. 41m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 23rd, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 24th.

JULY.

The Moon is near Mars on the 2nd, near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 14th and morning hours of the 15th, and also during the evening hours of the same day. She is near Saturn during both the morning and night hours of the 20th, being to the right of the planet in the morning and to the left in the evening. She is near Venus during the morning hours of the 27th, and near both Mars and Mercury on the last day. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 7th	at 20 minutes after 8h.	in the morning.
Full Moon	" 14th	" 55	" 10 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 22nd	" 16	" 0 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 29th	" 40	" 9 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the early morning of the 5th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 20th.

Mercury rises with the Sun on the 6th, and he rises in daylight from this day till September 11. He is an evening star from the 3rd! On the 3rd he sets at nearly the same time as the Sun, 35 minutes after sunset on the 10th, this interval increasing to 49m. by the 15th, to 52m. by the 20th, and to 57m. by the 25th, after which it decreases to 54 minutes by the last day, the planet setting on this day at 8h. 41m. p.m. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 4th, near Mars on the 23rd, and near the Moon on the last day.

Venus is a morning star, and rises on the 1st at 1h. 37m. a.m., on the 10th at 1h. 31m. a.m., on the 20th at 1h. 32m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 42m. a.m., or 2h. 42m. before sunrise. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 20m. a.m., on the 11th at 9h. 28m. a.m., on the 21st at 9h. 39m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 51m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 27th.

Mars is an evening star, setting 1h. 13m. after sunset on the 10th, 57 minutes on the 20th, and 46 minutes on the 30th; the planet setting on these days at 9h. 26m. p.m., 9h. 1m. p.m., and 8h. 35m. p.m., respectively. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 54m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 35m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 12m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, and again on the last day; he is also at his greatest distance from the Sun on the last day.

Jupiter rises on the 9th at 5h. 58m. p.m., or 44 minutes after sunset, which interval decreases to 12 minutes by the 19th, and on the 22nd the planet rises at sunset, and from this day till the end of the year he rises in daylight. He sets on the 26th at about sunrise, and 30 minutes before sunrise on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 55m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 58m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 37m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 15th, and in opposition to the Sun on the 25th.

Saturn rises on the 1st at 11h. 34m. p.m., on the 9th at 11h. 3m. p.m., on the 19th at 10h. 24m. p.m., and on the 29th at 9h. 45m. p.m., or 1h. 55m. after sunset. He crosses the meridian or is due south on the 1st at 5h. 37m. a.m., on the 11th at 4h. 58m. a.m., on the 21st at 4h. 19m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 38m. a.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 15th, and near the Moon on the 20th.

AUGUST.

The Moon is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 11th, near Saturn during the evening hours of the 16th and morning hours of the 17th; she is near Venus during the morning hours of the 26th, near Mars on the 28th, the day of New Moon, and near Mercury on the 29th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 5th	at 13 minutes after 1h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	" 13th	" 16	" 0 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 21st	" 8	" 4 " morning.
New Moon	" 29th	" 0	" 6 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 1st, and again on the morning of the 20th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 17th.

Mercury is an evening star, setting on the 4th at 8h. 32m. p.m., or 51 minutes after sunset; which interval gradually decreases to 31 minutes by the 15th (the planet setting at 7h. 44m. p.m.), and to 7 minutes by the 29th (the planet setting at 7h. 0m. p.m.), on the last day the Sun and planet set together, and from this day till October 16 Mercury sets in daylight. He is in his descending node on the 2nd (the third time this year), at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 18th, at his greatest eastern elongation (27 deg. 23 min.) on the same day, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 27th, and near the Moon on the 29th.

Venus is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 1h. 43m. a.m., on the 10th at 2h. 17m. a.m., and on the 20th at 2h. 45m. a.m.; being respectively 2h. 42m., 2h. 35m., and 2h. 23m., before sunrise on these days. She is due south on the 1st at 9h. 52m. a.m., on the 11th at 10h. 4m. a.m., on the 21st at 10h. 16m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 27m. a.m. She is in her ascending node on the 17th, and near the Moon on the 26th.

Mars is an evening star, setting on the 9th at 8h. 7m. p.m., on the 19th at 7h. 39m. p.m., and on the 29th at 7h. 11m. p.m.; being respectively 35 minutes, 26 minutes, and 18 minutes after sunset on these evenings. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 10m. p.m., on the 15th at 0h. 49m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 24m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 28th.

Jupiter sets on the 1st at 3h. 49m. a.m., on the 10th at 3h. 8m. a.m., on the 20th at 2h. 23m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 34m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 33m. p.m., on the 11th at 10h. 49m. a.m., on the 21st at 10h. 5m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 22m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 11th.

Saturn rises at 9h. 6m. p.m., or 1h. 32m. after sunset, on the 5th, at 8h. 36m. p.m., or 1h. 11m. after sunset, on the 15th; and at 7h. 49m. p.m., or 51 minutes after sunset, on the 26th. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 35m. a.m., on the 11th at 2h. 55m. a.m., on the 21st at 2h. 15m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 32m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 16th.

SEPTEMBER.

The Moon is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 6th and 7th, being situated to the right of the planet on the former and to the left on the latter evening. She is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 12th and morning hours of the 13th; the nearest approach will be about 9h. p.m. on the 12th, when the planet will be a little below the Moon. She near Mercury and Venus on the morning of the 25th, and near Mars on the 26th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 8rd	at 26 minutes	after 8h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	" 11th	" 49	"	" 8 " afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 19th	" 30	"	" 6 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 26th	" 10	"	" 2 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 26th, and most distant from it on the afternoon of the 19th.

MERCURY rises at about the time of sunrise on the 11th; on the 18th he rises at 5h. 5m. a.m., or 27 minutes before sunrise; on the 18th at 4h. 26m. a.m., or 1h. 14m. before the Sun; on the 23rd at 4h. 9m. a.m., or 1h. 39m. before sunrise; on the 28th at 4h. 14m. a.m., or 1h. 42m. before the Sun. He is near Mars on the 7th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 10th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 18th, in his ascending node on the 21st, near Venus on the 25th, and again on the last day; near the Moon on the 25th, at his greatest western elongation (17 deg. 50 min.) on the 26th, and (the fourth time this year) at his least distance from the Sun on the same day.

VENUS is still a morning star, rising 2h. 12m. before sunrise on the 8th, 1h. 55m. before the Sun on the 18th, and 1h. 40m. before sunrise on the 26th; the planet rising on these days at 3h. 13m. a.m., 3h. 45m. a.m., and 4h. 16m. a.m. respectively. She is due south on the 1st at 10h. 25m. a.m., on the 15th at 10h. 40m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 51m. a.m. She is at her least distance from the Sun on the 19th, and near the Moon on the 25th.

MARS sets on the 8th at 6h. 42m. p.m., or 13 minutes after sunset; on the 18th at 6h. 14m. p.m., or 7 minutes after sunset; on the 26th he sets at sunset, and sets in daylight from this day till the end of the year. He rises with the Sun on the 17th, and 20 minutes before sunrise on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 22m. p.m., on the 15th at noon, and on the last day at 11h. 37m. a.m. He is in conjunction with the Sun on the 18th, and near the Moon on the 26th.

JUPITER sets on the 1st at 1h. 29m. a.m., on the 9th at 0h. 56m. a.m., on the 19th at 0h. 15m. a.m., on the 26th at 11h. 36m. p.m., and on the last day at 11h. 24m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 14m. p.m., on the 11th at 8h. 38m. p.m., on the 21st at 7h. 56m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 21m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 7th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 23rd.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 7h. 5m. p.m., or 33 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 6h. 25m. p.m., or 15 minutes after sunset; on the 25th the planet rises at sunset, and from this day till the end of the year he rises in daylight. He sets on the 23rd at sunrise, and at 5h. 20m. a.m., or 38 minutes before sunrise, on the 26th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 28m. a.m., on the 11th at 0h. 46m. a.m., on the 21st at 0h. 4m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 22m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 12th, and in opposition to the Sun on the 22nd.

OCTOBER.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 4th, she is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 9th and morning hours of the 10th, she is near Mars and Venus on the 25th, but it is the day of New Moon; and she is near Mercury on the 26th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 8rd	at 1 minute	after 7h.	in the morning.
Full Moon	" 11th	" 54	"	" 8 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 19th	" 10	"	" 7 " morning.
New Moon	" 25th	" 58	"	" 10 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 25th, and most distant on the afternoon of the 10th.

MERCURY is a morning star till the 24th, rising on the 3rd at 4h. 33m. a.m., or 1h. 32m. before sunrise; the interval gradually decreasing to 1h. 14m. by the 8th, to 51 minutes by the 13th, to 27 minutes by the 18th, and to 6 minutes by the 23rd (the planet rising on this day at 6h. 32m. a.m.); on the 24th the planet rises at nearly the same time as the Sun, and from this day till Dec. 21 he rises in daylight. He sets with the Sun on the 16th, and 5 minutes after sunset on the 28th. He is near Mars on the 12th, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 24th, near the Moon on the 26th, and in his descending node on the 29th, at midnight.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 8th at 4h. 46m. a.m., or 1h. 25m. before sunrise; on the 18th at 5h. 19m. a.m., or 1h. 11m. before sunrise; and on the 28th at 5h. 51m. a.m., or 57 minutes before sunrise. She is due south on the 1st at 10h. 52m. a.m., on the 11th at 10h. 59m. a.m., on the 21st at 11h. 6m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 12m. a.m. She is near Mars on the 21st, and near the Moon on the 25th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 8th at 5h. 34m. a.m., or 40 minutes before the Sun; on the 18th at 5h. 32m. a.m., or 58 minutes before the Sun; and on the 28th at 5h. 31m. a.m., or 1h. 17m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 35m. a.m., on the 11th at 11h. 20m. a.m., on the 21st at 11h. 4m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 50m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 25th.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h. 20m. p.m., on the 8th at 10h. 58m. p.m., on the 18th at 10h. 22m. p.m., on the 28th at 9h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 35m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 17m. p.m., on the 11th at 6h. 40m. p.m., on the 21st at 6h. 3m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 28m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 22nd.

SATURN sets on the 6th at 4h. 37m. a.m., or 1h. 39m. before sunrise; on the 19th at 3h. 53m. a.m., or 2h. 38m. before sunrise; and on the 26th at 3h. 11m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 17m. p.m., on the 11th at 10h. 35m. a.m., on the 21st at 9h. 54m. p.m., on the last day at 9h. 12m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 9th.

NOVEMBER.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 1st, she is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 5th and 6th, being to the right of the planet on the 5th and to the left on the 6th. She is near Mars on the mornings of the 22nd and 23rd, near Venus on the 24th, the day of New Moon, near Mercury on the 26th, and very near Jupiter during the early evening hours of the 28th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 1st	at 51 minutes	after 9h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	" 10th	" 34	"	" 2 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 17th	" 58	"	" 5 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 24th	" 11	"	" 9 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 22nd, and most distant from it on the evening of the 6th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 2nd at 4h. 39m. p.m., or 8 minutes after sunset; on the 7th he sets at 4h. 35m. p.m., on the 12th at 4h. 33m. p.m., on the 17th at 4h. 33m. p.m., on the 22nd at 4h. 34m. p.m., and on the 27th at 4h. 40m. p.m., or 34 minutes after sunset. It will be seen from the above times that the setting of this planet differs but little throughout the month. He is (the fourth time this year) at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 9th, and near the Moon on the 23th.

VENUS rises on the 7th at 6h. 23m. a.m., or 42 minutes before sunrise, and is a morning star. She rises on the 17th at 6h. 55m. a.m., or 28 minutes before sunrise; on the 27th at 7h. 28m. a.m., or 11 minutes only before sunrise. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 13m. a.m., on the 11th at 11h. 22m. a.m., on the 21st at 11h. 32m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 44m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 24th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 5h. 38m. a.m., or 1h. 37m. before sunrise, which interval gradually increases to 1h. 55m. by the 17th (the planet rising at 5h. 28m. a.m.), and to about 2h. 18m. by the 27th (the planet rising at 5h. 24m. a.m.). He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 48m. a.m., on the 11th at 10h. 34m. a.m., on the 21st at 10h. 20m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 6m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 22nd.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 9h. 32m. p.m., on the 7th at 9h. 15m. p.m., on the 17th at 8h. 44m. p.m., on the 27th at 8h. 14m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 5m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 25m. p.m., on the 11th at 4h. 51m. p.m., on the 21st at 4h. 18m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 3h. 49m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 26th.

SATURN sets on the 1st at 2h. 59m. a.m., on the 8th at 2h. 29m. a.m., on the 18th at 1h. 48m. a.m., on the 20th at 1h. 7m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 0h. 50m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 8m. p.m., in the middle of the month at 8h. 13m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 12m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the last day.

BATTLE OF PLEVNA.

DECEMBER.

The Moon is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 2nd and 3rd, being to the right of the planet on the 2nd and to the left on the 3rd. She is near Mars during the morning hours of the 21st, is near both Mercury and Venus on the 24th, but the Moon is only one day old. She is near Jupiter during the early evening hours of the 30th, and near Saturn during the evening hours of the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

First Quarter	on the 1st	at 33 minutes after 4h.	in the afternoon.
Full Moon	" 9th	" 50 "	" 7 "
Last Quarter	" 17th	" 3 "	" 8 "
New Moon	" 23rd	" 24 "	" 9 "
First Quarter	" 31st	" 57 "	" 1 "

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 20th, and most distant from it at noon on the 4th.

MERCURY is an evening star till the 26th, setting on the 2nd at 4h. 50m. p.m., or 56 minutes after sunset, on the 7th at 5h. 0m. p.m., or 1h. 10m. after sunset; on the 12th at 5h. 7m. p.m., or 1h. 18m. after the Sun; on the 17th at 5h. 3m. p.m., or 1h. 14m. after sunset; on the 22nd at 4h. 39m. p.m., or 48 minutes after sunset; on the 26th the planet and Sun set nearly together, and the planet sets in daylight after this day. He rises about sunrise on the 24th, and at 7h. 0m. a.m., or 1h. 9m. before sunrise, on the last day of the year. He is at his greatest eastern elongation (30 deg. 45 min.) on the 8th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 16th, in his ascending node on the 18th (the fifth time this year), at his least distance from the Sun on the 23rd, near the Moon on the 24th, and near Venus on the same day; and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 30th.

VENUS rises at about the time of sunrise on the 6th, and from this day she rises in daylight. She sets at sunset on the 6th, at 4h. 0m. p.m., or 11 minutes after sunset, on the 17th; at 4h. 16m. p.m., or 31 minutes after the Sun, on the 27th; and at 4h. 25m. p.m., or 27 minutes after sunset, on the last day of the year. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 46m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 6m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 31m. p.m. She is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 5th, in her descending node on the 7th, and near the Moon on the 24th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 5h. 26m. a.m., or 2h. 27m. before sunrise; on the 17th at 5h. 26m. a.m., or 2h. 38m. before the Sun; on the 27th at 5h. 26m. a.m., or 2h. 42m. before sunrise; and on the last day of the year at 5h. 24m. a.m., or 2h. 46m. before the Sun. He crosses the meridian, or is due south, on the 1st at 10h. 7m. a.m., on the 11th at 9h. 55m. a.m., on the 21st at 9h. 44m. a.m., and on the last day of the year at 9h. 35m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st.

JUPITER is an evening star, and sets at 8h. 2m. p.m. on the 1st, at 7h. 45m. p.m. on the 7th, at 7h. 17m. p.m. on the 17th, at 6h. 50m. p.m. on the 27th, and at 6h. 39m. p.m. on the last day of the year. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 46m. p.m., on the 11th at 3h. 14m. p.m., on the 21st at 2h. 48m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 2h. 13m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 26th.

SATURN sets on the 6th at 0h. 29m. a.m., on the 17th at 11h. 52m. p.m., on the 27th at 11h. 15m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 11h. 0m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 8m. p.m., on the 11th at 6h. 28m. p.m., on the 21st at 5h. 51m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 5h. 18m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 3rd and again on the 30th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 18th.

PATH OF SATURN FROM FEBRUARY 23, 1878, TO MARCH 17, 1879.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1878.

DURING the year 1878 there will be two Eclipses of the Sun and two of the Moon.

The first will be an Annular Eclipse of the Sun on Feb. 2, invisible from Europe.

The Eclipse begins on the Earth generally at 56 minutes after 5 o'clock in the morning, Greenwich mean time, in longitude 30 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 84 deg. S.

The Central Eclipse begins at 38 minutes after 7h. a.m., in longitude 103 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 78 deg. S.

The Central Eclipse ends at 17 minutes after 9h. a.m., in longitude 149 deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 41 deg. S; and the Eclipse ends at 1 minute to 11h. a.m., in longitude 112 deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 12 deg. S.

The second is a Partial Eclipse of the Moon on Feb. 17, invisible from England.

The Eclipse begins at 43 minutes after 9h. a.m., Greenwich mean time; the middle of the Eclipse will be at 11 minutes after 11h. a.m.; and the Eclipse will end at 89 minutes after noon, Greenwich mean time.

At the time of the beginning of this Eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 143 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 12 deg. N.; at the time of the middle of the eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude west of Greenwich will be 184 deg., and latitude 114 deg. N.; and at the end of the eclipse the Moon will be directly overhead, at a place whose longitude is 174 deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 11 deg. N. At the time of greatest phase about four fifths of the Moon's diameter will be obscured.

The third of the year, will be a Total Eclipse of the Sun on July 29, invisible from Europe.

It begins on the Earth generally in longitude 144 deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 41 deg. N., at 18 minutes after 7h. p.m. in Greenwich mean time.

The Central Eclipse begins in longitude 117 deg. east, and latitude 54 deg. N., at 24 minutes after 8h. p.m.

The Central Eclipse ends in longitude 60 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 17 deg. N., at 10 minutes after 11h. p.m., Greenwich mean time.

The Eclipse ends on the Earth generally in longitude 91 deg. west, and latitude 33 deg. N., at a quarter of an hour after 12h. (midnight).

Eclipse visible from Europe during the year; it will take place on August 12. The fourth and last Eclipse of the year is one of the Moon, and the only and last.

The Eclipse begins at 48 minutes after 10h. p.m. on the 12th: the Moon on this evening rises at 7h. 18m. p.m.

The middle of the Eclipse will be at 8 minutes after midnight. The Eclipse ends at 34 minutes after 1h. in the morning of the 13th.

At the time of the greatest phase about three fifths of the diameter of the Moon will be obscured.

At the time of beginning of the Eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is 193 deg. east of Greenwich, and latitude 14 deg. S.

At the middle of the Eclipse the Moon will be in the zenith of a place whose longitude is a little more than 1 deg. west of Greenwich, and in latitude 14 deg. S.

At the end of the Eclipse the Moon will occupy the zenith of a place whose longitude is 22 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 14 deg. S.

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

14 bis, B.—A full deep Corset, especially for ladies inclined to embonpoint. The Swanbill is most effective in reducing the figure and keeping the form flat, so as to enable ladies to wear the fashionable vêtements of the day; busk, 18½ in. long. Price 41s. 6d.; finest quality, 51s.; scarlet, 15s. 6d. 15 bis, 14½ in. long, 25s.

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

20 bis, L.—This Corset is equally as effective in reducing the figure and keeping the form flat, in accordance with the present fashion, as 14 bis, B. It is a most graceful shape, intended for ladies requiring a medium depth of Corset. Busk, 12½ in. deep, 17s. 6d.; 11 in. deep, 14s. 6d.

SWANBILL CEINTURE CORSET.—An

admirable combination of Ceinture and Corset of novel and ingenious manufacture, combining the advantages of both Stay and Joan of Arc Belt. While supporting a graceful symmetry and elegance to the figure, it affords a degree of comfort to the wearer not to be derived from an ordinary corset. 16 in. deep. Price 42s. (See Illustration.)

SWANBILL CORSET (Registered).

51 bis.—Hand-made. Perfect in shape, and producing even in indifferent figures—that graceful contour which is the distinguishing feature of the present style of dress. Busk 18 in. long. Price 51s. 6d.

SOUS LA DIRECTION D'UNE CORSETIÈRE PARISIENNE.

The following is from the "Court Circular" of June 9, 1877:—

"The close-fitting Costumes that are now worn necessitate especial attention being bestowed upon the Corset; and I have given no little attention myself to the due consideration of the subject; the result is, on my part, a decided preference for the Swanbill Corset, registered by Mrs. Addley Bourne, of Piccadilly. It is adapted in arrangement to almost every figure. The general impression is, that it is only intended for the embonpoint of middle age. Undoubtedly the right adjustment of the Swanbill is invaluable for that. But, besides that, there is the Swanbill Corset that combines Ceinture and Joan of Arc Belt, and the Maitenon Corset with the unbreakable Busks, and the French Corset with mille balaines—a thousand bones—affording the utmost support, and subtly suiting itself to the most slender, most elegant, or most fully developed figure. It really is such a wrinkle for us to know where we can get a really good Corset that I hope my readers will forgive an allusion to such an article of the toilet from an old friend.—STON BARN."

WHAT EVERY TRAVELLING-TRUNK AND HOUSEHOLD IN THE WORLD OUGHT TO CONTAIN—A BOTTLE OF

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

WITHOUT SUCH A SIMPLE PRECAUTION, THE JEOPARDY OF LIFE IS IMMEDIATELY INCURRED.

HOW TO PREVENT THREE GREAT SCOURGES OF LIFE—CONSUMPTION, BLOOD POISONS, AND EPIDEMICS, by pleasant, simple, and natural means. In an able paper published in the pages of the "British Medical Journal," Dr. W. R. Ross states that liver derangement almost invariably precedes Consumption. By using the FRUIT SALT the blood is kept pure (by natural means), and the deposit of poisonous matter in the lungs prevented.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT is particularly valuable. No traveller should leave home without a supply, for by its use the most dangerous forms of fever, gouty, rheumatic, and other blood poisons, very often causing apoplexy, heart disease, and sudden death, &c., are prevented and cured.

AS A HEALTH-GIVING, Refreshing, Cooling, and Invigorating SUMMER BEVERAGE, or for any season, as a Gentle Laxative and Tonic in the various forms of Indigestion. (Guaranteed to be prepared from sound Ripe Fruit.)

The Fruit Salt is one of Nature's own products. It contains all the valuable saline constituents of Ripe Fruit in a portable, agreeable, and simple form, and is in every respect as harmless as the juices of fruits from which it is obtained. In Pimples and Blisters on the Face, Sallowness of the Skin, and Depression of Spirits, it is most useful, for not the least of its recommendations is its resemblance to fruit in the natural way in which it relieves the system of effete or poisonous matter, which, if retained, poisons the blood, and its advantage over fruit is that it can be always at hand when required. Its preparation has been truly styled one of the triumphs of modern chemistry. In hot or feverish climates it is invaluable. It allays nervous excitement, and restores the nervous system to its proper condition (by natural means). In the autumn it is beyond praise.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

IT IS THE BEST PREVENTIVE OF AND CURE FOR

BILIOUSNESS, Sick Headache, Skin Eruptions, Pimples on the Face, Giddiness, Feverishness or Feverish Colds, Mental Depression, Want of Appetite, Constipation, Vomiting, Thirst, &c., and to remove the effects of Excess of Eating and Drinking. It is invaluable to those who are Fagged, Worn, or Worn Out, or anyone whose duties require them to undergo Mental or Unnatural Excitement or Strain. If its great value in keeping the body in health were universally known, no family would be without it.

Notwithstanding its medical value, the Fruit Salt must be looked upon as essential as breathing fresh air, or as a simple and safe beverage under all circumstances, and may be taken as a sparkling and refreshing draught, in the same way as lemonade, soda-water, potash-water, &c., only it is much cheaper and better in every sense of the term, to an unlimited extent. Being a genuine product of nature, it is a true or natural way of restoring or preserving health. On that account it is impossible to overstate its value; and if its great value in keeping the body in health were universally known, no family would be without it.

TO EUROPEANS WHO PROPOSE VISITING OR

RESIDING IN HOT CLIMATES, I consider the Fruit Salt to be an indispensable necessity, for by its use the system is relieved of all poisonous matter, the result of eating to nearly the same extent, and of too rich food, as they do in a colder country, while so much heat-making food is not required in the warmer climate. By keeping the system clear, the Fruit Salt takes away the groundwork of malarious diseases and all liver complaints, and neutralises poisonous matters.

A NATURAL WAY OF RESTORING OR PRESERVING HEALTH.—Use Eno's Fruit Salt (prepared from sound ripe fruit). It is a pleasant beverage, both cooling, refreshing, and invigorating.

OUT OF A LARGE NUMBER OF TESTIMONIALS

we select the following:—

WORTHY OF NOTICE.—PALPITATION of the HEART caused by Liver Derangement and Indigestion, frequently called (or mistaken for) HEART DISEASE:—

"On April 14 I purchased a bottle of your Fruit Salt, not feeling very well at the time, and it had an effect that I never anticipated when I bought it. I had suffered, more or less, since the year 1841 from Palpitation of the Heart, but very badly during the last few years. The least thing would produce it during the day, and at night my sleep was very much disturbed. Strange to say, after the first dose of Fruit Salt the dangerous, annoying, and truly disagreeable symptoms of palpitation suddenly ceased, and have not since returned. Out of gratitude for the benefit I have received I have recommended it to all my friends both in London and Yarmouth; at the same time, I feel it a duty to state the above facts, of which you can make whatever use you please.

I am, dear Sir, yours respectfully, W. E. BUCKWELL.
"Aug. 30, 1877. 10, York-square, Commercial-road, London, E."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—"14, Rue de la Paix, Paris, Jan. 16, 1877.—A gentleman called in yesterday. He is a constant sufferer from chronic dyspepsia, and has taken all sorts of mineral waters. I recommended him to give your Salt a trial, which he did, and received great benefit. He says he never knew what it was to be without pain until he tried your Salt, and for the future shall never be without it in the house.—M. BERAL."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—A Gentleman writes:—"I feel quite certain if your Fruit Salt was known in India and the colonies that the sale would not be limited to thousands of bottles per annum, but many millions. India alone would use more than all England."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—A M.D. (Edin.) and M.R.C.S., L.A.C., London, writes:—"I am much pleased with your Fruit Salt, having tried it on myself. Your theory and remarks are most reasonable. Having nearly died of typhoid when studying at college, being only one out of sixteen who recovered, I mean to go in well for purifying the blood. Though I am sixty-three, I have not the least doubt it will be very serviceable to me."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

"Jersey—4, Boulevard, Jersey, 18th Nov.
"Dear Sir,—Since you advertised us as your agents for Eno's Fruit Salt we have had a very large sale for it—in fact, more so than any other patent medicine; and in all cases our customers have been satisfied with the results, and afterwards have strongly recommended it to their friends. I am sure you cannot overstate its great value.—Yours respectfully,
"J. C. B. BAKER, Jersey."

THE ILLUSTRATED GUIDE FOR AMATEUR GARDENERS—SPRING, 1878.

Price 1s., post-free. Gratis to all Customers and Foreign Residents.

Profusely Illustrated with many beautiful Coloured and other Engravings, and containing upwards of one hundred pages of letterpress, with copious Notes on the Rearing of various plants from Seeds, Cultivation of Garden Crops, &c., together with a fully-descriptive Catalogue of Choice Kitchen Garden and Flower Seeds, and all the Novelties of the Season. The most complete and splendid Seed Catalogue ever published. Should be read by everyone having a garden.

When the illustrations we have seen this year, were for the outside of that issued by the Bros. Daniels, of Norwich. It seems almost impossible for anyone to be so successful in so many respects as our "Illustrated Amateur's Guide" of this firm: the colours are so admirably blended, and the arrangements so judicious, and the text so full in character with the beauty of the exterior; and we do not know of a more useful or beautiful Seed Catalogue to be so cheaply obtained.

AMERICAN CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION MEDAL

FRY'S COCOA.

In Half-pound and Quarter-pound Packets, and One-pound Tins.

The Caracas Cocoa specially recommended by the Manufacturers is prepared from the celebrated Cocoa of Caracas, combined with other choice descriptions. Purchasers should ask specially for "Fry's Caracas Cocoa," to distinguish it from other varieties.

"A most delicious and valuable article."—Standard.

"No more delicious, refreshing, nourishing, and wholesome beverage has ever been manufactured."—Morning Post.

FRY'S EXTRACT OF COCOA.

In Packets and Tins.

A perfectly pure and delicious beverage, prepared exclusively from Choice Cocoa Nibs deprived of the superfluous Oil.

"The 'Extract of Cocoa,' which really consists of Cocoa Nibs deprived of superfluous oil, than which, if properly prepared, there is no nicer or more wholesome preparation of Cocoa."—Food, Water, and Air—Dr. Hassall.

FRY'S HOMŒOPATHIC COCOA.

In Half-pound and Quarter-pound Packets, and One-pound Tins.

This Cocoa is highly approved and strongly recommended by many eminent members of the Medical Profession, and is an article equally adapted for those under Homœopathic treatment, for invalids, and for general consumers.

FRY'S CHOCOLATE CREAMS ARE DELICIOUS SWEETMEATS.

TEN EXHIBITION PRIZE MEDALS

AWARDED TO

J. B. FRY AND SONS, BRISTOL AND LONDON.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.

If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

should always be used when children are cutting teeth; it relieves the little sufferers at once, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world, at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle; and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue.

Manufactory, 493, Oxford-street, London.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalcula," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke: being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the toothbrush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly each morning if only left to their own choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the toothbrush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. FLORILINE is prepared only by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London, and sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world, at 2s. 6d. per bottle. "Floriline" Powder put up in large glass jars, price 1s.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES,

for the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH, or any irritation or soreness of the Throat, are now imported and sold in this Country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box, put up in the form of a "lozenge." It is the most convenient, pleasant, safe, and sure remedy for clearing and strengthening the voice known in the world. The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says:—"I have often recommended them to friends who were public speakers, and in many cases they have proved extremely serviceable." The genuine have the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" on the Government Stamp around each Box. Sold by all Medicine Venders throughout the world. London Depot, 493, Oxford-street.

Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere. Price 3s. 6d.

LAXORA LOZENGES.

MANUFACTURED with the greatest care, this preparation will be found the most valuable remedy for Constipation, Habitual Costiveness, Sluggishness of the Stomach, Bile, Headache, and especially useful for children and ladies. It gives immediate relief, and the flavour is agreeable. It does not interfere with any medicine the patient may be taking at the same time. It is recommended by eminent physicians for its efficacy and mildness, as it does not purge.

SOLD in BOXES, containing eight lozenges, at 1s. 1<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>d., by all Chemists and Druggists.

ANALYTICAL REPORT, by C. R. C. Tichborne, Ph.D., F.C.S., M.R.I.A., Chemist to the Apothecaries' Hall of Ireland, &c.—LAXORA LOZENGES:—"Some considerable popularity has lately been obtained by aperient medicines made up in the form of confectionery. These palatable compounds chiefly emanate from France. The cook par excellence is the Frenchman, and as a nation they carry this peculiarity into their medicines. The Laxora Lozenges are of this confectionery class. They are efficacious and nicely made, and can be safely administered as a mild and agreeable laxative medicine. They can be safely recommended."—"Medical Press and Circular," April 18, 1877 Sold by all Chemists and Druggists, in boxes, at 1s. 1<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>d., including Government stamp Forwarded by post on receipt of 1s. 3d. in postage stamps. Wholesale 82, Southwark-street, London, S.E.

THE LANCET, Jan. 19, 1877, says:—"LAXORA LOZENGES. We have no hesitation in recommending this preparation as a useful because mild aperient. The Lozenges are exceedingly pleasant to the taste, and will be regarded by the children simply as 'sweeties.' It is a great improvement on the preparations which are in common use for the same purpose, and will be really valuable in families."

LAXORA.—The most pleasant remedy for Constipation. Sold, One Shilling and Three-halfpence, by all Chemists and Druggists.

DR. LELIEVRE'S ICELAND-MOSS INSTANTANEOUS POULTICE.

ICELAND-MOSS POULTICE.—Approved by the Academy of Medicine, adopted by the Hospitals of Paris, by the Military Ambulances, and the Navy Hospitals, &c.

WHENEVER a POULTICE is WANTED, please ask your Chemist for the (new Poultice) Dr LELIEVRE'S. Far superior to linseed or bread poultices, and cheaper.

This NEW POULTICE is INSTANTANEOUS, for it is ready in a few seconds, and offers the following advantages:—Readiness for use; it can be cut to any size; it can be used with hot or cold water; it can be used with any lotion or chemicals several times; it keeps good in any climate for years; it can be placed on the neck, eye, ear, or any part of the head by the patient without any help, and with ease; it can be placed under the arm in cases of abscess, or any part of the body, with comfort; it is so light that it is hardly noticed, and does not prevent the patient from getting up and walking.

The POULTICE, with Covering, is made and sold by RIGOLLOT and CO. 1s. and 2s. packet.—82, Southwark-street, London.

which in the space usually occupied by, and serving the same purpose as, a small Centre Table, forms an elegant China Cabinet and Drawing-Room Bookcase, adapted to modern tastes and requirements.

In addition to the above, it contains the following conveniences—viz. WRITING-DESK and DAVENPORT, with INK, STATIONERY, and other DRAWERS, an ENCLOSED CABINET for Loose and Bound Music, Portfolios, &c.; READING and MUSIC STANDS, EASELS for DRAWING, PAINTING, and exhibiting Sketches, Prints, Photos, &c.; besides arrangements for CHESS, DRAUGHTS, BACKGAMMON, CRIBBAGE, BEZIQUE, WHIST, &c. All readily accessible, without disturbing anything on top of Cabinet.

Long experience and acquaintance with these matters warrants the Patentee in asserting that there is no invention extant which in so small a space combines so many conveniences, and with such elegant exterior.

The Bijou Cabinet is made either as a simple Centre China and Music Cabinet and Bookcase, without the upper fittings, as shown at A, or with upper part fitted complete, as A1.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE, THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY TRUE,

It is allowed to be the greatest discovery of the present century, and is largely employed by the most eminent Medical Men, in Hospital and Private Practice, in all parts of the world.

It is the best remedy known for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

It effectually checks those too-often fatal diseases—Fever, Ague, Croup, Whooping-Cough.

It acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

It effectually cures short attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, Convulsions, and Spasms.

It is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Tic Doreux, Cancer, Toothache, and all Nerve Pain. It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause; allays the irritation of fever; soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases; and produces quiet and refreshing sleep. IMPORTANT CAUTION.—As there are other preparations sold under the name of Chlorodyne, but entirely devoid of its wonderful medicinal and chemical properties, the Public are requested to notice that THE ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE is known by the Government Stamp having engraved upon it the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE," and each Wrapper, Label and Handbill bearing an impression of the Trade-Mark, the "ELEPHANT," without which none is genuine.

THE "TIMES," AUG. 13, 1877. "From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army."

"The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE with which I EFFECTED MIRACULOUS CURES."

From M. BORISOV BASTHELEMY, Delegate of the Society for the Relief of the Wounded Decorated with the Cross of the Convention of Geneva.

"I hereby attest that the Chlorodyne manufactured by RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, of London, is the best remedy against CHOLERA and DYSENTERY, and further attest, as Director of the Anglo-American Ambulance, and of French prisoners during the War of 1870 to 1871, that a large number of those under my care were attacked with Dysentery, and that by means of his Chlorodyne they were in a few days perfectly cured."

"(Signed) "BORISOV BASTHELEMY."

Four Chancery Suits each terminated in favour of "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," and against the proprietors of Collis Brown's; Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, and Lord Justice Malins strongly condemned the proceedings of Brown and Daventry, and compelled them to pay all costs."—See "Times," April 29, 1873, and July 28, 1873. Manufactured by the Sole Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, 70, Kennington Park-road, London, S.E. Sold by all Patent Medicine Dealers, in Bottles, 1s. 1½d.; 2-oz., 2s. 9d.; 4-oz., 4s. 6d.; 8-oz., 8s.; 10-oz., 11s.; and 20-oz., 20s. each.—BE NOT PERUADED TO BUY ANY SUBSTITUTE.

ARTIFICIAL EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS. GROSSMITH'S

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the patient to walk, sit, or ride with ease and comfort, wherever simplified. They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety. They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Juries to be "excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others."

The PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

OPINION OF THE PRESS.
"Silks are, it is said, sold cheaper here, than in any other house in London. We can quite understand this diminution of prices, from the simple fact that the rent and taxes, necessarily so high in West-End quarters, do not press on the East-End Merchant, who can thus afford to sell at lower figures."—English Churchman, May 31, 1877.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S

CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE

is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered. It is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma. Effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Group, Ague. Acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. Effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms. Is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, Dec. 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manila to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the only remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE, that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to."—See "Times," July 12, 1864.
Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1/2, 2s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine, without the words, "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

Sole Manufacturer—J. T. DAVENPORT, Great Russell-street, Bloomsbury, London.

EGERTON BURNETT'S ROYAL WELLINGTON SERGES.

"The Court Circular," "The Queen," "Myra's Journal," &c., testify to the superiority of EGERTON BURNETT'S SERGES as par excellence the material for Ladies' wear.

REMEMBER LAMPLOUGH'S

PYRETIC SALINE.

AND HAVE IT IN YOUR HOUSES.

It is most Invigorating, Vitalizing, and Refreshing. Gives Instant Relief in HEADACHES, SNA or BILIOUS SICKNESS, and Quickly Cures the Worst Form of ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS. The various diseases arising from Climatic causes, Constipation, the Liver, or Blood Impurities, Inoculation, the Results of Breathing Air Infected with Fever, Measles, or SMALLPOX, are frequently prevented and these diseases cured by its use.

ANY PERSON WHO HAS ALREADY SMALLPOX should take it, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent its leaving any trace on the features.

The numerous statements and letters relating to its marvellous effect, as a positive cure in TYPHUS, SCARLET FEVER, SMALLPOX, and other BLOOD POISONS, are most remarkable, and are painfully suggestive of great neglect, whenever the PYRETIC SALINE is not employed in these diseases.

"It furnishes the Blood with its lost Saline constituents."—DR. MORGAN, M.D., &c.

The late DR. TUBBY states in his letters and lectures:—"I found it act as a specific in the worst form of Scarlet Fever, NO OTHER Medicine being given."

FISHER'S "SIMPLICITY."

FISHER'S DINING AND BILLIARD TABLE COMBINED

Has the great advantage of not requiring a separate room for a Billiard Table, and is quickly and easily converted into a Billiard Table by simply lifting off the flaps, under which is the Billiard Table, and placing blocks under the legs, which are made to adjust by screws. It is pronounced to be perfect as either, and is made lighter and stronger than the ordinary Billiard Tables, to allow of its being moved about, and is equal for play to any Table made. Slate Bed, improved Cushions, Four Cues, One Rest, One Mace, Mahogany Marking-Board, Three Ivory Balls, &c. It can also be used without being raised on the blocks, to suit children or short people.

alone conduce to a healthy life. If you wish to secure this, use only

KAYE'S WORSDELL'S PILLS,

which, acting on the blood, purify it from all humours, rendering the life-giving fluid healthy in its action, and consequently restoring and establishing the health of the invalid. The Proprietor has in his possession thousands of testimonials bearing witness to their efficacy.

THESE PILLS ARE INVALUABLE TO EMIGRANTS, being a Certain Remedy for all Diseases of the Stomach, Lungs, Liver, &c. Are equally adapted for all ages and either sex.

Persons residing in the Colonies who cannot have recourse to medical advice will therefore find them indispensable.

SOLD BY CHEMISTS AND PERFUMERS EVERYWHERE.

THE FIRST ILLUSTRATED NEWSPAPER EVER PUBLISHED,

HAS NOW BEEN IN EXISTENCE OVER A THIRD OF A CENTURY.

As might have been expected, its appearance called into existence imitators, not only in this country, but throughout the world. Many of these had but a brief existence, and others flourished in exact proportion as they followed more or less closely their prototype. Not one of them, however, has achieved anything like the great success of the original.

The Engravings.

Neither cost nor trouble has been spared to illustrate, from Original Sketches—many of them by Special Artists, sent to foreign lands—events of public interest in every quarter of the globe. This course has been undeviatingly pursued from the commencement of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS to the present time. It is, doubtless, owing to the fidelity of these Illustrations and to the jealous care with which objectionable subjects are excluded, that it has continued to rise in public favour, and finds a welcome in every home.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The extensive circulation of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS throughout the United Kingdom, in the colonies, and in all other parts of the world, renders it an excellent medium for Advertising; and, considering the area of its circulation, the charges are moderate.

INTERESTING LETTER

From Mr. GAMIS to Messrs. ROBERTS and CO., Yeovil, July 23, 1868.—“Gentlemen.—A highly respectable female, who has for many years been a customer at my shop, told me that one box of PAIN’S PILLS had done her health and constitution more good than all the medicine she had previously taken. Her health had been much shattered from worms; but the immortal PAIN’S Medicine had completely destroyed them, and she is now enjoying excellent health. Another instance of their good effect was in the case of a young man who had been unable to work for seven months, and who, by taking two boxes, was enabled to go to his usual employment. A short time since a gentleman of London, who had been staying in a neighbouring village, and who was about returning home, called for a 2s. 6d. Box of Pills, and told me it was the only Medicine that did him any good, after all the medical advice he could get (and he had had the best); he further said that a person who had experienced the value of them had recommended them to him, and that it would in future be his Family Medicine. In fact, in some villages in this neighbourhood they repudiate all other medicines.—I am, yours truly, J. GAMIS.”

Sole Proprietors, T. ROBERTS and CO., 8, Crane-court, Fleet-street, London. PAIN’S LIFE PILLS sold by all Medicine Venders, in Boxes, 1s. 1½d., 2s. 6d., and, in Family Packets, 11s. each. Directions with each Box.

WRIGHT’S COAL-TAR SOAP.

This Soap is purifying, disinfecting, and antiseptic. It cleanses, purifies, and sweetens the skin, imparting to it rare brilliancy, fragrance, and smoothness. It destroys all itching and disagreeable odour from the person, and renders the whole body sweet and wholesome. It is an elegant toilet soap sweetly scented, a great preserver of health, and preserves its hardness in water. Mothers should use it in the baths of their infants and children, on account of its purifying and cleansing qualities, and as a preventive for the many forms of skin diseases to which infants and children are so liable. It purifies and disinfects the body after an attack of scarlatina, smallpox, and other kindred diseases.

“In our hands it has been a most effective agent in the case of various skin diseases.”—The Lancet

“It is the only true antiseptic soap with which we are acquainted.”—The British Medical Journal

Penny Illustrated Paper,

A WEEKLY PICTORIAL RECORD OF NEWS FOR THE FAMILY.

The Editor aims to make the PENNY ILLUSTRATED PAPER a lively, agreeable, and chatty Pictorial Newspaper for HOME READING. For ONE PENNY A WEEK the Subscriber to the PENNY ILLUSTRATED PAPER has a Complete Pictorial Chronicle of the Times We Live In. Portraits and Memoirs of Eminent Personages appear; and Every Event of Public Interest—whether it be a Cause Célèbre such as “The Penge Mystery,” or the Derby; Varsity Boat-Race, or the Production of a Successful Play—will be found amply limned. On May 5, 1877, A PICTORIAL CHRONICLE OF profusely illustrated by Sketches of Crossing the Danube, Passage of the Shipka and Fighting in the Pass, the Sanguinary Battles of Plevna, Baker Pasha in Action, the Siege of Kars and the Campaign in Armenia, Portraits of the Turkish and Russian Commanders, and Maps of the Theatres of War—began in the PENNY ILLUSTRATED PAPER; and has been so fully appreciated by the PUBLIC that the Circulation has rapidly and largely increased from week to week. The extended demand for the PENNY ILLUSTRATED PAPER has, indeed, been so great that it has been found necessary to construct a new Rotary Machine, “The Ingram,” which prints the Paper on both sides, and folds it, at the rate of 8500 copies an hour.

THE RUSSO-TURKISH WAR—

THE PENNY ILLUSTRATED PAPER is therefore A CAPITAL MEDIUM FOR ADVERTISERS, whose announcements are inserted on the following terms:—Four Lines or less (Single Column), 4s.; per Line additional, 1s.; Paragraph Advertisements, per Line, 1s. 6d.

THE PENNY ILLUSTRATED PAPER is supplied direct by the Publisher, post-free, for Three Months, 1s. 6d.; for Six Months, 8s. 3d.; for Twelve Months, 6s. 6d., to all parts of the United Kingdom. Prepayment required in all cases in halfpenny stamps or by Post-office orders, payable at the East Strand Post-office to Thomas Fox, 10, Milford-lane, Strand, London, W.C.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—The Civil Service Gazette.

From All the Year Round (Edited by Chas. Dickens).

"Having now disposed of fancy Chocolates, let us stroll to the Euston-road, hard by the Regent's Park, to Epps's Cocoa Manufactory, where may be studied the making of Cocoa on a stupendous scale, giving a just idea of the value of these articles, not as luxuries, but as actual food"—See article.

From the Court Journal.

"One of the first to popularise this now indispensable adjunct to our table, was Mr. James Epps, whose 'Prepared Cocoa' has gained such just repute for its excellent qualities and nutritious character. Prepared originally on homoeopathic principles, in a soluble and convenient form, and easy of digestion, it met a public demand, speedily became popular, until now Messrs. Epps produce four million pounds of their Cocoa a year, and their manufactory is the largest of its kind in this country."—See article.

From Cassell's Household Guide.

"We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their Works in the Euston-road, London."—See article.

From The Christian World.

"If I am to take Cocoa," said I, "I must know what it is made of, I must examine the process; I must dive into the mystery of its manufacture; I must see and judge for myself what are the ingredients of which it is composed; for, in more senses than one, as Longfellow writes:—

'The soul is dead that slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.'

With this view I made my way to the Cocoa Manufactory of James Epps and Co., in the Euston-road."—See article.

PARLIAMENTARY VOTING QUALIFICATIONS.—The persons entitled to the Parliamentary franchise are: (1). The separate occupier of any dwelling-house or premises within the City who is rated to all rates made for the relief of the poor in respect of such premises, and who has on or before July 20 previous to the last revision of the Register paid all rates due up to the preceding Jan. 5. (2). The rated occupier of any portion of premises of the clear annual value of £10 who has similarly substantiated his claim. In each place there must be occupation as well as tenancy, and the claimant must have been an inhabitant of the City for twelve calendar months, and must prove that he has resided within twenty-five miles of the City within six months previous to July 31. Distance is measured from the boundary of the City nearest to the place in which the person resides. The overseers are required to publish lists of all persons rated in their respective parishes. (3). Lodgers who have been for twelve months previous to the last day of July the sole tenants of apartments of the net annual value of £10, and who claim to be placed on the list by the overseers before August 25 in the current year. (4). Liverymen who are on the list passed by the revising barrister at the last revision of the electoral register, with the above qualification, as to residence within the previous six months. No person can vote more than once in any one election, however many qualifications he may possess.

PARLIAMENTARY CONSTITUENCIES.—A return issued by order of Parliament, gives the population and constituencies of the counties and boroughs of the United Kingdom in 1871; the number of electors in 1868 and 1877; the area in square miles; the number of members, and the amount of property and Income tax charged for the last year for which the returns were made up. For England and Wales the population in 1871 was 22,712,112; the number of electors in 1868 was 1,191,180, while in the year 1877 they were 2,377,522; the area in square miles, 58,264; the number of members, 469; and the total amount of property and profits assessed to Income tax for the year ended April 5, 1878, was £410,180,065. For Scotland the population was 3,352,460; the number of electors in 1868, 239,538, and in 1877, 303,098; the area was 30,528 square miles; the number of members, 60; and the amount of property and Income tax charged was £53,923,912. For Ireland the population in 1871 was 5,412,377; the number of electors in 1868 was 222,454, while in 1877 the number was 227,372; the area in square miles was 33,541; the number of members was 108; and the amount of property and profits assessed to Income tax was £1,304,557. This gives a grand total for the United Kingdom of a population in 1871 of 31,476,955; the number of electors in 1868, 2,453,490, and in 1877, 2,908,677; an area of 121,325 square miles; and 652 members of Parliament.

Of the 68 Irish Liberals only 13 are properly so called. The rest are Home Rulers. The 13 represent the constituencies of Bandon, Carrickfergus, Coleraine, Dungannon, Kerry (one seat), Kildare (one seat), Kilkenny, King's County (one seat), Londonderry County (two seats), Newry, Trillick, and Waterford County (one seat). Some even of the 13 owe their seats to the Home Rule vote. Of the 37 Conservatives there are three who advocate Home Rule, and they represent the constituencies of Galway (one seat), Westmeath (one seat), and Youghal.

LARNACA, THE MODERN PORT OF CYPRUS.—FROM A DRAWING BY H. HARPER.

Our Coloured Illustrations.

A TWELVEMONTH IN LILLIPUT.

The United Kingdom of Great Lilliput and Dwarfland consists of two islands, quite large enough for all their inhabitants, each of whom is personally small. Their geographical situation in the western sea, off the populous Continent of Ingenuia, has enriched the Lilliputians with the profits of maritime trade. Many private fortunes have been accumulated, supporting a highly respectable class of squires and their ladies, whose days are mostly spent in social and domestic pastime. The manners and customs of this harmless folk have recently employed the pencil of a Special Artist. He was enabled, by the enterprising liberality of our proprietors, to furnish the Illustrated London Almanack with sketches made by him during a whole year's residence in that interesting country. Twelve of these, representing the different occupations of leisurely and opulent Lilliputians in successive months of the solar cycle, are reproduced by Messrs. Leighton Brothers in the Colour-Prints of this publication; Mr. George Cruikshank, the younger, is the Artist by whom they were actually drawn.

It will at once be observed that the fashions of dress, in "Lilliput As It Is," bear some resemblance to those which prevailed in England As It Was, under the reign of some one or other of the Four Georges. The fact is, as every person decently instructed in modern history ought to remember, that Lilliput was conquered by the allied English and Hanoverian armies early in the last century. So it was that their Georgian Majesties used sometimes to visit the islands, holding their tedious Court of periwigs and snuff-boxes, frills and furbelows, small swords and canes and fans, drinking their dishes of tea, and talking their indispensible scandal, or playing at Faro and Pope Joan, or discussing the merits of a vase, a picture, a pug-dog, a poetical epistle, a soprano singer, or Sir Robert or Sir Paul. Hence it came to pass that the Lilliputian nobility and gentry, male and female, adopted such remarkable costumes; the one sex equipped with huge collars and stuff neckcloths, tight breeches, Hessian boots, or delicate silk stockings and pumps, and preposterous cocked hats; the other, with bonnets like big dish-covers, surmounted by great bunches of ribbons, feathers, and flowers; short-waisted gowns of stout bombazine or taffeta, none of your flimsy printed stuffs; all the apparel of your great-great-grandmother, if you ever had any such relation. How do you know that you ever had? Look at those funny little folk of our fantastic Lilliput again; they toil not, neither do they spin, but divert themselves in diverse methods during the twelve changeable months of the full revolving year. We can tell you their proper names, their tastes and humours, their mutual friendships, flirtations, jealousies, and quarrels, neighbourly acquaintance in the pleasant country town of Idleville, a fashionable spa of medicinal waters, and a favourite residence of families who want to kill their time and spend their money. It is situated in the midlands of Lilliput, among the leafy oaks and elms of Ban-shire, with a easy reach of most of the national sports, and but two hours' railway ride from the mighty metropolis. Idleville has no trade or work but that of studying how to take it easy. Recreation is the local deity, worshipped most devoutly by its appointed priesthood, the votaries of a graceful gentility, to whose wants and wishes the rest of the population have only to minister. A few hundred of the upper class, with incomes of £500 to £2000 a year, are thus punctually waited upon by a few thousand shopkeepers, hotel-keepers, horse-keepers, coach-drivers, servants in and out of livery, tailors, milliners, confectioners, bath and billiard-room keepers, occasional lecturers and musicians; not to mention Dr. Blandy, the assiduous medical attendant; and the Rev. Mr. Chasuble, incumbent of St. Angelina, where High Church services of a superior quality are duly administered on Sunday mornings, and on Wednesday evenings in the Idleville season.

The Lilliputian year, so far resembling the European, begins with the month of January. It is, by another coincidence, apt to be cold in that month. Natural philosophers have observed, as well there as in other climates of the globe, that cold beyond a certain degree has the effect of converting water into ice. The surface of this frozen crust over the rivers and ponds invites to the exercise of skating. For this purpose, we are informed, a peculiar apparatus is contrived, to be worn on the feet; a pair of "skates," as they are called, wooden clogs or sandals, with iron plates attached beneath the soles, enable the skater to glide swiftly and gracefully upon the ice, turning with the slightest effort in any direction. Two couples of Lilliputian gentry, Sir Tim Bilberry and his lady in the foreground of the view, and Mr. and Miss Crimp, of Parsleydale, wheeling off to the right, may be seen in the first Coloured Illustration. We are glad to see Lady Bilberry takes good care of herself by wrapping up well in a furred pelisse, with a sufficient muff and boa, though she will scarcely need the protection of that clumsy umbrella.

It was from Miss Crimp, who is fond of gossip, that we gathered the story of Captain Quinchy's ardent suit to Araminta Silkestone, the great colliery heiress, and the proposal of marriage he brought her, in a Valentine letter with a stuck heart, on the Fourteenth of February. Araminta, you know, was brought up a Quakeress, though she has gone in for the worldly gaieties since the death of her guardian uncle, Ebenezer Plain. She professed not to know the custom of St. Valentine, or the meaning of hearts and darts, when the letter was presented to her, while she was staying at Lady Bilberry's house. But Miss Crimp is sure that was merely prudish affectation. She observes that the whole system of gallant mythology, from Cupid, whose bust of marble stands in the drawing-room, to the aforesaid symbols of amorous torment which adorn the wall-paper, is constantly on view at Bilberry House. It was impossible for Miss Silkestone to be so ignorant of what every girl and woman knows by instinct from the earliest age of consciousness. And she received a heap of other Valentines on the same day, which Betty was seen to lay upon the pianoforte, beside the young lady's chair, for her deliberate perusal.

The inclemency of much that passes for Spring weather is felt at Idleville as frequently as in any town or village of our own beloved land. The violence of March winds has a disturbing effect on the composure of orderly pedestrians. Sir Tim Bilberry and the ladies, of his family, who make a point of walking to church on Sundays, that the coachman and groom may not be obliged to break the Fourth Commandment, have sometimes the Sabbatical starch well-nigh blown out of them at the exposed corner of the wide Market Square. It was there too, as Miss Crimp tells us, that a grand specimen of feminine headgear, the new chapeau à la Tour de Babel, from Madame Folles Filles, of Pump-street, was overthrown by the rude vehemence of a sudden gust. This sumptuous article of apparel, with its muslin and satin appendages of portentous breadth, went sailing through the air, and up the wide archway of the Poultry Market, to the delight of mischievous boys. Sir Tim Bilberry, like a knight of chivalry, bravely pursued the chase and restored the fugitive chapeau to its distressed owner. The ground that day being dry and clean, it may be hoped that her Ladyship's finery was not fatally damaged. More unfortunate was the plight of her visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Whetmore, of Drageleton, when they dined with her on that rainy Tuesday in the third week of April. They had ordered their own carriage to meet them at the Park gate, as it was fine when they started to walk down the avenue; but the man did not come, and they had to trudge home through the lane, under a tremendous shower, by which they were thoroughly soaked. The lady, indeed, had borrowed a pair of pattens from Molly Russet, the lodge-keeper's wife, and both were furnished with umbrellas; but it was a most disastrous day, for Mr. Whetmore especially, who got cold from wet feet, having only his stockings and thin pumps, instead of Hessian boots.

"Oh, charming May!" There is a poetic and romantic tradition that this is the month of flowers. Dr. Watts, in his Hymns for Infant Minds, ventures to affirm that the rose is the peculiar glory of April and May. We have not found it so, but May has a few wild flowers of its own, and some of garden culture. The fair and flattered Araminta will deign to accept of a bouquet of such early growth, presented by her polite adorer, with a speech indirectly expressive of his sentiments regarding herself. The shrubbery in his grounds is full of fresh young verdure at this season of the promising year, which finely sets off the fair white marble of the classic statue and the Grecian colonnade. The elegant owner of this artificial paradise himself affects the grace of a Grecian bend. He is a perfect gentleman of the period; dressed, too, in the most perfect taste, with a morning gown of striped nankeen, a modest shirt-frill and ruffles, and a more than military cocked hat, while the watch-chain and seals at his fob, and his respectable crutched walking stick, prove the sedateness of his character as a county justice of the peace.

Another scene presents itself in June, when settled Midsummer weather invites some of the nobility to indulge in al fresco luncheon, beside the Fountain of Pan, which serves to cool their Liebfraumilch from the Rhine, where the napkin is spread on a stone sarcophagus, once the receptacle of a Senator's or a Proconsul's mortal remains. We have seen, perhaps, in the Villa Borghese Gardens at Rome, or somewhere at Naples, a party of ladies and gentlemen, or it might be a couple on their Italian wedding tour, who contrived to treat themselves with a picnic of this piquant sort, surrounded by the monuments of antiquity and of masterly art. Chicken-and-ham pie is none the worse, or the peaches and neotarnes of the sweet south, or the mellow draught of generous wine, for having the feast laid out of doors, under the green trees, at the mimic shrine of a Pagan tutelary deity, supposed to haunt the pleasant grove.

More in agreement, however, with ordinary English customs of life, is the July entertainment of a Regatta, with its yacht-races, and the fashionable company of spectators assembled in the balcony of a Marine Hotel. Here, if anywhere, is the "crème de la crème" of the finest society in the world, attired in the most sumptuous millinery and tailory that heart can desire; and it is to "Le Follet," or "Myra's Journal," or "Le Moniteur de la Chiffonerie," that the reader must refer for a sufficient description. Woman's mission, rightly understood, is to serve as a moving exhibition of costly textile stuffs, on behalf of exorbitant West-End tradesmen. The duty and glory of a fine gentleman is to lounge by her side, and, for his own part, to maintain a consistent profession of Nil Admirari. It is all very well for her to watch the sailing-vessels with a certain degree of interest, and to propose bets of a d. zen pair of kid gloves upon the result of the match. He will magnificently give her any amount of odds for or against the favourite runner, while he scarcely deigns to turn his head—he cannot, indeed, for his neckcloth and collar forbid—glance at the movement of the light fleet on the sea before them. It is by such employment of the summer holidays that the hardy sons of a sea-girt isle have been trained to rule the waves, and to hold their flag of naval supremacy in the Hemispheric Ocean.

Squire Simperton, of Greengoose Grange, walks through the harvest-fields in the profitable days of August, with Farmer Bullen at a respectful space behind him, to watch both male and female labourers engaged in reaping and gleaning the wealth of golden wheat. His worship has a benignant smile and words of encouragement for the women and girls whom he finds here busied at this seasonable work. To their husbands, fathers, and brothers, he will send a few kegs of beer. They are bidden all to come up in the evening to the Great House, and to enjoy a good supper and a dance, for which the blind fiddler has been expressly hired. This frank and familiar intercourse between landlord, tenants, and peasantry, is one of the most delightful features of rural life.

But the corn has been reaped and garnered in September; the country gentleman, looking forward to the Michaelmas rent-day, is pleased that the farmer has done so well with this year's crop; he invites two other gentlemen, precisely resembling himself in character and figure, to a day's partridge-shooting over his broad acres, with the keen-scented Ponto in quest of the crouching covey. Three breechloaders are held in readiness to bring down the startled birds in the sudden flight. This pursuit is recommended for healthful exercise and mildly exciting diversion, with the satisfaction of proving their skill, and returning home with a full bag to replenish the hospitable larder, or to send hampers of game to their friends in town.

The mornings and evenings in October have become too cold, as well as too short, for most of the open-air pastimes in the climate of South Lilliput, not to speak of the north; but two or three hours about noonday still afford the benefit of sunshine, and some pleasure may yet be taken, not only in the field, but even on the river, without fear of an injurious chill. So young Bobstay, of Backwater, who delights in boating, has persuaded his cousin, Lady Alexandrine, to embark once more, positively for the last time this year, on the shallow waters of the reedy Ooze, which flows through Backwater Park and the adjacent meadows. Her Ladyship improves the occasion by singing a romantic lay of the Venetian gondoliers, and fingering the light guitar, just as though it were a Midsummer night; but she is an enthusiastic, imaginative, rather impulsive sort of girl, and the cousins are to be married before the end of the year.

Fox-hunting, after all, is the finest recreation of the Lilliputian squirearchy. They pride themselves on going straight across country, as they say, and will allow the farmers a handsome premium for keeping up extra stiff fences and tremendous five-barred gates. It has been discovered by experience, though contrary to vulgar notions, that the most exhilarating and ecstatic joy is derived from feeling yourself in the extreme jeopardy of breaking your neck. We may not envy this delicious sensation; we may be conscious of a different frame of mind, to which it is less congenial; or we may simply rest content with knowing no more about it than we do of gambling, or fighting, or getting drunk, and other incomprehensible alien delights. Riding on horseback is a convenient and rather agreeable mode of travelling. We like a brisk trot along the turnpike road, turning at a gentler pace into some quiet lane up the green hillside. But to the ambitious equestrians of a superior rank, whose stables are maintained at the cost of thousands a year, November and the ensuing winter months yield more gratification than the fairest summer-time. In this instance, as in that of yachting, Lilliputian moralists and politicians are wont to remark, that the national prowess in warfare, and the manifest general pre-eminence of Great Lilliput above all other nations, are inseparably bound up with the practice of riding after a fox.

A certain festival of religious and secular congratulations, which occurs about the last week of December, is honoured by the people of Lilliput with most laudable observance. The rule is, for the master and mistress of every well-to-do household, attended by the footman, their page, or "boy in buttons," who may be as fat as Mr. Wardle's boy in "Pickwick," and most fitly at this jovial season, to walk through the village and give their poor neighbours lots of good things for the Christmas feast. Poultry and game, materials for plum-pudding and pastry, various grocery stores, nutmeg, cinnamon, and cloves, ginger hot in the mouth, plums and raisins, oranges and lemons, port and sherry wine, spirits for the brewing of punch or toddy, sprigs of holly and mistletoe, and playthings for the innocent babes, are punctually carried round to every cottage in the blessed parish, with five shillings to boot. This distribution is arranged by a district visiting committee, under the presidency of the Squire and the Rector or Vicar, assisted by their ladies, with the aid of funds subscribed a month beforehand. We are assured that it is attended with the most gratifying results, an increase of social kindness throughout the entire twelvemonth, and of Lilliputian loyalty to the existing institutions of Church and State.

THE POPULATION OF THE EARTH.

We learn from Behm and Wagner's statistical work on the population of the earth that the estimate of population of the globe for the past year amounted to 1,423,917,600, and the area of the land surface they calculate to be 51,840,000 square miles, thus giving an average density of about 28 people to one square mile. These data are apportioned among the various divisions of the globe as nearly as possible as follows:—

	Square Miles.	Inhabitants.	Density per Square Mile.
Europe ... ..	3,776,498	309,178,300	82
Asia ... ..	17,079,388	824,548,500	48
Africa ... ..	11,415,884	199,921,600	17½
Australia and Polynesia ...	3,881,210	4,748,600	1-1-3
America ... ..	15,687,840	85,519,800	5½

It is stated that the area of the land surface of the globe has decreased in a year as much as 83,340 square miles. This decrease mainly affects America, and may be attributed to the result of a more accurate and extended survey of the United States. In all the other divisions of the land surface, however, the area is given as less than the previous year, and this has had the effect, along with the absolute increase of the population, of slightly raising the density per square mile. The increase of the population is estimated in a year as upwards of 27,000,000.

The following are the populations of the various States of Europe, according to latest estimates:—

Germany, 1875 ... ..	42,723,242	Spain, 1870 ... ..	16,551,647
Austro-Hungary, 1876 ...	37,700,000	Andorra ... ..	12,000
Switzerland, 1870 ... ..	2,669,147	Portugal, 1874 ... ..	4,288,881
Netherlands, 1875 ... ..	3,800,527	Italy, 1875 ... ..	27,482,174
Belgium, 1874 ... ..	5,336,634	Monaco, 1873 ... ..	5,741
Luxemburg, 1875 ... ..	205,168	San Marino, 1874 ... ..	7,816
Russia, 1870 ... ..	71,730,980	Turkey, entire population	31,000,000
Sweden, 1870 ... ..	4,383,201	Roumania, 1873 ... ..	5,073,000
Norway, 1875 ... ..	1,802,882	Serbia, 1875 ... ..	1,377,088
Denmark, 1876 ... ..	1,903,000	Montenegro ... ..	100,000
France, 1872 ... ..	36,102,921	Greece, 1870 ... ..	1,457,894
Great Britain, 1876 ... ..	33,450,000

The dates indicate the years in which the data were obtained on which Behm and Wagner have based their estimate. In the case of Great Britain, of course, the estimate is founded on the returns of the Registrar-General, for there has been no formal census since that of 1871. In the case of other countries in which the estimate is given for the years 1875 and 1876, it is the result generally of a regular census, for several Continental Governments are not content, like ourselves, with a census once every ten years. Since 1871 the population of Germany has increased by 1,693,762. There seems to have been a census taken in Norway in January of the present year, the details of which have not been published, though Behm and Wagner give the probable total as 1,815,000, an increase of about 12,000 on the estimate for 1875. The increase in the case of Great Britain over the estimate for 1875 is 352,000. Portugal shows an increase of about 310,000 since 1871, and, if the population of the Azores and Madeira be added, it will raise the number in the table by 378,631. The population of Turkey proper is given as 8,500,000; Roumania, 4,459,277; and Serbia, 1,377,088, a little over one third being Mohammedans. The population of the whole of the Turkish empire in Europe, Asia, and Africa is given as 17,660,000, 20,500,000 being claimed by Egypt, Tripoli, and Tunis, and 13,000,000 by Asia. The total population of Russia, both in Europe and Asia, is set down as 86,566,000, being an increase of 900,000 over the estimate for 1875. As might be surmised, this increase is mainly in Central Asia, and arises from additions to territory. The area given for the whole of the Russian empire is 8,456,500 square miles, being an increase of 26,000 square miles over that of 1875. This increase has occurred mainly in Central Asia, where the Russian territory covers an area of about 1,200,000 square miles, with a population of 4,650,213.

The entire population of Asia is larger by about 25,000,000 than the estimate given in last year's issue of Behm and Wagner's work. The increase mainly falls upon the East India Islands and Annam, the figures in the case of the latter being more than double those given in the tables of last year—viz., 21,000,000. The population of British India is rather less than last year, being 188,093,700, that of British Borneo being about 2,750,000; including tributary or protected States. The whole population of British India is close on 239,000,000.

The population of China is given as 405,000,000, with 28,500,000 of outlying people. Hong-Kong seems to have decreased by upwards of 2000 since last year, the number now given being 121,965. Japan is set down at 83,209,014.

According to late statistics, the whole population of Australia amounts to 1,867,000; of New Zealand to 421,326. In the Fiji Islands the native population seems to be rapidly decreasing. It is calculated now not to exceed 70,000, while the whites, who in 1872 numbered 2010, were last year only 1650.

With regard to Africa, the population of Algeria was in 1875 estimated to be 2,448,961. The population of Egypt shows a slight increase over last year, being now 17,000,000. The inhabitants of Port Said now number 9850, and of Ismailia 3779. The British possessions in South Africa show an increase of territory and population, the latter numbering according to latest data, 1,338,702.

There is an increase over the whole of America of upwards of 1,200,000 over the number given last year. This increase seems to a considerable extent due to the fact that more recent statistics have been obtained since last year, the data in many instances referring to 1875 and 1876. The population of Newfoundland—e.g., is that of 1874, and is 161,786, showing a large increase over that of 1869. Canada is still 3,672,116, and the United States nearly 40,000,000. Mexico stands at 9,276,073, and this must be from quite recent data, as last year's number was that of 1872. The Central American States show a slight decrease, the number this year being 2,828,164; the West Indies, 4,316,178, and all South America 25,309,700, of which Brazil claims upwards of 11,000,000.

About 215 towns contain 100,000 or more inhabitants. There are twenty-nine towns whose population reaches or surpasses 500,000. Those at or above a million are—Berlin, 1,045,000; Canton, 1,000,000; London (1876), 3,489,428; New York with Brooklyn (1875), 1,535,622; Paris, 1,851,792; Swatzen, Shanchowfu, and Singanfu (China), each 1,000,000; and Vienna, 1,001,999.

The entire area of British possessions abroad is given at 7,964,752 square miles, with a population of 208,941,760, excluding, of course, the protected Indian States. The average increase of population is largest in England. While its birth-rate is not so high as that of some other States, its death-rate is among the lowest. It seems probable that at the end of the present century the population of England and Wales will have risen to 30,000,000. Next in rank in respect to increase of population come Sweden and Denmark, both with a moderate birth-rate, but an exceedingly low death-rate, that of Denmark being the lowest of any of the nine States. The population of Sweden might be expected to rise to about 5,500,000 by the end of the century, and that of Denmark to 2,250,000. Next in order stood Prussia, which has a very high birth-rate and a very high death-rate, which latter, however, is steadily decreasing, and the population of Prussia might be expected to be about the same as England at the end of the century. It is known that the population of the other German States did not increase so much as in Prussia, but it might be fairly calculated that the great Empire of Central Europe would have about 50,000,000 in the year 1900. The Netherlands stood fifth in the list as to increase, with a birth-rate nearly equal to England, but a much higher death-rate, and the population will probably be 5,000,000 by the end of the century. These five States, England, Sweden, Denmark, Prussia, and the Netherlands—all, it will be noted, inhabited by Teutonic races—virtually comprised all out of the nine in which there was a tendency to marked increase of population. In three more, Austria, Spain, and Italy, the birth-rate is high, but the death-rate is still higher, with a tendency even to mount upwards, and the growth of population, therefore comparatively slow. Still Austria and Italy might both be expected to add about 1,500,000 to their respective populations before the century had run out, and Spain nearly 1,000,000. The only country among the nine enumerated—and probably the only State of Europe—showing scarcely any increase of population whatever is France. As exhibited in the figures of one of the tables giving the average annual birth-rates and death-rates, these were not very far from equal. The returns for the twenty-two years from 1853 to 1874—a period including some years of disaster, but likewise many years of the highest material prosperity, such as the country scarcely ever before knew—gave the average annual birth-rate at 26·1 per 1000 of the population, while the annual death-rate was 24·2 per 1000. Thus the excess of birth-rate over death-rate in France was not more than 1·9 per 1000, while in England it was 12·7 per 1000. At the same time, the average annual marriage-rate of France was above that of Italy, Spain, Sweden, and the Netherlands, and very nearly as high as that of England and Wales.

THE POPULATION OF TURKEY.

The Turkish census is of a very imperfect character, owing to the fact that the Government returns exclude not only all adult women but also non-adults of both sexes. The age at which boys in Turkey become liable to tribute is eighteen for Muslims and twelve or thirteen for non-Muslims. By the treaty of Berlin certain provinces of the Danube and Moesia have been lost to the Sultan. The population of the province of the Danube as last given was 807,714, which, when made to include women and children, would give a total of 2,723,322; that of Bosnia, 2,229,384; Sofia, 212,180; Nish, 247,000; and, together with Shahr-Kijavi, 200,000. When added, these give a total of 1,950,540. Grand total of losses, 7,563,296. The further losses of Roumania, 5,073,000; Servia, 1,366,923; Montenegro, 185,000; total, 6,624,923. Bring up the Turkish loss to 14,000,000; and if to this the loss of East Roumania, 1,000,000, be added it will give a total of 15,000,000. The population of Turkey in Asia is estimated at 21,000,000, but this is exclusive of Arabs and Egyptians. The district ceded to Russia in Asia, consisting of one half of the country of Lazistan or Batoum, that is of about 35,000 males; and that of Childir and Kars, 84,632, gives an additional total of 360,000 souls, nearly all Muslims, and deducts another 500,000 of the Sultan's subjects most of whom are of Turkish race and speech.

The population of the Island of Cyprus is given at 21,700 adult males, which means about 65,000 in all. The entire estimated population still stands at a total of 31,000,000 exclusive of the African dependencies. The Turks now number 12,000,000; Arabs, 9,000,000; Armenians, 2,000,000; Greeks, 2,000,000; Albanians, 2,000,000; Kurds, 1,000,000; and, mixed, Christians, Jews, Muslims, Turkomans, &c., 3,000,000.

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

All Stocks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Private Transfers may be effected at other times, providing the books are not closed, by paying 2s. 6d. for each Transfer. Tickets for preparing the Transfer of Stock must be given in at the Bank of England before one o'clock. Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 9s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, £1 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable. Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of deceased must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 5 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervene, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 3; for accepting, 9 to 3; for payment of dividends, 9 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom.

Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co.," and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

Under the provisions of an Act passed in 1871, the following are the dividend days and periods of redemption of the various Stocks:—

The Bankers' Clearing-House, near the Post Office, Lombard-street, is the medium through which bankers obtain the amount of cheques and bills in their hands for collection from other bankers. Every bank in London and the country is represented by clearing bankers; and, as their agents send through the clearing-house draughts payable in the City and in the country, the amount passing through this channel is enormous.

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follows, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz. ... ..	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz. ... ..	1½d.
„ 2 oz., and less than 4 oz. ... ..	2d.
„ 4 oz., and less than 6 oz. ... ..	2½d.
„ 6 oz., and less than 8 oz. ... ..	3d.
„ 8 oz., and less than 10 oz. ... ..	3½d.
„ 10 oz., and less than 12 oz. ... ..	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 8d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

GENERAL POSTAL UNION.

In accordance with the provisions of an international treaty concluded at Bern in 1876, the whole of the States of Europe, the United States of America, the Argentine Confederation, and Egypt were formed into a General Postal Union for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence, and adopted low and uniform rates of correspondence despatched from one State to another. These provisions extend to letters, post cards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns of merchandise, and legal and commercial documents.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN LETTERS.

The rates of postage on letters to the colonies and foreign countries will be found in the British Postal Guide, published quarterly, price sixpence.

To some countries prepayment of the postage is compulsory. In other cases the whole of the postage cannot be prepaid.

A letter posted unpaid, or paid only in part, directed to go by a route by which prepayment is compulsory, is sent to the Returned Letter Office, to go back to the writer, unless there is another route by which prepayment is not required, in which case the letter is sent by the latter route. Letters, however, for Australia and New Zealand, if prepaid as much as one rate (even though the prepayment be insufficient), are not detained, but are forwarded charged with the deficient postage and an additional rate.

A letter posted insufficiently prepaid for a place to which prepayment is optional is sent forward charged; the value of the stamps, however, being, as a rule, taken into account.

The same rates are chargeable in this country upon unpaid or insufficiently paid letters received from the above-named places.

No letter for any colony or foreign country may be above two feet in length or one foot in width or depth.

Letters, &c. for Brazil, Montevideo, Peru, Bolivia, and Chili, if specially directed "By Supplementary Mail, via Bordeaux," and posted in time for dispatch from London by the Day Mail of Friday, will in due course overtake, at Bordeaux, the packet dispatched from Liverpool on the previous Wednesday.

Letters for such places in Turkey and Asia Minor as have no Austrian post office should be addressed to the care of an agent residing in the nearest port at which an Austrian post office has been established. Letters for places on the Persian Gulf are forwarded via Bombay, if specially directed by that route and prepaid the rates of postage for Bombay.

Letters for Russia should have the name of the town added in either English, French, or German; and they should bear as a part of their address the name of the province or government in which they are situated. In addressing all letters, &c., for Russia the name of the place of destination, as well as the government in which such place is situated, must be correctly given; and, further, the address must be plainly written. If these conditions be not complied with, the Russian Post Office declines to undertake the delivery of the correspondence.

No letters containing gold or silver money, jewels, or precious articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, can be sent, even if registered, to any country of the General Postal Union.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or part of that weight.

A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

A book packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, photographs (when not on glass or in cases containing glass or any like substance), drawings, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, or any other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing upon, and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written, engraved, lithographed, or plain, or any mixture of these. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, &c., or of a portion thereof, is allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books, pens, or pencils, in the case of pocket-books, &c.; and, in short, whatever, is necessary for the safe transmission of such articles, or usually appertains thereto, but the binding, rollers, &c., must not be sent as a separate packet.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth.

Whatever is allowed to be sent in an inland book-packet may be sent in a book-packet to places abroad, except that water-colour drawings are not allowed to be sent in a book-packet to France or Algeria.

No writing or manuscript mark, however, beyond the name and address of the person to whom it is sent is admissible in or upon a packet forwarded via France to the Argentine Confederation, Bolivia, Chili, Ecuador, Hayti, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, St. Thomas, Uruguay, United States of Colombia, or Venezuela.

INLAND CARD POST.

A single post-card, or any number of post-cards—whether "stout" or "thin"—may be purchased. The prices respectively are as follows:—Stout cards: one, 2d.; two, 1½d.; three, 2d.; four, 2½d.; five, 3d.; six, 4d. Thin cards: one, 1d.; two, 1½d.; three, 1½d.; four, 2d.; five, 3d.; six, 3½d.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

Foreign post-cards may be sent to Canada and to all the countries comprised in the General Postal Union, with the exception of British India.

The postage of a card is in every case one half the rate for a single letter. Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 1½d. each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to the majority of the countries of the Union without extra charge.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

1. Persons wishing to send parcels to any part of British India can do so through the Indian Parcel Post Agency—established under authority of the Director-General of the Post Office of India—at 122, Leadenhall-street, E.C.; and (Branch Office) at 25, Cockspur-street, S.W.

2. The charge for parcels is 1s. per lb. or fraction of a lb. (prepayment optional), covering transit from London to destination in India. Insurance may be effected, if desired, at the rate (to be prepaid) of 1s. up to £3 value, 2s. 6d. up to £10 value, and 5s. up to £30 value. Indian Customs duty (if chargeable) will be realised from the addressee.

N.B.—Parcels containing books, or articles treated as books under the British Inland Book Post Rules, will be charged at half rates—viz., 6d. per lb.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

There is a Pattern and Sample Post to certain colonies and foreign countries, but it is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise.

Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be), or any articles sent by one private individual to another which are not actually patterns or samples, are not admissible. The rates of postage are the same as for Book Packets.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANKS AND INSURANCE.

There is a Post Office Savings Bank in every town and in most villages, and at most savings banks there is an Insurance and Annuity Office. A list of them is kept at all post offices.

LETTERS "TO BE CALLED FOR."

There is a Poste Restante both at the General Post Office, St. Martin's-le-Grand, and at the Charing-cross Post Office, where letters "to be called for" can be obtained between the hours of nine a.m. and five p.m. There is also a Poste Restante at Woolwich, available during the ordinary hours of business. No letters (except communications from the Savings Bank Department) are taken in "to be called for" at the other district or branch offices, and any so directed are sent to the Returned Letter Office to be returned to the writers.

The Poste Restante being intended solely for the accommodation of strangers and travellers who have no permanent abode in London, letters for residents must not be addressed to the Post Office "to be called for;" and any letters for a resident so addressed, although detained at the Post Office for one week, are, after that time, sent out by the letter carriers. Even strangers are not, as a rule, allowed to use the Poste Restante for more than two months; at the end of which time they are expected to have their letters sent to a private address.

Letters addressed to initials or to fictitious names at the Poste Restante are not taken in, but are at once sent back to the writers.

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY POST.

It is forbidden to forward by post any indecent or obscene print, painting, photograph, lithograph, engraving, book or card, or other article, or any letter, newspaper, publication, packet, or card having thereon any words, marks, or designs of an indecent, obscene, libellous, or grossly offensive character. Anything posted contrary to this prohibition will be stopped and sent up to the Returned Letter Office, London.

Postmasters are instructed not to receive any letter which there is good reason to believe contains anything likely to injure the contents of the mail bag, or to do bodily harm to any officer of the Post Office. If such a packet be posted without the Postmaster's knowledge, or if at any time before its dispatch he should discover any such packet, he is directed not to forward it, but to report the case, with the address of the packet, to the Secretary. The following are examples of the articles referred to:—

A glass bottle, or glass in any form; leeches, game, fish, meat, fruit, or vegetables; bladders or other vessels containing liquids; gunpowder, lucifer matches, or anything which is explosive or liable to sudden combustion; razors, scissors, needles, forks, or other sharp instruments.

MODES OF PREPAYMENT.

Inland letters, newspapers, and book-packets cannot be prepaid in money but must be prepaid by means of stamps, either adhesive or embossed or impressed. This rule applies also to registered letters.

Exceptions.—At the Chief and District Post Offices, and at the Charing-cross and Lombard-street Post Offices in London, as well as at the Head Offices in Edinburgh and Dublin, letters and book-packets may, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., be prepaid in money, provided the amount be never less than 2d., and that the letters and book-packets be tied in bundles representing a postage of 5s. each, with the addresses arranged in the same direction.

Letters to places abroad must be prepaid wholly in stamps. Newspapers, book-packets, and sample-packets for places abroad can also be prepaid only by means of stamps; and in their case prepayment is always compulsory.

British postage-stamps, though available for all letters, &c., going out of this country, are not, as a general rule, available for letters, &c., coming into it; the principal exception being in the case of letters posted by naval officers, marines, and seamen serving abroad, which, if posted in the ship's bag, must be prepaid by means of British postage-stamps.

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN.)

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is twopenny.

The fee chargeable for registration to places abroad will be found in the British Postal Guide.

Every letter to be registered should be presented at the counter, and a receipt obtained for it, and should on no account be dropped into the letter-box. If, contrary to this rule, a letter marked "Registered" be dropped into the letter-box, it will, if directed to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies, be liable to a registration fee of 4d., instead of the ordinary fee of 2d.

ASTRONOMICAL OCCURRENCES IN THE YEAR 1879.

JANUARY.

The Moon is very near Mars on the morning of the 19th, the closest approach will be at 6h. a.m., when Mars will be situated a little north of the Moon. She is near Mercury on the morning of the 20th. On Jan. 23 the Moon is near both Venus and Jupiter, being situated to the right of both these planets; Venus being situated between Jupiter and the Moon; the Moon on this day sets at 4h. 36m. p.m. She is also very near them on the evening of the next day, being situated to the left of both; the higher of the two planets is Jupiter. On this day the Moon sets at 5h. 54m. Venus at 5h. 3m. p.m., and Jupiter at 5h. 30m. p.m. During the evening of the 26th and 27th she is near Saturn, being to the right of him on the former, and to the left on the latter evening. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 8th	at 45 minutes	after 11h.	in the morning.
Last Quarter	" 15th "	" 3 "	" 11 "	morning.
New Moon	" 22nd "	" 51 "	" 11 "	morning.
First Quarter	" 30th "	" 45 "	" 11 "	morning.

She is at her greatest distance from the Earth on the 1st, and again on the 26th, and at her least distance from it on the 14th.

Path of Mercury from February 5, 1879; to June 20, 1879.

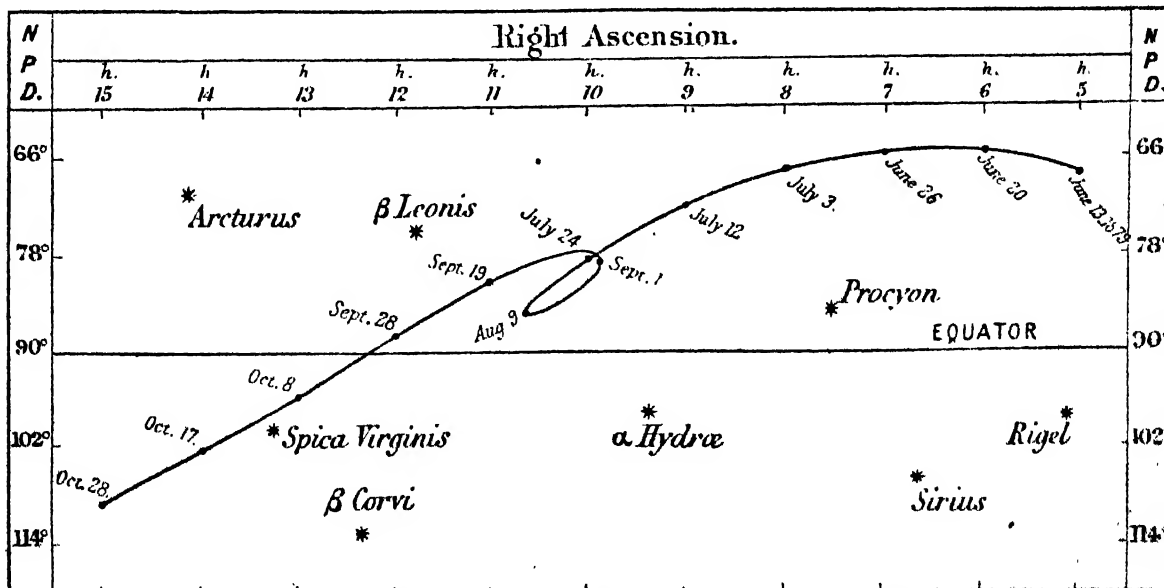

Mercury is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 6h. 51m., or 1h. 17m. before the Sun; on the 11th he rises at 6h. 29m., or 1h. 45m. before the Sun; from this day the interval between the rising of this planet and the Sun decreases. On the 16th he rises at 6h. 25m., or 1h. 35m. before the Sun; on the 21st at 6h. 33m. a.m.; and on the last day at 6h. 50m., or 53 minutes before the Sun. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 5th, at its greatest western elongation (24 deg. 0 min.) on the 16th, near the Moon on the 20th, and in his descending node on the 25th.

Venus is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 4h. 28m., or 26 minutes after sunset, this interval increases to 41 minutes by the 11th, to 56 minutes on the 21st, and to 1h. 10m. on the last day, on which day she sets at 5h. 58m. p.m. She is at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 10th, near the Moon on the 23rd, and near Jupiter on the 24th.

Mars is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 6h. 24m. a.m., or about 2h. 45m. before the Sun; he rises on the 11th at 6h. 22m. a.m., on the 21st at 6h. 18m., and on the last day at 6h. 12m. a.m., or 2½ hours before sunrise. He is in his descending node on the 10th, and near the Moon on the 19th. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 31m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 18m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 4m. a.m.

A MYTHOLOGICAL INCIDENT.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1879.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 6h. 37m. p.m., or 2h. 37m. after the Sun; he sets on the 11th at 6h. 10m. p.m., on the 21st at 5h. 44m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 19m. p.m., or 35 minutes after the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 23rd. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 10m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 28m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 40m. p.m.

SATURN is an evening star, and sets at 10h. 58m. p.m. on the 1st, at 10h. 21m. on the 11th, at 9h. 48m. on the 21st, and at 9h. 18m. p.m. on the last day. He is near the Moon on the 27th. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 6m. p.m., on the 15th at 4h. 18m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 3h. 30m. p.m.

FEBRUARY.

THE MOON is near Mars on the morning of the 16th, being situated to the right of the planet. She is also near him on the morning of the 17th, then being on the left of the planet, the distance being greater than on the preceding morning. She is near both Jupiter and Mercury on the 20th; but it is the day before new moon, and all are near the Sun. She is near Venus on the 29th, being to the right of the planet; and she is to the left of this planet on the evening of the 28th; on this evening she is very near to and to the right of Saturn. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 7th	at 42 minutes	after 1h. in the morning.
Last Quarter	" 18th	" 58	" 6 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 21st	" 8	" 4 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 9th, and most distant from it on the 25th.

MERCURY is a morning star at the beginning of the month; but not favourably situated for observation. On the 5th he rises at 6h. 57m. or 35m. before the Sun; on the 10th at 7h. 1m., and on the 24th at 6h. 59m., being at the same time as the Sun; and from this day till April 10 this planet rises after the Sun, or in daylight. He is at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 5th, near Jupiter on the 30th, and near the Moon on the same day.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 10th at 6h. 30m. p.m., or 1h. 28m. after the Sun. This interval increases night by night to 1h. 41m. on the 30th, and to 1h. 51m. on the last day, the planet setting on this day at 7h. 37m. p.m. She is near the Moon on the 28th.

MARS is a morning star, rising at 5h. 11m. a.m. on the 1st, at 5h. 5m. a.m. on the 10th, at 4h. 55m. on the 20th, and at 4h. 47m. a.m. on the last day, or 2h. 3m. before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 16th and 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 4m. a.m., on the 14th at 8h. 58m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 42m. a.m.

JUPITER sets on the 5th at the same time as the Sun, and from this day and till Sept. 1 he sets in daylight; he rises on the 10th at 7h. 28m. a.m., or 3 minutes after sunrise; on the 20th, at 6h. 54m., or 18 minutes before the Sun rises; and on the last day he rises at 6h. 29m. a.m. He is in conjunction with the Sun on the 8th, and near the Moon on the 20th. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 40m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 55m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 16m. a.m.

SATURN is an evening star, and sets on the 1st at 9h. 10m. p.m., on the 10th at 8h. 38m. p.m., on the 20th at 8h. 6m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 43m. p.m., or 2h. 7m. after sunset. He is near the Moon on the 23rd. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 16m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 26m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 41m. p.m.

MARCH.

THE MOON is near Mars on the morning of the 17th, and to the right of the planet; and she is situated to the left of him on the morning of the 18th. She is near Jupiter on the morning of the 20th. She is near Saturn during both the morning and evening hours of the 23rd, being to the right of the planet in the morning, and to the left in the evening; but the Moon is but one day old. She is near Mercury on the 24th, and near Venus during the evening hours of the 26th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Path of Mercury from October 8, 1879, to February 24, 1880.

First Quarter	on the 1st	at 58 minutes	after 7h. in the morning.
Full Moon	" 8th	" 9	" 1 " afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 15th	" 41	" 3 " morning.
New Moon	" 22nd	" 4	" 9 " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 31st	" 5	" 1 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 10th, and at her greatest distance on the 25th.

MERCURY is an evening star during this month. On the 5th he sets at the same time as the Sun; on the 12th he sets at 6h. 39m., or 42 minutes after the Sun; and on the 27th he sets at 8h. 15m., or 1h. 53m. after the Sun; and at the end of the month is favourably situated for observation. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 4th, near Saturn on the 15th, in his ascending node on the 16th, at his least distance from the Sun on the 21st, near the Moon on the 24th, and at his greatest eastern elongation (18 deg. 47 min.) on the 29th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 2nd at 7h. 33m., or 1h. 54m. after the Sun; on the 12nd she sets at 8h. 37m., and on the last day at 9h. 6m., or 2h. 36m. after the Sun. She is near Saturn on the 8th, near the Moon on the 25th, and in her ascending node on the 30th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 2nd at 4h. 48m. a.m., on the 12th at 4h. 29m., on the 22nd at 4h. 11m., and on the last day at 3h. 53m. a.m., or 1h. 48m. before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 41m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 29m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 15m. a.m.

JUPITER rises on the 2nd at 6h. 19m. a.m., on the 12th at 5h. 44m. a.m., on the 22nd at 5h. 10m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 39m. a.m., or 1 hour 2 minutes before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 20th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 18m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 30m. a.m., and on the last day at 9h. 41m. a.m.

SATURN sets on the 2nd at 7h. 33m. p.m., or 1h. 54m. after sunset; on the 12th at 7h. 1m. p.m., on the 22nd at 6h. 29m., or 15 minutes after sunset; and on the 25th at about the same time as the Sun, after which he sets in daylight, or before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 23rd, and in conjunction with the Sun on the 26th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 37m. p.m., on the 15th at 0h. 45m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 58m. a.m.

APRIL.

THE MOON is near Mars during the morning hours of the 15th and 16th, being situated to the right on the morning of the former, and to the left on the morning of the latter day. She is near Jupiter and to the left of the planet on the morning of the 17th; she is near Saturn on the morning of the 20th, and Mercury on the 21st; but both the planet and the Moon are too near the Sun to be seen. On the evening of the 24th she is near Venus. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 6th	at 24 minutes	after 10h. in the afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 13th	" 9	" 2 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 21st	" 56	" 1 " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 29th	" 16	" 2 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 7th, and most distant from it on the 21st.

MERCURY is an evening star, and favourably situated for observation at the beginning of the month. He sets on the 1st at 8h. 28m. p.m., or 1h. 55m. after the Sun; on the 6th at 8h. 18m. p.m.; on the 11th at 7h. 52m. p.m.; or 1h. 6m. after the Sun; on the 16th at 7h. 12m. p.m., and on the 17th and 18th nearly at the same time as the Sun. He rises on the 21st at 4h. 57m. a.m., and on the 26th at 4h. 21m. a.m., or 24 minutes before the Sun. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 7th, and again on the 29th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 17th, near the Moon on the 21st, and in his descending node on the 24th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 9h. 10m. p.m., on the 11th at 9h. 41m. p.m., on the 21st at 10h. 13m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 36m. p.m., or 3h. 19m. after the Sun. She is near the Moon on the 24th. MARS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 8h. 51m. a.m., on the 11th at 8h. 29m. a.m., on the 21st at 8h. 7m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 4m. a.m., or 1h. 53m. before the Sun rises. He is near the Moon on the 18th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 14m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 0m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 44m. a.m.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising 1h. 3m. before the Sun on the 1st, at 8h. 59m. a.m. on the 11th, at 8h. 35m. a.m. on the 21st, and at 8h. 51m. a.m., or 1h. 46m. before the Sun on the last day. He is near the Moon on the 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 34m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 58m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 4m. a.m.

SATURN, at the beginning of this month, rises nearly at the same time as the Sun. On the 11th he rises at 8h. 5m. a.m., or 10 minutes before the Sun; on the 21st at 4h. 28m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 55m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 20th. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 49m. a.m., in the middle of the month at 11h. 1m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 8m. a.m.

MAY.

THE MOON is near both Jupiter and Mars on the mornings of the 14th and 15th, being to the right on the former and to the left of the planets on the latter morning; on both mornings the planet Jupiter being to the right of Mars. She is near Saturn on the morning of the 17th, near Mercury on the 19th, and Venus during the evening hours of the 24th. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 6th at 13 minutes after 6h. in the morning.
Last Quarter " 13th " 36 " 2 " morning.
New Moon " 21st " 50 " 5 " morning.
First Quarter " 28th " 87 " 11 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the 5th, and at her greatest distance on the 18th. MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 4h. 7m. a.m., or 28 minutes before the Sun; on the 16th at 8h. 36m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 11m. a.m., or 41 minutes before the Sun. He is not well placed for observation. He is at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 4th, at his greatest western elongation (35 deg. 40 min.) on the 15th, and near the Moon on the 19th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting at 10h. 41m. p.m. on the 1st; at 11h. 1m. p.m. on the 11th, or 8h. 35m. after the Sun; at 11h. 14m. p.m. on the 21st; and at 11h. 16m. p.m. on the last day, or 8h. 13m. after sunset. She is at her least distance from the Sun on the 2nd, and near the Moon on the 24th.

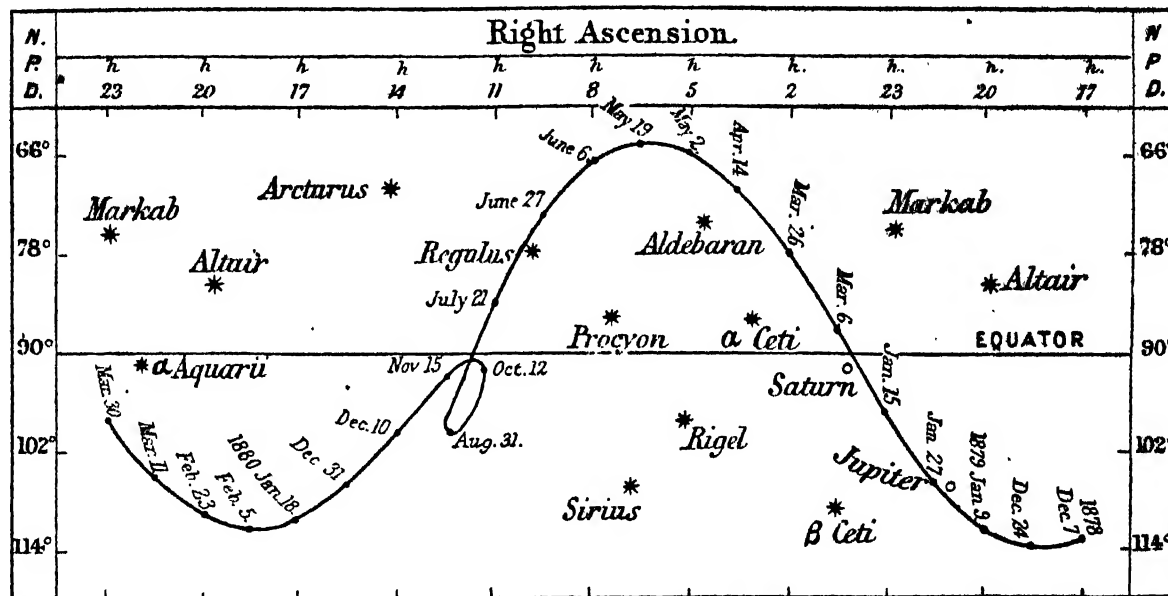

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 8h. 43m. a.m., on the 11th at 2h. 17m. a.m., on the 21st at 1h. 51m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 35m. a.m. He is near Jupiter on the 9th, and near the Moon on the 14th. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 43m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 27m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 7m. a.m.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 8h. 47m. a.m., or 1h. 48m. before the Sun; on the 11th at 2h. 11m. a.m., on the 21st at 1h. 35m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 57m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 14th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 1m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 14m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 18m. a.m.

SATURN rises on the 1st at 8h. 51m. a.m., or 44 minutes before the Sun; on the 11th at 8h. 13m. a.m.; on the 21st at 2h. 56m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 59m. a.m., or 1h. 53m. before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 17th. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 5m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 18m. a.m.

JUNE.

THE MOON is near Jupiter on the morning of the 11th. She is very near Mars during the morning hours of the 15th, being a little to the left of the Path of Venus from December 7, 1878; to March 30, 1880.

planet. She is to the left of and near Saturn during the morning hours of the 14th, near Mercury during the morning hours of the 20th, and near Venus during the evening hours of the 23rd. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 4th at 36 minutes after 1h. in the afternoon.
Last Quarter " 11th " 56 " 4 " afternoon.
New Moon " 19th " 20 " 8 " afternoon.
First Quarter " 27th " 56 " 5 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 3rd, and at her greatest distance on the 15th. MERCURY is a morning star at the beginning of the month, and an evening star at the end, but not well situated for observation. He rises on June 5 at 8h. 10m. a.m., and on the 20th at 8h. 43m. a.m., and after this rises in daylight to August 25. He sets on June 25 at 9h. 3m., or 44 minutes after the Sun, and on the last day he sets 61 minutes after sunset. He is in his ascending node on the 19th, at his least distance from the Sun on the 17th, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 18th at midnight, and near the Moon on the 20th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 11h. 15m. p.m., on the 10th at 11h. 9m., on the 20th at 10h. 56m., and on the last day at 10h. 35m., or 9h. 17m. after the Sun. She is near the Moon on the 23rd.

MARS rises on the 1st at 1h. 29m. a.m., on the 10th at 0h. 58m. a.m., on the 20th at 0h. 30m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 8m. a.m., and at about midnight on the same day. He is near the Moon on the 13th, and near Saturn on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 5m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 47m. a.m., and on the last day 6h. 26m. a.m.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 0h. 53m. a.m., on the 10th at 0h. 19m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 42m. p.m., and on the 29th at 11h. 4m. p.m., and is visible throughout the night after these times. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 2nd, and near the Moon on the 11th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 15m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 24m., and on the last day at 4h. 27m. a.m.

SATURN rises on the 1st at 1h. 55m. a.m., on the 10th at 1h. 21m. a.m., on the 20th at 0h. 43m. a.m., on the 30th at 0h. 5m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 14th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 14m. a.m., on the 10th at 7h. 42m. a.m., on the 20th at 7h. 5m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 28m. a.m.

JULY.

THE MOON is near Jupiter during the morning hours of the 8th, and to the left of the planet during the night hours of the same day and morning hours of the 9th. She is near Saturn from the time of Moon rising on the 10th and throughout the night. On the 11th the Moon and Mars rise nearly together, and are near together throughout the night. On the 21st she is near Mercury. She is to the right of Venus during the evening hours of the 22nd, and to the left during the evening hours of the 23rd. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon on the 3rd at 38 minutes after 9h. in the afternoon.
Last Quarter " 11th " 54 " 8 " morning.
New Moon " 19th " 6 " 9 " morning.
First Quarter " 28th " 36 " 10 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 1st and 28th, and most distant on the 18th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 5th at 9h. 26m. p.m.; on the 10th at 9h. 25m. p.m., or 1h. 12m. after the Sun; on the 15th at 8h. 19m., or 1h. 9m. after the Sun; on the 20th at 8h. 8m.; and on the 30th at 8h. 36m., or 47 minutes after sunset. He is in his descending node on the 20th, near the Moon on the 21st, at his greatest eastern elongation (27 deg. 9 min.) on the 27th, and at the greatest distance from the Sun on the last day.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 10h. 23m. p.m.; on the 10th at 10h. 10m. p.m.; on the 20th at 9h. 45m., or 1h. 33m. after the Sun; and on the 30th she sets at 9h. 11m. p.m. She is at her greatest eastern elongation (45 deg. 23 min.) on the 16th, in her descending node on the 19th, and near the Moon on the 23rd.

MARS rises on the 1st at two or three minutes before midnight, on the 6th at 11h. 37m. p.m., on the 16th at 11h. 9m. p.m., and on the 29th at 10h. 49m. p.m., and is visible afterwards throughout the night. He is at his least distance from the Sun on the 9th, near the Moon on the 11th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 22nd. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 32m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 4m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 50m. a.m.

JUPITER rises on the 9th at 10h. 34m. p.m., on the 19th at 9h. 44m. p.m., and on the 29th at 9h. 4m. p.m., being 1h. 14m. after sunset; and he is visible throughout the nights after these times. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 2nd, and near the Moon on the 8th. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 23m. a.m., on the 15th at 3h. 27m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 30m. a.m.

SATURN rises on the 1st twice in the same day, at about 0h. 1m. a.m., and again at 11h. 57m. p.m.; on the 9th at 11h. 23m. p.m.; on the 19th at 10h. 47m. p.m.; and on the 29th at 10h. 8m. p.m., or 2h. 18m. after sunset, and is visible throughout the night after these times. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 7th at midnight, near the Moon on the 11th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 24m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 31m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 29m. a.m.

AUGUST.

THE MOON and Jupiter rise nearly together on the evening of the 4th, and remain near each other throughout the night. From the time of Moon rising on the 7th she is near and to the left of Saturn throughout the night. She is also near and to the left of Mars from the time of rising throughout the night. On the 18th she is near Mercury; on the 20th she is near Venus; and on the 31st a second time near Jupiter, being to the right of the planet in the early evening hours; the nearest approach will be about 10h., when the planet will be a little south of the Moon, and after this time the Moon will move to the left of the planet. Her phases or times of change are:—

Full Moon	on the 2nd at 12 minutes after 7h.	in the morning.
Last Quarter	" 10th " 9 "	" 2 " morning.
New Moon	" 17th " 11 "	" 8 " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 24th " 12 "	" 8 " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 31st " 58 "	" 6 " afternoon.

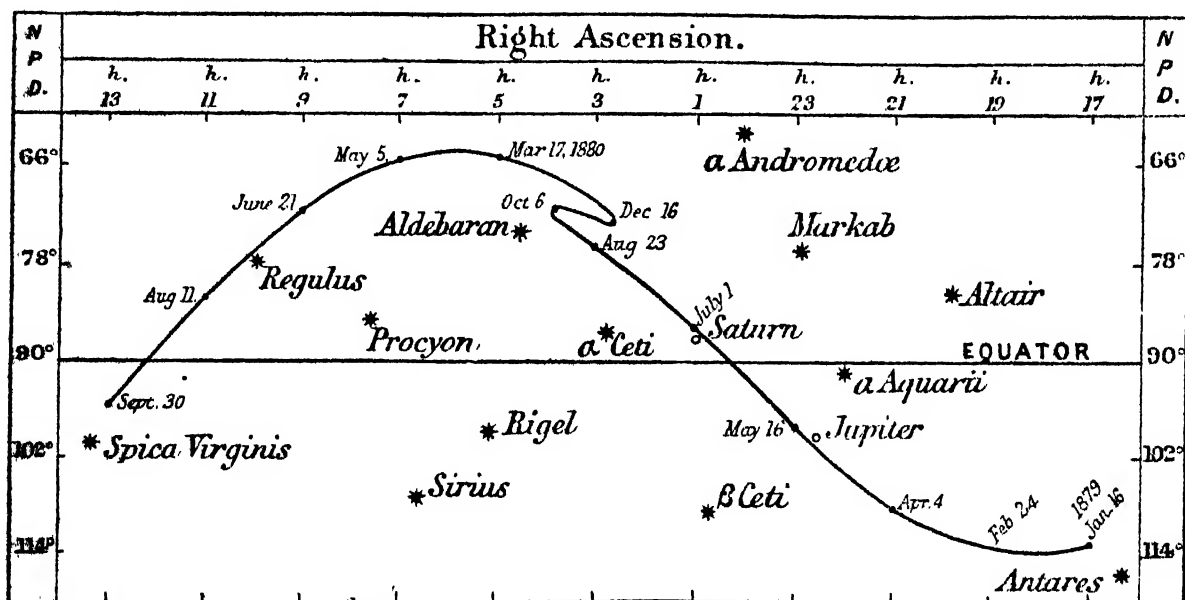

She is nearest the Earth on the 22nd, and at her greatest distance on the 9th.

MERCURY is badly situated for observation. He sets on the 4th at 8h. 16m., or 35 minutes after the Sun; and on the 15th Mercury and the Sun set nearly together; and from this time to Oct. 2 he sets in daylight. On the 25th the Sun and Mercury rise nearly at the same time; and on the 29th the planet rises about 41 minutes before the Sun. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 9th, near the Moon on the 18th, and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 24th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 1st at 6h. 4m., or 1h. 18m. after the Sun; this interval decreases to 1h. 3m. by the 9th, to 41 minutes by the 19th, and to 16 minutes by the 29th, on which day she sets at 7h. 8m. p.m. She is at her greatest brilliancy on the 19th, near the Moon on the 20th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the last day of the month.

MARS rises on the 8th at 10h. 15m. p.m., on the 18th at 9h. 47m. p.m., and on the 28th at 8h. 18m. p.m., and is visible afterwards throughout the night. He is near the Moon on the 9th; he is due south on the 1st at 5h. 37m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 12m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 38m. a.m.

JUPITER rises on the 8th at 8h. 23m. p.m., or 49 minutes after the Sun; on the 18th at 7h. 42m. p.m.; and on the last day he rises very nearly at the same time as the Sun sets, and from this day he rises in daylight, or before the Sun sets. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and again on the last day, in opposition to the Sun on the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 18m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 15m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 5m. a.m.

SATURN rises on the 8th at 9h. 29m. p.m., on the 18th at 8h. 49m. p.m., on the 28th at 8h. 9m. p.m., or 1h. 14m. after sunset, and is visible throughout the night after these times. He is near the Moon on the 7th. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 34m. a.m., on the 15th at 3h. 29m. a.m., and on the last day at 2h. 23m. a.m.

SEPTEMBER.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 3rd, being situated to the right of the planet, the space decreasing until about midnight, when the Moon will be the higher of the two, and from this time the Moon will pass to the left of the planet during the morning hours of the 4th day. During the night common to the 8th and 7th she will be near Mars; the nearest approach will be at about 2 a.m. on the 7th. She is near Mercury on the morning of the 15th, near Venus on the morning of the 17th, and to the right of Saturn a second time during the evening and night hours of the last day of the month. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter	on the 8th at 4 minutes after 5h.	in the afternoon.
New Moon	" 16th " 67 "	" 5 " morning.
First Quarter	" 23rd " 19 "	" 5 " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 30th " 17 "	" 9 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 18th, and at her greatest distance on the 6th. MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 3rd at 3h. 55m. a.m.; on the 8th at 2h. 42m., or 1h. 43m. before the Sun; on the 13th at 2h. 51m., or 1h. 41m. before sunrise; on the 18th at 4h. 14m.; and on the 23rd at 5h. 17m., or 39 minutes before the Sun. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 1st, in his ascending node on the 8th, at his greatest western elongation (17 deg. 57 min.) on the 9th, at his least distance from the Sun on the 13th, and near the Moon on the 15th.

VENUS sets very nearly at the same time as the Sun at the beginning of the month, and is badly situated for observation till towards the end of the month. On the 30th she rises at 5h. 29m. a.m., or half an hour before sunrise. She is near the Moon on the 17th, and in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 24th.

MARS rises at 8h. 48m. p.m. on the 7th, or 2h. 16m. after sunset; at 8h. 18m. p.m. on the 17th; and at 7h. 40m. p.m. on the 27th; and is visible after these times throughout the night. He is near the Moon on the 7th. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 36m. a.m., on the 15th at 4h. 0m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 13m. a.m.

JUPITER is visible throughout the night at the beginning of the month; on the 9th he sets at 4h. 36m. a.m., or 50 minutes before the Sun rises; on the 19th he sets at 3h. 40m. a.m.; and on the 29th at 2h. 4m. a.m., or 2h. 54m. before sunrise. He is near the Moon on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 56m. p.m., on the 15th at 10h. 54m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 49m. p.m.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 7h. 30m., or 58 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 6h. 49m. p.m.; and on the 27th at 6h. 8m. p.m., or 21 minutes after the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 3rd and 4th, and again during the evening hours of the last day. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 19m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 21m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 18m. a.m.

OCTOBER.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the morning hours of the first day; she is near Mars during the night common to the 4th and 5th; she is near Venus on the mornings of the 13th and 14th; she is near Mercury on the 16th; she is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 24th, and to the left of the planet on the 25th; she is near and to the right of Saturn during the night hours of the 27th and morning hours of the 28th, and left of the planet during the evening and night hours of the 29th; and she is near Mars a second time in the month during the evening hours of the last day. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter	on the 8th at 48 minutes after 1h.	in the afternoon.
New Moon	" 15th " 9 "	" 3 " afternoon.
First Quarter	" 22nd " 18 "	" 3 " morning.
Full Moon	" 30th " 10 "	" 2 " morning.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1879.

She is nearest the Earth on the 16th, and at her greatest distance on the 14th and 21st.

MERCURY is not favourably situated for observation. He sets on the 2nd nearly at the same time as the Sun, and afterwards after the Sun—on the 8th by 6 minutes, on the 16th by 15 minutes, and on the 28th at 5h. 1m., or 23 minutes after sunset. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, near the Moon on the 16th, in his descending node on the 16th, and at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 27th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 5h. 21m. a.m.; on the 8th at 4h. 31m., or 1h. 43m. before the Sun; on the 18th at 3h. 42m. a.m.; and on the 28th at 2h. 13m. a.m., or 3h. 35m. before sunrise. She is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 12th, near the Moon on the 18th, and at her greatest brilliancy (a second time this year) on the last day of the month.

MARS rises on the 7th at 7h. 0m. p.m.; on the 17th at 6h. 16m. p.m., and on the 27th at 5h. 26m. p.m., or three quarters of an hour after sunset; but is visible afterward throughout the night. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and again on the last day, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 6th. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 9m. a.m., on the 16th at 2h. 13m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 54m. a.m.

JUPITER is an evening star, and on the 9th sets at 2h. 19m. a.m., on the 18th at 1h. 37m. a.m., and on the 28th at 0h. 57m. a.m., and is visible from sunset till these times. He is near the Moon on the 25th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 29th. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 45m. p.m., on the 15th at 8h. 46m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 49m. p.m.

SARXUS, at the beginning of this month, rises nearly at the same time the sun is setting, and afterwards he rises in daylight. He sets on the 8th nearly at the same time as the Sun rises, on the 9th he sets 30 minutes before sunrise, on the 19th he sets at 5h. 13m. a.m.; and on the 29th at 4h. 29m., or 2h. 21m. before the Sun rises; and he is visible throughout the night till these times. He is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 28th; and in opposition to the Sun on the 6th. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 14m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 10m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 3m. p.m.

NOVEMBER.

THE MOON is near and to the left of Venus during the morning hours of the 11th. She is near Mercury on the 15th, she is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 20th and 21st, she is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 23rd and the 24th, and she is near and to the right of Mars during the night common to the 28th and 29th, and to the left of Mars during the following night. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter	on the 7th	at 56 minutes	after 5h.	in the morning.
New Moon	" 14th "	" 38 "	" 0 "	" morning.
First Quarter	" 22d "	" 56 "	" 6 "	" afternoon.
Full Moon	" 28th "	" 57 "	" 8 "	" afternoon.

Path of Jupiter from January 9, 1879, to April 24, 1880.

She is nearest the Earth on the 14th, and at her greatest distance on the 27th.

MERCURY sets on the 2nd at 4h. 59m., or 25 minutes after the Sun; on the 17th at 4h. 64m., or 45 minutes after the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 15th, at his greatest eastern elongation (21 deg. 56 min.) on the 21st, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the last day of the month.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 5h. 1m. a.m., on the 17th at 4h. 2m. a.m., and on the 27th at 3h. 12m. a.m. She is in her ascending node on the 9th, and near the Moon on the 11th.

MARS on the 6th rises at 4h. 35m. p.m., and on the 9th at 4h. 29m. p.m., being at the same time as the Sun, and after this he rises in daylight. He sets on the 14 h at the same time as the Sun rises—viz., 7h. 18m. a.m. On the 26th he sets at 6h. 1m. a.m., or 1h. 39m. before the Sun rises. He is in his ascending node on the 10th, in opposition to the Sun on the 19th, and near the Moon on the 27th. He is due south on the 1st, at 0h. 49m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 27m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 10m. p.m.

JUPITER is an evening star, he sets on the 7th at 18 minutes after midnight, on the 17th at 1h. 43m. p.m., and on the 27th at 1h. 7m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 26th. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 35m. p.m., and on the last day at 5h. 51m. p.m.

SARXUS sets on the 8th at 8h. 46m. a.m., on the 18th at 8h. 4m. a.m., and on the 28th at 7h. 22m. a.m., and is visible throughout the night till these times. He is near the Moon on the 24th. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 59m. p.m., on the 15th at 9h. 1m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 0m. p.m.

DECEMBER.

THE MOON is near Venus on the morning of the 10th, near Mercury on the 13th. She is near Jupiter during the evening hours of the 16th, she is near Saturn during the evening hours of the 21st, and near Mars, being west of the planet, during the evening hours of the 23rd and early morning hours of the 24th, and east of the planet during the evening hours of the same day. Her phases or times of change are:—

Last Quarter	on the 6th	at 43 minutes	after 7h.	in the afternoon.
New Moon	" 13th "	" 4 "	" 11 "	" morning.
First Quarter	" 20th "	" 18 "	" 11 "	" morning.
Full Moon	" 28th "	" 18 "	" 4 "	" morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the 12th, and at her greatest distance on the 25th.

MERCURY is badly situated for observation at the beginning of the month. He sets on the 2nd at 4h. 45m., and on the 11th nearly with the Sun. He rises on the 12th at 7h. 22m. a.m., on the 17th at 6h. 34m. a.m., or one hour and a half before the Sun; on the 22nd at 6h. 18m. a.m., or 1h. 53m. before the Sun; on the 27th he rises 1h. 57m. before sunrise, and on the last day he rises at 6h. 14m. a.m. He is in his ascending node on the 5th, at his least distance from the Sun on the 10th, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the same day, near the Moon on the 13th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 20th, and at his greatest western elongation (22 deg. 30 min.) on the 30th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising on the 7th at 3h. 26m. a.m.; on the 17th at 2h. 45m. a.m.; on the 27th at 4h. 7m. a.m.; and on the last day of the year at 4h. 15m. a.m. She is at her greatest western elongation (46 deg. 47 min.) on the 4th, near the Moon on the 10th, and at her least distance from the Sun on the 13th.

MARS is visible till the morning hours, setting on the 8th at 5h. 13m. a.m., on the 18th at 4h. 31m. a.m., on the 28th at 3h. 58m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 49m. a.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 10th, and near the Moon on the 24th. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 5m. p.m., on the 15th at 9h. 4m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 8h. 7m. p.m.

JUPITER is an evening star, setting on the 7th at 10h. 36m. p.m., on the 17th at 10h. 4m. p.m., on the 27th at 9h. 53m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 9h. 21m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 47m. p.m., on the 15th at 4h. 59m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 4h. 5m. p.m.

SIR PETER PAUL RUBENS, PAINTED BY HIMSELF.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1879.

SATURN is an evening star, setting on the 8th at 1h. 43m. a.m., on the 18th at 1h. 3m. a.m., on the 26th at 6h. 25m. a.m., and on the last day at 6h. 14m. a.m., and is visible from sunset till these times. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 13th, near the Moon on the 21st, and in quadrature with the Sun on the last day of the year. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 55m. p.m.; on the 15th at 7h. 1m. p.m.; and on the last day of the year at 5h. 55m. p.m.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1879.

During the year 1879 there are only three Eclipses—two of the Sun and one of the Moon.

The first is an Annular Eclipse of the Sun, on Jan. 22, but invisible from any part of Europe. Its time of central and annular Eclipse begins at 3 minutes after 10 o'clock a.m., Greenwich mean time, at a place near the western coast of South America, a little north of Valparaiso, thence across South America to its eastern coast, near the Rio Grande; across the South Atlantic Ocean to the western coast of Africa at a point a little north of the Orange River, thence across Africa tending northwards to the west coast near Mozambique, thence passing about 15 deg. north of Madagascar, and ending in the Indian Ocean at a point near 84 deg. east of Greenwich, and near latitude 8 deg. N., at 1h. 43m. p.m., Greenwich mean time.

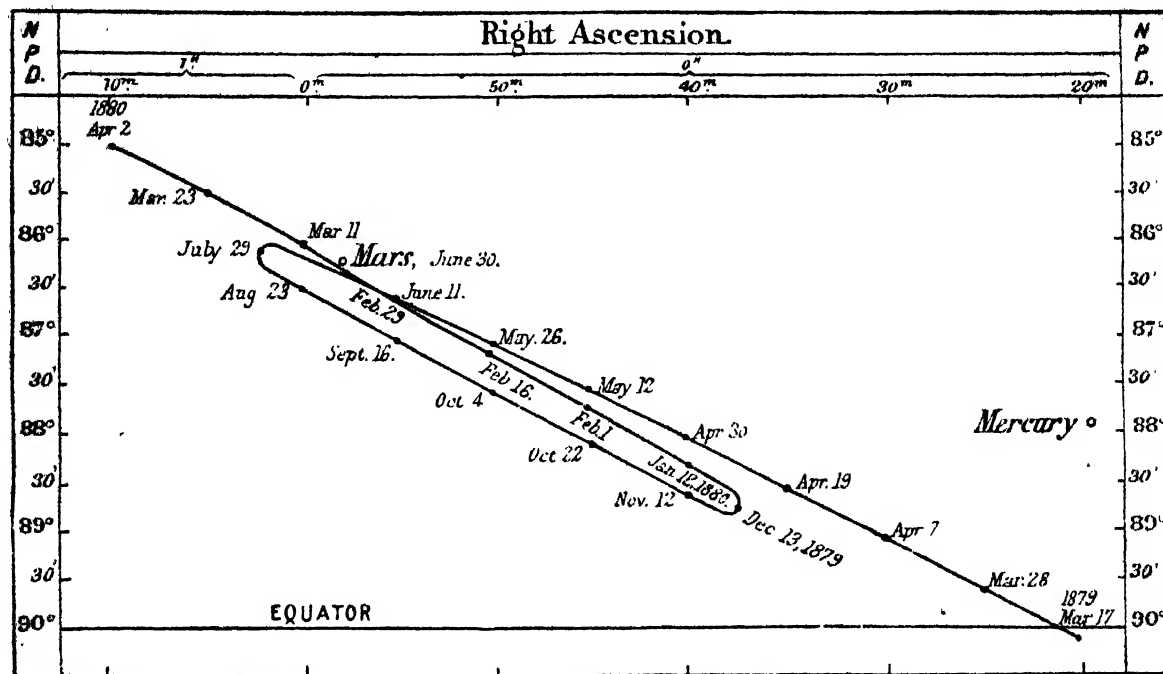

The northern and southern limiting lines of this Eclipse are somewhere more than 80 deg. north and south of the central line; and a Partial Eclipse will be visible at all places within these boundary lines, very large near the central line and small near the boundary lines.

At the Cape of Good Hope, where the central line passes at some distance north of the Cape, the Eclipse will be large; at the time of the greatest phase nearly three fourths of the Sun's diameter will be eclipsed. At Madagascar about three fifths of the Sun's diameter will be obscured.

The second Eclipse is also an annular Eclipse of the Sun on July 19, invisible from the British Isles, and seen as a small eclipse only from the south of Europe or in the south of France, Austria, and a little larger in Spain, the Mediterranean, and the Black Sea.

The line of Central and Annular Eclipse begins at 13 minutes after 7h. a.m. in the North Atlantic Ocean, a few degrees from the West Coast of Africa, and south-west of Sierra Leone, thence passing near Sierra Leone, almost following the river Niger to south of Timbuctoo, still tending northwards to a point 18 deg. of north latitude, then turning southward, crossing Nubia, the southern end of the Red Sea, and western end of the Sea of Babel Mandeb to the West Coast of Africa, south of Cape Guardafui, to the Indian Ocean, crossing the Equator at a point nearly 60 deg. E. longitude to a point 98 deg. E. Nearly on the tropic of Capricorn at five minutes to 11 a.m., Greenwich mean time.

The southern boundary line of this Eclipse begins in the South Atlantic Path of Saturn from March 17, 1879; to April 2, 1880.

Ocean, thence to the West coast of Africa, in latitude about 18 deg., across South Africa to the east coast at Delagoa Bay, and to the south of Madagascar to a point in the Indian Ocean, whose longitude is about 82 deg. E. and latitude 55 deg. S. The northern boundary line passes from the North Atlantic Ocean, south of the British Isles, north of France, across Europe to north of the Caspian Sea, north of Persia, across Hindoostan to a point 7 deg. N. of the Equator in longitude 112 deg., and an Eclipse will take place situated between these boundary lines.

The third Eclipse is a very small one of the Moon on Dec. 28 and is visible from England. The beginning of the eclipse is at 2h. 37m. p.m. By reference to the Almanack pages it will be seen that the time of the Moon rising on this day is 8h. 47m. p.m., 10 minutes after the eclipse has begun. The middle of the eclipse will be at 4h. 28m. p.m., and it will end at a quarter past five o'clock. At the time of the greatest phase, or at the middle of the eclipse, only one sixth part of the Moon's diameter will be obscured.

THE SOLAR ECLIPSE OF 1878.

THE Solar Eclipse of July 29, 1878, was observed by an array of instrumental appliances, and under conditions such as had been seen at no previous eclipse. It was regarded as the return of that of July 18, 1860, when the Moon's shadow crossed the northern parts of the American continent, and, sweeping over the Atlantic Ocean, passed across Spain and Africa. At La Junta, shortly after two o'clock on July 29, 1878, as the moon cut into the solar disc, the light rapidly waned, and a peculiar yellow colour, gradually changing to a dark neutral tint, overspread the landscape. The cloudless sky became of a leaden blue, and a few minutes before totality Venus and Mercury were plainly visible; immediately afterwards a streak of yellow light seemed to open out along the northern horizon, and the dark shadow rushed across the plain. A few seconds before the Moon's disc completely covered over the Sun, the corona shone out distinctly at 5h. 30m. 20s. (10h. 30m. 37s. Greenwich mean time). From the commencement to the end of the totality, not a trace of Leverrier's long-looked-for planet was detected; but for several seconds after totality the corona stood out clear and distinct, and slowly faded away. The duration of the totality was 168 seconds, three seconds shorter than the computed time. A fine series of photographs were obtained, in each of which was shown an amount of detail and structure of the corona far beyond anything previously seen. In two of the prominences there was a well defined "filamentous" development, and it was noticed that, with the increased exposure of plates, an extension of the corona took place, as noticed by Schuster in the Siam eclipse. The outlying portions of the prominences seemed to extend between three and four diameters away from the Sun. The western extension exhibiting more of the "filamentous structure." The rose-coloured prominences, usually the most striking objects in a total eclipse, were not seen by any of the La Junta observers. With a Nicol's prism and a thick quartz plate radial polarisation was distinctly observed, the polarisation near the limb of the Moon was about 10 per cent, decreasing outwards. Photographic evidence of polarisation was obtained by exposing gelatino-bromid prepared plates in a Ross symmetrical lens camera of five-inch focus and 0.5 effective aperture, at the back of which was a double-image prism. The plate was exposed about eighty seconds. At West Las Animas (latitude 28° 04' and longitude 98° 58' W. 48 sec. west Greenwich) spectroscopic observations of the eclipse were made, and the well-known green line 1474 of Kirchhoff's scale was seen in the continuous spectrum. Line and spectrum, however, disappeared at all points at a height of about eight minutes of arc from the Sun's limb. The violet parts of the spectrum were remarkably vivid, and it was possible to see far into the ultra-violet, much further than with ordinary sunlight. Spectroscopic examination of the corona showed a strong continuous spectrum, reaching nearly to the calcium line H, and up to a height of 0.3 of the Sun's diameter no weakening of the spectrum was visible. On examining the green part of the spectrum indications of two lines were observed, but no measurements could be made.

A large number of general observations were made, such as the wonderful transparency of the Colorado atmosphere, the effect produced on animals, on the colours of objects, their visibility, &c., whilst the darkness was far from being so great as was anticipated, although the decrease of temperature, as indicated by Ellison's tasimeter, was considerable.

IMPORTANT TO ALL—Especially to Consuls, Ship Captains, Emigrants, and Europeans generally who are Visiting or Residing in Hot or Foreign Climates,

Or in the United Kingdom. As a natural product of nature, use ENO'S FRUIT SALT, prepared from Sound Ripe Fruit. You cannot overstate its great value in keeping the BLOOD PURE. Without such a simple precaution the JEOPARDY of life is immensely increased. As a means of keeping the system clear, and thus taking away the groundwork of Malarious Diseases and all Liver Complaints, or as a Health-giving, Refreshing, Cooling, and Invigorating Beverage, or as a Gentle Laxative and Tonic in the Various Forms of Indigestion,

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

Is particularly valuable. No TRAVELLER should leave home without a supply, for by its use the most dangerous forms of FEVERS, BLOOD POISONS, &c., are prevented and cured. It is in truth a FAMILY MEDICINE CHEST in the simplest yet most potent form. Instead of being lowering to the system, this preparation is, in the highest degree, invigorating. Its effect in relieving thirst, giving tone to the system, and aiding digestion, is most striking.

FOR BILIOUSNESS or SICK HEADACHE, GIDDINESS, DEPRESSION OF

SPIRITS, Sluggish Liver, Vomiting, Sourness of the Stomach, Heartburn, Costiveness and its evils, Impure Blood and Skin Eruptions, &c., ENO'S FRUIT SALT is the simplest and best remedy yet introduced. It removes by natural means effete matter or poison from the blood, thereby preventing and curing boils, carbuncles, fevers, feverish skin, erysipelas, and all epidemics, and counteracts any ERRORS OF EATING OR DRINKING, or any sudden affliction or mental strain, and prevents diarrhoea. It is a PLEASANT BEVERAGE, which supplies the want of ripe fruit, so essential to the animal economy, and may be taken as an invigorating and cooling draught under any circumstances from infancy to old age, and may be continued for any length of time, and looked upon as being a simple product of fruit. It is impossible to overstate its value, and on that account no household ought to be without it, for by its use many disastrous results may be entirely prevented. In the anxiety it is beyond praise.

Notwithstanding its medical value, the FRUIT SALT must be looked upon as essential as breathing fresh air, or as a simple and safe beverage under all circumstances, and may be taken as a sparkling and refreshing draught in the same way as Lemonade, Soda Water, Potass Water, &c., only it is much cheaper and better in every sense of the term, to an unlimited extent.

The FRUIT SALT acts as simply, yet just as powerfully, on the animal system as sunshine does on the vegetable world. It has a natural action on the organs of digestion, absorption, circulation, respiration, secretion, and excretion, and removes all impurities, thus preserving and restoring health.

A NATURAL WAY OF RESTORING or PRESERVING HEALTH.—Use ENO'S FRUIT SALT (prepared from sound ripe fruit). It is a pleasant beverage, both cooling, refreshing, and invigorating.

TO EUROPEANS who propose residing in or

VISITING HOT CLIMATES, I consider the Fruit Salt to be an indispensable necessary, for by its use the system is relieved of poisonous matter, the result of eating to nearly the same extent, and of too rich food as they do in a colder country, while so much heat-making food is not required in the warmer climate. By keeping the system clear, the Fruit Salt takes away the groundwork of malarious diseases and all liver complaints, and neutralises poisonous matter.

"43, Somerset-street, Portman-square, W.,

"Sept. 5, 1878.

"Sir,—I feel a pleasure in sending you the following extract from a letter I have received from my son in India:—

"Singapore, July 22, 1878.

"I find Eno's Fruit Salt a great comfort, and have already finished a large bottle of it. It is well known out here, and highly appreciated: much more so than any other form of saline. I used it frequently on the voyage.

"Yours faithfully, ROBT. KIRKPATRICK."

HOW TO CHECK DISEASE AT THE ONSET, USE ENO'S FRUIT SALT.

IMPORTANT TO ALL TRAVELLERS.—"Please

send me half a dozen bottles of Eno's Fruit Salt. I have tried Eno's Fruit Salt in America, India, Egypt, and on the Continent for almost every complaint, fever included, with the most satisfactory results. I can strongly recommend it to all travellers; in fact, I am never without it.—Yours faithfully, AN INDIAN OFFICIAL.

HOW TO AVOID THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS

OF STIMULANTS.—The present system of living—partaking of too rich foods, as pastry, saccharine, and fatty substances, alcoholic drinks, and an insufficient amount of exercise—frequently deranges the liver. I would advise all bilious people, unless they are careful to keep the liver acting freely, to exercise great care in the use of alcoholic drinks, avoid sugar, and always dilute largely with water. Experience shows that porter, mild ales, port wine, dark sherries, sweet champagne, liqueurs, and brandies, are all very apt to disagree; while light white wines, and gin or whisky largely diluted with soda water will be found the least objectionable. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver; it possesses the power of reparation when digestion has been disturbed or lost, and places the invalid on the right track to health. A world of woe is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S "FRUIT SALT," therefore no family should ever be without it.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—"All our customers for

Eno's Fruit Salt would not be without it upon any consideration, they having received so much benefit from it.—WOOD BROTHERS, Chemists, Jersey, 1878."

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—A lady writes:—"I think you will be glad to hear that I find your Fruit Salt a most valuable remedy; and I can assure you I recommend it to all my friends, and the result is always satisfactory. Everything, medicine or food, ceased to act properly; for at least three months before I commenced taking it, the little food I could take generally punished me or returned. My life was one of great suffering, so that I must have succumbed before long. To me and our family it has been a great earthly blessing; I feel I cannot say too much for it. After spending hundreds of pounds, and travelling about for twelve years."

With each Bottle of Fruit Salt is wrapped a LARGE ILLUSTRATED SHEET, showing the best means of stamping out infectious diseases, Fevers, and BLOOD POISONS, &c. If this INVALUABLE INFORMATION was universally carried out, many forms of disease now producing such havoc would cease to exist, as Plague, Leprosy, &c., have done, when the true cause has become known.

Prepared only by J. C. ENO, Fruit Salt Works, Hatcham, London, S.E.

CAUTION.—Examine each bottle, and see the capsule is marked "ENO'S FRUIT SALT." Without, you have been imposed on by a worthless imitation. Sold by all Chemists. Price 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d.

FRY'S COCOA EXTRACT.

GUARANTEED PURE COCOA ONLY, THE SUPERFLUOUS OIL EXTRACTED.

This pure and delicious Cocoa, consisting exclusively of choice Cocoa Nibs from which the superfluous oil has been extracted, is strongly recommended to all who appreciate the full flavour and fine aroma of Cocoa.

"If properly prepared, there is no nicer or more wholesome preparation of Cocoa."—Food, Water, and Air, Edited by Dr. Hassall.

The absolute genuineness of this article, which is prepared by means of powerful steam machinery, is guaranteed. It is easily soluble in boiling water, and, being in a concentrated form, a less quantity suffices than of most other descriptions.

"Specially adapted to persons of weak digestion. The medical profession express the greatest confidence in its invigorating powers."—The Court Express.

The above cut represents a one-pound decorated Tin (black and gold jappanned).

FRY'S CARACAS COCOA, IN PACKETS AND TINS.

Is a delicious prepared Cocoa, specially recommended by the Manufacturers; it owes its delicate flavour to the celebrated Cocoa of Caracas, combined with other choice descriptions.

"CARACAS COCOA has ever been considered the best of all that is produced upon the American soil."—R. T. C. Middleton, Consul-General, Caracas.—Journal of Applied Science.

"A packet can easily be obtained, and its delicate flavour and fine aroma will ensure its adoption as a beverage for breakfast or supper."—Standard.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES,

for the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH, or any irritation or soreness of the Throat, are now imported and sold in this Country, at 1s. 1½d. per Box, put up in the form of a "lozenge." It is the most convenient, pleasant, safe, and sure remedy for clearing and strengthening the voice known in the world. The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher says:—"I have often recommended them to friends who were public speakers, and in many cases they have proved extremely serviceable." The genuine have the words "Brown's Bronchial Troches" on the Government Stamp around each Box. Sold by all Medicine Venders throughout the world. London Dépôt, 493, Oxford-street.

Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere. Price 3s. 6d.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.

If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, OXFORD-STREET, LONDON.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

should always be used when children are cutting teeth; it relieves the little sufferers at once, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world, at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle; and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue.

Manufactory, 493, Oxford-street, London.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalcules," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke: being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the toothbrush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly each morning if only left to their own choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the toothbrush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. FLORILINE is prepared only by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London, and sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world, at 2s. 6d. per bottle. "Floriline" Powder put up in large glass jars, price 1s.

LAXORA LOZENGES,

FOR CONSTIPATION, BILE, &c.

MANUFACTURED with the greatest care, this preparation will be found the most valuable remedy for Constipation, Habitual Costiveness, Sluggishness of the Stomach, Bile, Headache, and especially useful for children and ladies. It gives immediate relief, and the flavour is agreeable. It does not interfere with any medicine the patient may be taking at the same time. It is recommended by eminent physicians for its efficacy and mildness, as it does not purge.

SOLD in BOXES, containing eight lozenges, at 1s. 1½d., and twenty lozenges, 2s. 6d., by all Chemists and Druggists.

ANALYTICAL REPORT, by C. R. C. Tichborne, Ph.D., F.C.S., M.R.I.A., Chemist to the Apothecaries' Hall of Ireland, &c.—LAXORA LOZENGES:—"Some considerable popularity has lately been obtained by aperient medicines made up in the form of confectionery. These palatable compounds chiefly emanate from France. The cook par excellence is the Frenchman, and as a nation they carry this peculiarity into their medicines. The Laxora Lozenges are of this confectionery class. They are efficacious and nicely made, and can be safely administered as a mild and agreeable laxative medicine. They can be safely recommended."—"Medical Press and Circular," April 18, 1877. Sold by all Chemists and Druggists, in boxes, at 1s. 1½d., including Government stamp. Forwarded by post on receipt of 1s. 3d. in postage stamps. Wholesale: 82, Southwark-street, London, S.E.

THE LANCET, Jan. 19, 1877, says:—"LAXORA LOZENGES. We have no hesitation in recommending this preparation as a useful because mild aperient. The Lozenges are exceedingly pleasant to the taste, and will be regarded, by the children simply as 'sweeties.' It is a great improvement on the preparations which are in common use for the same purpose, and will be really valuable in families."

LAXORA.—The most pleasant remedy for Constipation. Sold by all Chemists and Druggists.

DR. LELIEVRE'S ICELAND-MOSS INSTANTANEOUS POULTICE.

ICELAND-MOSS POULTICE.—Approved by the Academy of Medicine, adopted by the Hospitals of Paris, by the Military Ambulances, and the Navy Hospitals, &c.

WHENEVER a POULTICE is WANTED, please ask your Chemist for (the new Poultice) Dr. LELIEVRE'S. Far superior to linseed or bread poultices, and cheaper.

This NEW POULTICE is INSTANTANEOUS, for it is ready in a few seconds, and offers the following advantages:—Readiness for use; it can be cut to any size; it can be used with hot or cold water; it can be used with any lotion or chemicals several times; it keeps good in any climate for years; it can be placed on the neck, eye, ear, or any part of the head by the patient without any help, and with ease; it can be placed under the arm in cases of abscess, or any part of the body, with comfort; it is so light that it is hardly noticed, and does not prevent the patient from getting up and walking.

The POULTICE, with Covering, is made and sold by RIGOLLOT and CO., 82 (Wholesale Only), Southwark-street, London; all Chemists and Druggists, 1s. and 2s. packets.

CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE
CHLORODYNE

is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered. It is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague, acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms. is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, Dec. 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manila to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the only remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—"Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to."—See "Times," July 12, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1d., 2s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine without the words, "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY TRUE.

Is allowed to be the greatest discovery of the present century, and is largely employed by the most eminent Medical Men, in Hospital and Private Practice, in all parts of the world.

It is the best remedy known for Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

It effectually checks those too-often fatal diseases—Fever, Ague, Croup, Whooping-Cough.

It acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

It effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, Convulsions, and Spasms.

It is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Tic Doloroux, Cancer, Toothache, and all Nerve Pain. It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause; allays the irritation of fever; soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting disease; and produces quiet and refreshing sleep.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—As there are other preparations sold under the name of Chlorodyne, but entirely devoid of its wonderful medicinal and chemical properties;
the Public are requested to notice that THE ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE is known by the Government Stamp having engraved upon it the words "FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL, CHLORODYNE," and each Wrapper, Label, and Handbill bearing an impression of the Trade-Mark, the "ELEPHANT," without which none is genuine.

Four Chancery Suits each terminated in favour of "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," and against the proprietors of Collis Brown's; Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, and Lord Justice Malins strongly condemned the proceedings of Brown and Davenport, and compelled them to pay all costs."—See "Times," April 29, 1873 and July 23, 1873.

N.B.—Beware of Low-Priced Imitations, which are worthless.

NALDIRE'S POWDERS, FOR WORMS IN DOGS.

ONE DOSE A CURE.

STONEHENGE, in his celebrated work on "The Dog," says:—"Worms are a fertile source of disease in the dog, destroying every year more puppies than distemper itself." While the FIELD says, concerning distemper:—"All treatment, to be successful, must be preceded by the expulsion of worms." Naldire's Powders remove these pests within one hour, at the same time giving tone to the stomach, and producing first-rate condition in dogs. One dose is sufficient, and dogs readily take it. NALDIRE'S POWDERS are sold by all Chemists, and by BARCLAY and SONS, 85, Farringdon-street, London.

PYRETIC SALINE.

AND HAVE IT IN YOUR HOUSES.

It is most Invigorating, Vitalizing, and Refreshing. Gives Instant Relief in HEADACHES, SEA or BILIOUS SICKNESS, and Quickly Cures the Worst Form of ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS. The various diseases arising from Climatic causes, Constipation, the Fever, or Blood Impurities, Inoculation, the Results of breathing air Infected with Fever, Measles, or SMALLPOX, are frequently prevented and these diseases cured by its use. ANY PERSON WHO HAS ALREADY SMALLPOX should take it, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent its leaving any trace on the features.

The numerous statements and letters relating to its marvellous effect, as a positive cure in TYPHUS, SCARLET FEVER, SMALLPOX, and other BLOOD POISONS, are most remarkable, and are painfully suggestive of great neglect, whenever the PYRETIC SALINE is not employed in these diseases.

"It furnishes the Blood with its lost Saline constituents."—DR. MORGAN, M.D., &c.

OPINION OF THE PRESS.

"Silks are, it is said, sold cheaper here, than in any other house in London. We can quite understand this diminution of prices, from the simple fact that the rent and taxes, necessarily so high in West-End quarters, do not press on the East-End Merchant, who can thus afford to sell at lower figures."—English Churchman, May 31, 1877.

SCOTTISH PROVIDENT INSTITUTION.

EDINBURGH—6, St. Andrew-square.

LONDON—18, King William-street, E.C.

THIS SOCIETY differs in its principles from any other Office. The resulting advantages, as compared with other Offices, are—
A greatly larger immediate assurance, at most ages, for the same Premium,—with the prospect, in good lives, eventually, of very considerable additions.
For the same yearly sum as large an Assurance may generally be secured from the first as can be looked for elsewhere only after many years' accumulation of Bonuses. A Policy for £1200 or £1250 may be had for the Premium usually charged for £1000 only—the difference being an immediate Bonus, irrespective of what may be looked for from eventual shares of surplus.

At last Investigation (1878) Policies, say, for £1600, sharing a first time, were increased to sums ranging from £1170 to £1300. Policies which had shared before were, of course, further increased, and in a few cases have now been doubled.

The NEW ASSURANCES granted in 1877 were for £1,061,812 17s. TOTAL RECEIPTS of year were £482,835. At close of year the SUBSISTING ASSURANCES were £12,070,636. The REALISED FUND at same time was £3,101,898 19s. 6d., having increased in the year by £225,807 6s.

EXAMPLE.—A person of Thirty may thus secure £1000 at Death by a yearly payment, during life, of £20 15s. This Premium, if paid to any other of the Scottish Mutual Offices, would secure £800 only, instead of £1000.

Or, if unwilling to burden himself with payments during his whole life, he may secure the same sum of £1000 by twenty-one yearly payments of £27 13s. 4d.—being thus free of payment after age Fifty.

ARTIFICIAL

EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS. GROSSMITH'S

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the patient to walk, sit, or ride with ease and comfort, wherever amputated. They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety. They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Juries to be "excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others."

The PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

THE FIRST ILLUSTRATED NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED,

HAS NOW BEEN IN EXISTENCE OVER A THIRD OF A CENTURY.

As might have been expected, its appearance called into existence imitators, not only in this country, but throughout the world. Many of these had but a brief existence, and others flourished in exact proportion as they followed more or less closely their prototype. Not one of them, however, has achieved anything like the great success of the original.

The Engravings.

Neither cost nor trouble has been spared to illustrate, from Original Sketches—many of them by Special Artists, sent to foreign lands—events of public interest in every quarter of the globe. This course has been undeviatingly pursued from the commencement of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS to the present time. It is, doubtless, owing to the fidelity of these Illustrations and to the jealous care with which objectionable subjects are excluded, that it has continued to rise in public favour, and finds a welcome in every home.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The extensive circulation of the ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS throughout the United Kingdom, in the Colonies, and in all other parts of the world, renders it an excellent medium for Advertising; and, considering the area of its circulation, the charges are moderate.

It would be ridiculous for those who use SOZODONT to decry it, for the moment they opened their mouths the state of their teeth would contradict the slander of their tongues. It removes discolourations, imparts a glittering whiteness to the enamel, and renders decomposition of the teeth impossible.

The standard tooth wash of the age is SOZODONT. It has distanced competition. Discoloured teeth are rendered white by its use. The breath derives fragrance from its aroma. It prevents and arrests dental decay. The gums become rosier and harder under its operation. All its ingredients are vegetable and antiseptic. Every day adds to its popularity.

CRYING BECAUSE YOUR PRETTY WHITE TEETH HAVE GROWN YELLOW DURING YOUR LONG ILLNESS THERE IS A PERFECT REMEDY SOZODONT THAT WILL SOON RESTORE THEIR BEAUTIFUL WHITENESS

WHAT!

THE SPELL THAT HAS CHANGED MY TEETH FROM YELLOW TO PEARLY WHITENESS IS FRAGRANT SOZODONT USED TWICE A DAY

HOW IS IT THAT SMITH WHO IS SUCH AN INVETERATE SMOKER HAS SUCH BEAUTIFUL WHITE TEETH? WHY CONSTANT USE OF SOZODONT IS THE ONLY SECRET

Van Buskirk's FRAGRANT SOZODONT

PLAIN TALK.

There is a preservative principle in SOZODONT that effectually preserves the teeth from decay. Chemists pronounce it wholesome. Rich and poor endorse it. No person ever tried it without approving its cleansing and purifying properties. It is as harmless as water, and recommended by eminent Dentists, Physicians, Ministers, Literary Men, Bankers, Merchants, &c., &c., throughout the world.

The fragrant SOZODONT is put up in large bottles, fitted with patent sprinklers for applying the liquid to the tooth-brush. Each bottle is inclosed in a handsome toilet-box, on which are directions in the English, French, Spanish, and German languages. Price 3s. 6d. It is sold by the principal Chemists and Perfumers, and by JOHN M. RICHARDS, Great Russell-street, London.

HEARTS! FORTUNES! CORONETS! DAILY WON BY THE INDIRECT AGENCY OF FRAGRANT SOZODONT

AM YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS YOU FLATTER ME. (ASIDE) SOZODONT BROUGHT ME THAT PRETTY SPEECH

What sweetens the mouth, preserves and whitens the teeth, keeps the gums from becoming spongy, neutralises all impurities that adhere to the dental enamel, and effectually prevents the toothache? Anybody can answer this simple question who has ever witnessed the wonderful effects of that matchless vegetable preparation—SOZODONT.

The glory of women is a fine set of teeth as well as a fine head of hair. How the enamel glistens after a good brushing with fragrant SOZODONT! Nothing destructive to the teeth can exist on the surface or at the roots, if this vegetable antidote to corrosion is duly applied.

are sold by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Venders, whilst their infallibility in curing all diseases of the blood (which are legion) has been fully acknowledged throughout the World. For forty years these Magic Drops have been before the public: they have been used in the most dangerous cases, and with signal success; and on many occasions when first-class medical men have been obliged to give up their patients as incurable, these Universal Drops have been the means of saving them and restoring them to health and happiness. In all cases of illness, such as Nervous Debility, Weakness, Loss of Appetite, Headaches, Palpitation, Indigestion, Gravel, Lumbago, Gout, Rheumatism, Cancer, Scanty, Bile, Blotches, Nodes on the Shin Bones, Scorbutic Eruptions, Clottered Throat, White Swellings, Disordered Joints, Rheumatic Gout, Secondary Sympoms, Old Sores, Piles, &c., these Drops thoroughly purify the Blood, and in a very short time restore energy to their usual strength and vigour. Price—4s. 6d., 11s., and 21s. per Case. Prepared only by Messrs. WILKINSON and Co., Medical Hall, 5, Baker's-hill, Sheffield, and sold by all Chemists and Patent Medicine Venders. Will be forwarded to any address by the Proprietors.

Sold Retail by all Chemists and Druggists; also Wholesale by all the Patent Medicine Houses in the World.

IMPORTANT CAUTION!
The Wonderful Success of this famous medicine has led to the manufacture of cheap imitations, and the public are hereby cautioned to be on their guard. The name of the proprietor, WILKINSON and Co., is blown in the glass of every bottle of the Magic Drops, and is also on the Government Warrant. These Magic Drops have stood the trial of public opinion for forty years; upwards of three hundred thousand cases were sold during the last twelve months.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up, until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—On Diet, in "The Civil Service Gazette."

BAFFLED KITTENS: DEFENSIVE WARFARE.

Three brisk little kittens,
Whose prim little paws,
With soft velvet mittens,
Bear sharp little claws—
Their pretty teeth gleaming
As if they could bite,
Their eyes greenly beaming
Or winking at light,
Their ears, ever twitching
At hearing of sound,
Their tails, often switching
Or waving around—
These playmates of Baby
Wear ribbons of silk,
And cost, for each, may be,
A penn'orth of milk.
But when careless Nancy,
Who sews, drops her reel,
That's a toy to their fancy;
The joy that they feel,
At its rolling and running,
As they pounce upon it,
Is almost as "stunning"
As Nancy's new bonnet.
An epithet, truly,
That savours of slang.
Correct then, most duly,
My "tongue with a tang."

But lo! what a wonder!
And oh! what a fright!
Worlds upper or under Ne'er showed such a sight.
Caprices of Nature
Could never let be Such a horrible creature
As that which they see.
Not at all like the cattle
They meet in the house,
Their foes in life's battle,
The rat and the mouse;
Or the nag, at his manger,
Or dog, in the yard,
Or cow, a stray ranger
When gates are unbarred.
Such beasts often meeting,
A cat may survive;
But here's a Thing, eating
Or drinking, alive,
A Monster, to kittens,
Though not very big—
A mere bundle of prickles
With snout like a pig,
No shape in its body,

No show of its limbs—
An artist, if odd, he,
In one of his whims,
With pencil or pigment,
At ensel or doak,
Might sketch such a figment,
And call it "grotesque!"
But 'tis not a vision,
This figure uncouth;
Its living condition
Is seen for a truth;
A beast that is greedy,
A gluttonous thief,
Or applicant needy
For indoor relief;
He's upset their platter—
He's supping their food—
Till, roused by this clatter,
The whole kitten brood,
Come down on the rascal
Who's robbing the house,
To take him to task, all
As he were a mouse.

In temper besitting,
Up backs and out claws,
All snarling and spitting,
And swearing their cause,
All tossing and prancing,
To form their attack,
Little Cats are advancing
To leap on his back!
But the first that is striking
Shall first be to feel,
Not at all to her liking,
Some points of his steel!
As, yelling in anguish,
Puss cuddles her paw,
The hearts of all languish,
Their forces withdraw!
While, bolder and ruder
His reck'ning to bilk,
The sturdy intruder
Still gobbles their milk!

MORAL.

His warfare is passive;
His fighting, defence.
Its skill, not aggressive,
May teach us good sense.
Keep our land and sea forces,
But don't seek the foe.
The statesman's wise course is
To war not to go!

MORNING AND EVENING: BIRD LIFE.

The feathered race of animals which freely inhabit the air and waters and the trees or bushes of this our hospitable earth have their customary ways and manners. These are observed at the opening and closing hours of a seasonable day in summer. The life of birds is a joyous life. Their perpetual activity and levity of movement, which is performed with such ease and freedom by the majority of species, must have an exhilarating effect. They breathe most abundantly of the freshest air, they bask in the sun's light, they see much of the world in their fitting, roving, desultory trips about the neighbourhood. They visit a good deal, have numerous and various acquaintance, plenty of conversation, small talk as well as music, and no end of flirting. How different is all this from being an oyster! "A lark and oyster pudding" is a favourite dish for pampered gourmands at the feasts of the London City Companies. Now the juxtaposition of such names, those of creatures so extremely dissimilar in their character and condition of life, is grimly grotesque to the imagination of a humourist, but shocking to the lover of truth and nature. Let the epicure's gullet, if he will, absorb the luscious bivalve. We prefer listening to that soaring songster of gladsome spring, whom the poet, envying his exalted tones of harmonious rapture, has boldly addressed, with his

Hail to thee, blithe spirit!
Bird thou never wert,
That from heaven, or near it,
Pourest thy glad heart,
In profuse strains of unpremeditated art.

So much for poetry versus pudding, and now for the morning and evening of a happy day with the birds. They are all early risers.

The cuckoo's call is first heard, an hour or two after what we suppose to be midnight, in May or June. The nightingale, which has scarcely been to sleep at all, repeats, for her orisons, the same melodious plaint that she uttered in a final serenade. The lark ascends, as Milton says of the divine poet, to "the still atmosphere of delightful truth, with his invisible slinging-robes about him." The jolly blackbird and the cheery thrush, from every copse and hedge across the fields, sound their tuneful whistles at the approach of dawn. Robins and redstarts commence the soft warbling chorus of nearer music, joined by all the finches, among which is heard the familiar linnet's note, from her nest in the humble furze-bush. There is a grave cawing of rooks and crows flying wide and far above the grassy meadows and the green expanses of growing corn. The jay and the woodpecker, with more startling sounds in the leafy covert of the grove, respond to the sunnons when they are reached by the new daylight in their sheltered home. They all begin the day with devout minstrelsy, or rather with psalmody, and chant their matin hymn before they think of breakfast. This goes on till the sun has risen well above the horizon. Then it is time for them to pick up a morsel of food, a few seeds or insects, a grain of barley, with or without the farmer's leave, for such birds as like that sort of thing; but for some others, who are kindly welcome, a grub, a caterpillar, a fly or beetle, a thing far more destructive than any granivorous bird. Yet there are birds which in the orchards and fruit gardens will perpetrate a large amount of larceny and wasteful depredation; but let not the innocent and beneficent species be condemned for such misdeeds.

You call them thieves and pillagers; but know
They are the winged wardens of your farms,
Who from the corn-fields drive the insidious foe;
And from your harvests keep a hundred harms;
Even the blackest of them all, the crow,
Renders good service as your man-at-arms,
Crushing the beetle in his coat of mail,
And crying vengeance on the slug and snail.

Having well eaten—and much good may it do them—all our feathered friends, as a general rule, next betake themselves to drinking at the nearest pool or stream; after which they retire, as the forenoon advances, to a prolonged siesta, for the purpose of digestion rather than slumber, which is continued till the decline of the sun in the afternoon. They then bestir themselves for another salutary operation—that of washing or otherwise cleaning and tidying their precious little persons. Some of them go to the water, splash their wings in it, and then, by fluttering and casting the spray over them, or beating their body with their wet wings, contrive to get a perfect ablution, as in a shower-bath or sponging-bath. There are many, however, which keep themselves equally clean by a dry-rubbing process in the sand or dust of the ground, as Mohammedans are commanded by their religion to do, instead of washing, if they are travelling in the waterless desert of Arabia or Egypt. This method is said to be the most efficacious for removing vermin that infest the bird's feathers; and it may be observed that a bird will take great pains to fill all its feathers with the dust, and thoroughly to scour them out. When thus entirely cleansed to the very skin, the task of combing and trimming is next to be accomplished. The dust is shaken out, or the moisture is wiped and wrung out of the feathers separately by squeezing each in the bill; and then, with much care and exact precision, they are "preened" or smoothly ranged, by a sort of brushing action, in their proper order, not only for the wings but the whole body. Now the little creature is dressed, as well as refreshed by food and rest, it wants to fly about and visit its neighbours. At this hour, late in the afternoon, birds have their leisure for the enjoyment of society and for the intellectual gratification, as we may almost consider it, of that eager curiosity, that desire of novelties and fresh experiences, with which they seem to be endowed. Many human travellers and saunterers about the world have less active exercise of their powers of observation.

As for conversation, without affirming that they can do more than express mutual emotions, and not distinct ideas, in communicating with one another, we may be sure that they find in this a genuine social pleasure. It is certainly quite independent of the feelings of sexual attachment and parentage which are such potent affections in the life of birds; nor is it confined to the exhibition of rivalry between the males in singing and showing off their prowess or their handsome attire or their strutting and dancing paces. For birds of several different species will often be noticed assembling together, apparently amusing themselves with each other's company, or they will seek the presence of beasts, and sometimes draw near even to man, as if solitude were irksome to them. Exceptions are notoriously found in the fish-catching and other birds of prey, whose business would be disturbed by the intrusion of companions, but whose disposition at other times is not unsocial; just as it is with diligent business men, who are glad to see their friends in hours of leisure.

But as talking is provocative of fresh appetite, and the approach of evening now brings on the swarms of insects, both in fields and woods and on the surface of lake or river, the birds' second feeding-time occurs about sunset, and this is the lively spectacle we behold in our rural walks. It is then we commonly see them most freely, and displaying the greatest activity, especially in the pursuit of flies; the nimble flight of the swallow or the swift, the one darting hither and thither, with momentary sudden turns, like those of a greyhound, this way or that, to snap its tiny prey; the other, a winged shot, as an arrow from the archer's hand, too rapid for the eye to follow; besides their less powerful cousin, the modest marten, whether its nest of clay be stuck against a house-wall, or it belong to the sand-marten species, burrowing its deep chamber in a rustic bank of earth. The motions of this tribe are a most interesting study for the naturalist; and that delightful writer, the Rev. Gilbert White, of Selborne, has filled several of his most agreeable pages with the charming topic. He was, to be sure, as many writers upon other themes were a hundred years ago, totally mistaken in some of his opinions; but we like him none the worse for that, as it gratifies the self-complacency of the modern age, when "school-boys laugh at the jargon which deceived Bacon." The fancied hybernation of swallows is an exploded delusion. Their rule of annual migration from the north coast of Africa, usually arriving here about the middle of April, was perfectly recognised by Gilbert White, whose brother, residing in Spain, furnished some useful notices of their passage in spring-time. He had also paid much attention to the dates and the manner of their autumnal departure for a southern clime. But he was misled by a few ill-authenticated stories of birds found here in a state of torpidity during our English winter, and being revived by warmth, as is probably the case with certain insects and reptiles.

Our British birds, whose daily course of life has been slightly reviewed, are the best vocalists to be heard in any region of the earth; of course, including the nightingale, which is a bird of passage, coming to us yearly from Greece, Syria, Persia, and India, whither she returns for the winter season. But we cannot boast an equal superiority in the merit of beautiful plumage for the birds of this country. It is to the tropical forest regions of the Malay Islands or South America that we must look for those magnificent creatures of the parrot tribe, the macaw, the lory, and the parakeet, and the exquisitely pretty finches, that claim so much admiration at our Zoological Society's Gardens. The most richly coloured of our native birds is the rather handsome kingfisher, who cuts a dash with his shining green and blue livery, as we have often seen him, driving post-haste along the course of a pleasant stream well known to us in Devonshire, upon some errand he would not stop to explain. He is, like some other gay personages, an elegant figure to look at when he goes abroad, but a nasty, sordid, shabby fellow at home. If ever you peeped into a kingfisher's private abode, which is merely some old hole in the river bank, deserted by the water rat, and serving instead of a nest, you must have sickened at the filthy heap of fish-bones and garbage, vomited by its foul tenant for the procreant cradle of the kingfisher's young. The "halcyon," forsooth! a graceful, classical name for this unworthy creature—was anciently believed such a favourite of the gods as to ensure fair weather at sea while this bird's eggs were hatched in some far inland recess. And it was a superstition of the Middle Ages that its body hung up in your kitchen or parlour would serve to indicate the changes of the wind, as Shakespeare in "King Lear" speaks of flattering courtiers—

Who turn their halcyon beaks
With every gale and vary of their masters.

But we have no scruple in declaring that the kingfisher is a snob, for all his brilliant outside. There is a large Indian bird, one of the same tribe as the stork and heron, which is not particularly nice in its habits, but is really useful to the troops in our military cantonments. It has been promoted, as it were, to a brevet rank, and bears the title of adjutant, for its punctual appearance on parade. The services it actually performs are less dignified, being those of a scavenger in the removal of butcher's offal. With its bald head and bare neck, having a raw fleshy appearance, its presence is scarcely ornamental to the barrack-yard. Its native name is the Argala, and its natural way of living, as an aquatic bird of prey, feeding on water-snakes, frogs, and other small reptiles, is shown in our "Morning" Illustration. The beautiful Mandarin Duck of China, which has been recently introduced to the ponds of English pleasure-grounds, is represented in the same coloured picture. Its green and purple crest, wing-fans erect above the back, and bosom of a rich chestnut hue, relieved with bands or stripes and deep-green borders, surpasses all other ducks. This is "a duck of a duck," as a lady would say, and we can say no more.

ENGLISH SPORT AND FRENCH SPORT: HUNTING.

The national pastime of riding to a pack of fox-hounds is not yet out of fashion with those classes whose rural residence and practice of horsemanship, or their command of money as well as leisure, allows them to indulge this taste. There are, we believe, about one hundred and forty recognised packs in England, not reckoning those of Wales, Scotland, and Ireland: and the cost of maintaining a good pack is estimated at £2000 a year, but may here and there exceed that sum. This would be found, however, to bear a very small proportion to the probable aggregate expenses of the individual foxhunters, each keeping several horses for the purpose, besides special grooms, with much travelling, staying at hotels, or renting of furnished houses, during the season. It cannot be doubted that foxhunting in England represents a yearly expenditure of more than one million sterling, which is the estimate adopted by the author of "Covert-side Sketches," a recently published volume containing much information upon this subject.

As a manly, healthy, and tolerably harmless recreation, which serves to keep up a good breed of horses, and to encourage the accomplishment of bold and skilful riding, there is much to be said on behalf of this characteristic English sport. It may, indeed, be commended in preference to wholesale shooting massacres of feathered or four-footed game, in artificial preserves, where the battue has superseded the exercise of sportsmanlike ingenuity, and the use of dogs, with their admirable instinct of search and faculty of scent. The foxhunter does little or no real mischief to the agriculturist, either in the early days of his amusement, when he is after the cubs for an odd day or two, before the woods have lost their summer verdure, or in the regular season from November to the spring-time, when three or four days a week of good runs across country may be enjoyed in favourable weather. There are, it is well known, extensive districts in the midland, northern, and western shires, where landlords and farmers have long agreed to give ample facilities, in their method of fencing and other details of land management, for this popular kind of diversion. A strict economist might take objection to any such interference with the ideal of profitable cultivation; but, looking at the question of profit all round, and reckoning the large sums of money spent, as aforesaid, partly within the district, for the support of hunting, we are not prepared to say that there is any direct loss to the agricultural class. They are seldom heard to complain of foxes as they do of hares and rabbits. Leaving this point, however, to the Commission of Inquiry which is to find out the truth concerning all rustic business interests, let us briefly notice, as a conspicuous feature of English social history, two or three celebrated local establishments of foxhunting whose glories have not yet passed away.

The "Quorn" and the "Pytchley" are twin names of foremost renown in this illustrious department, but little more than names to a great many quiet middle-class people, who have never cared to learn what and where they are. Quorndon Hall, near Charnwood Forest, towards the border of Leicestershire and Derbyshire, was the seat of the late Mr. Hugo Meynell, who hunted enthusiastically during the second half of the last century. He, in 1800, gave up the hounds to Lord Sefton, afterwards succeeded by Mr. Thomas Assheton Smith, a famous sporting hero of the age, Mr. Osbaldeston, and others of more recent memory, holding the office of Master for a society of gentlemen subscribers. The Pytchley Hunt is so called from a little village in the heart of Northamptonshire, where it was established by Earl Spencer in 1760, almost contemporaneously with the Quorn. This pack has likewise been administered by successive Masters of high reputation, amongst whom were another famous Mr. Thomas Smith, the late Mr. George Payne, Mr. Anstruther Thomson, and the present Earl Spencer. The tracts of grass country, with suitable woodland coverts, and with fences and brooks of convenient height and width for leaping, which belong to the Quorn and the Pytchley, are all that is to be desired. A short distance northwards lies the Belvoir Castle domain, on the confines of Lincolnshire, and not far east of Nottingham. The land is a deep and stiff clay, which severely tries the horses' strength in crossing ploughed fields. But the Duke of Rutland's bounds are greatly admired; their breed, with a rich mixture of colouring, black, white, and tan, and with perfection of form, is preserved in the utmost purity. The Cottesmore, of which hunt Lord Carington is now Master, commands a fine open country in the neighbourhood of Stamford. These are the principal associations for hunting purposes in that famous region of the East Midlands which is fondly called "the Shires" by sporting men. It lies within a hundred miles of London, between the Great Northern and the London and North-Western Railway lines, while the Midland Railway passes very near to the Quorn Kennels. Melton Mowbray and Market Harborough are notable places of sojourn for hunting gentlemen who patronise one or another of these packs. Still farther on, in the wealden parts of Lincolnshire and the East Riding of Yorkshire, good packs of dogs as well as good horses will be seen afield in pursuit of that useful animal, the fox, without whom the horses and dogs would have no raison d'être. In the West of England, though many second-rate packs are kept on foot, the only celebrated or fashionable one is the Badminton, which has passed from the Duke of Beaufort's management to that of the Marquis of Worcester. Londoners may perhaps be aware that foxhunting, such as it is, does take place almost within the metropolitan postal district, just beyond Harrow, in the one direction, and Croydon in the other. On the Brighton Downs, also, there is a tolerable style of preparation and performance suitable to the middle class of amateurs. Non cuius homini contingit adire the "Shires."

French huntsmen, as shown in one of our coloured pictures, enjoy their triumph in the killing of the wolf, by the aid of powerful hounds, which run down the savage beast at sight after being led to his lair by tracking his footsteps in the snow. The wolf is often sometimes dispatched with a rifle shot, and he deserves no more respectful consideration. This ferocious animal has been known, even in recent times, to appear in the streets of a village or country town.

MORNING

LIEUTENANT-GENERAL SIR SAMUEL BROWNE.

NATIONAL EXPENDITURE FROM 1870 TO 1879. FROM THE STATISTICAL ABSTRACT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The actual amount of national expenditure during the last ten years was as follows:—1870, £68,864,752; 1871, £69,548,539; 1872, £71,490,020; 1873, £70,714,448; 1874, £74,408,510; total for five years under Mr. Gladstone's rule, £337,084,289; average of five years, £71,416,853. This shows an increase of eight millions per annum.

The figures for the five years of Lord Beaconsfield's rule are as under:—1875, £74,328,040; 1876, £78,621,773; 1877, £78,125,227; 1878, £82,403,495; 1879, £86,407,789; total of five years' expenditure under Tory rule, £399,886,324; average of five years, £79,977,264. Thus showing, in round numbers, an average increase of eight millions per annum.

From another return, issued by the National Debt Commissioners, we learn that under

MR. GLADSTONE'S FIVE YEARS.
Net Reduction of National Debt ... £26,196,919
Net Remission of Taxes ... 12,451,238

Total Relief ... £38,648,217

LORD BEACONSFIELD'S FIVE YEARS.
Net Reduction of National Debt ... £1,204,405
Net Increase of Taxes ... 1,378,900

THE WEIGHTS AND MEASURES ACT.

By a recent Order in Council a new standard of Apothecaries' Weights and Measures has been brought into force; and it is enacted that the following denominations shall in future be the standards:—

APOTHECARIES' WEIGHT.

Denomination.	Weight in grains in terms of the Imperial Standard Pound which contains 700 such grains.
Ounces.—10 ounces ...	4800 grains
8 " ...	3840 "
6 " ...	2880 "
4 " ...	1920 "
2 " ...	960 "
1 ounce ...	480 "
Drachms.—4 drachms, or ½ oz. ...	240 "
1 drachm ...	60 "
Scruples.—2 scruples ...	40 "

APOTHECARIES' MEASURE.

Denomination.	Containing the following weight of Distilled Water, Temperature—62 deg. Fahrenheit. Barometer—30 inches. Imperial Pound—7000 grains.
A fluid ounce and the multiples thereof from one to forty fluid ounces ...	One fluid ounce contains 437.5 grains weight, or 1-160th imperial gallon.
Half a fluid ounce ...
A fluid drachm and the multiples thereof from one to sixteen fluid drachms ...	One fluid drachm equals 1/4 fluid ounce.
Half a fluid drachm ...
A minim and the multiples thereof from one to sixty minims ...	One minim equals 1-60th fluid drachm.

AVOIRDUPOIS WEIGHT.

	Cwt.	Qrs.	Pounds.	Ounces.	Drachms.
Ounce (437½ grains) ...				16	256
Pound (7000 grains) ...			16	224	3,584
Quarter ...			4	224	3,584
Hundredweight ...			112	1,792	28,672
Ton ...	20	80	2,240	35,840	573,440

TRANSFER DAYS AT THE BANK.

All Stocks on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays. Private Transfers may be effected at other times, providing the books are not closed, by paying 2s. 6d. for each Transfer. Tickets for preparing the Transfer of Stock must be given in at the Bank of England before one o'clock. Expenses of Transfer in Bank Stock for £25 and under, 8s.; above that sum, 12s.; India Stock, £1 10s.

Powers of attorney for the sale or transfer of Stock are to be left at the Bank, &c., for examination, one day before they can be acted upon; if for receiving dividends, they may be presented at the time the first is payable.

Probates of Wills, Letters of Administration, and other proofs of decease must be left at the Bank, &c., for registration, for two or three days.

If Life Annuities be transferred between Jan. 5 and April 4, or between July 5 and Oct. 4, dividends are payable on Jan. 5 and July 5. If transferred between April 5 and July 4, or between Oct. 5 and Jan. 4, dividends are payable on April 5 and Oct. 5. Transferred at the National Debt Office, Old Jewry.

The dividends are paid to the public three days after the dates named; if a Sunday intervene, four days after. The hours for buying and selling are 10 to 1; for transferring, 11 to half-past 2; for accepting, 9 to 3; for payment of dividends, 9 to 3. Transfer-books are closed at 1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Dividend Warrants issued as follows:—1. To the fundholder personally at the Bank of England. 2. Under Power of Attorney, free of stamp duty or any other charge. 3. By post within the United Kingdom.

Fundholders who desire to have their Dividend Warrants sent by post must fill up a form, obtainable at the Bank of England or its branches, and at all money-order offices. For joint accounts, all the parties in whose names the fund stands must sign in favour of the one to whom the warrant is to be sent. Post warrants will be crossed "and Co.," and can be cashed at any money-order office, or paid away as ordinary bankers' cheques. Notice should be given to the Bank of the non-reception of any warrant which has been directed to be sent by post.

Under the provisions of an Act passed in 1871, the following are the dividend days and periods of redemption of the various Stocks:—

The Bankers' Clearing-House, near the Post Office, Lombard-street, is the medium through which bankers obtain the amount of cheques and bills in their hands for collection from other bankers. Every bank in London and the country is represented by clearing bankers; and, as their agents send through the clearing-house drafts payable in the City and in the country, the amount passing through this channel is enormous. The establishment is under the management of a committee: R. C. L. Bevan, Jervoise Smith, and Sir John Lubbock. The acting manager is Mr. George Darbyshire; and chief-inspector, Mr. John C. Pocock.

POST OFFICE REGULATIONS.

RATES OF POSTAGE ON INLAND LETTERS.

The rates of postage to be prepaid are as follows, viz:—

For a letter not exceeding 1 oz. ... ..	1d.
Exceeding 1 oz., but not exceeding 2 oz. ... ..	1½d.
“ 2 oz., and less than 4 oz. ... ..	2d.
“ 4 oz., and less than 6 oz. ... ..	2½d.
“ 6 oz., and less than 8 oz. ... ..	3d.
“ 8 oz., and less than 10 oz. ... ..	3½d.
“ 10 oz., and less than 12 oz. ... ..	4d.

A letter exceeding the weight of 12 oz. is liable to a postage of 1d. for every ounce, beginning with the first ounce. A letter, for example, weighing between 14 oz. and 15 oz. must be prepaid 1s. 3d.

All inland letters must be prepaid in stamps. A letter posted unpaid is chargeable on delivery with double postage; and if insufficiently prepaid is chargeable with double the deficiency.

GENERAL POSTAL UNION.

In accordance with the provisions of an international treaty concluded at Bern in 1876, the whole of the States of Europe, the United States of America, the Argentine Confederation, and Egypt were formed into a General Postal Union for the reciprocal exchange of correspondence, and adopted low and uniform rates of correspondence dispatched from one State to another. These provisions extend to letters, post cards, newspapers and other printed papers, patterns of merchandise, and legal and commercial documents.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN LETTERS.

Full particulars of the rates of postage on letters to the colonies and foreign countries will be found in the British Postal Guide, published quarterly, price Sixpence.

To some countries prepayment of the postage is compulsory. In others the whole of the postage cannot be prepaid.

A letter posted unpaid, or paid only in part, directed to go by a route by which prepayment is compulsory, is returned to the writer, unless there is another route by which prepayment is not required, in which case the letter is sent by the latter route. Letters, however, for Australia and New Zealand, if prepaid as much as one rate (even though the prepayment be insufficient), are not detained, but are forwarded charged with the deficient postage and an additional rate.

A letter posted insufficiently prepaid for a place to which prepayment is optional is sent forward charged; the value of the stamps, however, being, as a rule, taken into account.

The same rates are chargeable in this country upon unpaid or insufficiently paid letters received from the above-named places.

No letter for any colony or foreign country may be above two feet in length or one foot in width or depth.

Letters, &c., for Brazil, Montevideo, Peru, Bolivia, and Chili, if specially directed “By Supplementary Mail, via Bordeaux,” and posted in time for dispatch from London by the Day Mail of Friday, will in due course overtake, at Bordeaux, the packet dispatched from Liverpool on the previous Wednesday.

Letters for such places in Turkey and Asia Minor as have no Austrian post office should be addressed to the care of an agent residing in the nearest port at which an Austrian post office has been established. Letters for places on the Persian Gulf are forwarded via Bombay, if specially directed by that route and prepaid the rates of postage for Bombay.

Letters for Russia should have the name of the town added in either English, French, or German; and they should bear as a part of their address the name of the province or government in which they are situated. In addressing all letters, &c., for Russia the name of the place of destination, as well as the government in which such place is situated, must be correctly given; and, further, the address must be plainly written. If these conditions be not complied with, the Russian Post Office declines to undertake the delivery of the correspondence.

No letters containing gold or silver money, jewels, or precious articles, or anything liable to Customs duties, can be sent, even if registered, to any country of the General Postal Union.

INLAND BOOK POST.

The postage is one halfpenny for every 2 oz. or part of that weight.

A packet posted wholly unpaid is charged with double the book postage; and if posted partially prepaid, with double the deficiency.

A book packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, photographs (when not on glass or in cases containing glass or any like substance), drawings, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, or any other substance in ordinary use for writing or printing upon; and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written, engraved, lithographed, or plain, or any mixture of these. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, &c., or of a portion thereof, is allowed, whether such binding, &c., be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books, pens, or pencils, in the case of pocket-books, &c.; and, in short, whatever, is necessary for the safe transmission of such articles, or usually appertains thereto, but the binding, rollers, &c., must not be sent as a separate packet.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN BOOK POST.

The limit of size for a book-packet addressed to any place abroad is 24 in. in length and 12 in. in width or depth.

Whatever is allowed to be sent in an inland book-packet may be sent in a book-packet to places abroad, except that water-colour drawings are not allowed to be sent in a book-packet to France or Algeria.

No writing or manuscript mark, however, beyond the name and address of the person to whom it is sent is admissible in or upon a packet forwarded via France to the Argentine Confederation, Bolivia, Chili, Ecuador, Hayti, Mexico, Paraguay, Peru, St. Thomas, Uruguay, United States of Colombia, or Venezuela.

FOREIGN CARD POST.

Foreign post-cards may be sent to Canada and to all the countries comprised in the General Postal Union, with the exception of British India.

The postage of a card is, in every case one half the rate for a single letter. Foreign post-cards with an impressed stamp of 1½d. each are sold at that rate, and are transmissible to the majority of the countries of the Union without extra charge.

PAYMENT OF POST-OFFICE ORDERS THROUGH BANKERS.

Any money order made payable to any person or persons whomsoever at a post office in any city, town, or place within the United Kingdom may be presented for payment by or through any banker or bankers, either at such post office at which the same is made payable or at the chief money-order office in London, notwithstanding that the form of receipt on such money order may not bear any signature purporting to be the signature of the person or persons to whom such money order is made payable, provided that the name of the banker or bankers by or through whom such money order is presented for payment be written or stamped upon the face thereof, and the name of such banker or bankers so written or stamped as aforesaid shall be accepted at such post office or chief money-order office as a sufficient receipt for the amount of such money order.

In all cases, where a money order is presented, in manner aforesaid, for payment at the chief money-order office in London, by or through any banker or bankers having an account at the Bank of England, payment of such money order may be forthwith made by means of a transfer of the amount of such money order from the account of her Majesty's Postmaster-General at the Bank of England to the account at the same bank of such banker or bankers, by or through whom such money order is presented for payment as aforesaid; but such payment shall nevertheless be subject to the subsequent verification of such money order, and shall be made upon the express condition that if, upon examination, it shall appear to her Majesty's Postmaster-General that payment of the amount, or any part of the amount, of such money order has been incorrectly or improperly made or allowed to such banker or bankers as aforesaid, the amount so incorrectly or improperly paid or allowed may be deducted by her Majesty's Postmaster-General from any moneys which may thereafter become payable to such banker or bankers for or on account or in respect of any post-office money orders.

In every case where payment is made under the foregoing regulations of any money order so presented for payment by or through a banker or bankers in manner aforesaid such money order and all liability to pay the same shall be absolutely, and to all intents and for all purposes, discharged by such payment, notwithstanding any fraud, error, mistake, or loss which may have been committed or have occurred in reference to such money order, or the procuring or obtaining the payment thereof.

INDIAN PARCEL POST.

1. Persons wishing to send parcels to any part of British India can do so through the Indian Parcel Post Agency—established under authority of the Director-General of the Post Office of India—at 123, Leadenhall-street, E.C.; and (Branch Office) at 25, Cockspur-street, S.W.

2. The charge for parcels is 1s. per lb. or fraction of a lb. (prepayment optional), covering transit from London to destination in India. Insurance may be effected, if desired, at the rate (to be prepaid) of 1s. up to £3 value, 2s. 6d. up to £10 value, and 5s. up to £20 value. Indian Customs duty (if chargeable) will be realised from the addressee.

N.B.—Parcels containing books, or articles treated as books under the British Inland Book Post Rules, will be charged at half rates—viz., 6d. per lb.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN PATTERN AND SAMPLE POST.

There is a Pattern and Sample Post to certain colonies and foreign countries, but it is restricted to bona fide trade patterns or samples of merchandise.

Goods sent for sale, or in execution of an order (however small the quantity may be), or any articles sent by one private individual to another which are not actually patterns or samples, are not admissible. The rates of postage are the same as for Book Packets.

ARTICLES NOT ALLOWED TO BE SENT BY POST.

It is forbidden to forward by post any obscene print, painting, photograph, book or card, or other article, or any letter, newspaper, publication, tract, or card having thereon any words, marks, or designs of a libellous or grossly offensive character; glass bottles, gunpowder, lucifer-matches or anything liable to combustion, razors, scissors, or other sharp instrument, game, fish, fruit, or other perishable article.

Postmasters are instructed not to receive any letter which there is good reason to believe contains anything likely to injure the contents of the mail bag, or to do bodily harm to any officer of the Post Office. If such a packet be posted without the Postmaster's knowledge, or if at any time before its dispatch he should discover any such packet, he is directed not to forward it, but to report the case, with the address of the packet, to the Secretary.

MODES OF PREPAYMENT.

Inland letters, newspapers, and book-packets cannot be prepaid in money but must be prepaid by means of stamps, either adhesive or embossed or impressed. This rule applies also to registered letters.

Exceptions.—At the Chief and District Post Offices, and at the Charing-cross and Lombard-street Post Offices in London, as well as at the Head Offices in Edinburgh and Dublin, letters and book-packets may, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., be prepaid in money, provided the amount be never less than £1, and that the letters and book-packets be tied in bundles representing a postage of 6s. each, with the addresses arranged in the same direction.

Letters to places abroad must be prepaid wholly in stamps. Newspapers, book-packets, and sample-packets for places abroad can also be prepaid only by means of stamps; the prepayment being compulsory.

British postage-stamps, though available for all letters, &c., going out of this country, are not, as a general rule, available for letters, &c., coming into it: the principal exception being in the case of letters posted by naval officers, marines, and seamen serving abroad, which, if posted in the ship's bag, must be prepaid by means of British postage-stamps.

REGISTRATION (INLAND AND FOREIGN.)

The fee for registering a letter, newspaper, or book-packet passing between any two places in the United Kingdom is twopenny.

The fee chargeable for registration to places abroad will be found in the British Postal Guide.

Every letter to be registered should be presented at the counter, and a receipt obtained for it, and should on no account be dropped into the letter-box. If, contrary to this rule, a letter marked “Registered,” be dropped into the letter-box, it will, if directed to any place in the United Kingdom or the British Colonies, be liable to a registration fee of 1d., instead of the ordinary fee of 2d.

PLACES OF MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.—It has for so long a time been customary for the English Parliament to assemble at Westminster that but few persons comparatively are aware that it ever met elsewhere; yet this frequently occurred in early days. We find Henry III. holding a Parliament at Winchester in 1261. In 1278 Edward I. held a Parliament at Gloucester, and in 1282 at Shrewsbury; in the next year the Parliament was held at Acton Burnell; at Lincoln, 1301; Stamford, 1309; York, 1318; Winchester, 1330; Gloucester, 1378; Northampton, 1380; Salisbury, 1384; Shrewsbury, 1398; Coventry, 1459; at Oxford in 1625 by Charles I., on account of the plague, and in 1681 by Charles II.

THE STATE OF POLITICAL PARTIES AT THE END OF THE SIXTH SESSION OF PARLIAMENT.

In the interval since the last general election—five and a half years—15 seats have been won by the Liberals, and 11 by the Conservatives.

Cardmarthen.	Glasgow.

There have been 20 by-elections during the past twelve months, as shown in our Record of Remarkable Occurrences; and it will be noted that each political party has improved its position in seven constituencies, but the balance of advantage remains with the Liberals, who have won three seats to their opponents' one. Thirteen of the elections were occasioned by the death or retirement of Liberals, seven being due to Conservative vacancies. The state of the representation in each of the kingdoms and the principalty is indicated below. In Norwich there is a vacancy, but the Liberals are credited with the seat, as they last held it.

Of the 65 Irish Liberals only 13 are properly so called. The rest are Home Rulers. The 13 represent the constituencies of Bundon, Carrickfergus, Coleraine, Dungannon, Kerry (one seat), Kildare (one seat), Kilkenny, King's County (one seat), Londonderry County (two seats), Newry, Tralee, and Waterford County (one seat). Some even of the 13 owe their seats to Home Rule votes. Of the 37 Conservatives there are three who advocate Home Rule, and they represent Galway, Westmeath, and Youghal. There are members of Parliament whose political views it is difficult to determine. The following may be so described. They are—

Sir A. Gordon (C) ...	Aberdeen, E.	Mr. Roubuck (L) ...	Sheffield
Lord R. Montagu (C) ...	Westmeath.	Sir R. Peel (L) ...	Tamworth.
Sir J. M'Kenna (C) ...	Youghal.	Sir G. Bowyer (L) ...	Wexford.
Mr. Ripley (L) ...	Bradford.	Dr. Kennedy (L) ...	Stoke.

PARLIAMENTARY CONSTITUENCIES.

In England the number of county electors is 816,317, of whom 68,898 belong to the three divisions of the West Riding of Yorkshire. (Middlesex has the next largest number, 29,949 electors; and Rutland the smallest, 1718.) Wales has 67,832 county electors; and the total for the united counties of England and Wales is 883,649. Coming to the cities and boroughs, Lambeth heads the list of the metropolitan constituencies with 59,511 electors; Hackney being second, with 44,723. Finsbury has 43,756 electors; the Tower Hamlets, 41,454; Marylebone, 39,020; Chelsea, 28,350; the city of London, 22,916; Southwark, 22,899; Greenwich, 21,082; and the city of Westminster, 18,847. Birmingham has 65,506 electors on the register; Liverpool has 61,026; the city of Manchester, 60,463; Leeds, 48,074; Sheffield, 39,270; Bradford, 27,640; the city and county of Bristol, 24,994; Kingston-upon-Hull, 25,749; Newcastle-on-Tyne, 24,049; Salford, 23,411; Wolverhampton, 23,813; Oldham, 21,048; and Wednesbury, 20,845. Marlborough is the smallest borough in England, having only 659 electors on the register. The number of electors in the cities and boroughs of England amounts altogether to 1,496,507. The total number for Wales is 60,812—Swansea, &c., heading the list with 14,311 electors, Brecon having only 813. The grand total of electors for the boroughs of England and Wales is 1,583,319.

The Universities of Oxford, of Cambridge, and of London show a total of 13,031 electors, of whom 6221 belong to Cambridge, 4963 to Oxford, and 1847 to London. Ireland possesses a county register of 172,570 electors, of whom 16,264 belong to county Cork. Louth has only 2205 electors on the register. The city of Belfast shows the large register of 20,168 electors; and the smallest borough is Portlarnion, with 142 electors. Trinity College, Dublin, numbers 3472 electors on its register; and the total number of Parliamentary electors in Ireland is 231,289. The county constituencies of Scotland have a total of 92,810 electors on the register; Lanark (with its two divisions, north and south) has altogether 13,939 electors; and Sutherland shows a list of only 318. The Burgh constituencies have altogether 204,142 electors, of whom 28,342 belong to Edinburgh, and 61,089 to Glasgow. The Universities of Edinburgh and St. Andrew's have together a roll of 5738 electors, while those of Glasgow and Aberdeen number 5761, or a total of 11,489 electors. The summary of electors for Scotland gives a total of 397,941.

south on the 1st at 10h. 44m. a.m., on the 15th at 10h. 58m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 11h. 8m. a.m. She is near Saturn on the 1st, and near the Moon on the 7th.

MARS sets on the 1st at 0h. 39m. a.m., on the 11th at 0h. 20m. a.m., on the 20th at 11h. 58m. p.m., and on the 30th at 11h. 35m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 4h. 11m. p.m., on the 15th at 3h. 52m. p.m., and on the last day of the month at 3h. 23m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 14th.

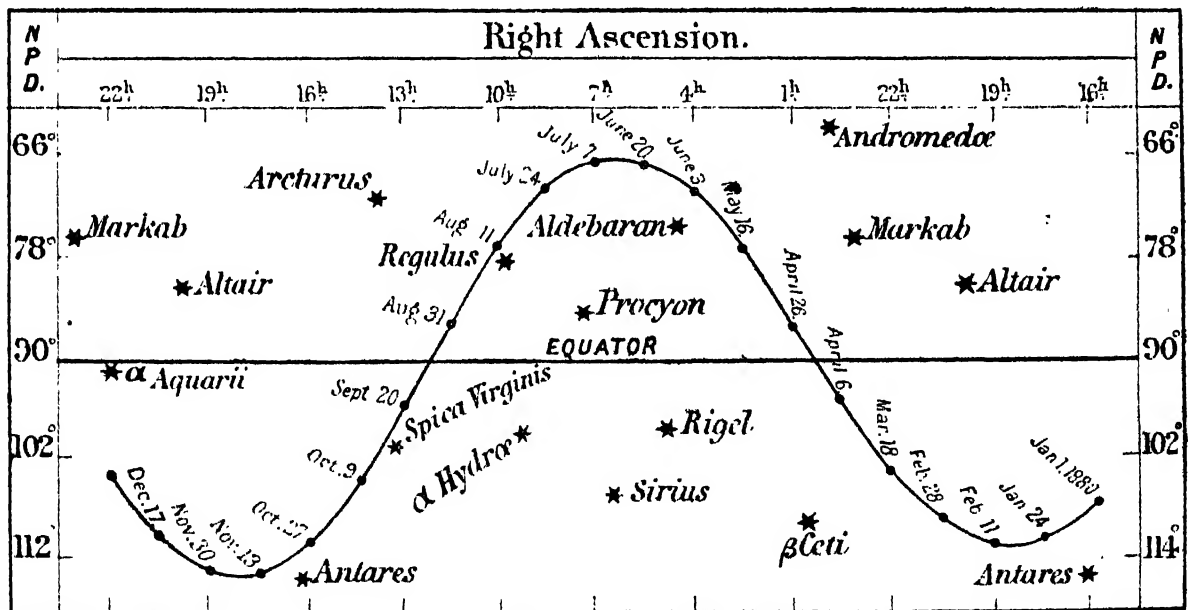

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 10th at 8h. 3m. a.m., or 1h. 15m. before sunrise; on the 20th at 2h. 27m. a.m., or 1h. 38m. before sunrise; and on the 30th at 1h. 51m. a.m., or 2h. 2m. before the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 47m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 3m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 11m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 5th.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 10th at 8h. 35m. a.m., or 43 minutes before sunrise; on the 20th at 2h. 58m. a.m., or 1h. 5m. before sunrise; and on the 30th at 2h. 21m. a.m., or 1h. 30m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 44m. a.m., on the 15th at 9h. 58m. a.m., and on the last day at 8h. 58m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 7th.

JUNE.

THE MOON is near Jupiter on the mornings of the 2nd and 3rd, being on the right of him on the former and to the left on the latter morning. She is near Saturn on the mornings of the 3rd and 4th. She is near Venus on the morning of the 7th; is near Mercury during the evening hours of the 8th. She is near Mars during the evening and early night hours of the 11th; and near Jupiter again on the morning of the 30th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 7th	at 55 minutes	after 9h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 15th	" 52	" 9	" afternoon.
Full Moon	" 22nd	" 46	" 1	" afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 29th	" 57	" 9	" morning.

PATH OF VENUS FROM JANUARY 1, 1880, TO JANUARY 5, 1881.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 22nd, and most distant from it at midnight on the 7th.

MERCURY rises at about sunrise on the 4th, and after this day he rises in daylight till Aug. 7. He sets at sunset on the 1st; on the 10th at 9h. 10m. p.m., or 58 minutes after sunset; on the 15th at 9h. 34m. p.m., or 1h. 19m. after the Sun; on the 20th at 9h. 47m. p.m., or 1h. 30m. after sunset; on the 25th at 9h. 49m. p.m., and on the last day at 9h. 45m. p.m., or 1h. 28m. after the Sun. He is in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 2nd, and at his least distance from the Sun on the same day, and near the Moon on the 8th.

VENUS is a morning star, rising 29 minutes before sunrise on the 9th, 27 minutes on the 19th, and 20 minutes on the 29th, the planet rising on these days at 8h. 17m. a.m., 8h. 18m. a.m., and 8h. 29m. a.m. respectively. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 8m. a.m., on the 15th at 11h. 26m. a.m., and on the last day at 11h. 47m. a.m. She is near the Moon on the 7th, and in her ascending node on the 21st.

MARS sets on the 8th at 11h. 13m. p.m., or 3h. 2m. after sunset. On the 18th he sets at 10h. 40m. p.m., or 2h. 28m. after sunset; and on the 29th at 10h. 20m. p.m., or 2h. 8m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 28m. p.m., on the 15th at 3h. 7m. p.m., and on the last day at 2h. 45m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 11th, and at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 17th.

JUPITER is a morning star, rising on the 9th at 1h. 15m. a.m., or 2h. 30m. before sunrise; on the 19th at 0h. 35m. a.m., and on the 29th at 0h. 2m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 5m. a.m., on the 15th at 7h. 22m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 6h. 30m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, and again on the last day of the month.

SATURN is a morning star, rising on the 1st at 2h. 14m. a.m., or 1h. 38m. before the Sun; on the 9th at 1h. 43m. a.m., or 2h. 3m. before the Sun; on the 19th at 1h. 6m. a.m., or 2h. 39m. before sunrise, and on the 29th at 0h. 29m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 58m. a.m., on the 15th at 8h. 5m. a.m., and on the last day at 7h. 11m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 3rd.

JULY.

THE MOON is near Saturn during the morning hours of the 1st. She is near Venus on the 7th; but this is the day of New Moon. She is near Mercury during the evening hours of the 9th, and near Mars during the evening hours of the 10th; she is near Jupiter during the late hours of the 27th and morning hours of the 28th, and near Saturn during the morning hours of the 29th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 7th	at 21 minutes	after 1h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 15th	" 16	" 6	" morning.
Full Moon	" 21st	" 2	" 9	" afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 29th	" 41	" 11	" afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth at noon on the 20th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 5th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 5th at 9h. 34m. p.m., or 1h. 20m. after sunset; on the 10th at 9h. 20m. p.m., or 1h. 8m. after the Sun; on the 15th at 8h. 0m. p.m., or 51 minutes after sunset; on the 20th at 8h. 37m. p.m., or 34 minutes after sunset; on the 28th the planet and Sun set nearly together; and from this day till Sept. 10 he (Mercury) sets in daylight. He is in his descending node on the 6th, at his greatest eastern elongation (26 deg. 21 min.) on the 8th, near the Moon on the 9th, at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 16th and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 21st.

VENUS rises on the 6th at 8h. 46m. a.m., or 11 minutes before sunrise; on the 17th she rises with the Sun, and after this day she rises in daylight. She sets at sunset on the 8th; at 8h. 16m. p.m., or 11 minutes after sunset, on the 19th; and at 8h. 9m. p.m., or 13 minutes after sunset, on the 29th. She is due south on the 1st at 11h. 46m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 8m. p.m., and on the last day at 0h. 27m. p.m. She is near the Moon on the 7th, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 18th, and at her least distance from the Sun on the 25th.

MARS is an evening star, setting on the 9th at 9h. 55m. p.m., or 1h. 42m. after the Sun; on the 19th at 9h. 27m. p.m., or 1h. 22m. after sunset; and on the 29th at 8h. 58m. p.m., or 1h. 8m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 43m. p.m., on the 15th at 2h. 22m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 67m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 10th.

JUPITER rises on the 8th at 11h. 25m. p.m.; on the 18th at 10h. 47m. p.m., or 2h. 41m. after sunset; and on the 28th at 10h. 9m. p.m., or 2h. 15m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 6h. 27m. a.m., on the 15th at 5h. 37m. a.m., and on the last day at 4h. 37m. a.m. He is in quadrature with the Sun on the 10th, and near the Moon on the 27th.

SATURN rises on the 6th at 11h. 51m. p.m., on the 16th at 11h. 12m. p.m., and on the 26th at 10h. 34m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 7m. a.m., on the 15th at 6h. 15m. a.m., and on the last day of the month at 5h. 14m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 1st and again on the 29th, and in quadrature with the Sun on the 21st.

AUGUST.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 5th and 6th, but the latter day is that of New Moon. She is also near Venus on the evening of the 6th. She is near Mars on the evening of the 8th; she is near Jupiter during the night hours of the 23rd and morning hours of the 24th; and near Saturn during the night hours of the 24th and morning hours of the 25th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 6th at 48 minutes after 8h.	in the morning.
First Quarter	" 13th " 43 "	" 0 " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 20th " 18 "	" 5 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 27th " 15 "	" 4 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the afternoon of the 17th, and most distant from it on the afternoon of the 1st and again on the morning of the 20th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 7th at about sunrise; on the 10th at 4h. 10m. a.m., or 29 minutes before the Sun, which interval rapidly increases to 1h. 10m. by the 15th, 1h. 35m. by the 20th, 1h. 42m. by the 25th; after which it turns to decrease to 1h. 32m. by the 30th, the planet rising on this day at 3h. 35m. a.m. He is in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the 6th, near the Moon on the 5th and 6th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 14th, at his greatest western elongation (18 deg. 21 min.) on the 23rd, in his ascending node on the 25th, and at his least distance from the Sun on the 29th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 8th at 7h. 58m. p.m., or 22 minutes after sunset, which interval gradually increases to 29 minutes by the 18th, and to half an hour by the 28th; the planet setting on this day at 7h. 24m. p.m. She is near the Moon on the 6th.

MASS is an evening star, setting 63 minutes after sunset on the 8th, 47 minutes on the 18th, and 37 minutes on the 28th, the planet setting on these days at 8h. 29m. p.m., 6h. 12m. p.m., and 7h. 31m. p.m. respectively. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 55m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 33m. p.m., and on the last day at 1h. 7m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 8th.

JUPITER rises on the 7th at 9h. 30m. p.m., or 1h. 58m. after sunset; on the 17th at 8h. 51m. p.m., or 1h. 25m. after sunset; and on the 27th at 8h. 11m. p.m., or 1h. 15m. after sunset. He is due south at 4h. 33m. a.m. on the 1st at 3h. 39m. a.m. on the 15th, and at 2h. 33m. a.m. on the last day. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 9th, and near the Moon on the 24th.

SATURN rises on the 7th at 9h. 55m. p.m., or 2h. 18m. after sunset; on the 17th at 9h. 16m. p.m., or 2h. after sunset; and on the 27th at 8h. 37m. p.m.,

PATH OF MARS FROM JANUARY 15, 1880, TO APRIL 20, 1881.

or 1h. 41m. after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 5h. 10m. a.m., on the 15th at 4h. 16m. a.m., and on the last day at 3h. 11m. a.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 11th, and near the Moon on the 24th.

SEPTEMBER.

THE MOON is near Mercury on the 3rd; she is near Venus on the evenings of the 5th and 6th; she is near Mars on the 6th; she is near Jupiter from the time of rising on the 19th throughout the night, and near Saturn from the time of rising on the 20th throughout the night. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 4th at 32 minutes after 4h.	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 11th " 25 "	" 6 " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 18th " 29 "	" 3 " afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 26th " 9 "	" 11 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 13th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 28th.

MERCURY rises on the 4th at 4h. 6m. a.m., or 1h. 12m. before sunrise; on the 9th at 4h. 40m. a.m., or 47 minutes before the Sun; on the 14th at 5h. 16m. a.m., or 19 minutes before sunrise; on the 18th the planet rises at about the time of sunrise; and from this day till Nov. 23 he rises in daylight. He sets at sunset on the 10th, 11 minutes after sunset on the 15th, and at 5h. 58m. p.m., or 16 minutes after the Sun, on the 29th. He is near the Moon on the 3rd, in superior conjunction with the Sun on the 17th, and near Mars on the 25th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 7th at 7h. 5m. p.m., or 33 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 6h. 43m. p.m., or 34 minutes after sunset; and on the 27th at 6h. 24m. p.m., or 37 minutes after the Sun has set. She is near the Moon on the 6th, and near Mars on the 7th.

MASS sets on the 7th at 7h. 2m. p.m., or 30 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 6h. 32m. p.m., or 23 minutes after the Sun; and on the 27th at 6h. 3m. p.m., or 16 minutes after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 6m. p.m., in the middle of the month at 6h. 44m. p.m., and on the last day at 6h. 21m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 6th.

JUPITER rises on the 6th at 7h. 30m. p.m., or 56 minutes after sunset; on the 16th at 6h. 50m. p.m., or 38 minutes after sunset; and on the 26th at 6h. 8m. p.m., or 19 minutes after sunset. He is due south on the 1st at 2h. 29m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 29m. a.m., and on the last day at 0h. 23m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 20th, and at his least distance from the Sun on the 25th at midnight.

SATURN rises on the 6th at 7h. 57m. p.m., or 1h. 23m. after sunset, which interval gradually decreases to 1h. 5m. by the 16th, and to 49 minutes by the 26th, the planet rising on this day at 6h. 30m. p.m. He is due south on the 1st at 3h. 7m. a.m., on the 15th at 2h. 10m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 7m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 21st.

OCTOBER.

THE MOON is near Mars on the evening of the 4th, Mercury on the 5th, and Venus on the 6th. She is near Jupiter throughout the night common to the 16th and 17th, and near Saturn throughout the night common to the 17th and 18th. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 4th at 43 minutes after 4h.	in the morning.
First Quarter	" 11th " 35 "	" 0 " morning.
Full Moon	" 18th " 26 "	" 4 " morning.
Last Quarter	" 26th " 0 "	" 7 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 8th, and most distant from it on the morning of the 24th.

MERCURY is an evening star, setting on the 4th at 5h. 40m. p.m., or 20 minutes after sunset, which interval steadily increases to 23m. by the 9th, to 26m. by the 14th, to 28m. by the 19th, to 31m. by the 24th, and to 34m. by the 29th, the planet setting on the last-named day at 5h. 11m. p.m. He is in his descending node on the 2nd, near the Moon on the 5th and at his greatest distance from the Sun on the 12th.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1880.

VENUS is an evening star, setting at 6h. 5m. p.m. on the 7th, at 5h. 52m. p.m. on the 17th, and at 5h. 42m. p.m. on the 27th, being 44m., 52m., and 1h. 2m. after sunset respectively on these evenings. She is near the Moon on the 6th, and in her descending node on the 11th.

MARS sets on the 7th at 5h. 35m. p.m., or 13 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 5h. 8m. p.m., or 8 minutes after sunset; on the 27th the planet and Sun set nearly together; and from this time he sets in daylight. He rises at sunrise on the 25th, and a few minutes before the Sun at the end of the month. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 19m. p.m., on the 15th at 1h. 59m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 37m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 4th, and near the Sun on the 25th.

JUPITER rises on the 7th at about the time of sunset, and from this day he rises in daylight. He sets nearly at the time of sunrise on the 8th; at 5h. 27m. a.m., or 1h. 4m. before sunset on the 18th; and at 4h. 40m. a.m., or 2h. 9m. before sunrise on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 0h. 19m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 12m. p.m., and on the last day at 10h. 2m. p.m. He is in opposition to the Sun on the 7th, and near the Moon on the 17th.

SATURN rises on the 6th at 5h. 55m. p.m., or 30 minutes after sunset; on the 17th at 5h. 10m. p.m., or 10 minutes after sunset; on the 22nd he rises at sunset; and after this day he rises in daylight. He sets at about sunrise on the 18th, and at 5h. 48m. a.m., or 1h. 1m. before sunrise on the 28th. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 3m. a.m., on the 15th at 0h. 4m. a.m., and on the last day at 10h. 52m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th, and in opposition to the Sun on the same day.

NOVEMBER.

The Moon is near Mars on the 2nd, the day of New Moon; near to both Mercury and Venus on the 4th, to Jupiter in the night hours of the 13th and early morning hours of the 14th, and also in the night hours of the 18th and early morning hours of the 19th. She is near Saturn in the night hours of the 15th and morning hours of the 14th, being situated to the right of the planet, and also in the night hours of the 14th and morning hours of the 15th, being to the left of the planet. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 2nd	at 55 minutes after 3	in the afternoon.
First Quarter	" 9th	" 20	" 8 " morning.
Full Moon	" 18th	" 39	" 8 " afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 26th	" 5	" 2 " morning.

She is nearest the Earth on the evening of the 4th, and most distant from it on the evening of the 20th.

MERCURY sets on the 3rd at 5h. 7m. p.m., on the 8th at 5h. 1m. p.m., on the 13th at 4h. 50m. p.m., on the 18th at 4h. 31m. p.m., and on the 23rd at 4h. 7m. p.m., being 40 minutes, 42 minutes, 39 minutes, 26 minutes, and 8 minutes respectively after sunset on these days. On the 25th he sets at sunset, and after this day he sets in daylight. He rises at sunrise on the 23rd, and at 6h. 35m. a.m., or 1h. 6m. before sunrise, on the 28th. He is at his greatest eastern elongation (23 deg. 14 min.) on the 2nd, near the Moon on the 4th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 18th, in his ascending node on the 21st, in inferior conjunction with the Sun on the PATH OF JUPITER FROM JANUARY 23, 1880, TO MAY 16, 1881.

23rd, at his least distance from the Sun on the 25th, and near Mars on the 29th.

VENUS is an evening star. She sets on the 6th at 5h. 40m. p.m., or 1h. 18m. after sunset; on the 16th at 5h. 43m. p.m., or 1h. 38m. after sunset; and on the 26th at 5h. 58m. p.m., or 2h. 2m. after the Sun has set. She is near the Moon on the 4th, and at her greatest distance from the Sun on the 14th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 6th at 6h. 43m. a.m., or 23 minutes before sunrise; on the 16th at 6h. 43m. a.m., or 39 minutes before sunrise; and on the 26th at 6h. 44m. a.m., or 55 minutes before the Sun. He is due south on the 1st at 1h. 36m. a.m., on the 15th at 1h. 19m. a.m., and on the last day at 1h. 2m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 2nd, and in his descending node on the 26th.

JUPITER sets on the 7th at 3h. 56m. a.m., on the 17th at 3h. 12m. a.m., and on the 27th at 2h. 31m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 9h. 58m. p.m., in the middle of the month at 8h. 59m. p.m., and on the last day at 7h. 57m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 18th.

SATURN sets on the 7th at 5h. 6m. a.m., or 2 hours before sunrise, on the 17th at 4h. 22m. a.m., and on the 27th at 3h. 40m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 10h. 43m. p.m., in the middle of the month at 9h. 40m. p.m., and on the last day at 8h. 47m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 14th.

DECEMBER.

The Moon is near Mercury and Mars on the 1st; she is very near Venus during the early evening hours of the 4th, near Jupiter during the evening and night hours of the 10th, she is near Saturn during the evening and night hours of the 11th, and near both Mars and Mercury on the 29th; but this is the day before New Moon. Her phases or times of change are:—

New Moon	on the 2nd	at 54 minutes after 2h.	in the morning.
First Quarter	" 8th	" 38	" 6 " afternoon.
Full Moon	" 16th	" 36	" 3 " afternoon.
Last Quarter	" 24th	" 57	" 6 " afternoon.
New Moon	" 31st	" 36	" 1 " afternoon.

She is nearest the Earth on the morning of the 2nd, and again on the afternoon of the 31st, and most distant from it on the morning of the 18th.

MERCURY is a morning star, rising on the 3rd at 6h. 0m. a.m., or 1h. 48m. before sunrise; on the 8th at 6h. 33m. a.m., or 2h. 2m. before the Sun; on the 13th at 6h. 1m. a.m., or 1h. 59m. before the Sun; on the 23rd at 6h. 38m. a.m., or 1h. 30m. before sunrise; on the 28th at 6h. 56m. a.m., or 1h. 12m. before sunrise; and on the last day of the year at 7h. 6m. a.m., or 1h. 2m. before the Sun. He is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 30th, stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 3rd, at his greatest western elongation (21 deg. 5 min.) on the 11th, near Mars on the 23rd, and in his descending node on the 29th.

VENUS is an evening star, setting on the 6th at 6h. 22m. p.m., or 2h. 32m. before sunrise; on the 16th at 6h. 50m. p.m., or about three hours after sunset, on the 26th at 7h. 21m. p.m., or 3h. 25m. after sunset; and on the last of the year at 7h. 35m. p.m., or 3h. 36m. after sunset. She is near the Moon on the 4th.

MARS is a morning star, rising on the 6th at 6h. 45m. a.m., or 1h. 8m. before sunrise; on the 16th at 6h. 45m. a.m., or 1h. 17m. before the Sun; on the 26th at 6h. 42m. a.m., or 1h. 25m. before sunrise; and on the last

FRENCH SPORT.—BRINGING HOME THE WOLF.

GOING TO BED.

THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON ALMANACK FOR 1880.

day at 6h. 41m. a.m., or 1h. 27m. before sunrise. He is due south on the 1st at 11h. 1m. a.m., on the 15th at 10h. 45m. a.m., and on the last day of the year at 10h. 34m. a.m. He is near the Moon on the 1st, and again on the 30th.

JUPITER sets at the 7th at 1h. 51m. a.m., on the 17th at 1h. 13m. a.m., on the 27th at 0h. 37m. a.m., and on the 31st at 0h. 20m. a.m. He is due south on the 1st at 7h. 53m. p.m., on the 15th at 6h. 59m. p.m., and on the last day of the year at 6h. 0m. p.m. He is stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 4th, and near the Moon on the 10th.

SATURN sets at 2h. 59m. a.m. on the 7th, at 2h. 18m. a.m. on the 17th, at 1h. 37m. a.m. on the 27th, and at 1h. 20m. a.m. on the last day of the year. He is due south on the 1st at 8h. 43m. p.m., on the 15th at 7h. 47m. p.m., and on the last day at 6h. 44m. p.m. He is near the Moon on the 11th, and stationary among the stars (see diagram) on the 25th.

ECLIPSES IN THE YEAR 1880.

DURING the year 1880 there are six Eclipses—viz., four of the Sun and two of the Moon.

The first is a Total Eclipse of the Sun, on Jan. 11, but invisible from every part of Europe. The eclipse begins in longitude 153° east of Greenwich, and latitude 4 deg. 40 min. N. at 8h. 1m. p.m. Greenwich mean time. The total eclipse begins at 9h. 4m. p.m., in longitude 142 deg. 25 min. east of Greenwich, in latitude 15 deg. 27 min. N. The total eclipse ends at 5 minutes after midnight, in longitude 109½ deg. W. of Greenwich, in latitude 41 deg. 50 min. N.; and the eclipse ends at 1h. 8m. on the morning of the 12th, in longitude 119 deg., in latitude 31½ deg. N.

The second Eclipse is a Total Eclipse of the Moon on June 22, occurring early in the afternoon, when the Moon here is below the horizon, and consequently it is invisible from Europe. The eclipse begins at 0h. 15m. p.m.; the beginning of total eclipse at 32 minutes after 1; the middle of the eclipse will be at 50 minutes after 1; the end of total eclipse will be 9 minutes after 2; and the end of the eclipse will be 25 minutes after 3 p.m. At these times the Moon will be in the zenith of places whose east longitudes are 175 deg. 48 min., 157 deg. 23 min., 153 deg. 0 min., 148 deg. 35 min., and 180 deg. 11 min., and whose south latitudes are 24 deg. 9 min., 24 deg. 4 min., 24 deg. 8 min., 24 deg. 1 min., and 23 deg. 58 min. respectively.

The third Eclipse will be on July 7, but invisible from Europe. It will be an Annular Eclipse of the Sun. It begins on the Earth generally at 43 minutes after 10h. a.m., in longitude 59 deg. 40 min. west of Greenwich, and latitude 22½ deg. south.

The Central Eclipse begins at 31 minutes after noon, in 65 deg. west longitude and 52 deg. south latitude.

The Annular Eclipse ends at 50 minutes after 1 p.m., in 8 deg. west longitude and 66½ deg. south latitude.

The Eclipse ends at 37 minutes after 3h. p.m.

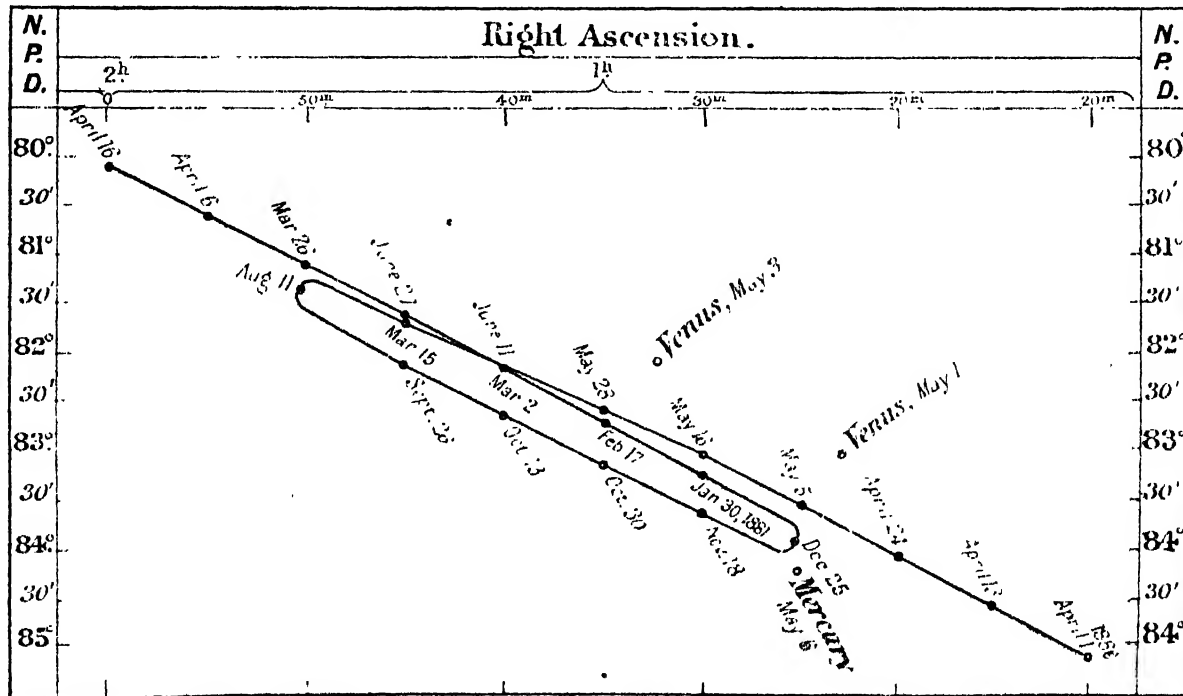

At the Cape of Good Hope a Partial Eclipse will be visible.

The fourth Eclipse will be a Partial Eclipse of the Sun on the early morning of Dec. 2, invisible from England.

It begins on the Earth generally at 45 minutes after 2h. a.m. Greenwich time, in longitude 133 deg. west of Greenwich, and latitude 65 deg. south.

The greatest phase, but little more than a graze, will be at 11 minutes after 3h. a.m.; and the Eclipse will end at 38 minutes after 3h. a.m. in longitude 71 deg. west of Greenwich and latitude 67 deg.

The fifth Eclipse is a Total Eclipse of the Moon on Dec. 16. The Eclipse begins at 1h. 45m. p.m.; beginning of total Eclipse at 54 minutes after 2; the middle of the Eclipse at 39 minutes after 3; the end of total Eclipse at 24 minutes after 4, and the end of the Eclipse at 33 minutes after 5.

PATH OF SATURN FROM APRIL 1, 1880, TO APRIL 10, 1881.

At London the Moon rises on this day at 3h. 46m., so that this Eclipse can be seen here only partially—viz., after the middle has passed.

The sixth of the year will be a Partial Eclipse of the Sun on the last day of the year. It begins on the Earth generally on Dec. 31 at about noon, in longitude 71½ deg. W. of Greenwich, and latitude 85½ deg. N.

The greatest phase of the Eclipse will be very nearly three fourths of the Sun's diameter, and this will be at a place about 49½ deg. W. of Greenwich, and latitude 65 deg. N., at about 1h. 45m. p.m.; and the Eclipse will end at 3h. 20m. p.m.

From here there will be a Partial Eclipse—

At Greenwich the Eclipse will begin at 1h. 40m. p.m.
the Middle will be at 2h. 36m. p.m.
the Eclipse will end at 3h. 28m. p.m.

At Edinburgh the Eclipse will begin at 1h. 17m. p.m.
the Middle will be at 2h. 17m. p.m.
the Eclipse will end at 3h. 18m. p.m.

Edinburgh Mean Time. The longitude of Edinburgh is 12m. 43 sec. west of Greenwich.

At Dublin the Eclipse will begin at 1h. 2m. p.m.
the Middle will be at 2h. 8m. p.m.
the Eclipse will end at 3h. 1m. p.m.

Dublin Mean Time. The longitude of Dublin is 25m. 22 sec. west of Greenwich.

At Greenwich, at time of greatest phase, about two thirds of the Sun's diameter will be eclipsed; at Edinburgh and Dublin the eclipse will be larger than at Greenwich. Very nearly one half will be eclipsed at both places.

BRITISH INDIA.

The British Empire in India extends over a territory as large as the Continent of Europe without Russia, having an area of 1,486,319 square miles and a population of 240 millions. From Peshawar, the northern frontier station, to Cape Comorin the distance is 1800 miles, and the same distance separates Karachi, the port of Sind, from Sudiya, the frontier post on the eastern border of Assam. Geographically, the country may be broadly divided into Northern and Southern India. Northern India, or Hindustan, lying at the foot of the Himalayas, and stretching from sea to sea, comprehends the rich alluvial plains watered by the Indus, the Ganges, the Lower Brahmaputra, and their tributaries. Southern India, or the Deccan, is a plateau of triangular shape and very old geological formation, bounded on two sides by the Malabar and Coromandel coasts, which converge at Cape Comorin, and on the third by the Vindhya Mountains, north of the Narbadiah river. Three fifths of this great Empire are under the direct rule of the British Government, and are divided for administrative purposes into eight provinces—viz., Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, the Central Provinces, British Burmah, Assam, Madras, and Bombay. The remaining two fifths are made up of a large number of native States, whose chiefs, one and all, acknowledge the suzerainty of her Imperial Majesty, "Kaisar-i-Hind." Her Majesty's representative is styled the Viceroy and Governor-General, his relations with the Home Government being regulated by Act 21 and 22 Vict. c. 106, while the authority of a Secretary of State for India, aided by a Council of fifteen members, for that of the East India Company and the Board of Control.

That the same make of Corset cannot be adapted to all figures—the stout and the slim, the long and the short waisted, the naturally graceful and the figures that obviously stand in need of being made so—seems so much of a truism that it would need an apology for stating it, were it not that it is claimed for the many so-called “inventions” which are now before the public.

Surely, the only sensible and simple plan, in order to be really “bien corseté,” is to visit an establishment where are to be found the outcome of the study and practical skill of the leading Corsetières; and where, above all, they will have the experienced assistance of a practical French Staymaker, who will advise them as to the Corset exactly adapted to their type of figure.

GREAT BATTLE IS FOUGHT IN OUR MIDST (ALMOST WITHOUT

THOUSAND WOUNDED FROM SCARLET FEVER ALONE. True, but horrible.
Can this fearful slaughter and sick-liak not be prevented? Yes! You can pass it by if you like, but that will not reduce the fact. Who's to blame? Read a large illustrated Sheet given with each bottle of ENO'S FRUIT. The information is invaluable.

FOR BILIOUSNESS or SICK HEADACHE,

GIDDINESS, DEPRESSION OF SPIRITS, Sluggish Liver, Vomiting, Sourness of the Stomach, Heartburn, Costiveness and its evils, Impure Blood and Skin Eruptions, &c., ENO'S FRUIT SALT is the simplest and best remedy yet introduced. It removes by natural means effete matter or poison from the blood, thereby preventing and curing boils, carbuncles, fevers, feverish skin, erysipelas, and all epidemics, and counteracts any ERRORS OF EATING OR DRINKING, or any sudden affliction or mental strain, and prevents diarrhoea. It is a PLEASANT BEVERAGE, which supplies the want of ripe fruit, so essential to the animal economy, and may be taken as an invigorating and cooling draught under any circumstances from infancy to old age, and may be continued for any length of time, and looked upon as being a simple product of fruit. Unlike other salines, instead of lowering the system it invigorates it. Its use is beneficial, and never can do harm. It is impossible to overstate its value, and on that account no household ought to be without it, for by its use many disastrous results may be entirely prevented. In the nursery it is beyond praise.

HOW TO PREVENT THREE GREAT SCOURGES OF LIFE — CONSUMPTION, BLOOD POISONS, and EPIDEMICS, by Pleasant, Simple, and Natural means.

IN an able Paper published in the pages of the "British Medical Journal," Dr. W. R. Ross states that liver derangement almost invariably precedes Consumption. By using ENO'S FRUIT SALT the blood is kept pure (by natural means), and the deposit of poisonous matter in the lungs prevented.

HEART DISEASE, and SUDDEN DEATH.—Use

ENO'S FRUIT SALT.—It is essential to the healthy action of the animal economy. You cannot overstate its value. On that account no bedroom or travelling trunk ought to be without it, in readiness for any emergency.

HOW TO REMOVE GOUTY OR RHEUMATIC
POISON from the blood by natural means. Read the following. A Gentleman writes. —

"West Brompton, July 15, 1879.

"Dear Sir,—I think it only just to you and fair to suffering humanity that I should bring before you the following facts:—A most intimate friend of mine, who had been for many years a great sufferer from rheumatic gout, was advised by a celebrated London physician to take two spoonfuls of ENO'S FRUIT SALT in a tumbler of water first thing in the morning, the physician at the same time observing to my friend, 'I always take it myself, and find it invaluable; and can confidently recommend it to you as the best remedy you can possibly use.' The above occurrence took place some months since.
My friend at once commenced taking the Fruit Salt as recommended, and the benefit he has received is something wonderful; in fact, he is quite a new man.

"Yours faithfully,

TRUTH."

HOW TO AVOID THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS

OF STIMULANTS.—The present system of living—partaking of too rich foods, as pastry, saccharine, and fatty substances, alcoholic drinks, and an insufficient amount of exercise—frequently deranges the liver. I would advise all bilious people, unless they are careful to keep the liver acting freely, to exercise great care in the use of alcoholic drinks, avoid sugar, and always dilute largely with water. Experience shows that porter, mild ales, port wine, dark cherries, sweet champagne, liqueurs, and brandies, are all very apt to disagree; while light white wines, and gin or whiskey largely diluted with soda water will be found the least objectionable. ENO'S FRUIT SALT is peculiarly adapted for any constitutional weakness of the liver; it possesses the power of reparation when digestion has been disturbed or lost, and places the invalid on the right track to health. A world of woe is avoided by those who keep and use ENO'S FRUIT SALT, therefore no family should ever be without it.)

ENO'S FRUIT SALT IN JERSEY.—"All our customers for ENO'S FRUIT SALT would not be without it upon any consideration, they having received so much benefit from it."—WOODS BROTHERS, Chemists, Jersey, 1878.

"SUCCESS IN LIFE."—A new invention is brought before the public and commands success. A score of abominable imitations are immediately introduced by the unscrupulous, who, in copying the original closely enough to deceive the public, and yet not so exactly as to infringe upon legal rights, exercise an ingenuity that, employed in an original channel, could not fail to secure reputation and profit.—ADAMS.

CAUTION. Examine each bottle, and see the capsule is marked "ENO'S FRUIT SALT." Without it you have been imposed on by worthless imitations. Sold by all Chemists. Price 2s. 6d. and 4s. 6d.

"LIKE AN ANGEL OF MERCY."

WHEN persons have suffered for a long time with some painful disease, they always feel grateful for the instrument affording relief, as given vent to in the following

INTERESTING LETTER.

"MR. WHITE.

"Dear Sir,—I have sold the twelve bottles of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup you sent me, and it has acted like a charm to most of the people that have taken it. One lady told me she had spent more than £30 for doctors' medicines, and they all plainly told her they could do her no good; she was suffering from asthma and liver complaint. She says:—The pain I endured no one can tell. Life was a burden; and I desired to go to that place where the inhabitants never say, 'I am sick.' Accidentally I found one of your pamphlets and read it carefully, and I thought I would try this medicine, and did so. It was like an 'Angel of Mercy to me.' When I had taken one bottle I felt like a new woman; every pain was gone; and if people were to take this medicine they would not require to pay such great doctors' bills. Time would fail me to tell you of all the cures this Syrup has effected. Please send on some more of your valuable medicine, as there is a great demand for it. Yours faithfully, 'W. PUGSEY, Seaham Harbour.

"P.S.—You can publish the above, if you desire, as what I have told you is no exaggeration."

This was a severe and aggravated case of indigestion. The evidence of the efficacy of Seigel's Curative Syrup in removing dyspepsia in all its varied forms is beyond all question, and is of a more convincing character than any heretofore presented to the public.

The following letters of recent dates are published with the consent of the respective writers. If anyone has doubts concerning the genuineness of these letters, they are respectfully requested to communicate with them, either personally or by letter; or if they will call at my office the original letters will be exhibited. Although some of the writers may be poor and uneducated, still they are able to tell when they suffer pain and distress, and they know when they experience relief. It cannot be possible that they would misrepresent matters of such grave importance to oblige me, a mere stranger.

It is admitted on all sides that no remedy ever met with such a rapid and extensive sale as the Seigel Curative Syrup. The reason is that it effects the most marvellous cures ever before recorded.

Indian Testimony.

"Pigeon House, Upton-on-Severn,

"Worcestershire, May 27, 1879.

"Dear Sir,—Please forward me one bottle of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, at 4s. 6d., and one at 2s. 6d., and one box of the Pills at 1s. 1½d. I find it a very useful thing to have on hand. Twelve months ago I was taken seriously ill in India with colic and jaundice, and as a last resource the doctors ordered me home. I was brought to England in my bed, a great sufferer, nearly double, unable to stand or take any solids at all, and at times threw up a deal of blood. I was advised by a relative to try Mother Seigel's Syrup, and now, after taking one 4s. 6d. bottle of Syrup and one box of Pills, blood spitting has stopped. I can take my meals, and I walk occasionally eight miles without at all distressing myself. You are at liberty to make what use you like of this, as I consider it should be made public for the benefit of sufferers. I am, yours truly, "WALTER BAKER."

Vertigo.

"July 1, 1879.

"MR. WHITE.

"Dear Sir,—I have great pleasure in informing you that the sale of your 'Seigel's Curative Syrup' has been very satisfactory. A commercial traveller informed me that he had been suffering some time from vertigo, or swimming in the head, which was very prejudicial to him in his business, but that the Syrup has quite cured him. He always carries a bottle with him now, and if he feels any symptoms of the disorder he takes a few drops and it always wards off the attack. As this testimonial may be of use to others suffering in the same way, you are quite at liberty to make use of it. I can furnish the name and address of the gentleman if required.

"I remain, dear Sir, yours truly, "JOSEPH MOULTON, "Chemist and Druggist, Castle Donington."

Done a Wonderful Deal of Good.

"54, Sheffield-road, Barnaley, Jan. 2, 1879.

"Sir,—My daughter has been a great sufferer for many years with heart disease, with pain in the head and back, and very costive; so, as she could not do her house work, we tried many doctors and other means to remove the pain, until we got an Almanack with Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup advertised in it. She has used one bottle: that has done her a wonderful deal of good. She is better now than she has been for years, thanks to God! Please let the bearer have another bottle.

"I remain, yours truly, "To Mr. O. Johnson, Market-street. G. CAWTHORNE.

Aged Seventy-six Years, and Cured.

"Filgrave, Newport Pagnell, Bucks.

"Mr. Joseph Digby, aged seventy-six years, was afflicted with costiveness and sickness at the stomach, causing great pains in the head which affected the brain. After taking a few doses of the Syrup, was relieved; and by continuing the medicine, having had three bottles, is restored to health. He says he would not be without the medicine whatever.

"W. TAPLIN, The Old School, Emberton."

"Methley, near Leeds, "June 10, 1879.

"Dear Sir,—I suffered from bad indigestion and liver complaint for years, during which time I used various remedies, but all to no purpose. I tried all the medical men and got no relief. I afterwards went to the infirmary, but left as 'incurable.' As a last resource I was induced to try the 'Curative Syrup,' and to my great joy it has almost made a new man of me. I can now do what I had not been able to do for a long time past—viz., I can eat a good dinner without the pain that was formerly so great. I wish to highly recommend the medicine to suffering humanity, as the best and cheapest in the world. I remain your humble servant, "Methley, near Leeds. WILLIAM HEWETT."

TRY YOUR WEIGHT!

HYDROLEINE (HYDRATED OIL).

has proved of the highest value in CONSUMPTION, and all Wasting Diseases, invariably producing increase in flesh and weight. This preparation of Hydrated Cod-Liver Oil is tonic, digestive, and ten times more strengthening and nourishing, as well as far more pleasant to taste, than plain Cod-Liver Oil. HYDROLEINE may be described as partially digested oil, which will nourish and produce increase in weight in those cases where oils or fat, not so treated, are difficult or impossible to digest. All tendency to Emaciation and Loss of Weight is arrested by the regular use of HYDROLEINE, which may be discontinued when the usual average weight has been permanently acquired. Of all Chemists, 4s. 6d. London Dépôt, 493, Oxford-street.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES

are prepared from a highly-esteemed recipe for alleviating Bronchial Affections, Asthma, Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, and Irritation or Soreness of the Throat. Public Speakers and Vocalists will find them beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after any unusual exertion of the vocal organs, having a peculiar adaptation to affections which disturb the organs of speech. Few are aware of the importance of checking a cough or "slight cold" in its first stages. That which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon attacks the lungs. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES are a most valuable article when coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza, hoarseness, and sore throat are prevalent. The Troches give sure and almost immediate relief. Sold by all Medicine Vendors throughout the world at 1s. 1½d. per Box. London Dépôt, 493, Oxford-street.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP

FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH,

should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is perfectly harmless, and very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP is sold by thousands of Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world at 1s. 1½d. per Bottle, and Millions of Mothers can testify to its virtue. Manufactory, 493, Oxford-street, London.

"FLORILINE,"

FOR THE TEETH AND BREATH, is the best liquid dentifrice in the world; it thoroughly cleanses partially decayed teeth from all parasites or living "animalcula," leaving them pearly white, imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 6d. per Bottle. The FRAGRANT FLORILINE removes instantly all odours arising from a foul stomach or tobacco smoke; being partly composed of honey, soda, and extracts of sweet herbs and plants, it is perfectly harmless and delicious as sherry. For children or adults whose teeth show marks of decay its advantages are paramount. The FLORILINE should be thoroughly brushed into all the cavities. No one need fear using it too often, or too much at a time. The taste is so pleasing that, instead of taking up the tooth-brush with dislike, as is often the case, children will on no account omit to use the FLORILINE regularly every morning, if only left to their choice. Children cannot be taught the use of the tooth-brush too young; early neglect invariably produces premature decay of the teeth. FLORILINE is prepared only by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London; and sold by all Chemists and Perfumers throughout the world at 2s. 6d. per Bottle. "FLORILINE" POWDER put up in large glass Jars, price 1s.

THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER.

If your Hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," for it will positively restore, in every case, Grey or White Hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the Hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promotes the growth of the Hair on bald spots, where the glands are not decayed. Mr. NATHAN BERRY, Chemist, Walkden, writes:—"One of my customers told me the other day he had had grey hair for thirty-five years, and after using one bottle of 'THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER' I sold him, it was restored to and kept its natural colour." Ask your Chemist for "THE MEXICAN HAIR RENEWER," prepared by HENRY C. GALLUP, 493, Oxford-street, London. Sold by Medicine Dealers and Perfumers everywhere. Price 3s. 6d. per Bottle.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the Profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered. CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague, CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms. CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

From Lord Francis Conyngham, Mount Charles, Donegal, Dec. 11, 1868.

"Lord Francis Conyngham, who this time last year bought some of Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne from Mr. Davenport, and has found it a most wonderful medicine, will be glad to have half a dozen bottles sent at once to the above address."

"Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians that he had received a despatch from her Majesty's Consul at Manila to the effect that Cholera has been raging fearfully, and that the only remedy of any service was CHLORODYNE."—See "Lancet," Dec. 1, 1864.

CAUTION.—BEWARE OF PIRACY AND IMITATIONS.

CAUTION.—"Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of CHLORODYNE; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to."—See "Times," July 12, 1864.

Sold in Bottles at 1s. 1d., 2s. 6d., and 4s. 6d. each. None is genuine without the words, "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE,

is allowed to be the greatest discovery of the present century, and is largely employed by the most eminent Medical Men, in hospital and private practice, in all parts of the world, and is justly considered to be a remedy of intrinsic value, and of varied adaptability, possessing most valuable properties, and producing curative effects quite unequalled in the whole Materia Medica.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, and Asthma.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too-often fatal diseases—Diphtheria, Fever, Croup, Ague.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation, and Spasms.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause; allays the irritation of fever; soothes the system under exhausting disease; and gives quiet and refreshing sleep.

THE "TIMES," AUGUST 13, 1877.

From our own Correspondent with the Russian Army.

"Okoum, July 25, 1877

"The want of sanitary arrangements in the Russian Camp was dreadful, and had we remained there a few weeks longer, dysentery and typhoid fever would have played more havoc in our ranks than the bombs of the Turks. I myself acquired an unenviable reputation as a doctor owing to my being provided with a small bottle of CHLORODYNE, with which I effected Miraculous Cures."

From MONS BONJOUR BARTHELEMY, Delegate of the Society for the Relief of the Wounded, Decorated with the Cross of the Convention of Geneva.

"Le Caillon, près Meung sur Loir, France, June 18, 1879.

"I hereby attest that the Chlorodyne manufactured by RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, of London, is the best remedy against CHOLERA and DYSENTERY, and further affirm, as Director of the Anglo-American Ambulances and of French prisoners during the War of 1870 to 1871, that a large number of those under my care were attacked with Dysentery, and that by means of his Chlorodyne they were in a few days perfectly cured.

(Signed) BONJOUR BARTHELEMY."

From GEORGE F. SMYTH, Esq., Manager Licensed Victuallers' Pure Tea Company.

"Mr. Richard Freeman,

"9, Curtain-road, London, E.C., Sept. 21, 1875.

"Sir,—I have taken your invaluable 'Chlorodyne' (especially in the winter time) for some years. When I was advised at first to use Chlorodyne (I procured some of Collis Browne's). It did me no good whatsoever. I then bought some of your preparation. I firmly believe (under God) that it has been the means of prolonging my life. I am affected, or rather was affected, with severe 'Winter Cough'; but now, when supplied with your incomparable specific, I defy my old enemy, and drive him out of the system.

"I know nothing personally of you, Sir, nor, for that matter, of Mr. Collis Browne; but I know that his preparation of Chlorodyne does me no good whatsoever, and it is with deep gratitude to you that I now pass my winters free from cough, and in comfort."

IMPORTANT CAUTION.

Four Chancery Suits terminated in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against J. Collis Browne and J. T. Davenport. Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, and Lord Justice Mellish condemned their proceedings, and ordered them to pay all costs of the suits.—Reported in the "Times" and other Newspapers, April 29 and July 24, 1873.

None genuine without the words, "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," engraved on the Government Stamp.

Testimonials from most eminent Medical Men accompany each Bottle.

Manufactured by the sole Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, 70, Kennington Park-road, London, S.E.

Sold by Patent Medicine Dealers, in Bottles, 1s. 1½d.; 2 oz., 2s. 9d.; 4 oz., 4s. 6d.; half pint, 11s.; and pint, 20s. each.

NALDIRE'S POWDERS, FOR WORMS IN DOGS.

ONE DOSE A CURE.

STONEHENGE, in his celebrated work on "The Dog," says:—"Worms are a fertile source of disease in the dog, destroying every year more puppies than distemper itself." While the FIELD says, concerning distemper:—"All treatment, to be successful, must be preceded by the expulsion of worms." Naldire's Powders remove these pests within one hour, at the same time giving tone to the stomach, and producing first-rate condition in dogs. One dose is sufficient, and dogs readily take it. NALDIRE'S POWDERS are sold by all Chemists, and by BARCLAY and SONS, 95, Farringdon-street, London.

LAMPLOUGH'S EFFERVESCENT PYRETIC SALINE

HAVE IT IN YOUR HOUSES.

It is most Invigorating, Vitalising, and Refreshing. Gives Instant Relief in HEADACHES, SEA or BILIOUS SICKNESS, and Quickly Cures the worst Form of ERUPTIVE or SKIN COMPLAINTS. The various diseases arising from Climatic causes, Constipation, the Liver, or Blood Impurities, Inoculation, the Results of breathing air infected with Fever, Measles, or SMALLPOX, are frequently prevented and these diseases cured by its use.

ANY PERSON WHO HAS ALREADY SMALLPOX should take Pyretic Saline, and be kept in a cool and darkened room to prevent the disease leaving any trace on the features.

The numerous statements and letters relating to its marvellous effect, as a positive cure in TYPHUS, SCARLET FEVER, SMALLPOX, and other BLOOD POISONS, are most remarkable, and are painfully suggestive of great neglect, whenever the PYRETIC SALINE is not employed in these diseases.

"It furnishes the Blood with its lost Saline constituents."—DR. MORGAN.

The late DR. TURLEY states in his letters and lectures:—"I found it act as a specific in my experience and family in the worst form of Scarlet Fever, NO OTHER Medicines being given."

NOTICE MY TRADE MARK AND NAME, AS ABOVE, ON A BUFF-COLOURED WRAPPER, ON WHICH ALONE DEPENDENCE CAN BE PLACED.

WORTHLESS IMITATIONS are now being offered to the public, the only merit of which is a label and wrapper with a transposition of the sentences and words of mine—a colourable imitation—in fact, a fraud on myself and the public.

Sold in Patent Stopped Bottles, from 2s. 6d. to 21s. each, by all Chemists throughout England and by the Colonies, and the Maker, 118, Holborn-hill, London.

ARTIFICIAL EYES, LEGS, ARMS, & HANDS. GROSSMITH'S

PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL LEGS—with patent action Knee and Ankle Joints—enable the patient to walk, sit, or ride with ease and comfort, wherever amputated. They are lighter in weight, less expensive, and more durable than any self-acting Leg hitherto introduced, and are worn by Ladies and Children with perfect safety. They were awarded the highest medals at the London and Paris Great International Exhibitions, and pronounced by the Surgical Juries to be "excellent in manufacture, well constructed, and on a system superior to all others."

The PRIZE MEDAL ARTIFICIAL EYES have now been brought to the greatest perfection, and are so easy of adaptation that they are fitted in a few minutes, without pain or operation, in any case where sight has been lost. The colours are perfectly matched, and a movement obtained precisely in accordance with the action of the natural eye. They are the only Artificial Eyes which have been awarded Prize Medals at the Great International Exhibitions of London, Paris, and Dublin.

SCOTTISH PROVIDENT INSTITUTION.

EDINBURGH—8, St. Andrew-square.

LONDON—18, King William-street, E.C.

THIS SOCIETY differs in its principles from any other Office. The resulting advantages, as compared with other Offices, are—

A greatly larger immediate assurance, at most ages, for the same Premium,—with the prospect, to good lives, eventually, of very considerable additions. For the same yearly sum as large an Assurance may generally be secured from the first as can be looked for elsewhere only after many years' accumulation of Bonuses. A Policy for £1200 or £1250 may be had for the Premium usually charged for £1000 only—the difference being an immediate Bonus, irrespective of what may be looked for from eventual shares of surplus.

At last Investigation (1878) Policies, say, for £1000, sharing a first time, were increased to sums ranging from £1170 to £1300. Policies which had shared before were, of course, further increased, and in a few cases have now been doubled.

The NEW ASSURANCES granted in 1878 were for £1,035,102 10s. TOTAL RECEIPTS of year were £491,909. At close of year the SURVIVING ASSURANCES were £12,745,565. The REALISED FUND now exceeds £3,400,000. The INCREASE in 1878 was £277,522—a larger sum, it is believed, than has been added in the same year to the funds of any other office in the kingdom.

EXAMPLES OF ANNUAL PREMIUMS TO ASSURE £100 AT DEATH, WITH PROFITS.

Age next Birthday.	25	30	35	40	45	50
	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
During Life.....	1 18 0	2 1 6	2 6 10	2 14 9	3 5 9	4 1 7
Limited to Twenty-one Payments ...	2 12 6	2 15 4	3 0 2	3 7 5	3 17 6	4 12 1

EXAMPLE—A person of Thirty may thus secure £1000 at Death by a yearly payment, during life, of £20 15s. This Premium, if paid to any bur of the Scottish Mutual Offices, would secure £800 only, instead of £1000.

Or, if unwilling to burden himself with payments during his whole life, he may secure the same sum of £1000 by twenty-one yearly payments of £27 18s. 4d.—being thus free of payment after age Fifty.

EPPS'S (BREAKFAST) COCOA.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately-flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up, until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—On Diet, in "The Civil Service Gazette."

"MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps and Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in Holland-street, Blackfriars, London."—See Article in "Cassell's Household Guide."
